

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. THE UNIVERSITY

THE UNIVERSITY

On the last day of May, in the year 1850, there met in the City of Chicago, at the office of Grant Goodrich, 109 Lake Street, near Dearborn, nine men, Richard A. Blanchard, Jabez K. Botsford, Andrew J. Brown, Henry W. Clark, John Evans, Grant Goodrich, Zadoc Hall, Richard Haney, and Orrington Lunt, to consider the founding of a university in the vicinity of Chicago. They agreed that "the interests of Christian learning demand the immediate establishment of a University in the North-West," and appointed a committee to petition the General Assembly for a charter. On January 28, in the next year, 1851, Governor French signed the Act that incorporated Northwestern University under the title of "the Trustees of the Northwestern University." The name of the corporation has since been changed to Northwestern University.

The first Board of Trustees consisted of thirty-six persons, representatives of annual conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church and citizens of Chicago and vicinity. The corporation as at present constituted consists of thirty-six trustees elected by the Board itself, and two elected by each of four annual conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, making a total of forty-four trustees.

The charter provides that a majority of the Board must be members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and that no particular religious faith shall be required of those who become students at the institution.

Amendments have provided that other chartered institutions may become departments of the University; that all property of whatever kind or description belonging to or owned by the said corporation shall be forever free from taxation for any and all purposes; that no spirituous, vinous, or fermented liquors shall be sold under license or otherwise, within four miles of the location of the University. The city of Evanston has carefully enforced this last amendment.

After considering several locations in the vicinity of Chicago, the Trustees selected for the University a tract of land on the shore of Lake Michigan, twelve miles north from the heart of Chicago, and covered by an unbroken forest. Here in 1853 the first University building was erected, and about this location has grown up the City of Evanston, a beautiful residential city of twenty thousand inhabitants. The professional departments of Medicine, Law, Pharmacy, Dentistry, and Commerce for the sake of efficiency have been located in the City of Chicago.

GROUNDS, BUILDINGS, AND EQUIPMENT

The University Campus in Evanston has an area of about seventy-five acres and is beautifully situated on the shore of Lake Michigan, about two miles from the northern limits of the city of Chicago. On it are the buildings of the College of Liberal Arts, Garrett Biblical Institute, the Academy, and the Northwestern University School of Oratory. The School of Music and the women's dormitories—Willard Hall, Pearsons Hall, and Chapin Hall—are on Willard Hall Campus, distant from the University Campus about three minutes' walk. The Medical School is in Chicago, between 24th and 25th Streets on Dearborn. The Schools of Law, Pharmacy, Dentistry, and Commerce are in the University Building, at the corner of Lake and Dearborn Streets.

A detailed statement of the University buildings is given below.

The College of Liberal Arts

UNIVERSITY HALL, a capacious stone structure of attractive architecture, was erected in 1869. It contains the President's office, the administrative offices of the College, the botanical, geological, and zoological laboratories, lecture and recitation rooms, and private offices for professors.

FAYERWEATHER HALL OF SCIENCE, erected in 1886, was the gift of Mr. D. B. Fayerweather, of New York. It is constructed of stone and brick, with terra-cotta trimmings. The front is 130 feet, and the depth 60 feet. At the rear are two wings, extending 54 feet, enclosing a court in which the power house for the building is located. It is divided into two sections, for chemistry and physics, separated by a fireproof wall. The mineralogy section of the museum and the mineralogical laboratories are on the chemistry side of this building.

ORRINGTON LUNT LIBRARY is a structure of Bedford limestone, erected in 1893, largely from a gift of Mr. Orrington Lunt, of Evanston, one of the charter members of the Board of Trustees and for some time its president. Its dimensions are 162 feet by 73 feet. The main floor contains a room for book storage, directly connected with a second book-room in the basement, the reading room, and the offices of administration. On the second floor is an auditorium with seating capacity for three hundred persons, a large room occupied by the Art Collection, recently donated to the University by the University Guild, and apartments for class, seminary, and office use. In the third story, which extends over the central section of the building, and in the well-lighted basement, are rooms used for recitations and for general University purposes.

DEARBORN OBSERVATORY is a substantial stone building, erected in 1888 through the generosity of Mr. James B. Hobbs, of Chicago, a trustee of the University. Its length from north to south is 81 feet, and its greatest breadth is 71 feet. It includes a dome for the great Equatorial, a Meridian Circle room, a Library, and eight additional rooms, the whole being arranged especially for convenience in carrying on astronomical work.

The great equatorial refracting telescope was made by Alvan Clark and Sons, in 1861. It is fitted with driving clock, micrometer, and other appliances necessary for first-class work. The dimensions of the Equatorial are: diameter of declination circle, 30 inches, reading by vernier to five minutes, and by two microscopes to ten seconds of arc; diameter of hour circle, 22 inches, reading by vernier to single minutes, and by microscopes to single seconds of time; focal length of telescope, 23 feet; aperture to object glass, $18\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

The meridian circle is of the first class, and was constructed in 1867, by Messrs. A. Repsold and Sons. This instrument has an object glass of six French inches aperture, and a divided circle of 40 inches diameter, reading by four microscopes. In plan of construction it is like Bessel's celebrated Königsberg circle by the same makers, but has some recent improvements in the mode of illuminating the field of view, and apparatus for registering declinations. Hough's printing and recording chronographs are used for recording meridian observations and other phenomena.

The Observatory has a chronometer, William Bond and Son, No. 279, and three mercurial pendulum clocks.

OLD COLLEGE was the first building erected by the University. It stood originally on the corner of Htnman Avenue and Davis Street, and for many years was the only building which the University used for educational purposes. It was moved to the Campus in 1871, and was enlarged for the use of the Academy. Since 1899, when the Academy was transferred to Fisk Hall, it has been used for college class-room purposes.

THE SWIFT HALL OF ENGINEERING, completed in 1908-1909, is constructed of stone and the lines employed are chaste in the extreme. The first floor includes a large entry hall. The walls are of pressed brick. The piers supporting the ceiling are of stone. The floors are laid with vitrified tile. Directly off this reception hall are entrances to the lecture room, hydraulic laboratory, and offices. Broad and easy stairs lead to respective floors above and below, that accommodate offices for the faculty; the engine, mechanical and dynamo laboratories; library, drawing rooms, and class rooms. The building is 126 feet wide and 58 feet deep; it is practically four stories in height and modern in every respect. The heating and ventilating are by the blast system, which forces fresh warm air into the building and exhausts foul air.

The building is located on the lake shore east of Orrington Lunt Library, and is the gift of Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift. Its cost was $100,000. The maintenance of the building is endowed to the extent of $50,000 by the joint gift of Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift and Mr. Edward F. Swift.

THE GYMNASIUM provides for indoor athletic sports by the somewhat novel feature of an indoor field. This field is provided with dirt floor surrounded by a ten-lap running track 12 feet wide. The dimensions of the field are 215 by 120 feet, without obstructions, the roof being supported by immense steel arches rising 54 feet at the highest point. Two full-sized baseball diamonds or six tennis courts, placed in this field would still leave space enough for 2,000 spectators if stands were erected along the side walls. The field will be heated in cold weather and will insure opportunity for athletic games and indoor track work at any season of the year.

In addition to the indoor field there is a gymnasium with floor space of 7,200 square feet, fitted with all apparatus necessary for class work. There is a smaller room used for boxing, fencing, wrestling, and exercise on special apparatus. On the south side of the second story are the baths and lockers, and a large rest room for women. A swimming pool, 60 by 25 feet, with complete filter and heating apparatus, provides for aquatic exercise.

A large social room, offices, and coat room; a corridor, 36 feet wide, used as a trophy and social room; and a large kitchen complete the equipment on the second floor. The gymnasium room, the small gymnasium room, and the large social room may be connected and used for banquet halls at pleasure. The main gymnasium floor will accommodate an audience of 1,500.

THE CENTRAL HEATING PLANT is on the lake shore near Old College. It has capacity for all the buildings on the lower campus and equipment sufficient to provide for new buildings under consideration.

NORTHWESTERN FIELD was provided as an athletic field at a cost of $25,000, exclusive of the value of the land. It is twelve acres in area, comprising two foot-ball fields, a base-ball diamond, a quarter-mile cinder track with a 200-yard straightaway, and pits for pole vaulting and jumping. The Field House contains dressing quarters and shower baths. The bleachers have a capacity of ten thousand persons.

THE TENNIS COURTS are immediately north of the lower campus.

The Medical School

THE LABORATORY BUILDING is located on Dearborn Street, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Streets. It has a frontage of 110 feet, and a depth of 105 feet; is five stories above the basement, and is constructed of cut stone and brick, with terra-cotta trimmings. On the first floor are the amphitheater, pathological museum, and the laboratory of physiology and biology; on the second floor are the laboratories for pathology, bacteriology, hygiene, and clinical pathology; and on the third floor, large laboratories of histology and embryology, with three smaller rooms for original research, equipped with necessary apparatus, a large lecture-room, a room for chemical and physical apparatus, and the private laboratory of the professor of chemistry. On the fourth floor, one-half of the entire space is occupied by chemical laboratories, and the other half by the laboratory of physiological chemistry and pharmacology, with smaller rooms for research work. On the fifth floor are a dissecting-room, a room for demonstrating surgical operations, and three smaller rooms for special dissections.

DAVIS HALL was erected in the summer of 1893. On the first floor are the administrative offices and faculty rooms, a large amphitheater, an apothecary's room, an examination room for the director of the dispensary, and suites of rooms for the dispensary departments of medicine, surgery, orthopedics, and genito-urinary surgery. On the second and third floors there are smaller amphitheatres, and suites of rooms equipped for the departments of laryngology, gynecology, neurology, pediatrics, otology, ophthalmology, and dermatology. On the fourth floor are the library and reading-room.

MERCY HOSPITAL accommodates four hundred patients and is directed by The Sisters of Mercy. A large new pavilion has been recently finished in suites of rooms. Every facility for efficient surgical and medical treatment is provided; numerous operating rooms, pathological laboratory, private rooms, and large and small wards. The clinical amphitheater, built by the Medical School, will seat five hundred persons.

THE MERCY HOSPITAL DISPENSARY is a two-story building erected in 1908 to provide for ambulatory patients. Sixteen clinic rooms ensure privacy and thoroughness of examination. In addition to these there are on the main floor a dry room, X-Ray laboratory, a photographic room, with dark-room equipment and office, and a Director's room. On the second floor a large assembly room provides for meetings of Medical Societies.

WESLEY HOSPITAL, connected by corridors with Davis Hall, is a modern, well-equipped building containing two hundred twenty-five beds. It is under the patronage of the Methodist Episcopal Church and is controlled by a local board. It is equipped with laboratories for sterilizing and preparing dressings and instruments, and with amphitheaters, with clinical and pathological laboratories, sunbaths, and suites of private rooms and with commodious, light, and well-ventilated wards.

The Law School, The Dental School, The School of Pharmacy, and The School of Commerce

NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY BUILDING, which contains the Law School, the School of Pharmacy, the Dental School, and the School of Commerce, is located at the south-east corner of Lake and Dearborn Streets, Chicago. This property was acquired by the University in 1901 at large cost and was remodeled for the use of these departments. The Chicago office of the President and the office of the Business Manager of the University are in this building. The Law School occupies the entire third floor, containing a floor space of twenty-three thousand square feet. The quarters are commodious and handsomely equipped and include two lecture rooms, a court room, an alumni room, an assembly room, and several studies for students; two hundred lockers, the office rooms and rooms for professors. The library and reading-room occupy five thousand square feet of floor space. The assembly room, a place for rest and conversation, is spacious and well equipped.

The School of Pharmacy occupies the whole of the fourth floor. The Dental School occupies the fifth, sixth, and seventh floors.

The situation of these Schools, in the heart of Chicago, affords unexcelled advantages.

The School of Music

MUSIC HALL is situated on Willard Hall Campus, a short distance west of the University Campus. It was erected as a home for the School of Music in 1897, and is substantially built of stone and brick, with a tile roof, and is finished in pine. The first floor is divided into fourteen teaching and practice rooms, and the office. The second floor contains three class-rooms and a well arranged concert hall, seating over three hundred. The hall is provided with a large stage, dressing-rooms, a grand piano, and a two-manual pipe-organ with pedals. The School of Music uses 37 high-grade pianos for teaching and practice purposes.

The Preparatory Schools

FISK HALL, erected in 1898, the gift of Mr. William Deering, is devoted to the Evanston Academy. It was named in honor of Professor Herbert F. Fisk, Principal of the Academy from 1873 until 1904. The building is a three-story Romanesque structure of brick and terra-cotta, with stone trimmings and a tile roof. It stands at the south end of the campus with a frontage of 180 feet on Sheridan Road. The woodwork is of quartered oak, and the heating, lighting, and ventilating appointments are excellent.

HATFIELD HOUSE, the Academy dormitory for boys, erected in 1890, is situated on the University campus. In 1906, through the generosity of Mr. James A. Patten, of Evanston, it was remodeled as a modern and well-equipped dormitory for twenty-five boys. The rooms are in suites, consisting of a study and two well-lighted bed-rooms with wardrobes.

GRAND PRAIRIE SEMINARY, situated at Onarga, Illinois, has three buildings, an Auditorium seating six hundred persons, a Recitation Hall, and a Dormitory for women. The campus on which these buildings are situated consists of about six acres of beautifully shaded ground.

ELGIN ACADEMY has two well-constructed buildings, situated in the most elevated portion of the city of Elgin. The main building is a three-story brick structure used for general class-room purposes. Lovell Science Hall was erected in 1888 through the generosity of Mrs. Vincent S. Lovell.

College Dormitories

WILLARD HALL is a large, substantial edifice containing a chapel and other public rooms, and large private apartments for one hundred twenty women. The rooms are well lighted and well ventilated, cheerful and attractive. The building is provided with fire escapes, and is heated by hot water.

PEARSONS HALL AND CHAPIN HALL are brick and stone buildings, convenient and well-furnished homes for women. Each hall affords accommodation for about sixty women. They are under the control of the Woman's Educational Aid Association of Evanston.

Garrett Biblical Institute

MEMORIAL HALL, a handsome building of pressed brick, was erected on the campus for Garrett Biblical Institute in 1887. It contains the library and lecture rooms of the Institute and a chapel with seating capacity for about five hundred. The chapel windows are adorned with elaborate designs in rich cathedral glass, in harmony with the ideal of the hall, which was erected as a memorial to deceased professors of the Institute and of others well known for interest in theological studies. During the summer of 1906 a fire-proof addition was completed for the Archaeological Museum, which has been recently endowed.

HECK HALL, a dormitory, was erected in 1867. It is a brick building, five stories in height, heated by steam and lighted by electricity. The rooms are in suites consisting of study, bed-room, and wardrobe.

The School of Oratory

ANNIE MAY SWIFT HALL was erected during the year 1895. The style of architecture is Venetian. The lower part of the building is of rock-faced Lemont limestone, and the upper stories of buff-colored Roman brick and terra cotta. The floor is of red tile. The building is heated by steam and lighted by electricity. It was named in memory of a deceased daughter of the late Mr. Gustavus F. Swift, of Chicago, a trustee of the University and the largest contributor toward the erection of the building. On the first floor are an auditorium, reading-room, and reception rooms. The second story is divided into fifteen rooms for private instruction. The floors and partitions are deadened by an improved system of construction.

LIBRARIES

The largest library is that of the College of Liberal Arts, contained in the Orrington Lunt Library building on the University campus. While designed especially to meet the needs of the College, this library is at the service of all members of the University. Persons not connected with the University, desiring to use the library for purposes of study, may be granted library privileges if responsibly introduced. The general collection is increasing at the rate of about three thousand volumes a year. The library includes special collections known as the Greenleaf Collection and the Schneider Collection.

THE GREENLEAF COLLECTION, the gift of the late Mr. Luther L. Greenleaf of Evanston, contains 11,246 bound volumes and a large and valuable assortment of unbound dissertations and monographs, chiefly publications of foreign universities and learned societies. It is unusually complete in Greek and Latin classics, every author being represented by the best editions from the earliest to a recent date. It contains also a choice selection of standard works in German and other Modern languages. In the departments of history, philosophy, theology, and the fine arts, there are many works of unique value.

THE SCHNEIDER COLLECTION is the German section of the library, added in 1898 through the generosity of German citizens of Chicago, and numbers 2,533 volumes. It includes many first editions of standard authors, original prints from the period of the Reformation, and a large collection of animals. Musen Almanache and Tascherbücher, of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

THE LIBRARY OF THE MEDICAL SCHOOL, known as the Alumni Library, has been acquired by purchase, and by donations from students, alumni, and members of the faculty. It contains a large number of reference books and dictionaries, and all of the larger systems of Medicine and Surgery. Each department of instruction in the School is well represented, and all of the more important recent works in the various departments of instruction are added to the Library as they appear.

THE LIBRARY OF THE LAW SCHOOL is centrally located in the rooms of the School. The space devoted to it is divided into large, well ventilated, and well-lighted alcoves, each alcove containing a table and comfortable chairs. The library is well stocked with reports and necessary works of reference, and is being gradually increased. Its equipment makes it pre-eminently adapted to work of investigation. A fuller description of this Library is given on page 190.

THE LIBRARY OF THE SCHOOL OF MUSIC is composed of orchestral scores, orchestral parts, four and eight-hand piano arrangements and chorus music in ample quantities to properly conduct the orchestral, chamber music, ensemble, and chorus classes. The music section of the College of Liberal Arts, embracing reference works, general works, and special works on music to the number of 164 volumes is housed in Music Hall, where it is accessible to students of the College of Liberal Arts and of the School of Music.

THE LIBRARY OF GARRETT BIBLICAL INSTITUTE is in Memorial Hall. It has been collected to meet the needs of theological students, and is well selected and conveniently arranged. A rare collection of Methodist literature, the largest and richest collection in existence, has been given to this library by Mr. William Deering.

The number of bound volumes and pamphlets in the several libraries of the University, June, 1908, was as follows:

The College of Liberal Arts, including Dearborn Observatory.....	Bound Volumes	Pamphlets
The Medical School	70,184	47,000
The Law School	4,900	7,614
The School of Pharmacy.....	28,500	500
The Dental School	1,210	1,460
The School of Music.....	2,806	16,000
Garrett Biblical Institute.....	392	1,450
	19,913	4,150
	127,905	78,174

Students residing in Evanston have free use of the Evanston Public Library, containing 40,548 volumes. In Chicago students have access to the Chicago Public Library, 352,093 volumes; the John Crerar Library, 228,000 volumes; the Newberry Library, 179,967 volumes; and the Library of the Chicago Historical Society, 50,000 volumes.

MUSEUMS

THE MUSEUM OF THE COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS was for many years the object of special attention on the part of the late Professor Oliver Marcy. It contains many thousand rare and valuable specimens, and is divided into sections as follows: Anthropology, Botany, Geology, Mineralogy, and Zoölogy. The section of Mineralogy is placed in Fayerweather Hall of Science; the other sections, on the fourth floor of University Hall, and in the rooms of the departments of Botany, Geology, and Zoölogy.

THE ANTHROPOLOGY SECTION comprises about 8,000 specimens in aboriginal archæology, and has been developed largely through the interest of Dr. William A. Phillips of Evanston. Primitive ceramic art in the United States is well represented by several hundred specimens from the mounds of Illinois, Wisconsin, Kentucky, and Missouri. Primitive work in stone and copper is represented by large collections from various parts of the United States and from England. During recent years a collection of material from the cliff-dwellings of the pueblos of New Mexico has been added to the Museum.

THE BOTANY SECTION is made up chiefly of gifts received from alumni and friends of the college and of collections made by students and instructors. It contains about fifteen thousand species. It includes collections made by Robert Kennicott from the Red River of the North; by Vasey from the Rocky Mountains; by Thomas and Bentley, and by I. A. Lapham, from Southern Illinois; also collections from New England and New York, the Lake Superior region, and Cook County, Illinois. The Henry H. Babcock Herbarium, donated in 1887 by Mrs. Mary Keyes Babcock, of Kenilworth, is systematically arranged, handsomely provided with substantial cases, and contains species from all quarters of the globe, in number about five thousand.

• THE GEOLOGY SECTION contains typical rocks from this country and Europe. These exhibit the variations in structure and texture of the large groups of sedimentary, metamorphic, and igneous rocks, and also show the rock formations in the geological column from the more ancient to the recent rocks. The series of fossils, of plants, and of animals, are quite extensive, containing characteristic fossils of the different geologic periods. The collections that are especially valuable are: 1, Cretaceous and Tertiary fossils, the gift of the Smithsonian Institution; 2, fossils and rocks from the Illinois Geological Survey; 3, Niagara fossils from Chicago and Racine, including type specimens; 4, Illinois Carboniferous flora, largely from Grundy County; 5, miscellaneous specimens from many parts of the world.

THE MINERALOGY SECTION contains specimens of most of the mineral and rock species in numbers sufficient to illustrate fully characteristics and occurrence. In addition to the general collection are Ayers loan-collection; additions from the Columbian Exposition, consisting chiefly of mass specimens and illustrations of economic ores; the Tyler collection, containing many crystals, notably good calcites; and a rare collection of azurites and malachites.

THE ZOOLOGY SECTION contains: 1, with few exceptions, all the mammals, birds, reptiles, and batrachians indigenous to Illinois; 2, all the mammals and birds of the New South Wales exhibit at the Columbian Exposition, the kangaroos and lemurs, the platypus and the echidna, the emu and the cassowary, the rifle-bird, the regent, the lyre-bird, and the apteryx from New Zealand, in all four hundred fifty specimens, a very complete presentation of that strange fauna; 3, a series of corals, and a series of birds from the Philippine Islands, including what is thought to be all the species of cuckoos and parrots for that locality; 4, a series of skeletons, prepared by Ward, including the elephant, the whale, the American crocodile, and skeletons of birds and of fishes; 5, about 30,000 miscellaneous specimens, including large animals such as the moose, the buffalo, the Virginia deer, the white bear, and the reindeer; birds from India, Central America, Brazil, British Guiana, Norway, and Russia; a collection of 15,000 marine and fresh-water shells; a large collection of fish donated by the Smithsonian Institution; fish from Lake Michigan, prepared by Dr. William A. Phillips; and a multitude of low forms of marine life, collected by Professor William North Rice, of Middletown, Connecticut.

THE MUSEUM OF THE MEDICAL SCHOOL is arranged in the Laboratory Building and contains preparations and specimens illustrative of normal, pathological, and comparative anatomy.

THE MUSEUM OF THE SCHOOL OF PHARMACY, situated on the fourth floor of the University Building in Chicago, is exceptionally complete in exhibits of drugs, chemicals, preparations, and apparatus.

THE MUSEUM OF THE DENTAL SCHOOL includes: 1, specimens to illustrate comparative anatomy, heads, with the teeth, of fish, reptiles, saurians, and of the several orders of mammals; 2, an exceptionally complete and valuable set of specimens of the human skull, with dissections in a series showing the development of the teeth and the roots from the first appearance to the adult; 3, a large collection of abnormal formations of the human teeth, collected by students, by alumni, and by members of the dental profession.

NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY THE UNIVERSITY GUILD

The University Guild is an association of women, most of them residents of Evanston, who seek to secure for the University valuable works of art and to cultivate, by means of frequent lectures and discussions, artistic taste in matters of common life. The Guild holds monthly meetings in its rooms in Orrington Lunt Library. The Guild rooms are open to the public every Wednesday afternoon throughout the year.

The Art Collection of the Guild, valued at several thousand dollars, includes a fine collection of pottery and porcelain, including handsome specimens of Doulton, Royal Worcester, Wedgwood, Coalport, Elton, Royal Berlin, Royal Copenhagen, Royal Vienna, Hungarian, Russian, Spanish, Royal Sevres, Limoges, Italian, Chinese, Delft, Old Dresden, Bulgarian, Phoenician and East Indian imported ware, and of Rookwood, Grenby, Newcomb, Volkmar, Dedham, Trenton, Middle Lane, Merrimac, Van Briggie and Pauline American ware. There are fifteen specimens of Doulton ware, including the famous Lambeth Faience Vase, six feet three inches in height, and two feet six inches in diameter. There are handsome specimens of French bronze and of Venetian, Bohemian and Tiffany glass. The collection also includes some fine plaster casts presented by the French Government, twenty busts of eminent scholars, Thorwaldsen's Mercury, Venus, Hebe, and the Shepherdess. The nucleus of a choice collection of oil and watercolor paintings, engravings, etchings, photographs, prints, and of miscellaneous articles has been acquired, to which additions are being made from year to year.

The Guild supports scholarships in the University and in the Art Institute of Chicago, gives receptions to eminent scholars who are guests of the various departments of the University, and provides lectures for students. It also maintains a membership in the Municipal Art League of Chicago under which Gallery Tours are conducted through the Art Exhibits. The Guild in 1908 established art courses in the College of Liberal Arts. The instructor is known as the University Guild Instructor in Art. These courses are open to college students and townspeople alike at a nominal fee. See page 117.

NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY SETTLEMENT

An association composed of alumni and friends of the University maintains, in Chicago, a social settlement known as the Northwestern University Settlement. The building, at the corner of Augusta and Noble Streets, is held in trust by the University for the use of the Settlement; it is a four-story brick structure, 60 by 78 feet, looking south upon two small gardens and having a space 30 by 78 feet on the north for an auditorium, gymnasium, and baths. On the ground floor are the kindergarten, club rooms for men, and boiler room. The main floor contains the kitchen, coffee house, reception room, office, and library. Five large connected club rooms, one of which is used as the house dining room, and the domestic science room and the serving room occupy the second floor. The third floor contains rooms for thirteen residents.

The object of the Settlement is the intellectual, social, and religious improvement of the neglected city population. The Settlement is located on the edge of the large Polish quarter of the city, and in the heart of the most densely populated district in Chicago. The resident group is composed of men and women engaged in educational, professional, and public service who wish to live among the people bearing the heaviest burden of the industrial world. Opportunity is here offered to undergraduates for philanthropic work and practical acquaintance with sociological problems.

The plan of work includes classes for instruction, clubs for social improvement, lectures, concerts, house-to-house visitation, legal and medical dispensaries, and the maintenance of an open reading-room.

The general expenses of the Settlement are met by membership subscriptions and voluntary contributions.

A fellowship in the College of Liberal Arts, supported by contributions from student organizations, is awarded to a Northwestern graduate each year. The Fellow lives at the Settlement and tends to keep the student body in touch with the work of the Settlement.

UNIVERSITY PUBLICATIONS

Each School of the University issues a bulletin, one number of which serves as a catalogue. From the office of the President is issued, quarterly, the Alumni News Letter, sent to every alumnus of the University. The Northwestern University Dental Journal is issued quarterly, and the Illinois Law Review each month. The first is the organ of the Alumni Association of the Dental School. The Illinois Law Review is controlled by an association composed of alumni, members of the Faculty, students of the Law School, and practising lawyers of Chicago. The students of the University publish a tri-weekly, The Northwestern; a literary periodical, the Northwestern Magazine; and an annual known as the Syllabus. The students of the Evanston Academy publish the Academian; the students of the Grand Prairie Seminary, The Seminary Breeze.

PUBLIC LECTURES AND CONCERTS

Many lectures and evening courses and concerts, open to students and to the general public, are given under the auspices of the University or of its various organizations.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON, 1908.—Rev. William T. McElveen, Ph.D., Pastor of the First Congregational Church, Evanston.

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS, 1908.—Honorable George Record Peck.

SERMON ON ALL SAINTS' OBSERVANCE, 1908.—Rev. William Macafee, D.D.

SERMON ON THE DAY OF PRAYER FOR COLLEGES, 1908.—Bishop William Fraser McDowell, D.D., LL.D.

ANNUAL ADDRESS BEFORE THE PHI BETA KAPPA SOCIETY, 1908.—Professor Kirby Flower Smith, Ph.D., of Johns Hopkins University.

THE NORMAN W. HARRIS LECTURES.—These lectures, given annually, are endowed by a gift of Mr. Norman Waite Harris of Chicago. In his letter of gift the donor expressed the desire "that the fund should be used to stimulate scientific research of the highest type and to bring the result of such research before the students and friends of Northwestern University, and through them before the world." The term "scientific research" was used to mean "scholarly investigation in any department of human thought or effort, without limitation to research in the so-called natural sciences, but with a desire that such investigation should be extended to cover the whole field of human knowledge." The lectures given on this foundation are published by the University.

THE THIRD COURSE OF NORMAN W. HARRIS LECTURES were delivered in December, 1908, by Professor Henry Fairfield Osborn, Sc.D., LL.D., President of the American Museum of Natural History and Professor in Columbia University, on the subject "The Age of Mammals in Europe and America."

LECTURES BEFORE THE UNIVERSITY GUILD.—Lectures on art topics are delivered before the members of the University Guild and their friends. The lectures for 1908-1909 are as follows: A WINTER IN CAIRO AND ON THE NILE, Mr. Lignor Edgar Perara; SPANISH ART, Mr. Ralph Clarkson; TENNYSON, Mrs. Julien E. Hequembourg; ILLUSTRATED LECTURE ON TRAVEL, by Mr. H. H. Kingsley; ART IN BROWNING, by Miss Margaret Baker; READINGS FROM WILLIAM WATSON, by Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus; LECTURES ON ART APPRECIATION, by Miss Stella Skinner.

LECTURES BEFORE THE SIGMA XI SOCIETY.—Optical and Engineering Problems in the Making of a Large Telescope, by John A. Brashear, Sc.D., LL.D.

LECTURES BEFORE THE ALEPH TETH NUN SOCIETY.—The Democratic Party, by William Jennings Bryan; The Prohibition Party, by Eugene W. Chafin; The Republican Party, by Montaville Flowers.

STUDENT LECTURE COURSE.—A series of five public lectures and concerts given annually under the auspices of the College Young Men's Christian Association.

LECTURES BEFORE THE SCIENCE CLUB.—Astronomical Instruments, by Mr. F. G. Pease of Yerkes Observatory; BRENNAN'S MONO-RAIL CAR, by Professor Henry Crew and Professor R. R. Tatnall; LECTURE ON THE CULTURAL RELATIONS BETWEEN GERMANY AND AMERICA, by Professor Marion D. Learned; TWO LECTURES ON THE EXPANSION OF EUROPE DURING THE MIDDLE AGES, by Charles Raymond Beazley, M.A., Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

FOUR LECTURES ON PHYSIOLOGY AND LIFE.—Delivered before the women of the College of Liberal Arts, by Dr. Emma S. Gillmore.

THE ARTISTS' SERIES OF CONCERTS IN THE SCHOOL OF MUSIC.—These concerts are given under the auspices of the School of Music and are open to the public at a small fee. The series for 1908-1909 is as follows: SONG RECITAL by Glenn Hall; SONG RECITAL by Gwilym Miles; PIANO-LECTURE RECITAL by Silas G. Pratt; CHAMBER-MUSIC RECITAL by the Chicago Wood-Wind Quintette, assisted by Professor Arne Oldberg; four CHAMBER-MUSIC RECITALS by the University String Quartette.

LECTURES DELIVERED AT THE MEDICAL SCHOOL.—Dr. Erich von Knaffl-Lenz, M.D., Ph.D., gave an address before the students of the Medical School, April 8, 1908.

LECTURE ON LEGAL TACTICS.—A series of lectures delivered on Monday evenings in Hurd Hall of the Law School Rooms, is open to all persons interested in the practice of law. The series for 1908-1909 is as follows:

Wilbur Messer, General Secretary, Chicago Central Young Men's Christian Association; George E. Roberts, President, Commercial National Banks and Director of the Mint, 1898-1907; William A. Scott, Director of Course in Commerce, University of Wisconsin; Archibald Wilkinson Shaw, Editor and Publisher of "System"; Towner K. Webster, President, Webster Manufacturing Company; Harry A. Wheeler, Chairman, Executive Committee of the Association of Commerce.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

THE COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

The College of Liberal Arts, the first department of the University to be organized, was opened to students on November 5, 1855. The courses of study are designed to afford a broad and liberal culture without direct reference to a professional career. They constitute a valuable preparation for the study of Law, Medicine, Theology, and other professions, and furnish an equipment for teaching in secondary schools and colleges. The curriculum leads to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, or Science. Courses are offered leading to the degree of Master of Arts, Master of Science, and Doctor of Philosophy.

The site of the College of Liberal Arts is Evanston, next to Chicago, twelve miles north from the business center. The University charter contains a prohibition of saloons within four miles of the campus and the law is enforced. The city is situated on Lake Michigan, is distinguished for its wealth, its beauty, and public spirit, and possesses the academic charm that makes it an ideal college town.

The campus extends for three-quarters of a mile along the shore of the lake, and is bordered by Sheridan Road on the west. On the southern half of the campus—known as the Old Campus—stands the original building, Old College. Near by is University Hall; Fisk Hall, the home of the Academy; Annie May Swift Hall, occupied by the School of Oratory; the old Gymnasium; Fayerweather Hall, used by the departments of Chemistry and Physics; Heck Hall, dormitory for men, and Memorial Hall, both of the Garrett Biblical Institute; Orrington Lunt Library; and Swift Hall of Engineering. On the north campus are Hatfield House, dormitory for men; Dearborn Astronomical Observatory; and the new Gymnasium, now in process of construction. One block west of the campus, on what is known as Willard Hall campus, are Music Hall of the School of Music, and three dormitories for women, Willard Hall, Pearsons Hall, and Chapin Hall. In the extreme southeastern corner of the Old Campus is a building peculiar to Northwestern—the United States Life Saving Station. The crew, composed of students, has a record of thirty years of service. Northwestern Athletic Field, with bleachers and training quarters, is a half-mile to the west of the campus. For a full description of grounds and buildings see page 41.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE AND ORATORY.—Professors Harris, Ewer, Hotchkiss.

HEALTH OF STUDENTS.—Professors Holgate, Coe, Miss Potter.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

Candidates for admission to the College of Liberal Arts must be at least sixteen years of age, and must present certificates of scholarship from the last institution which they attended. These certificates must show in detail the studies pursued by the candidate in preparation for College, and should bear the recommendation of the principal for admission to this College.

Blank forms for credentials may be had on application to the Registrar, and should be returned to him, properly filled out, at least one week before the opening of the college year.

Examinations for Admission

The regular examinations for admission to the College of Liberal Arts are held on the first Monday and Tuesday of the college year. The dates for the year 1909 are September 27 and 28. Candidates may be examined and admitted at other times if prepared to enter classes at an advanced point in the regular courses, but they are advised to enter at the beginning of the college year.

The Board of Examiners will accept, in lieu of its own examinations, those conducted by the College Entrance Examination Board. This Board holds examinations in June in Northwestern University Building, Chicago.

Admission by Certificate

Students from an accredited academy or high school may be admitted to college on certificate, without examination, provided they present themselves for admission not later than a year and three months after graduation. The certificate must show that the candidate has met all the preliminary requirements as described below and must bear the principal's signature recommending the candidate for admission. In case the preparation of a student admitted on certificate is found in the first semester to be unsatisfactory, he will be required to complete his preparation in a fitting-school or in such other way as may be designated.

Preliminary Education

Either by examination or by certificate, all candidates must give satisfactory evidence of preparation in the following subjects: (1) All the units described below under Group A, seven and a half units; (2) Four units from Group B; (3) Three and a half additional units from Groups B and C,—a total of fifteen units.

The unit is a course of study requiring a daily recitation on a prepared subject for a full school year, or a total of not less than one hundred fifty recitations; two hours of laboratory work are counted as the equivalent of one hour of prepared work. It is expected that the work for admission will cover four years in an approved academy or high school.

In special cases, where candidates are unable to meet the requirements relating to specific subjects, but can present the full equivalent of the total requirement, they may by vote of the Faculty or of the Board of Examiners be admitted as regular students; but this regulation will not release a candidate for a degree from any of the studies required for a degree, as described on page 75.

Schedule of Admission Requirements

Candidates for admission must qualify on fifteen units of high school work, as described on the following pages, and distributed as shown below:

	Units	Units
GROUP A.—Required of all candidates.	Advanced Algebra	½
English	Plane Trigonometry	½
Mathematics	Solid Geometry	½
History, Ancient History preferred	Physiography	½ or 1
Science, Physics preferred....	Physics, if not presented in Group B	1
	Botany	1
GROUP B.—Four units required, not less than two units in any one language.	Zoölogy	1
Greek	Botany and Zoölogy.....	1
Latin	Chemistry	1
French	Ancient History, if not presented in Group A.....	1
German	Mediaeval and Modern European History	1
Spanish	English History	¼ or 1
GROUP C.—Three and a half units selected from this group and from studies in GROUP B not already presented.	American History	½ or 1
	Civil Government	½
	Political Economy	½ or 1
	Manual Training	1

Group A

1. ENGLISH.—The character and amount of preparation required is indicated in the program which follows, but the arrangement of the work is not prescribed. It is expected that the English work will be distributed over four years of the secondary school course. Three units.

(a) LANGUAGE.—Spelling, punctuation, grammar, paragraphing, the fundamental principles of rhetoric, reading, practice in writing compositions based on the student's personal experience. Certificates from accredited schools are expected to contain a statement from the instructor in English that each student, before entering college, has written at least eight exercises of not less than three hundred words each. Descriptions of scenes or objects actually witnessed by the writers, narrations based on personal experiences, and arguments on specific questions will be accepted; rambling expository essays on broad general themes are not acceptable. Students without certificates may present these exercises for inspection by the examiner.

(b) LITERATURE.—The following books are to be read. The student should acquire a knowledge of the subject-matter and of the main facts in the lives of the authors, and should practice writing short compositions on subjects drawn from the reading. 1909-1911:—

I. Two to be selected from: Shakespeare's As You Like It, Henry V, Julius Cæsar, The Merchant of Venice, Twelfth Night.

II. One to be selected from: Bacon's Essays; Bunyan's The Pilgrim's Progress, Part I; The Sir Roger de Coverley Papers in the Spectator; Franklin's Autobiography.

III. One to be selected from: Chaucer's Prologue; Selections from Spenser's Faerie Queen; Pope's The Rape of the Lock; Goldsmith's The Deserted Village; Palgrave's Golden Treasury, First Series, Books II and III, with special attention to Dryden, Collins, Gray, Cowper, and Burns.

IV. Two to be selected from: Goldsmith's The Vicar of Wakefield Scott's Ivanhoe and Quentin Durward; Hawthorne's The House of the Seven Gables; Thackeray's Henry Esmond; Mrs. Gaskell's Cranford; Dickens' A Tale of Two Cities; George Eliot's Silas Marner; Blackmore's Lorna Doone.

V. Two to be selected from Irving's Sketch Book; Irving's Life of Goldsmith; Lamb's Essays of Elia; DeQuincey's Joan of Arc and The English Mail Coach; Carlyle's Heroes and Hero Worship; Emerson's Essays; Ruskin's Sesame and Lilies.

VI. Two to be selected from: Coleridge's The Ancient Mariner; Scott's The Lady of the Lake; Byron's Mazeppa and The Prisoner of Chillon; Palgrave's Golden Treasury, First Series, Book IV, with special attention to Wordsworth, Keats, and Shelley; Macaulay's Lays of Ancient Rome; Poe's Poems; Lowell's The Vision of Sir Launfal; Arnold's Sohrab and Rustum; Longfellow's The Courtship of Miles Standish; Tennyson's Gareth and Lynette, Lancelot and Elaine, and The Passing of Arthur; Browning's Cavalier Tunes, The Lost Leader, How They Brought the Good News from Ghent to Aix, Evelyn Hope, Home Thoughts from Abroad, Home Thoughts from the Sea, Incident of the French Camp, The Boy and the Angel, One Word More, Hervé Riel, Pheidippides.

(c) LITERATURE.—The student is expected to make a thorough study of each of the works named below, accompanied by practice in composition. 1909-1911:—

Shakespeare's Macbeth or Julius Cæsar; Milton's Lycidas, Comus, L'Allegro, and Il Penseroso; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America or Washington's Farewell Address and Webster's first Bunker Hill oration; Macaulay's Life of Johnson or Macaulay's Essay on Milton, or Carlyle's Essay on Burns.

2. MATHEMATICS.—It is recommended that the work in Mathematics be extended over at least three years of the high school course, and especially that work be given in this subject in the last year. A good arrangement is as follows: first year, five hours a week, algebra; second year, five hours a week, geometry; fourth year, five hours a week for the first half-year, solid geometry; second half-year, algebra.

(a) ALGEBRA.—Factoring, common divisors and multiples, fractions, simple equations of one or more unknown quantities, involution, evolution, theory of exponents, and radicals. Special attention should be given to the statement of problems in the form of equations. One unit.

(b) ALGEBRA.—A review of the previous work and a thorough study of radicals, equations involving radicals, quadratic equations with one or two unknown quantities, and equations solved as quadratics. One-half unit.

(c) PLANE GEOMETRY.—A course equivalent to that contained in Holgate's Geometry, with the solution of a large number of exercises and numerical problems. One unit.

3. HISTORY.—The requirement is one unit of history, preferably Ancient History, No. 27. If a candidate cannot present a year of Ancient History, he may substitute for it a full unit of History chosen from Nos. 28, 29, and 30, or a year of General History.

4. SCIENCE.—One unit of Science, preferably Physics, No. 23, is required of all applicants. A candidate who cannot present a year of Physics, may substitute for it a year of Biology, No. 24 or 25, or a year of Chemistry, No. 26, or a full year of Physiography, No. 22.

Group B

FOREIGN LANGUAGES.—The candidate is advised to present at least two units of credit in Latin. A single unit of a foreign language will be accepted for entrance credit only on condition that the study of that language be continued through a second year.

6. GREEK (a).—Grammar, White's First Greek Book, or an equivalent. One unit.

7. GREEK (b).—Xenophon's Anabasis, Books I, II, and III; Jones' Greek Prose Composition, or an equivalent, thirty lessons. One unit.

8. GREEK (c).—Anabasis, Book IV; Prose Composition, lessons thirty to forty; Homer, Iliad, or Odyssey, 1,800 lines. One unit.

9. LATIN (a).—Grammar; Cæsar's Gallic War, ten pages, or twenty pages of Viri Romæ, with retranslation of English into Latin. One unit.

10. LATIN (b).—Cæsar's Gallic War, four books, completed; Latin Composition. One unit.

11. LATIN (c).—Cicero, six orations, including the Manilian Law; Latin Composition. One unit.

12. LATIN (d).—Vergil, six books of the Aeneid. It is desired that the student's acquaintance with Vergil be not limited to the requirement. By private reading, as well as by sight reading in class, the Bucolics and a considerable portion of the Aeneid may with much advantage be added to the amount prescribed. One unit.

13. FRENCH (a).—Correct pronunciation; elementary grammar, with exercises, including the irregular verbs; the reading of from one hundred fifty to two hundred pages of easy French prose. One unit.

14. FRENCH (b).—Elementary grammar completed; easy composition, based upon one of the works read; the reading of two hundred fifty to three hundred pages of French prose. One unit.

15. FRENCH (c).—Study of the difficulties of French syntax and idioms; translation into French from text-book and easy original compositions; the reading of not less than six hundred pages of at least five standard authors; ability to take grammatical dictations and to understand and answer questions in French. One unit.

16. GERMAN (a).—Pronunciation; the memorizing and use of easy colloquial sentences; the rudiments of grammar, inflection of the articles, ordinary nouns, adjectives, pronouns, weak verbs, and the more usual strong verbs; the use of the more common prepositions; the simpler uses of modal auxiliaries and the elementary rules of syntax and word-order; abundant easy exercises; the reading of from seventy-five to one hundred pages of graduated texts. One unit.

17. GERMAN (b).—The reading of from one hundred and fifty to two hundred pages of literature in the form of easy stories and plays; translation into German of matter based upon works read; continued drill upon rudiments of grammar. One unit.

18. I. GERMAN (c).—The reading of about four hundred pages of moderately difficult prose and poetry; retranslation into German; grammatical drill upon the less usual strong verbs; the use of articles, cases, auxiliaries, tenses and modes, word-order and word-formation. One unit.

18. II. GERMAN (d).—The reading of about five hundred pages of good literature in prose and poetry; reference reading upon the lives of the great writers studied; writing in German upon numerous short themes upon assigned subjects; independent translation of English into German. One unit.

19. SPANISH (a).—Correct pronunciation; the rudiments of grammar, including the conjugation of the regular and the more common irregular verbs; sufficient translation from English into Spanish to illustrate the principles of grammar; the reading of from one hundred and fifty to two hundred duo-decimo pages of graduated texts. One unit.

20. SPANISH (b).—Continued study of grammar and syntax; mastery of the irregular verbs and the use of moods and tenses; advanced composition; the reading of from three hundred to four hundred pages of modern prose from different authors illustrating the tendencies of modern Spanish literature; a unified knowledge of Spanish literature of the nineteenth century. One unit.

Group C

21. MATHEMATICS (a).—Algebra, including ratio and proportion, variation, progressions, permutations and combinations, binomial theorem, logarithms and their application to interest and annuities, introduction to determinants, theory of equations and series, as in Elementary Algebra, or a full equivalent. One-half unit.

(b) PLANE TRIGONOMETRY, including the solution of oblique triangles. Consistent employment of ratio definitions of the trigonometric functions and also the ability to verify numerical computations is expected. One-half unit.

(c) SOLID GEOMETRY, a course equivalent to that contained in Holgate's Elementary Geometry, including numerous exercises and problems. One-half unit.

22. PHYSIOGRAPHY.—The earth as a planet, the atmosphere, the climate, the ocean, and the land. Emphasis should be placed upon the land, especially upon topographic features, their origin and significance. Some recent text-book should form the basis for the course, and it should be supplemented by a large amount of laboratory work. One-half unit or one unit.

23. PHYSICS.—A course equivalent to that contained in Millikan and Gale's First Course in Physics. The candidate must present evidence of familiarity with the general principles of physical science, especially the simpler principles and phenomena which are constantly illustrated in daily life, such as the pendulum, hydrostatics, water waves, pitch and intensity of sound, heat conduction, boiling, freezing, simple lenses, mirrors, prisms, magnets, lines of force, voltaic cells, galvanometers. It is also required that a course of laboratory work shall have been pursued in connection with the text-book, equivalent to at least forty exercises from Crew and Tatnall's Laboratory Manual of Physics, and that accurate notes descriptive of the experiments shall have been kept. One unit.

24. BOTANY.—The study of plants as living organisms, with special regard to function, structure, and relation to environment. Each recitation or quiz period should be preceded by two hours of laboratory work. Atkinson's Lessons in Botany and Bergen's Foundations of Botany are satisfactory texts. Each pupil should individually perform the experiments and demonstrations and should keep a neat and accurate notebook showing the work done by himself and the conclusions reached. One unit, or a half-unit if accompanied by a half-unit of Zoölogy.

25. ZOÖLOGY.—The study for one year of animal structure, habits, and general life history will be accepted as a full item of credit for entrance, provided it has been done by the laboratory method. Conditions for undertaking the work vary widely. Competent teachers will have their own methods and the materials used will also vary. Linville and Kelley's Text-Book on General Zoölogy, Kellogg's Elementary Zoölogy, and Animal Studies by Jordan, Kellogg, and Heath are among the text-books approved. Emphasis should be placed on training in observation, in accuracy in drawing, and expression in the notebooks. One unit, or a half-unit if accompanied by a half-unit of Botany.

26. CHEMISTRY.—Laboratory work should be made an essential feature of the study, and this may well take one-half of the total time assignment. Careful and systematic notes of his individual work should be made by the student. Some work in quantitative experiments is recommended as desirable both for training and in order to illustrate the fundamental laws. Purely descriptive work may better be limited to comparatively few elements and compounds rather than be extended to a larger list with resulting confusion to the student. One unit.

27. ANCIENT HISTORY.—A special study of the history of Greece and Rome, West's Ancient History, or Botsford's Greece and Rome, or an equivalent, with supplementary reading. One unit.

28. MEDIAEVAL AND MODERN EUROPEAN HISTORY.—Myers' Mediaeval and Modern History, or an equivalent, with supplementary reading. One unit.

29. ENGLISH HISTORY.—A study of the political and constitutional development of England. Larned's English History or an equivalent. One unit, or one-half unit.

30. AMERICAN HISTORY.—Channing's Students' History of the United States, or an equivalent. One unit, or one-half unit.

31. CIVIL GOVERNMENT.—James and Sanford's Government in State and Nation, or an equivalent. One-half unit.

32. POLITICAL ECONOMY.—Thurston's Economics and Industrial History, or an equivalent. One unit, or one-half unit.

33. MANUAL TRAINING.—Joinery, practice in making the more common joints in wood with hand tools; wood-turning, the use of the ordinary turning tools in making various curved forms, cups, balls, etc.; pattern making, practice in making wood patterns from which castings may be made, involving the study of shrinkage, distribution of metal, and various methods of molding; forging, practice in forming iron into various shapes when heated to the plastic condition, welding, and tempering. Woodward's The Manual Training School describes the usual exercises. If a laboratory manual is not used the student should write up each exercise carefully, as in other laboratory work. One unit. This work will require at least six hours a week in the shop through two years.

Admission as Special Students

On the recommendation of the Committee on Registration and Special Students, persons of serious purpose and mature years may be admitted to college as special students to pursue selected studies. Applications for such admission must be accompanied by evidence of qualification to carry on the proposed work to advantage, but no persons will be so admitted for courses which might be pursued in a secondary school. In general, special students are expected to meet the full entrance requirements.

Admission to Advanced Standing

Students from other colleges seeking admission to this College must present evidence of honorable dismissal from the institution last attended and must present certificates showing the grades of credit for the subjects pursued elsewhere, with the number of weeks and the number of hours a week the respective studies were followed. Students from other colleges must meet the regular entrance requirements to this College. The amount of advanced credit to be obtained by certificate from another institution is determined by a committee of the Faculty, but advanced credit will not be given without examination except for work done in an approved college. Claims for advanced credit must be made during the first year of residence. Candidates for advanced standing are not admitted later than September of the collegiate year in which they expect to graduate.

Accredited Schools

High schools and academies are placed on the accredited list of the University by action of the Faculty, upon the recommendation of the Committee on Accredited Schools. This relation implies that the certificates of the school properly attested will be accepted at their face value toward meeting the requirements for admission.

Superintendents or principals desiring to have their schools placed on the accredited list should make application to the Chairman of the Committee on Accredited Schools, who will provide for a proper inspection. The letter of application should give the names of all teachers, with a statement of their preparation and of their experience as teachers; a careful statement of the methods pursued in teaching Mathematics, Languages, and Sciences; the amount and kind of scientific apparatus and the library facilities accessible to students. The letter should be accompanied with the latest printed catalogue or annual report of the school, containing an outline of the course of study and a list of the text-books used.

The schools which are placed on the accredited list will continue to be accredited for three years, unless the Faculty within this period becomes satisfied that changes have occurred making further inspection desirable.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDIES

The courses of study offered in the College of Liberal Arts are listed under the several department headings beginning on page 79. Much of the work there announced is elective, but certain courses shown in the schedules below are required of all candidates for a degree.

In making up his program of studies for any year the student must give precedence to prescribed courses and in the order designated in the schedules. Except by special permission of the Committee on Registration, he must take in addition, elective work sufficient to make a total of fifteen class exercises a week. The credit assigned to a course is expressed in hours, an hour of credit being given for the satisfactory completion of work requiring one class exercise a week for one semester.

As a condition of graduation, a student must complete one hundred twenty semester hours of work, including the prescribed courses—the equivalent of fifteen class exercises a week for four years.

Major and Minor Studies

At a date not later than the beginning of the third year of residence, the candidate for a degree must announce a department in which he proposes to do major work, and a department in which he proposes to do minor work. The courses constituting the major and the minor in the several departments are listed on pages 76 and 77, and are also stated under the department headings in the descriptions of courses.

The list of prescribed courses is designed to secure breadth of culture and to bring the student into contact with the main divisions of modern study. On the other hand, the requirement of a major and a minor secures continuity in one department, and to a less degree also in a second, and prevents the student from scattering his energies unduly. Students are advised to give careful thought to the plan of their elective work and to the selection of their major subject as early as the beginning of the second year.

Prescribed Courses

MINOR: Course A and two additional year-hours not taken concurrently with Course A.

Faculty Advisers

Each undergraduate student on entering College is assigned to a member of the Faculty who is to act as his adviser and give him helpful counsel relating to his college life. At the beginning of the third year the student makes choice of the department in which he is to do major work; the senior professor in that department becomes his adviser and should be consulted freely on all matters relating to subsequent work. The student is required to submit his choice of studies for each year to his adviser and obtain approval of the same before completing his registration; all changes in registration during the year must likewise receive the adviser's approval.

Courses of Instruction

The following pages give the list of courses offered in the College of Liberal Arts for the year 1908-1909. For completeness, courses offered in alternate years are included, with a note to indicate in what years they are given.

The general regulations affecting the student's choice of studies may be found on pages 74 and 75. Special regulations, if any, governing the order in which courses in the same department should be taken are given under the department heading.

Students electing courses given in other schools of the University, or in Garrett Biblical Institute, or the Swedish or Norwegian-Danish Theological Seminaries, are subject to the regulations of those schools.

The credit which a course bears toward meeting the requirement of one hundred and twenty semester-hours for graduation is indicated in general by the number of class exercises a week for each semester, two hours of laboratory work counting as one hour of credit. Exceptions to this are indicated in the descriptions of courses. A course not elected in any year by as many as five persons may be withdrawn at the option of the Faculty.

DEPARTMENTS OF INSTRUCTION

Astronomy

PROFESSOR HOUGH

A. ASTRONOMY; METEOROLOGY.—A general course in Astronomy and Meteorology adapted to the needs of students with no previous knowledge of the subject. Open to students who have secured a credit of sixty semester hours, including either Mathematics A1 or A3. Tu., Th., 2. PROFESSOR HOUGH.

K. GRADUATE COURSE IN PRACTICAL ASTRONOMY.—Time and credit to be arranged. PROFESSOR HOUGH.

Biblical Literature

PROFESSOR PATTEN AND PROFESSOR TERRY

MAJOR: Course A and seven additional year-hours, including Course E. MINOR: Courses A, B, and D.

A. INTRODUCTION TO THE ENGLISH BIBLE.—First semester.—The origin and evolution of the English Bible; the English of the Bible; the Bible and English Literature. One hour a week is devoted to the careful reading of selected books of the Bible. Second semester.—The Bible as literature. Lectures and required readings, with papers on the various topics considered. Text: The American Standard Revised Version, Moulton's Modern Reader's Bible. Open to all students. Mon., Wed., Fri., 2. PROFESSOR PATTEN.

B. THE GOSPEL OF JOHN.—First semester.—A study of the relation of John to the Synoptic Gospels. Second semester.—The Christ of the Gospels as the central point of the Christian Evidences. Lectures and required readings. Open to students who have completed or are taking Course A. Text: Cambridge Bible for Schools and Colleges. Tu., Th., 2. PROFESSOR PATTEN.

C. BIBLICAL HISTORY.—First semester.—History of the Hebrews, from the Conquest to the Exile. Second semester.—History of the Jews, from the Exile to the Christian era. Open to students who have completed Course A and are taking or have completed Course B. Text: Kent's Historical Series. Lectures and required readings. Mon., Wed., Fri., 3. PROFESSOR PATTEN.

D. ACTS OF THE APOSTLES AND THE EPISTLES.—First semester.—The Acts of the Apostles. An inductive study of the era of Apostolic Christianity. Second semester.—Selected Pauline Epistles. Open to students who have completed Course A. Text: Cambridge Bible for Schools and Colleges, with lectures and required readings. Tu., Th., 11. PROFESSOR PATTEN.

E. HISTORY OF RELIGION.—First semester.—A survey and a comparison of the principal religions of the world in their rise and development. Text-book, with lectures, assigned readings, and papers. Second semester.—Special study of individual ethnic religions with emphasis upon their relations to Christianity. Lectures and required readings with text. Open to students who have a credit of sixty hours. Tu., Th., 3. PROFESSOR PATTEN.

F. CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE.—This course is given in Garrett Biblical Institute, and students electing it are subject to the regulations of that school. Three times a week. Hours to be arranged. PROFESSOR TERRY.

Botany

PROFESSOR ATWELL AND MISS FIXEN

MAJOR: Course A and six additional year-hours. MINOR: Course A and three additional year-hours.

Course A or its equivalent must be completed before any other course in the department is taken.

A. PRINCIPLES OF BOTANY.—The biology and morphology of typical plants selected from the more important natural groups. Ecology and classification receive attention during the months of October and May. Laboratory and field work, with quizzes and informal lectures. Open to all students. Four year-hours. Lectures, Mon., Fri., 2. Laboratory, Tu., Th., 8 to 10, or 2 to 4. PROFESSOR ATWELL, MISS FIXEN, and assistants.

B. SEED PLANTS.—First semester.—Histological methods as applied to the study of structure and development. Second semester.—Morphology, distribution, and economic uses of the more prominent plant families; the general principles of forestry; the study of the trees and forests of the locality. Open to students who have had a year-course in Botany. Additional credit may be obtained by doing special work Saturday mornings. Three year-hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 8 to 10. PROFESSOR ATWELL and MISS FIXEN.

BB. TREES AND FORESTS.—The Morphology, classification, habits, distribution, and economic value of the trees and shrubs commonly found in American forests, especially in the north central states. Open to those who have completed one year of elementary Botany. Class room work one hour a week; field work or laboratory work two hours a week. Two hours. Second semester only. PROFESSOR ATWELL.

C. PHYSIOLOGY AND HISTOLOGY OF PLANTS.—First semester.—Laboratory experiments in physiology. Second semester.—Problems in histology, demonstrating effect of environment upon structure. The course is open to those who have completed Course A and B, or a fair equivalent. Three year-hours. Mon., Tu., Wed., Th., Fri., 11. PROFESSOR ATWELL.

D. ALGÆ AND FUNGI.—Comparative morphology of ferns, mosses, algæ, and fungi. Laboratory work, lectures, and field work. Books of reference are provided. Open to students who have completed Course A. May be taken concurrently with Course B. Two to four year-hours. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR ATWELL.

G. SPECIAL PROBLEMS IN PLANT LIFE.—Problems involving original work, assigned to suit the needs of individuals. Open to students who have completed the major requirement. Three to five year-hours. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR ATWELL.

Chemistry

PROFESSOR YOUNG, PROFESSOR WHITTELEY, AND PROFESSOR HINES

MAJOR: Courses A, B, and C. MINOR: Courses A and B.

Course A is an introductory course and it or an equivalent must be completed before other work in the department is taken. Courses B and C follow in order, but may be taken concurrently.

A. GENERAL CHEMISTRY, ELEMENTARY.—Text and laboratory work. Those who have had a course in elementary Chemistry, but not sufficient to qualify for Course B, may, by taking Section II, have the laboratory work modified so as to avoid unnecessary repetition of work already done. Credit is not given unless the full course is completed. Open without prerequisite. Four year-hours. Class work, Section I and III, Tu., Th., 1:30 to 2:30; Section II, Mon., Fri., 4 to 5. Laboratory, Section I, Tu., Th., 2:30 to 4, Wed., 1:30 to 4; Section II, Mon., Fri., 1:30 to 4; Section III, Tu., Th., 2:30 to 5. PROFESSOR YOUNG and PROFESSOR HINES.

B. QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS; ORGANIC CHEMISTRY.—Lectures, recitations, and laboratory work. Four year-hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 1:30 to 4:30. PROFESSOR WHITTELEY.

C. QUANTITATIVE ANALYSIS.—First semester.—Gravimetric analysis. Second semester.—Volumetric analysis. Three year-hours. Tu., Th., 1:30 to 4:30. PROFESSOR WHITTELSEY.

BC. ADVANCED ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY.—Selected topics from the following: (a) Qualitative analysis of commercial products and of substances more complex than those analyzed in Chemistry B. (b) Quantitative analysis, special methods for the analysis of technical materials, ores, etc. Open to students who have completed Courses B and C; or may be taken concurrently with Course C. Three year-hours. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR WHITTELSEY.

D. SANITARY AND FOOD ANALYSIS; ORGANIC DETERMINATION.—First semester.—Examination of water, milk, butter. Second semester.—Organic determinations. Open to those who have completed Course C. Three year-hours. Tu., Th., 9 to 12. PROFESSOR WHITTELSEY.

E. ADVANCED COURSE IN GENERAL CHEMISTRY.—A course of reading on somewhat advanced topics. The work has been based on Ostwald's Outlines of General Chemistry. Credit is not given unless the year-course is completed. Prerequisite, Course B. Two year-hours. Wed., Fri., 10. PROFESSOR YOUNG and PROFESSOR HINES.

G. TOPICS OF INVESTIGATION.—Problems involving original research in inorganic and organic chemistry. Open only by special permission of the instructor in charge. Credit and time to be arranged. PROFESSOR WHITTELSEY.

H. ORGANIC CHEMISTRY, ADVANCED COURSE.—Lectures. A systematic study of the synthetic relations of the carbon compounds. This course must be preceded by Course B. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR WHITTELSEY.

I. GAS ANALYSIS; IRON AND STEEL ANALYSIS.—This course must be preceded by Course C. Three year-hours. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR HINES.

Economics, Finance, and Administration

PROFESSOR HOTCHKISS, PROFESSOR HOWARD, AND MR. DEIBLER

MAJOR: Course A and seven additional year-hours, which must include at least two year-hours more advanced than the courses of the B-group. MINOR: Course A and three additional year-hours.

Course A is a prerequisite for all other courses in the department except B5, as noted below. Courses of the C-group must be preceded by or be taken concurrently with a course of the B-group. Course D is open to graduate students and by special permission to undergraduates who have had at least two full year courses.

A. THE ELEMENTS OF ECONOMICS.—An elementary course in economic theory. The first semester is devoted to the fundamental principles of value. In the second semester these principles are applied to practical economic problems. The work of the second semester varies in the different sections according to the instructor's individual choice. Open to students who have thirty semester-hours of credit. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9, 9, 10. PROFESSOR HOTCHKISS, PROFESSOR HOWARD, and MR. DEIBLER.

B1. INDUSTRIAL HISTORY AND COMMERCIAL GEOGRAPHY.—The industrial and commercial history of Western Europe and the United States, showing the origin and growth of modern economic ideas. A general survey of modern commerce as influenced by the resources and leading industries of different parts of the world. Text book: Day, History of Commerce. Mon., Wed., Fri., 3. PROFESSOR HOWARD.

B2. THE LABOR QUESTION IN EUROPE AND AMERICA.—The economic and social conditions of the working classes in Europe and the United States. Factory legislation. Growth of labor organizations; strikes and lock-outs; the open and the closed shop; collective bargaining; state regulation of labor disputes, recent laws and judicial decisions. Mon., Wed., Fri., 8. MR. DEIBLER.

B3. TRANSPORTATION.—The general principles of railway transportation; the history of American railroads; the development of organization, management, consolidations, and control; railway finance and rate making; state and federal legislation; the Interstate Commerce Commission. Johnson's American Railway Transportation. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9. Not given in 1908-1909. PROFESSOR HOWARD.

B4. SOCIOLOGY AND SOCIALISM.—The general principles of social evolution and progress, with particular reference to specific social institutions. A critical study of socialism and the programs of different socialistic leaders. "Socialism of the chair." Text-books, assigned readings, and discussions. Tu., Th., 11. MR. DEIBLER.

B5. PRESENT DAY SOCIAL PROBLEMS.—Social problems of the present day, characteristic of congested industrial centers. Poverty, its causes and effects; the sphere of the state and of private individuals and organizations in promoting wholesome social conditions; the interpretation of activities for social betterment with reference to standards of social justice. Prerequisite, Course A, or sixty hours of credit including one course in either Philosophy or History. Tu., Th., 10. PROFESSOR HOTCHKISS.

B6. ADMINISTRATION.—Comparative administrative law and practice; designed to familiarize the student with the actual working of administrative machinery in the leading modern states; municipal government and administration. Text: Ashley's Local and Central Government; other books to be announced. Mon., Wed., Fri., 2. Not given in 1908-1909. PROFESSOR HOTCHKISS.

B7. COLONIAL GOVERNMENTS.—The economic, social, and political conditions in the English and Dutch colonies and the outlying districts of the United States. Relation of European nations to the so-called less progressive peoples. Interests of the United States in the Orient. Tu., Th., 9. Not given in 1908-1909. PROFESSOR HOTCHKISS.

B8. SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC FIELD WORK.—Students in the department who have completed Course A will be permitted, at the discretion of the instructor, to investigate and report upon certain social and industrial institutions in the neighborhood of Chicago. Work of this nature to receive credit must be additional to the work required for special reports in other courses. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR HOTCHKISS.

C1. THE RELATION OF GOVERNMENT TO INDUSTRY.—Development of the laissez faire doctrine and reasons for its abandonment. Government regulation and public policy. Specific regulative measures. Comparison of American and foreign practice. An expansion of the course on the trust problem, given in previous years, covering also the questions of a public nature dealt with in the course in Transportation. Tu., Th., 9. PROFESSOR HOTCHKISS.

C2. PUBLIC FINANCE AND TAXATION.—A comparative study of the budget systems in the leading countries. Special attention is given to existing methods of taxation; justice and incidence of taxation. Adams' Science of Finance and Bastable's Public Finance will furnish the basis for the course. Tu., Th., 9. Not given in 1908-1909. MR. DEIBLER.

C3. MONEY, BANKING, AND CORPORATION FINANCE.—Money and instruments of credit; banks and their functions; the currency problem. Legal aspects of corporations. The methods of promotion, capitalization, and underwriting; the various forms of stocks and bonds, their values, methods of marketing through stock exchanges and otherwise. Texts: Johnson, Money and Currency; Wood, Modern Business Corporations. Mon., Wed., Fri., 11. PROFESSOR HOWARD.

C4. ADVANCED ECONOMIC THEORY.—This course gives advanced students opportunity to make a more intensive study of the theory of value and its applications than is possible in Course A. Special attention is given to the development of economic thought; the contribution of the Historical and Austrian schools; modern economic thought. Tu., Th., 10. MR. DEIBLER.

D. SEMINARY.—In this course an extended original investigation upon some specific topic will be undertaken. The thesis prepared in the seminary may be entered in competition for the Harris Prize in political science. Undergraduates may not register for more than three hours except by permission of the faculty. Three to six year-hours. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR HOTCHKISS, PROFESSOR HOWARD, and MR. DEIBLER.

Education

PROFESSOR FISK AND PROFESSOR LIBBY

MAJOR: Course A, or J, or Courses B and C, and seven additional year-hours, which must include either Courses F, or Courses G and K.
MINOR: Course A, or J, or Courses B and C, and three additional year-hours not taken concurrently with Course A, B, or J.

A teacher's diploma will be issued to students who fulfill the requirements described on page 123.

Course A is an introductory course and may well precede other courses in the department. Courses B and J, however, do not require preliminary courses.

A. GENERAL HISTORY OF EDUCATION.—The relation of institutional education to the development of civilization and culture; the discussion of pedagogical principles; the intensive study by individual students of the great educators, Plato, Rousseau, Spencer, et al. Monroe's Text-Book in the History of Education, Brown's The Making of our Middle Schools, and Ziegler's Geschichte der Pädagogik are recommended for reference. Open to students who have thirty hours of credits. Mon., Wed., Fri., 3. PROFESSOR LIBBY.

B. PRINCIPLES OF EDUCATION.—Lectures, readings, and discussions. Text-books: Compayré's Lectures on Pedagogy, Horne's Philosophy of Education, Rooper's Apperception, Lange's Apperception, De Garmo's Interest and Education, McMurry's Elements of General Method, Hughes's Securing and Retaining Attention. Open to students who have a credit of sixty hours, and to others by special permission. Mon., Wed., 4. PROFESSOR FISK.

C. SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION.—Lectures, readings, and discussions. Text-books: Tompkin's Philosophy of School Management, De Garmo's Principles of Secondary Education, Roark's Economy in Education, Calderwood's On Teaching. Open to students who have completed Course A or Course B, and to others by special permission. Fri., 4. PROFESSOR FISK.

D. EXPERIMENTAL PEDAGOGY.—Investigation of the basis of method, the contents of children's minds, fatigue, types of imagination, fidelity of memory, retention and recall. The learning process, by introspection and by observation of others. The research method is employed. The works of Lay, Meumann, and Binet are recommended for reference. Open to students who have completed the first semester of Philosophy A1. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9. Second semester only. PROFESSOR LIBBY.

E. SPECIAL METHODS.—Lectures, readings, discussions, written reports, high school visitations, demonstrations, examination of textbooks, apparatus, etc. Lectures by representatives of departments as follows: History, See History J; Latin, See Latin J, H, and K; Mathematics, See Mathematics B3; Physiography, See Geology A2. PROFESSOR FISK, PROFESSOR LIBBY, and the instructors in the several departments.

F. HISTORY OF MODERN EDUCATION.—Open to students who have completed Course A. Mon., Wed., Fri., 3. Not given in 1908-1909. PROFESSOR LIBBY.

G. ADOLESCENCE.—Growth, psychic development, motor education, conversion, adolescent feelings, diseases, crimes, rites, the education of girls, boys' gangs. Hall's Adolescence is used for reference. Members of the class present written reports on monographs. Open to students who have completed two year-courses in Education. Tu., Th., 10. PROFESSOR LIBBY.

J. SECONDARY EDUCATION IN THE UNITED STATES.—The history of American middle schools, comparison with foreign systems, organization, discipline, curricula, methods, management, hygiene, report of the Committee of Ten, report of the Committee on College Entrance Requirements. Present-day problems of secondary education. High school visitations with reports, the criticism of text-books, etc. Reading of periodicals. This course prepares directly for high school teaching and may be taken in conjunction with Education E. Open to students who have thirty hours of credit. Mon., Wed., Fri., 10. PROFESSOR LIBBY.

K. EDUCATION FROM THE SOCIOLOGICAL POINT OF VIEW.—The school in relation to the family, state, and other social forces; education with reference to philanthropy and to the progress of civilization; the function of the industrial school, night school, reformatory school, school for defectives, kindergarten, university settlement, special institutions. Seminary method employed; reading of recent books and periodicals. Open to students who have completed two year-courses in Education. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9. First semester only. PROFESSOR LIBBY.

Elocution

PROFESSOR CUMNOCK AND MR. DENNIS

A. FIRST COURSE.—The regulation of the breath, the use of the body in the development of vocal energy; English phonation; methods of acquiring distinct articulation; the natural and orotund voices; the application of force, stress, pitch, rate, quantity, and emphasis, and their importance; the use of inflection for emphasis and melodious effect; the fundamental principles of gesture and their application. Texts: Russell's Manual of Elocution and Cumnock's Choice Read- ings. Open to all students. Section I, Mon., Wed., 4; Section II, Tu., Th., 4. MR. DENNIS.

B. STUDY OF MASTERPIECES OF ENGLISH ELOQUENCE.—Open to students who have completed Course A. Section I, Tu., Th., 8; Section II, Wed., Fri., 8. MR. DENNIS.

C. PRINCIPLES OF VOCAL EXPRESSION.—Stress is laid upon the acquisition of good form in common reading and in oratorical address. The written productions are carefully examined; individual advice and criticism. Open to students who have completed Courses A and B. This course is designed for the year of graduation. Mon., Fri., 9. PROFESSOR CUMNOCK.

D. BIBLE, HYMN, AND LITURGIC READING.—Mon., Fri., 11. PROFESSOR CUMNOCK.

Engineering

PROFESSOR BASQUIN AND PROFESSOR IRISH

Major and minor not yet arranged.

A1. MECHANICAL DRAWING.—An introductory course in which accurate work is made a special feature; the use and care of instruments; freehand sketching in orthographic projection; practice in the general methods used in the drawing room in preparation for practical work. Open to all students. One year-hour. Wednesday afternoon. PROFESSOR IRISH.

A2. SOPHOMORE DRAWING.—Under the head of descriptive geometry this course embraces a treatment of the theoretical principles of orthographic projection as used in the practice of advanced mechanical drawing; under the head of graphical statics it treats of methods of finding the forces which act between the parts of framed structures as a result of the loads which they support; while under the head of kinematics it acquaints the student with the more important mechanical motions and gives him some practice in applying them to machine parts. Open to students who have completed Course A1. Three year-hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., afternoons. PROFESSOR BASQUIN and PROFESSOR IRISH.

B1. FRESHMAN SHOP WORK.—A study of the simple tools commonly used in wood and metal working, special attention being given to the mechanical study of their cutting action. Open to all students. One year-hour. Tu. or Th. afternoon. PROFESSOR BASQUIN.

B2. SOPHOMORE SHOP WORK.—A more advanced course than B1. Not given in 1908-1909.

C1. SURVEYING.—A course in the care and use of the chain, tape, rods, compass, level, transit, solar transit, plane table, current meter, sextant, hand level, prismatic compass, with the theory and method of making land, city, topographic, hydrographic, railroad, highway, mine, and tunnel surveys, and platting field notes; also sufficient astronomy for the determination of latitude and longitude. Open to students who have completed Course A1 and Mathematics A1 or A3. Three year-hours. Tu., Th., 9, Sat., 9 to 12. PROFESSOR IRISH.

C2. FIELD WORK IN SURVEYING.—Practice in the more important classes of surveying under conditions met with in actual surveying work. The class is divided into small sections of which the members take charge in rotation and the assignment of work is so arranged that each man gets a considerable experience with each of the important instruments and with the various duties involved in the making of surveys. The camp has its headquarters near Kilbourn, Wisconsin. Open to students who have completed Course C1. Six weeks in the summer, beginning June 16, 1909. PROFESSOR IRISH.

H2. STRUCTURAL MECHANICS.—A study of the behavior of cast iron, steel, stone, concrete, under the action of stress, with a discussion of the strength, deformation under load, and the proper design of beams, columns, joints, etc. Experimental work upon the strength of materials is carried out by the class under the leadership of each of its members in rotation. Open to students who have completed Physics B and Mathematics B1. Three year-hours. Tu., Th., 10, and one afternoon.

J1. THERMODYNAMICS AND HEAT ENGINES.—An extended study of technical thermodynamics as applied to the flow of gases, the air engine, the internal combustion engine and the steam engine; considerable attention is given to the various forms of the steam engine and its many accessories. Open to students who have completed Physics B and Mathematics B1. Three year-hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 11. PROFESSOR BASQUIN.

L. DESCRIPTIVE GEOMETRY.—This course is given as a part of Course A2.

English Language

PROFESSOR CLARK, MISS POTTER, MR. SHERBURN, MR. BURRILL, AND MR. STEVENS

MAJOR: Courses A and B and six additional year-hours, which must include one of the Courses C, D, or H, and may include English Literature D. MINOR: Courses A and B and two additional year-hours.

Course A is required of all students during the first year of residence unless especially excused by the Registration Committee. It must precede all other courses in the department.

A. RHETORIC; SYNONYMS; EIGHT ESSAYS.—First semester.—Drill

in the elements of good style. Second semester.—Rhetorical imagery and synonyms. Students who show, early in the first semester, that they are seriously deficient in elementary English, are required to take additional work for such time as may be found necessary. E. First semester.—Dramatic Literature,—Plautus and Terence, selections; earlier Fragments. Second semester.—Satire and Epigram,—Juvenal; Martial. Open to students who have completed Course C or D. Tu., Th., 11. PROFESSOR BONBRIGHT.

F. First semester.—Lucretius, readings with interpretation, introductory lectures. Second semester.—Philosophical selections.—Cicero. Seneca. Tu., Th., 11. Not given in 1908-1909. PROFESSOR BONBRIGHT.

G. GRADUATE COURSE.—Study of a selected type or period of literary production, readings with oral and written reports. Open to students of advanced preparation. Time and credit to be arranged. PROFESSOR BONBRIGHT.

H. VERGIL.—First semester.—Bucolics and Georgics; lectures introductory to the study of Vergil and the Roman epic. Second semester.—Aeneid; preparation of papers on assigned topics with lectures.

Open to students who have completed Course C or D. Tu., Th., 4. Not given in 1908-1909. PROFESSOR LONG.

J. LATIN COMPOSITION.—Latin writing and discussions with lectures on the Latin language, methods of work, and problems in secondary teaching. Open to students who have completed Course A. Tu., Th., 3. PROFESSOR LONG.

K. CAESAR, CICERO.—First semester.—Selections from the Commentaries of Caesar; lectures on special phases of Caesar's works; assigned topics for reports. Second semester.—Selections from the early Orations of Cicero; study of rhetorical method and development of style, together with readings from the rhetorical works. Open to students who have completed Course C or D. Intended primarily for students who expect to teach. Two year-hours. Tu., Th., 4. PROFESSOR LONG.

L. ROMAN LAW.—Morey's Outline; Gaius, Institutes. Hours to be arranged. Two year-hours. Not given in 1908-1909. PROFESSOR LONG.

GREEK AND ROMAN ARCHAEOLOGY.—See Greek K.

Mathematics

PROFESSOR HOLGATE, PROFESSOR CURTISS, MR. WILSON, DR. MOREHEAD, DR. MOORE, MR. MARIETTA, AND MR. DINES

MAJOR: Courses A1 and A2, (or A3,) B1, and six additional year-hours, which must include at least one C-course. MINOR: Courses A1 and A2, and B1 or B2; or Courses A3 and B1.

Course A1 or its equivalent is required of all candidates for a degree. Courses A1 and A2, or Course A3, must precede all more advanced courses in the department.

A1. PLANE TRIGONOMETRY AND ANALYTICAL GEOMETRY.—First semester.—Review of Algebra. Plane Trigonometry, including the solution of oblique triangles. Second semester.—Plane Analytical Geometry; an elementary course on the straight line and conic sections. In the section which meets Mon., Wed., Fri., 11, the order of subjects is reversed and this section is, for the first semester, open only to students who have presented Plane Trigonometry for admission. Required of all candidates for a degree except those who elect Course A3. Mon., Wed., Fri., 8, 9, 10, 11, 11, and 2. Tu., Th., Sat., 8, 9. PROFESSOR CURTISS, DR. MOREHEAD, DR. MOORE, MR. MARIETTA, and MR. DINES.

A2. ALGEBRA.—Ratio and proportion; the progressions; the graphical treatment of simultaneous quadratic equations; the binomial theorem for positive integral exponents; determinants; the numerical solution of equations. This course should be taken concurrently with A1. A half-year course, given each semester. Open to all students. Tu., Th., 11. DR. MOORE.

A3. ALGEBRA, TRIGONOMETRY, AND ANALYTICAL GEOMETRY.—First semester.—Algebra and Plane Trigonometry; the equivalent of Course A2 and the first half of A1. Second semester.—Analytical Geometry, an elementary course on the straight line and conic sections with an introduction to the geometry of three dimensions. Open to all students. Mon., Tu., Wed., Th., Fri., 8, 10. MR. WILSON and MR. MARINETTA.

A4. SOLID GEOMETRY AND PLANE TRIGONOMETRY.—Open to students who have not presented Solid Geometry for admission. Mon., Wed., Fri., 10. DR. MOORE.

B1. DIFFERENTIAL AND INTEGRAL CALCULUS.—Rules for differentiation; infinitesimals and differentials; theorems of mean value; limiting values; partial differentiation; Taylor's theorem; indefinite and definite integrals; applications to geometry and mechanics. Open to students who have completed Courses A1 and A2, or Course A3. Mon., Wed., Fri., 8, 9. PROFESSOR CURTISS and DR. MOORE.

B2. ANALYTICAL GEOMETRY AND ADVANCED ALGEBRA.—First semester.—Analytical Geometry of two and three dimensions. Second semester.—Topics in Advanced Algebra, including complex quantities, determinants, and the theory of equations. Open to students who have completed Courses A1 and A2, and in the second semester to those who have completed Course A3. It is strongly recommended that this course precede or accompany courses designated C. Mon., Wed., Fri., 8. DR. MOREHEAD.

B3. THE PRINCIPLES OF ALGEBRA AND GEOMETRY.—A critical and historical study of the logical foundations of secondary mathematics. This course is included in Education E and is designed especially for those who intend to teach. Open to students who have completed Courses A1 and A2, or Course A3, and who have a college credit of fifty semester-hours. Tu., Th., 10. MR. WILSON.

C1. ADVANCED CALCULUS.—Infinite series; Taylor's theorem; partial differentiation; differential geometry; definite integrals over curves, surfaces and volumes; the Eulerian functions; Fourier's series; differential equations. Open to students who have completed Course B1. Mon., Wed., Fri., 11. PROFESSOR CURTISS.

C2. ANALYTICAL MECHANICS.—Dynamics of a rigid body. Open to students who have completed Mathematics B1 and Physics B. Tu., Th., Sat., 9. Not given in 1908-1909. MR. WILSON.

C3. ADVANCED ANALYTICAL GEOMETRY.—An introduction to the study of some of the more important transformations, as projection, inversion, and polar reciprocation. Much use is made of abridged notation and of homogeneous point and line coordinates. Open to students who have completed Courses A3 and B1, or Course B2. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9. Not given in 1908-1909. PROFESSOR HOLGATE.

C4. MODERN SYNTHETIC GEOMETRY.—The introduction of infinitely distant elements into geometry; central projection; perspectivity and projectivity; generation of conics from projective forms; properties of ruled quadric surfaces; involution; poles and polars; systems of conics. Open to students who have completed Courses A3 and B1, or Course B2. Tu., Th., Sat., 9. PROFESSOR HOLGATE.

C5. SOLID ANALYTICAL GEOMETRY.—Open to students who have completed Courses A3 and B1, or Course B2. First semester. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9. MR. WILSON.

D1. THE PARTIAL DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS OF MATHEMATICAL PHYSICS.—The solution of problems in Heat, Electricity, Acoustics, etc., by means of Fourier's series and allied developments; a treatment of these developments; ordinary linear differential equations whose solutions are connected with these problems; the theory of the Potential Function. Open to students who have completed Course C1 or C2. Mon., Wed., Fri., 10. PROFESSOR CURTISS.

D2. THE THEORY OF FUNCTIONS.—Open to students who have completed Course C1. Mon., Wed., Fri., 2. Not given in 1908-1909. PROFESSOR CURTISS.

D3. THE THEORY OF NUMBERS.—An introduction to the classical Theory of Numbers. Primarily for graduate students. Mon., Wed., Fri., 3. DR. MOREHEAD.

D4. DIFFERENTIAL GEOMETRY.—The Geometry of space curves and surfaces, investigated by means of the Calculus. Primarily for graduate students. Time to be arranged. Second semester only. DR. MOREHEAD.

D5. ORDINARY DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS.—Primarily for graduate students. Mon., Wed., Fri., 11. First semester only. Not given in 1908-1909. DR. MOORE.

D6. VECTOR ANALYSIS.—Open to students who have completed Course B2 or Courses A3 and B1. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9. Second semester only. MR. WILSON.

Music

PROFESSOR LUTKIN, PROFESSOR OLDBERG, MR. GARWOOD, MR. DODGE, AND MISS RUSSELL

The maximum credit which will be allowed for courses in Music is twenty semester-hours. Courses A and C, introductory courses in Harmony and Sight Reading, are open to College students but bear no college credit. They must be satisfactorily completed, or the equivalent, before subsequent courses in the same subjects can be taken.

Members of the Glee Club who have served for one year and who can qualify for Course G may, upon the recommendation of the instructor, obtain a total credit of two semester-hours. Students who have fair ability as players of band instruments and have served two years in the University Band, may, upon recommendation of the instructor, obtain a total credit of four semester-hours.

A. INTRODUCTORY HARMONY, FORM AND ANALYSIS.—Scale and melody writing; construction of the period; intervals and two-part writing; chord-reading; small two-part primary forms; triads, inversions, chord-connection in three and four parts, cadences, modulations, dominant sept-chord. Mon., Wed., Fri., 3; Tu., Th., 3; Sat., 9:30. MR. DODGE.

B. HISTORY OF MUSIC.—A general survey of musical history and biographies of musicians. Recitations; class singing of specimens of Gregorian chant, early canons, and folk songs. Musical illustrations of later periods. Text-books: Clarence G. Hamilton's Outlines of Music History, and Myers' General History (revised edition). Th., 2, 3. MR. GARWOOD.

C. SIGHT-READING, VOCAL.—Drill in scale and interval singing. Time sub-divisions, ear training, dictation, part-singing. Mon., Th., 4:15. MISS RUSSELL.

D. HARMONY.—Figured basses and harmonization of melodies, employing the use of triads, dominant, diminished, and supertonic sept-chords, with inversions, in dispersed harmony. Secondary sept-chords and chords of the ninth. Suspensions and tones foreign to the harmony. Organ-point, modulation, etc. Text-book: Chadwick's Harmony. Mon., Th., 11. PROFESSOR LUTKIN.

E. FORM AND ANALYSIS.—Chord-reading. Bach's inventions. Primary forms, principally from Mendelssohn and Chopin. Song or aria form. Minuets, marches, scherzos, rondos, theme and variations, the sonata form. Sonatas as a whole. Preludes and fugues. Tu., Fri., 11. PROFESSOR LUTKIN.

F. HISTORY OF MUSIC.—Lectures on the growth of musical art as related to the events of general history and the development of literatures. Text-book: Henderson's How Music Developed. Mon., 2. MR. GARWOOD.

G. CHORUS AND CHOIR TRAINING.—The Monday evening sessions are the regular rehearsals of the Evanston Musical Club. The Wednesday sessions are at Music Hall, with the following outline of work: hymns, part-songs, anthems. Choral service of the Episcopal church.

Cantatas and oratorios. Ensemble singing in duets, trios, and quartettes. One year-hour. Mon., 8 p.m., Wed., 5. PROFESSOR LUTKIN.

H. COUNTERPOINT.—Counterpoint in the various species in two, three, and four parts. Tu., Fri., 10. PROFESSOR LUTKIN.

I. ADVANCED HARMONY.—Harmonization of chorals; remote modulations; unprepared and unresolved dissonances. Text-book: Foote and Spalding's Modern Harmony. Wed., 10. PROFESSOR LUTKIN.

J. COMPOSITION.—Primary forms, including the minuet, scherzo, march, etc. Simple and elaborated accompaniments. Score-reading, including viola clef. Mon., Th., 1:30 to 3. PROFESSOR OLDBERG.

K. ADVANCED HISTORY OF MUSIC.—Evolution of music; correlated arts. Lectures and class work. Text-book: Parry's Evolution of the Art of Music. Mon., 3. MR. GARWOOD.

L. ANALYSIS.—Bach's well-tempered clavichord. Beethoven's sonatas. Brahms's pianoforte works. Concertos. Wed., 11. PROFESSOR LUTKIN.

M. COUNTERPOINT, CANON, AND FUGUE.—Counterpoint in five or more parts. Double and triple counterpoint. Canons in the various intervals. Tu., 9. PROFESSOR LUTKIN.

N. VOCAL COMPOSITION.—Exercises in the application of rhythms and forms to verse. Songs, duets; trios, quartettes, and part-songs. The anthem and the unaccompanied motette. The canticles and communion service of the Episcopal church. Mon., Th., 10. PROFESSOR LUTKIN.

O. INSTRUMENTAL COMPOSITION.—Song or aria forms. The various sonata movements. Compositions for piano and strings, and for small orchestra. Mon., Th., 8:30 to 10. PROFESSOR OLDBERG.

P. ANALYSIS.—Chamber music. Organ compositions. Church cantatas. Oratorios and symphonies. Orchestral music from full score. Fri., 9. PROFESSOR LUTKIN.

Q. CANON AND FUGUE.—Hours to be arranged. PROFESSOR LUTKIN.

R. VOCAL COMPOSITION.—The cantata, with piano and orchestral accompaniment. Fugal and double choruses. The oratorio and the mass. Tu., 2 to 4. PROFESSOR LUTKIN.

S. INSTRUMENTAL COMPOSITION.—The sonata form in piano and chamber music. The overture and symphony for full orchestra. Wed., 8:30 to 10:30. PROFESSOR OLDBERG.

T. PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS.—Study of the child voice. Methods of teaching. Practical demonstration. Chorus conducting. Mon., Th., 5. MISS RUSSELL.

Philosophy and Psychology

PROFESSOR COE, PROFESSOR SCOTT, AND PROFESSOR EWER

MAJOR: Course A1 or A2, with B, G, and three additional year-hours; or Courses A1, C, and four additional year-hours. MINOR: Course A1 or A2, with B, and two semester-hours not taken concurrently with Course A1 or A2; or Course A1 and Course C or E, or L1 and L2.

Students who desire to do extended work in this department should elect Philosophy A (either A1 or A2) as preliminary to all other courses in the department. Those who take but a single course in the department may elect Course A or Course D.

A1. GENERAL PSYCHOLOGY; LOGIC.—First semester.—A text-book on psychology; class room demonstrations and guidance to private observation; demonstration of apparatus and methods of experimental psychology; written exercises and experiments by members of the class; lectures and collateral reading. Second semester.—An outline of deductive and inductive logic; stress upon the methods of the sciences; written exercises in the detection of fallacies and the criticism of arguments. The second semester may be taken without the first. No preliminary course in the department required. Open to students who have a credit of thirty hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 2. PROFESSOR SCOTT and PROFESSOR EWER.

A2. GENERAL PSYCHOLOGY.—The first semester is identical with that of Philosophy A1. No preliminary course in the department is required. Open to students who have a credit of thirty hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 2. PROFESSOR SCOTT.

B. ELEMENTARY EXPERIMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY.—Intended for students of general psychology who desire to become acquainted with laboratory methods. Planned for students who are taking Course A1, but it may be elected by those who have completed Course A1. Two consecutive hours of laboratory work are required for one hour of credit. Wed., Fri., 3 to 5. PROFESSOR SCOTT.

D. GENERAL INTRODUCTION TO PHILOSOPHY.—Lectures, text-book, discussions. Intended for students interested in the nature of philosophy, its relations to life and to science, its systematic division, and the characteristic attempts to solve its problems. Course A1 is a useful preliminary, but is not indispensable. Open to students who have sixty hours of credit. Tu., Th., 11. Not given in 1908-1909. PROFESSOR EWER.

E. PHILOSOPHY OF RELIGION.—First semester.—The nature of religion, and its place in the life of humanity. Early religion and the great religions of the world from a psychological standpoint. Text-book, lectures, collateral reading. Second semester.—The idea of God in the light of present psychological, philosophical, and scientific thought. Lectures and assigned reading. Open to students who have completed one year-course in the department. Mon., Wed., Fri., 4. PROFESSOR COE.

C. HISTORY OF PHILOSOPHY.—Text-book, lectures, reading of selected writings, especially from modern philosophy. Open to students who have completed one year-course in the department. Mon., Wed., Fri., 11. PROFESSOR EWER.

L1. ETHICS.—An introduction to ethical theory and to practical ethics. Text-book, lectures, reports. Open to students who have completed one year-course in the department. Mon., Wed., Fri., 3. First semester. PROFESSOR EWER.

L2. EDUCATION IN RELIGION AND MORALS.—A study primarily of principles and secondarily of methods applicable to the home, the public school, the Sunday school, and social and pastoral work. Coe's Education in Religion and Morals, with assigned reading. Open to students who have had at least one semester of psychology. Mon., Wed., Fri., 3. Second semester. PROFESSOR COE.

G. ADVANCED EXPERIMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY.—A continuation of Philosophy B, with the introduction of a limited amount of research. Two consecutive hours of laboratory work are required for one hour of credit. Open to students who have completed Philosophy B. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR SCOTT.

H. EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY.—The facts and principles of psychology which have a special bearing upon education. Daily practice in observing and interpreting mental phenomena. First semester.—The psychology of the learning process. Second semester.—The psychology of the teaching process. Open to students who have completed at least one semester of psychology. Tu., Th., 10. PROFESSOR SCOTT.

M. THEORY OF KNOWLEDGE AND METAPHYSICS.—First semester.—Theory of knowledge. Second semester.—Metaphysics. Lectures, readings from the principal literature of the subject, reports and discussions. Open to students who have completed Courses A1 and C. Tu., Th., 9. PROFESSOR EWER.

N. ADVANCED ETHICS.—Readings upon selected problems. For 1908-1909 the topic is the Ethics of Christianity with especial reference to the present Social Movement. Open to students who have completed Course L1. Admission requires consultation with the instructor. Three to five hours. Once a week for two hours. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR COE.

F. SEMINARY IN THE PSYCHOLOGY AND PHILOSOPHY OF RELIGION.—For 1908-1909 the leading topic is the Origin and Early Development of Religion and Morality. Primarily for graduates; only in exceptional cases will undergraduates be admitted. Five year-hours. Tu., 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. PROFESSOR COE, PROFESSOR SCOTT, and PROFESSOR EWER.

Physical Culture and Hygiene

PROFESSOR GILLESBY, MR. RILEY, AND MISS HUEGIN

Regulations governing Athletics and the use of the Gymnasium may be found on page 136.

A. HYGIENE.—Lectures on the care of the body and the place of exercise and athletic sports in the preservation of health. Tu., Th., 11. First semester. PROFESSOR GILLESBY.

B. GYMNASIAC EXERCISE.—Dumb-bell, Indian-club, and other gymnastic exercises. Classes for men and for women. Careful physical examinations are made. Credit of one hour is given each semester for four hours a week of gymnasium practice. Mon., Tu., Th., Fri., 2, 3, 4, and 5. MISS HUEGIN and MR. RILEY.

Physics

PROFESSOR CREW AND PROFESSOR TATNALL

MAJOR: Courses A, B, and C. MINOR: Course A and three additional year-hours not taken concurrently with Course A.

A. GENERAL PHYSICS.—First semester.—General properties of matter, sound, heat. Second semester.—Electricity, magnetism, light. An introductory course requiring no mathematics beyond the requirements for entrance to college, intended to acquaint the student with the elementary facts and the general principles of physical science. Text-book: Crew's General Physics. One laboratory exercise each week. Four year-hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 11. PROFESSOR TATNALL.

B. MECHANICS.—An elementary experimental study of forces, moments of force, moments of inertia, elasticity, hydromechanics, an introduction to advanced physics and engineering. This is a course in pure Dynamics, and serves as an introduction to Applied Mechanics. Text-book: Crew's Principles of Mechanics. Two lectures and one laboratory exercise a week. The laboratory work is guided by especially prepared instructions. The laboratory is open every afternoon in the week except Wednesday and Saturday. Open to students who have completed Course A, or its equivalent. Three year-hours. Tu., Th., 11. PROFESSOR CREW and PROFESSOR TATNALL.

C. ELECTRICITY AND MAGNETISM.—Two lectures and one laboratory exercise a week. The more general laws of electricity and magnetism are discussed; the practical equations employed in the laboratory are derived and discussed. Text-book: J. J. Thomson's Elements of the Mathematical Theory of Electricity and Magnetism. The laboratory is open every afternoon except Wednesday and Saturday. The laboratory work includes the measurement by one or more methods of current, resistance, electromotive force, temperature-coefficients, capacity; a study of the magnetic properties of iron and steel, thermo-electric effects, the use of Carey Foster bridge, potentiometer, copper voltmeter, etc. Open to students who have completed Course A. Three year-hours. Mon., Fri., 8. PROFESSOR CREW.

D. THE ALTERNATING CURRENT CIRCUIT.—First semester.—The general theory of alternate currents as set forth in the treatises of Franklin and Esty, and Steinmetz. Second semester.—Laboratory practice with electro-dynamometer, oscillograph, measurements of inductance, capacity, impedance. For advanced students and graduates. Given in alternate years with Course F. Tu., Th., 10. PROFESSOR TATNALL.

E. MATHEMATICAL PHYSICS; ELECTRICITY.—Essential to all advanced students of pure physics and to those contemplating electrical engineering of high grade, and recommended to students interested in applied mathematics. The course is intended primarily for graduates. Text-book: Abraham and Föppl's Theorie der Elektrizität. Given in alternate years with Course S. Mon., Fri., 9. Not given in 1908-1909. PROFESSOR CREW.

F. MATHEMATICAL PHYSICS; DYNAMICS.—Dynamics of a particle, rigid dynamics, elasticity and fluid motion. For advanced students and graduates. Given in alternate years with Course D. Tu., Th., 10. PROFESSOR TATNALL.

S. MATHEMATICAL PHYSICS; OPTICS.—The general theory of physical optics, spectrum analysis, and astrophysics, including the theory of optical instruments. Given in alternate years with Course E. Intended to be accompanied by laboratory work, the hours of credit for which are to be separately determined in each case. Drude's Theory of Optics represents the ground covered. For advanced students and graduates. Mon., Fri., 9. PROFESSOR CREW.

Romance Languages and Literatures

PROFESSOR BAILLOT, MR. KUHNE, DR. DE SALVIO, AND DR. HARRY

MAJOR: Course A and B and six additional year-hours, which must include at least two year-hours in French more advanced than Course B. MINOR: Courses A and B.

French

Le Cercle Français meets on alternate Thursdays at 7:30 o'clock p. m., and is open to all students who have completed Course A in French.

AA. ELEMENTARY FRENCH.—DeBordes' Grammar. Whitney's Reader. Labiche's La Grammaire. Mérimée's Colomba, Sicard's Easy French History. Baillot-Brugnot's Composition. Labiche-Martin's Voyage de M. Perrichon. Papot-Williamson's Easy French Stories. Sand's La Petite Fadette. Simple dictation, private reading, and composition. This course may not be taken to remove language requirements for admission, and credit will not be given unless the full course is completed. Mon., Tu., Wed., Th., Fri., 8, 9, 11, 2. MR. KUHNÉ, DR. DE SALVIO, and DR. HARRY.

AB. INTERMEDIATE FRENCH.—Open to students who have presented one unit of French for admission, and may not be taken to remove entrance requirements. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9. DR. HARRY.

A. MODERN FRENCH.—Baillot-Brugnot's Composition. Advanced Grammar. Reading. Madame de Girardin's La Joie fait Peur. Eugène Scribe's Les Doigts de Fée. Coppée's On rend l'Argent. Freeborn's Contes de Daudet. Pailleron's Le Monde où l'on s'Ennuie. White's Contes de Maupassant. Victor Hugo's Quatre-Vingt Treize. Canfield's French Lyrics. Coppée's Le Pater. Victor Hugo's Hernani. Private reading: Cameron's Selections from Loti. Hennequin's Lessons in Idiomatic French. Essays. Open to students who have completed Course AA or its equivalent. Mon., Wed., Fri., 10, 11. PROFESSOR BAILLOT, MR. KUHNÉ, and DR. HARRY.

B. CLASSIC FRENCH LITERATURE OF THE SEVENTEENTH AND EIGHTEENTH CENTURIES.—First semester.—Seventeenth Century. Corneille's Le Cid, Polyeucte. Racine's Athalie. Molière's Le Misanthrope, L'Avare. Warren's Prose Writers of the 17th Century. Composition. History of the French Theater, in dictations. Collateral reading: Crane's La Société Française au 17e Siècle. Dictations and short lectures on the history of the theater in France. Second semester.—Eighteenth Century. Lesage's Gil Blas. Voltaire's Zaïre and letters. Beaumarchais' Le Barbier de Séville and letters. A study, with collateral reading, is also made of other authors of the eighteenth century. Exercises in French syntax. Open to students who have completed Courses AA and A. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9, 10. PROFESSOR BAILLOT.

C. GENERAL SURVEY OF FRENCH LITERATURE TO THE END OF THE SIXTEENTH CENTURY.—Demogeot's French Literature and Darmesteter and Hatzfeld's Le Seizième Siècle en France will be used as textbooks, and collateral reading is assigned by the instructor. Dictations.

Papers on collateral reading. Open to students who have completed Course B. Tu., Th., 11. MR. KUHNE.

D. MODERN FRENCH LITERATURE.—The literature of the Nineteenth Century, taking as a basis George Pellissier's Le Mouvement Littéraire au XIXe Siècle. Collateral reading. This course is given in French. Open to students who have completed Course B. Tu., Th., 9. PROFESSOR BAILLOT.

E. ADVANCED FRENCH.—Topics closely related to those of Courses C and D; students are expected to carry on special studies with prepared papers. Open to students who have completed Course C or D. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR BAILLOT.

F. OLD FRENCH AND EARLY FRENCH LITERATURE.—Reading of old French literature in its original form. Phonology and morphology are touched upon slightly, serving as an introduction to the study of historical grammar. The texts are La Chanson de Roland; Aucassin et Nicolette; le Mystère d'Adam. Open to students who have completed Courses B, and C or D. Tu., Th., 10. MR. KUHNE.

G. SCIENTIFIC FRENCH.—Herdler's Scientific French. Articles from scientific periodicals. Open to students who have completed or are taking French A. Three year-hours. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR BAILLOT.

H. LECTURES ON FRENCH LITERATURE.—Open to students who have completed Course C or D. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR BAILLOT.

J. THE THEATER OF THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY; ADVANCED COURSE.—Open to students who have completed Course C or D. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR BAILLOT.

K. FRENCH CONVERSATION.—Open to students who have completed Course AA. One year-hour. Mon., Fri., 11. MR. KUHNE.

Italian

A. ELEMENTARY COURSE.—Grandgent's Grammar and Composition. Bowen's Reader; Goldoni's La Locandiera; Pellico's Le Mie Prigioni; Manzoni's I Promessi Sposi, Selections from Dante's Inferno. Credit will not be given unless the full course is completed. Mon., Wed., Fri., 8. DR. DE SALVIO.

B. ADVANCED COURSE.—General view of Italian literature. Advanced composition. Selections from Dante's Divina Commedia; D'Ancona e Bacci's Manuale della Letteratura Italiana, Vol. V; Verga's Cavalleria Rusticana ed Altre Novelle; Fogazzari's Fedele; Alfieri's Oreste. Open to students who have completed Italian A. Three year-hours. Time to be arranged. DR. DE SALVIO.

C. EARLY ITALIAN.—Lectures on Italian phonology and morphology. The literature of the Trecento. Monaci Crestomazia dei primi secoli; D'Ancona e Bacci's Manuale della Letteratura Italiana, Vol. I. Open to advanced students and to others who satisfy the instructor of their fitness to take the course. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. DR. DE SALVIO.

Spanish

A. ELEMENTARY COURSE.—Hills and Ford's Grammar; Composition; Matzke's First Spanish Readings; Valdes' José; Galdós' Dona Perfecta; Moratin's El sí de las Niñas; Ford's Spanish Anthology. Credit will not be given unless the full course is completed. Mon., Wed., Fri., 2. DR. DE SALVIO.

B. ADVANCED COURSE.—Lectures on Spanish Literature with special emphasis on the modern period. Advanced composition. The following list will show approximately the range of reading: Selections from Cervantes' Don Quixote; at least one of Lope de Vega's and Calderón's selected plays; Ramón de Campoamor's Doloras; Galdós' Marianela; Fernán Caballero's La Gaviota; Echegaray's El Gran Galeoto; Valera's Pepita Jiménez; Tamayo y Baus' Un drama nuevo; Ford's Spanish Anthology. Open to students who have completed Spanish A. Tu., Th., 3. DR. DE SALVIO.

C. EARLY SPANISH.—Lectures on Spanish phonology and morphology. Spanish Literature to the fifteenth century. The texts: El Poema del Cid, edited by R. Menéndez Pidal; Adolph Keller's Altspanisches Lesebuch mit Grammatik und Glossar. Open to advanced students and to others who satisfy the instructor of their fitness to take the course. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. DR. DE SALVIO.

Scandinavian Languages

DR. SIMONSEN AND MR. HILLBERG

Norwegian-Danish

These courses are given in the Norwegian-Danish Theological School and students electing them are subject to the regulations of that school.

A. NORWEGIAN-DANISH LANGUAGE.—For students with a reading and speaking knowledge of the language. After a thorough study of Hofgaard's larger Grammar the student is required to write essays and make translations from Norwegian-Danish into English and from English into Norwegian-Danish. Four year-hours. Time to be arranged. DR. SIMONSEN.

B. NORWEGIAN-DANISH LITERATURE.—For students who have a reading and speaking knowledge of the language. Text-book: Broch and Seip's History of Literature. Three year-hours. Time to be arranged. Second semester. DR. SIMONSEN.

C. ELEMENTARY STUDY OF NORWEGIAN-DANISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.—Text-book: Hofgaard's Elementary Grammar and Broch and Seip's History of Literature. Open to all students. Three year-hours. Time to be arranged. DR. SIMONSEN.

Swedish

A. ELEMENTARY SWEDISH.—A thorough study of Sundén's Grammar; translations. Open to students who have a reading and speaking knowledge of the Swedish language. Three year-hours. Time to be arranged. MR. HILLBERG.

B. SWEDISH LITERATURE.—Select reading from foremost Swedish authors. Text-book: Karl Warburg's History of Swedish Literature. Open to students who have completed Course A. Three year-hours. Time to be arranged. MR. HILLBERG.

Semitic Languages

PROFESSOR EISELEN AND MR. RAPP

These courses are given in Garrett Biblical Institute, and students electing them are subject to the regulations of that school.

Hebrew

MINOR: Courses A and B.

A. ELEMENTS OF HEBREW LANGUAGE.—Tu., Wed., Th., Fri., 9. MR. RAPP.

B. INTRODUCTION TO HEBREW LITERATURE.—Exegetical and critical reading of selections from the prophetic and the poetic literature of the Hebrews. Open to students who have completed Course A. Wed., Th., Fri., 11. PROFESSOR EISELEN.

C. GRADUATE COURSES.—(1) Studies in Hebrew Prophecy. Tu., Wed., 10. (2) The Messianic Ideas and Ideals of the Old Testament. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. (3) Seminary; the religious life and the religious beliefs of the Hebrews, as shown in the activity and teaching of their religious leaders. Two year-hours. Th., 10. PROFESSOR EISELEN.

Assyrian

D1. ELEMENTARY COURSE.—Grammar; reading of easy historical texts. Open to students who have completed Hebrew A or its equivalent. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR EISELEN.

D2. ADVANCED COURSE.—Reading of historical texts. One year-hour. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR EISELEN.

Aramaic

E. ELEMENTARY COURSE.—Study of the Aramaic language and portions of the Old Testament. Open to Students who have completed Hebrew A, or its equivalent. One year-hour. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR EISELEN.

Spanish

See Romance Languages and Literatures, page 110.

PROFESSOR LOCY, DR. HARPER, MR. HILDEBRAND, AND MR. STEPHENS

MAJOR: Course A and six additional year-hours. MINOR: Course A and two additional year-hours not taken concurrently with Course A.

Course A or its equivalent is prerequisite to all other courses, but Course C may be taken concurrently with it. Courses of the B-group and those designated C and D may be taken either as second or third year subjects. Course F may be taken after completing Courses A, B1, and C.

A. STRUCTURE, DEVELOPMENT, AND EVOLUTION OF ANIMAL LIFE.—A general educational course. Comparative study of living organisms; physiological side receiving much attention. First semester.—Observations on the properties of living matter; a few selected types of invertebrated animals. Second semester.—The basis of the doctrine of organic evolution is set forth and its present status indicated. A large part of the time of this semester is devoted to observations on the development of animals, using eggs of fishes, amphibia, and the chick. Open to those without previous instruction in zoölogy or biology; recommended to students who have had a year's work in the high school, for whom a special laboratory section is formed. Credit is not given unless the full course is completed. Four year-hours. Lectures: Tu., Th., 9. PROFESSOR LOCY. Laboratory hours to be arranged between 9 and 12 daily, except Saturday. PROFESSOR LOCY, DR. HARPER, MR. HILDEBRAND; and assistants.

B1. COMPARATIVE ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY OF VERTEBRATES.—First semester.—Comparative Anatomy. Study of selected vertebrate types. The recitations and lectures are based on Weidersheim's Comparative Anatomy of Vertebrates. Second semester.—Vertebrate Embryology; a discussion of the broader problems opened by a study of the development of animals. Lectures and laboratory work. Four year-hours. Wed., Fri., 9. Laboratory work to be arranged on Tu., Wed., Th., Fri., 9 to 12. PROFESSOR LOCY and MR. STEPHENS.

B2. INVERTEBRATE ZOÖLOGY.—A course supplementing Course A. Attention is given largely to the animals of this region; to their life-histories, habits, distribution, and adaptation to environment. Some diversity is permitted in the work of students. Three year-hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 8. DR. HARPER.

B3. PHYSIOLOGY.—First semester.—General Physiology. Reproduction, irritability, and metabolism from the standpoint of the cell and the lower animals. Experiments upon the lower forms are included in the laboratory work. Second semester.—Special Physiology. Open to Students who have had Course A or its equivalent. Three year-hours. Students without previous training in zoölogy may be admitted to a section in which the essentials of physiology are covered in a course of four hours for one semester. Mon., Wed., Fri., 2. DR. HARPER.

B4. RISE AND PROGRESS OF GENERAL BIOLOGY AND ZOÖLOGY.—Historical lectures; from the renaissance of science to the present, particular attention to the beginning, the growth, and the modification of fundamental doctrines and principles that have become fruitful in the nineteenth century. Intended primarily for students taking other work in the department. Open to students who have pursued elementary work in General Biology. One year-hour. Tu., 4. Given in 1909-1910 and in alternate years. PROFESSOR LOCY.

C. CYTOLOGY AND HISTOLOGY.—First semester.—Cell-life and elementary histology; anatomy and physiology of the cell, microscopical structure of the elementary animal tissues; the general methods of microscopical technique. Second semester.—Microscopical structure of the animal organs; the important special methods of microscopical technique. Text-books: Wilson's The Cell in Development and Inheritance and Stöhr's Text-book of Histology. Three hours. Mon., 9. Laboratory hours to be arranged. DR. HARPER.

D. PHYSIOLOGY.—Intended for students preparing for medicine. Includes the work of the first year of Physiology in the Medical School, and is accepted in full for that course. Based on Hall's text-book and laboratory manual. Open to students who have completed Courses A and B1. Three year-hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 3. DR. HARPER.

E. THE CENTRAL NERVOUS SYSTEM AND ITS TERMINAL ORGANS.—First semester.—Comparative structure of the central nervous system, with discussions of some of its physiological activities. Lectures and demonstrations. Second semester.—The structure and evolution of sense-organs. Two hours of credit may be secured by additional laboratory work. One year-hour. Given in 1908-1909 and in alternate years. PROFESSOR LOCY.

F. TOPICS OF INVESTIGATION.—An introduction to original research. Limited problems are assigned and worked out under the direction of the professor in charge. Consultation of the literature bearing on the problem; a thesis embodying results. A reading familiarity with French and German is essential. Open to students who have completed Courses A, B1, and C. Credit and time to be arranged. PROFESSOR LOCY.

G. RESEARCH WORK.—Similar to Course F, but with broader scope.

The thesis must embody a critical review of the important literature and must show substantial conclusions based upon the work of the student. Means of publication will be found for worthy papers. For graduate students who have completed the equivalent of the courses designated above; may be elected either for ten or for fifteen hours of credit. Time to be arranged. PROFESSOR LOCY.

Special Courses in Art

HISTORY OF MEDIAEVAL AND MODERN ART.—Thirty lectures on the history of mediaeval and modern art. 1908-09—Florentine Art; Art of the Netherlands; German Art. The course, with certain additional work, carries a credit of two year- hours. Wed., 4. MRS. DICKINSON.

ART APPRECIATION.—Principles of Art. Color Qualities and Color Schemes. Studies in Art Principles and their Applications. This course bears a credit of four semester-hours, or with additional laboratory work six-semester-hours. Tu., Th., 3. Laboratory work to be arranged. MISS SKINNER.

DRAWING AND PAINTING.—A course supplementary to the preceding course. Time to be arranged. MISS SKINNER.

Summer Courses

Special courses are offered during the summer vacation by members of the Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts. These are intended primarily for teachers and for undergraduates wishing to make up deficiencies, but are open to any persons qualified to take them. The courses bear appropriate college credit.

Extension Courses

The University offers courses in the University Building, Chicago, especially adapted to the needs of teachers in high schools and in the grades.

Each course consists of twelve lectures of one and one-half hours, given in consecutive weeks, at such hours on Saturday and on other days as meet the convenience of those who register for them. Courses are announced from year to year forming systematic programs of study, and as far as possible arrangement is made for courses for which there is a demand. The University reserves the right to withdraw any course announced if the registration does not reach twelve persons.

Courses are also offered to meet the needs of students admitted to the professional schools without full preliminary education, and a course in Human Anatomy is conducted in the laboratories of the Dental School for college students who desire thus to complete the first year of medicine.

GENERAL STATEMENTS

PROFESSIONAL STUDIES

Many of the courses announced in the preceding pages have a bearing more or less direct on the professional or other career which the student may have in contemplation, and elective studies may well be chosen accordingly. The following paragraphs contain the regulations under which a student may in some cases shorten the time required to secure both an academic and a professional degree.

College credit for studies pursued in professional schools is in all cases restricted to work done in the schools of Northwestern University. Time spent in a professional school cannot be counted toward meeting the requirement of one year of residence demanded of all candidates for a bachelor's degree.

Preparation for Medicine

THE BACHELOR'S DEGREE AND THE MEDICAL DEGREE IN SEVEN YEARS.
—Students intending to enter the Medical School, and desiring to shorten the time required for degrees in both Arts and Medicine, may be released from further work in the College of Liberal Arts when they have secured ninety hours of credit. This credit must, however, include all the required studies for the degree sought, as shown on pages 74 and 75, and must fulfill the requirements for a major and a minor. If the student's work is properly planned this necessary credit can be secured in three years.

Under this provision students may give their full time during the fourth year to work in the Medical School, but must continue registration in the College as if in regular attendance. A certificate from the Medical faculty that the equivalent of a full year's work has been satisfactorily accomplished is accepted by the College as completing the one hundred and twenty hours required for the bachelor's degree. Credit is not accepted from the Medical School for subjects for which credit has already been given in the College.

This plan of combined courses makes it possible to secure both degrees in seven years, three in the College and four in the Medical School. For all work done in the Medical School the fees of that school must be paid.

On the other hand, some courses offered in the College of Liberal Arts cover corresponding courses in the Medical School, and may be taken for credit in that school. Students who have had an elementary course in Physics and who complete Chemistry A and B, and the second semester of Chemistry C, Volumetric Analysis, in the College laboratories are given credit for Chemistry a, b, c, d, e, f, that is, for the first year Chemistry in the Medical School. Those who complete Zoölogy A, B1, C, and D receive credit for Histology and Embryology a, b, c, d, e, and Physiology a, b, c, d, e, in the Medical School. Students who include these courses in their college program may transfer to the Medical School at graduation with approximately a year of advanced credit. They can thus complete the Medical course in three years, securing both degrees in seven years, four in the College and three in the Medical School.

THE BACHELOR'S DEGREE AND THE MEDICAL DEGREE IN SIX YEARS.—By careful planning from the first, the student may include in his first ninety hours of credit the courses in Chemistry and Zoölogy mentioned above, and satisfy the requirements as to specified subjects and as to major and minor. He may enter the Medical School for his fourth year, completing the requirements for both degrees in six years, three in College and three in the Medical School. This, however, can be done under only favorable conditions. The course in Anatomy required in the first year of the Medical program may be completed in the laboratories of the Dental School during the third year of residence in College; but this may not be included in the ninety hours of required residence credit.

The student intending to spend but three years in actual attendance upon lectures in the Medical School must register in that school a year in advance.

The following order of studies in College is suggested to those who wish to secure both degrees in six years:

FIRST YEAR.—English Language A, 3 hours; Mathematics A1, 3 hours; Foreign Languages, 3 hours; Chemistry A, 4 hours; Zoölogy A, 4 hours.

SECOND YEAR.—Foreign Languages, 3 hours; Chemistry B, 4 hours; Zoölogy B1, 4 hours; Zoölogy C, 3 hours; Elective work, 3 hours.

THIRD YEAR.—English Literature A, 2 hours; Economics, History, or Philosophy, 3 hours; Chemistry C, 3 hours; Zoölogy D, 3 hours; Anatomy, three afternoons a week, 5 hours.

Preparation for Law

THE BACHELOR'S DEGREE AND THE LAW DEGREE IN SIX YEARS.—Thirty semester-hours of work done in the Law School of this University are accepted by the College of Liberal Arts toward meeting the requirements for a bachelor's degree. Consequently, a student in College who has secured ninety hours of credit, including all of the required studies described on pages 74 and 75, and who has met the requirements for a major and a minor, may transfer to the Law School at the end of his third year and complete there the work for the collegiate bachelor's degree. Students so transferring, however, must continue their registration in College, during their fourth year, and are required to pay the Law School fees while pursuing studies in that school.

The satisfactory completion of the first year of the Law School course, as certified by the faculty of that School, is deemed sufficient to make good the remaining credit of the one hundred and twenty hours required for the Liberal Arts degree.

A full four year course in College is recommended by the faculty of the Law School as preparatory to the study of law, and students are urged to complete as much as possible of a full College course before entering the Law School. The following program, which meets the requirements for a bachelor's degree, is suggested by the Law School faculty as best adapted to the needs of Law students:

FIRST YEAR.—Mathematics A1, 3 hours; English Language A, 3 hours; Latin A, 3 hours; History A, 3 hours; Chemistry A or Physics A, 4 hours.

SECOND YEAR.—English Literature A, 2 hours; German A, 3 hours; English Language B, 2 hours; Latin B, 3 hours; History B, C, or BC, 2 or 3 hours; Economics A, 3 hours.

THIRD YEAR.—Latin C, 3 hours; English Language F, 2 hours; History E and N, or S1, 5 hours; Economics B6 and C3, 5 hours.

FOURTH YEAR.—Latin F, 2 hours; English Literature D, H, or I, 2 or 3 hours; History K, 2 hours; Philosophy A1, 3 hours; Economics C1 and C2.

Preparation for Dentistry

Students in the College of Liberal Arts who intend to take up the study of Dentistry are advised to pursue courses in Latin, English, Mathematics, and the Sciences, including Physics. Those who have completed Zoölogy D, Zoölogy C, Chemistry A, and Chemistry B, will be given advance credit in the Dental School for Physiology a,b,c,d, Histology a,b,c, and Chemistry a,b,c,g.

Preparation for Theology

Students in the College of Liberal Arts who have sixty semester hours of credit and who wish to shorten the time for securing degrees in Arts and Theology, may elect certain courses in Garrett Biblical Institute to the amount of thirty semester-hours, thereby reducing the time for the two degrees by one year.

For convenience, the courses in the Institute open to College students are listed among those offered in the College of Liberal Arts, and are repeated here as they appear in the Institute catalogue.

Hebrew of the Junior, Middle, and Senior years; Assyrian; Greek of the Junior, Middle, and Senior years in the degree course; History of the Christian Church; Christian Doctrine.

Since exegesis plays so large a part in a theological course, students contemplating the study of Theology should secure while in College a ready command of the Greek and Hebrew languages. A knowledge of German will prove serviceable.

Preparation for Pharmacy

Students who have secured ninety semester hours of credit in the College of Liberal Arts, including the prescribed courses for their degree, and the requirements for a major and a minor, may enter the School of Pharmacy, and fulfill the total requirements for the bachelor's degree by satisfactorily completing the work of the first year in the course for the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist.

The credit in the College of Liberal Arts for work done in the School of Pharmacy may not exceed thirty semester-hours, and it may not include any items for which credit in the College has already been secured. Students taking work in the School of Pharmacy must pay the fees of that school.

Preparation for Business or the Public Service

Students preparing for a business career or to enter the public service will find ample opportunity for study along helpful lines in the departments of Economics and History. The program of required studies for the bachelor's degree permits the student to devote to special study in these departments nearly the whole of the third and fourth years, and some time also in the first and second years.

Students preparing for business are advised to secure a good reading knowledge of two modern languages besides English, and an acquaintance with the elements of at least two sciences.

The following schedule of courses is suggested for students who expect to follow a business career or who desire to enter the public service:

FIRST YEAR.—Mathematics A1, 3 hours; English Language A, 3 hours; French or German, 3 hours; History A, 3 hours; Chemistry A or Geology A1, 4 hours.

SECOND YEAR.—German or French, 3 hours; English Literature A,

2 hours; Economics A, 3 hours; History, 3 hours; Elective work, 4 hours.

THIRD YEAR.—Physics or other science, 4 hours; Spanish, 3 hours; History, 3 hours; Economics, 5 or 6 hours.

FOURTH YEAR.—History, 3 hours; Economics, 6 hours; Geology A2, 3 hours; Elective work, 3 hours.

Preparation for Foreign Service

Students who wish to prepare for the consular or other foreign service will find ample opportunity for helpful study in the departments of Modern Languages, Economics, and History. The program of required studies for the bachelor's degree permits the student to devote to study in these departments nearly the whole of the third and fourth years; and some time also in the first and second years.

Students preparing for the foreign service are advised to secure a good reading knowledge of two modern languages besides English, an acquaintance with the elements of two sciences, and a thorough grasp of those subjects required in the United States' consular examinations. The most important of these are: French, German, or Spanish; the resources, commerce, history and government of the United States; the elements of political economy, trade statistics, and international, commercial, and maritime law; political and commercial geography; modern history, since 1850, and diplomacy of Europe and the Far East.

The following schedule of courses is suggested for students who are planning to enter the consular or other foreign service:

FIRST YEAR.—Mathematics A1, 3 hours; English Language A, 3 hours; French or German, 3 hours; History A or E, 3 hours; Chemistry A, 4 hours, or Geology A2, 3 hours.

SECOND YEAR.—German or French, 3 hours; English Literature A, 2 hours; History BC, 3 hours; Economics A, 3 hours; Elective Work, 4 hours.

THIRD YEAR.—Physics or other science, 4 hours; Spanish, 3 hours; History G, 3 hours; History N, 3 hours; Economics B2, 3 hours.

FOURTH YEAR.—History K, European Diplomacy, and S1, American Diplomacy, 4 hours; Economics B6, Administration, 3 hours; Economics B1, Industrial History and Commercial Geography, 2 hours; Economics C2, Public Finance and Taxation, 2 hours; or Economics C3, Private and Corporation Finance, 2 hours; Elective Work, 3 hours.

Preparation for Teaching in Secondary Schools

Students expecting to teach in secondary schools will find it advantageous to elect in College a considerable number of courses having a professional bearing. A major should be taken in the department in which the student wishes to be specially qualified, and a minor, or if possible a second major, in a closely related department. Beginners in high schools are frequently required to teach more than one subject and it is a wise precaution to be qualified in at least two or more departments. The courses in the Department of Education are designed to meet the needs of students seeking an acquaintance with the progress of education and the development of educational theory as liberal culture and desiring professional training for teaching.

The following schedule is suggested for prospective teachers:

FIRST YEAR.—English Language A, 3 hours; Mathematics A1, 3 hours; two of the following: Latin A, Greek A, French A, German A, 6 hours.

SECOND YEAR.—English Literature A, 2 hours; Education A, General History of Education, 3 hours; Science, 4 hours; Elective, including a course in the major subject and also a course in the minor subject, 7 hours.

THIRD YEAR.—Philosophy A, General Psychology, 3 hours; Education B or J, 3 hours; Major subject, 3 hours; Minor subject, 3 hours; Elective work, 3 hours.

FOURTH YEAR.—Education C, D, or H, 2 hours; major subject, 6 hours; Elective work, which may well include work to complete a second major, 7 hours.

SPECIAL TESTIMONIAL FOR PROSPECTIVE TEACHERS.—To meet the increasing demand on the part of School Boards for teachers who have had professional training, the College Faculty has authorized the issuance from the Registrar's Office, on request, of a testimonial supplementary to the Bachelor's diploma, bearing the signatures of the Registrar and the Secretary of the Faculty, and certifying that the applicant has completed certain enumerated courses in Education and Psychology with satisfactory credit. The testimonial will further specify the department or departments in which the applicant has completed the major or minor requirement, and which he is deemed competent to teach.

Only those persons are eligible to this testimonial who have completed the requirements for a degree, including at least the minor in Education, twelve hours, and one course in Psychology.

GRADUATE STUDIES

Advanced courses of study adapted to the needs of graduate students are offered by the various departments as announced in the general list of courses. These courses are in excess of the requirements for an undergraduate major, and may be pursued either with or without reference to an advanced degree. They are open to properly qualified candidates from this and from other universities.

The conditions under which students may register for graduate work are given below, and the regulations affecting advanced degrees may be found on pages 125 and 126. The work of such students is under the supervision of a standing committee of the Faculty. In general a graduate student may pursue any study for which, in the judgment of the instructor in charge, he has adequate preparation.

Following are the rules governing graduate registration:

1. Resident candidates for a Master's degree must register not later than the tenth of October next preceding the date of the final examination. The registration of non-resident candidates must be effected one year earlier than this date. Residence requires regular attendance upon all prescribed lectures or other exercises in the courses which the candidate pursues. Such prescribed lectures and exercises occur at least once a week in each course of instruction.

2. A student desiring to become a candidate for a Master's degree while enrolled in one of the professional schools of Northwestern University, under Rule 4, page 125, must register in the College of Liberal Arts as a graduate student, and upon such registration he is regarded as a resident candidate.

3. A graduate of a professional school of Northwestern University desiring to become a candidate for a Master's degree, under Rule 4, page 125, must register in the College of Liberal Arts as a graduate student as early as the first Monday in October next following the completion of the professional course.

4. A candidate for a Doctor's degree must register not later than the first Monday in October next preceding the date of the final examination.

5. A candidate for an advanced degree must, prior to his registration, furnish the Registrar with all data required for the due record of his application, and with a statement of the courses of study he proposes to pursue, and must file the approval of the application and the statement of courses by the Committee on Graduate Study and by the heads of the departments in which the work is to be taken.

6. Graduates of this, or of any other college, not candidates for an advanced degree may, with the consent of the departments concerned, register as resident students in such advanced studies as they are found prepared to pursue.

REQUIREMENTS FOR DEGREES

The Bachelor's Degree

The programs of study described on pages 74 and 75 lead to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science respectively.

1. The candidate for a Bachelor's degree must file with the Registrar, on or before the last Saturday in May in the year next preceding that in which he expects to obtain the degree, an application upon a form provided by the University.

2. He must have pursued studies in residence in the College of Liberal Arts of Northwestern University for at least one college year before the degree can be conferred.

3. He must complete all the prescribed courses for the degree, sought and in addition elective courses sufficient to make a total credit of one hundred and twenty hours, and including the major work in at least one department and the minor work in at least one other department.

4. In making up the total credit required for a degree, not more than one-fifth of the work done under the College Faculty may be of grade D.

5. No student who has not removed all entrance conditions and secured on record a total of at least eighty-four hours of credit, including all required studies of the first year by the first of October, can be recognized as a candidate for a degree at the close of that year.

The Master's Degree

A Masters' degree may be conferred upon Bachelors of Northwestern University, or of any other institution of accepted grade, under the following regulations:

1. A candidate must pursue studies in residence in the College of Liberal Arts of Northwestern University for at least one year, except as stated below.

2. A Bachelor of Northwestern University may become a non-resident candidate for the corresponding Master's degree, but such candidate cannot receive the degree earlier than two years after graduation. Graduates of other institutions are not admitted as non-resident candidates for a degree.

3. A Bachelor of Northwestern University, or of another institution of accepted grade, may become a candidate for a Master's degree while pursuing studies in the Medical School or Law School of this University, or in Garrett Biblical Institute, or upon the completion of the professional course in one of these schools, subject to the provisions of Rules 2 and 3 on page 124.

4. The candidate for a Master's degree must present credit in approved courses of study amounting to thirty semester hours. If he is enrolled in one of the professional schools above enumerated, or is a graduate therefrom, he must obtain credit amounting to twelve semester hours of advanced work in an approved field, in addition to the maximum prescribed professional course.

This advanced work may be taken either under the Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts or under the Faculty of the professional school, but in any case it must be approved by the Committee on Graduate Study of the College of Liberal Arts.

5. At least one-half of the work offered for a Master's degree must be chosen from one or at most two departments of study in which the candidate has previously taken the undergraduate major work or its full equivalent.

6. The candidate must present a thesis on an approved topic pertaining to his primary subject. The subject of his thesis must be filed with the Registrar not later than the first Wednesday in December; and the thesis itself must be filed with the Registrar not later than the second Saturday of May. It shall be printed or typewritten in prescribed form and a copy shall be furnished to the library of the College of Liberal Arts.

7. The candidate for a Bachelor's degree who during his undergraduate course devotes excess time to the continuation of his major subject, or to other advanced topics approved by the Committee on Graduate Study, may for such work receive credit toward a Master's degree; but in no case will the Master's degree be conferred in less than one year after the conferring of the Bachelor's degree.

8. A non-resident candidate for a Master's degree will be required, at stated times, to make written reports on the progress of his work.

9. The final examination of the candidate for the Master's degree takes place at the University at an appointed date, about May 20. The examination is conducted by a committee composed of the head of the department in which the student has done his primary work and not less than two other members of the Faculty chosen from the same or from related departments. The committee in the case of a candidate doing work in a professional school shall include two members of the Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts.

The Doctor's Degree

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy is conferred under the following regulations:

1. A candidate for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must have received the Bachelor's degree from Northwestern University, or from some other institution of accepted standing.

2. The degree may be conferred on successful candidates after three years of graduate study, of which at least two must be in residence. The last year, or the first two years, must be spent in residence at Northwestern University. The period of three years may, however, be shortened in the case of students who, as undergraduates, have pursued special studies beyond the requirement for major work in the direction of their proposed graduate work. Study for a specified time will in no case be regarded as sufficient ground for conferring the degree, but high attainments in scholarship and evidence of original investigation are demanded.

3. The candidate must give two-thirds of his time to one department in advanced work, which shall constitute his primary subject, and the remaining time to either one or two secondary subjects. The requirement, "advanced work," implies preliminary study in the given subject equivalent to at least an undergraduate major in the department concerned.

4. The candidate must have a reading knowledge of French and German as a preliminary qualification, but in exceptional cases an equivalent in Latin, Greek, or Hebrew may be accepted instead of French.

5. The candidate must present a thesis upon an approved topic pertaining to his primary subject. The thesis must give evidence of original investigation. A revised typewritten copy in prescribed form must be filed with the Registrar as early as the Saturday next preceding the last Monday in April. If the thesis is approved the candidate must, within such time as shall be designated, present twenty-five printed copies of it to the University Library. The final examination is held about May 20, both written and oral, and covers the entire primary subject, including the topic of the thesis.

The secondary subject, or subjects, may be discontinued when the candidate has fulfilled the requirements of attendance at lectures and has passed a written examination.

Special Regulations Affecting the Doctor's Degree

Students in Garrett Biblical Institute may become candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy under the following special regulations. The general regulations affecting examinations, theses, and a knowledge of foreign languages apply to these candidates.

1. The candidate must have completed a Bachelor's course, the sufficiency of which has been accepted by a joint committee of the Faculty of the Institute and of the Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts.

2. He must have completed two full years of theological study, either in Garrett Biblical Institute or in another theological school of recognized standing.

3. He must thereafter be accepted as a candidate for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy by a vote of the Faculty of the Institute, and must be registered as a candidate for such degree with the College of Liberal Arts; he must then continue in residence at least two years, and must complete the work of two full years. Of this work two-thirds must be taken in one department of the Institute; the remaining one-third may be taken in not more than two departments of the Institute or of the College of Liberal Arts. The whole course of study selected is subject to the approval of the faculty of the College of Liberal Arts, through its Committee on Graduate Study. During these two years of residence the candidate is subject to the direction of the head of the department in which his primary work is taken.

4. Of the four years required for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, three at least must be spent in residence at a theological school of high standing, and the last two must be spent in Garrett Biblical Institute.

PRIZES AND HONORS

Fellowships

UNIVERSITY FELLOWSHIPS.—For the promotion of graduate study and research, the University awards annually fellowships of three hundred dollars each. These are assigned from year to year to various departments according to the merits of the applicants and the conditions of the departments.

They are open to men and women, whether graduates of this University or of other institutions. Appointments to fellowships are made for one year.

Fellows are not required to pay tuition fees, but may be called upon to give limited assistance in the work of the department, not, however, to such an extent as to interfere with the primary purpose of the fellowship. Fellows entering from other institutions must pay the matriculation fee.

Application for appointment as a Fellow should be made not later than the first of April. Awards are made not later than the first of May. Blank forms for applications may be had from the office of the Registrar.

THE WOMAN'S CLUB FELLOWSHIP.—The Woman's Club of Evanston has established a fellowship of three hundred dollars a year for the promotion of research in the field of Household Economics. The fellowship is open to women graduates of any college of accepted rank. The appointment carries with it free tuition, but the holder is expected to render limited assistance in the work of the Woman's club along lines closely related to her studies. The appointment is made by the President of the University early in September. Applications, accompanied by full information as to the character and training of the applicant, and by an outline of the work proposed, should be in hand before the first of September.

UNIVERSITY SETTLEMENT FELLOWSHIP.—This fellowship yields an income of three hundred dollars, contributed by the students of the College of Liberal Arts, and carries exemption from tuition fees. The holder is required to reside in the Northwestern University Settlement.

Scholarships

The following scholarships are awarded annually to meritorious undergraduates in the College of Liberal Arts. Applications for appointment should be made to the Dean of the College not later than the first day of May in each year.

CATHERINE M. WHITE SCHOLARSHIPS.—From a bequest of nine thousand dollars received under the will of Catherine M. White, of Evanston, there have been established three scholarships paying full undergraduate tuition fees. The recipients must hold themselves responsible for limited clerical service.

MISSIONARY SCHOLARSHIPS.—The University, in June, 1899, established two scholarships in the College of Liberal Arts, to which the Northwestern Branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church may nominate persons intending to enter upon mission work in the foreign field. These entitle the holders to free tuition. In making nominations preference is given to students from foreign lands.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SCHOLARSHIP.—This scholarship, yielding annually the interest on seven hundred and fifty dollars, was founded by the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Evanston for the benefit of a meritorious student, and is awarded by the officers of the church.

UNIVERSITY GUILD SCHOLARSHIP.—This scholarship, founded by the University Guild of Evanston, affords to a young woman an income equal to the tuition fee in College. The holder is responsible for certain duties in the Guild Rooms.

FIRST YEAR SCHOLARSHIPS.—Fifty scholarships are awarded annually to select members of the incoming class, upon applications endorsed by the principal and faculty of the secondary school from which the applicant graduates. The applicant must meet the full entrance requirements and must present certificates from the teachers in his secondary school for excellence of character, physical vigor, manliness, and promise of usefulness as a citizen. The award is made at the University by a committee of the College faculty.

MARCY SCHOLARSHIP IN BIOLOGY.—The University has at its disposal a table at the Marine Biological Laboratory, Wood's Holl, Massachusetts, for the use of advanced students from the biological departments of the College of Liberal Arts. The occupants of this table are entitled to all the privileges of the laboratory, including instruction, lectures, and the use of appliances and apparatus.

THE AMERICAN SCHOOL OF CLASSICAL STUDIES AT ROME.—The University is a contributor to the American School of Classical Studies at Rome, and is represented on its Board of Managers by a member of the Faculty. The school affords facilities for archæological and classical investigation and study in Rome, and graduates of the University are entitled to its advantages without tuition fees.

Prizes

The following prizes are open to candidates for a degree in the College of Liberal Arts. A successful contestant may not again compete for the same prize. Unredeemed failures in more than one department of study at the time for appointing contestants prohibit a student from competing for any prize.

THE JOHN B. KIRK PRIZE IN ORATORY.—This prize of one hundred dollars was established in 1877 by Mr. James Kirk of Evanston, and is now the gift of Mrs. John B. Kirk. It is awarded each year for excellence in original oratory, under the following regulations:

1. Orations submitted in competition must not exceed two thousand words and must be typewritten.

2. They must be deposited with the Registrar not later than noon of the Friday next following the close of the Christmas recess.

3. Any student of the University who has not received a bachelor's degree is entitled to compete.

4. The four contestants receiving from a committee of the Faculty the highest marks in thought and composition for their original orations shall receive the sum of fifteen dollars each and shall be entitled to participate in a public contest.

5. The public contest shall be held on the evening of the first Friday in March. The contestant who receives the highest marks in this contest, special emphasis being laid upon interpretation and delivery, shall receive the additional sum of forty dollars and shall be entitled to represent the University in the Northern Oratorical League.

6. The successful competitor in the public contest shall be known as the Kirk Prize winner, and the names of the remaining three contestants shall appear in the University publications as receiving honorable mention. The winner of the Kirk Prize shall present to the donor a typewritten copy of his oration.

THE HARRIS PRIZE IN POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE.—A prize of one hundred dollars, the gift of Mr. Norman Waite Harris, of Chicago, is awarded to the writer of the best essay on an assigned topic in the department of Economics, Finance, and Administration.

1. No undergraduate student is eligible for this prize unless he shall have completed at the time of making the award the equivalent of Courses A and at least three additional year-hours in Economics.

2. Essays offered in competition must contain not less than ten thousand words, and must be either printed or typewritten. If typewritten, they must be on letter paper of a good quality, of quarto size, with a margin of not less than one inch at the top, at the bottom, and on each side, so that they may be bound without injury to the writing. On the title-page of each essay must be written an assumed name, and under cover with the essay must be sent a sealed letter containing the real name of the writer and superscribed with his assumed name.

3. The copies of all essays submitted for this prize become the property of the University, and the essay receiving first place shall have endorsed upon it a certificate of that fact.

4. An essay submitted in competition must be deposited with the Registrar of the College before twelve o'clock noon on May 1.

5. The Faculty appoints three judges and the award is made for the essay declared to be the best by at least two of the judges, provided that the University reserves the right to make no award if, in the opinion of the majority of the judges, the best essay shall not be of sufficient merit.

THE GAGE DEBATE PRIZES.—Prizes aggregating one hundred dollars are given annually by the Honorable Lyman J. Gage for excellence in debate.

The recipients of these prizes are selected through a series of debates, held in the autumn of each year, to which students from all departments of the University are eligible. The winners of the Gage prizes become the representatives of the University in the annual contest of the Central Debating League.

THE SARGENT PRIZES IN PUBLIC SPEAKING.—Two prizes of fifty and twenty-five dollars, respectively, endowed by Mr. George M. Sargent, of Evanston, are given for excellence in public speaking.

1. Eight candidates are appointed by the Faculty from students who have completed not less than fifty hours of college work including Elocution B.

2. At least one of the prizes must be given for an oratorical effort. A declamation may not exceed twelve hundred words.

3. No prompting of the speakers will be allowed, and a failure of memory will exclude a competitor from consideration.

4. The award is made by a committee appointed by the Faculty, but composed of persons who are not members of that body.

THE ORRINGTON LUNT PRIZE.—A prize of one hundred dollars, established in 1908 by Cornelia Gray Lunt, in memory of her father Orrington Lunt, is awarded annually to the writer of the best essay on a subject in the departments of English Literature and History. The subject is assigned in the respective departments in alternate years. At the time of the award, the writer must have completed the major course of study in the related department. The essay should be type-written, signed by an assumed name, and accompanied by the real and the assumed name in a sealed envelope. It must be deposited with the Registrar not later than May 1. If no essay of sufficient merit is presented, the prize will not be awarded.

REGULATIONS AFFECTING STUDENTS

Residence

Men students find comfortable homes in private families within easy reach of the College. Some live in chapter houses, maintained by the fraternities.

Women students, wherever they reside, are under the supervision of the Dean of Women and are expected to conform to the general regulations prescribed for the conduct of those living in the Halls. They are required to room in one of the Halls provided for them, unless special exemption is granted.

Willard Hall, the largest of the three women's dormitories, is under the immediate oversight of the Dean of Women, who lives in the building. For information respecting Willard Hall inquiries should be addressed to Willard Hall, Evanston, Illinois.

Pearsons Hall and Chapin Hall are in charge of an association of women residents in Evanston, incorporated as the Woman's Educational Aid Association. This association considers the claims of applicants for admission and has a friendly supervision over the residents. The lighter housework of Pearsons and Chapin Halls is done by the young women residing in them, under the direction of a competent matron. In this way the expenses of living are materially reduced. For information respecting Pearsons Hall or Chapin Hall, inquiries should be addressed to the Corresponding Secretary of the Woman's Educational Aid Association, Evanston, Illinois.

Registration

Every undergraduate student is required to register in person at the office of the Registrar before entering upon College work.

The registration days are the first Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of each semester. The student not registered at the close of this period is subject to a fee of two dollars for later registration.

On the registration days of the first semester the student must register for the work of the whole year. Changes may be made only with permission from the Committee on Registration.

Before completing his registration, the student is required to consult his Faculty adviser.

No credit is given for work not regularly registered.

Prescribed studies take precedence of elective studies and in the order in which they are prescribed.

Each student is required to register for fifteen hours of work a week, unless permission has been obtained from the Committee on Registration to register for less or more. Two hours of laboratory work are credited as one hour.

Permission to register for more than fifteen hours will not be granted unless the committee is satisfied that the student can carry the whole work creditably. A student engaged in outside work making a serious drain on his time or energy may not register for more than twelve hours.

No student having deficiencies in entrance work amounting to more than five hours a week through one year can be registered as a candidate for a degree; and no student will be credited with College work in the published lists of the catalogue until all entrance deficiencies are made up.

If any entrance conditions are not removed before the beginning of the second year of residence, the work necessary to fulfill the entrance requirements must be included in the regular registration for that year, and the total registration may not exceed sixteen hours. The second year of a foreign language necessary to ensure admission credit for a first year of that language is treated as an entrance condition.

Registration papers must state the full amount of work to be undertaken each semester, whether in the College of Liberal Arts or elsewhere, and must indicate the number of hours devoted to each subject, and the school or department in which it is to be taken.

Students of the College of Liberal Arts desiring to take work in any other School of the University must first obtain consent from the Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts and from the Faculty of the School in which the work is to be taken, and they must file such consent with the Registrar before beginning the work. Failure to comply with this regulation will be deemed sufficient cause for cancellation of the entire registration.

At the time of registration the student obtains from the Registrar his tuition bill for the semester, which must be presented immediately at the Business Manager's Office for payment.

Examinations

REGULAR EXAMINATIONS.—These are held at the close of each semester in the studies of that semester. Any student whose daily work has not been satisfactory may be excluded from examination at the option of the instructor.

SECOND EXAMINATIONS.—These are set for students who have been absent from a regular examination, or who have failed to receive a passing grade at a regular examination. Second examinations are held on the first Wednesday in the first semester, on the first Monday in the second semester, and on the Monday following Easter.

No student may take more than one second examination for the same item of credit, and such second examination must be taken within nine months from the date of the regular examination. Students absent from the regular examinations of the first semester are admitted to the second examinations held in February, only in case of illness or other urgent necessity, and by consent of the instructor in charge.

ADDITIONAL EXAMINATIONS.—Students absent from class exercises in excess of the amount allowed are required to take additional examinations on the last Thursday of the first semester and on the last Friday of the second semester. Students absent from a required additional examination are held to take that examination at the next date set, and no credit can be given for the course until this examination is passed.

SPECIAL EXAMINATIONS.—Examinations may not be given at times other than those specified above without permission of the Faculty.

Grades of Scholarship

At the end of each semester the standing of a student in each of his courses is reported by the instructor to the Registrar and is entered on record. Standing is expressed, according to proficiency, in grades A, B, C, D, E, F.

Grade A denotes superior scholarship; grade B, good scholarship; grade C, fair scholarship; grade D, poor scholarship; grade E, a condition which may be removed by a second examination; grade F, a failure removable only by repetition of the subject in the class. Work of grades A, B, and C is counted toward a degree. Work of grade D may also be counted toward a degree, but not more than one-fifth of the work done under the College Faculty offered to meet the requirements for graduation may be of this grade and no work of this grade may be counted toward a major.

Work reported as of grade E must either be made good at a second examination within nine months, or must be taken again in the class-room if credit is to be obtained.

Work reported incomplete at the end of any semester, and not made good before the close of the next semester, can thereafter be given credit only under the conditions which apply to work reported as of grade E.

Students who do not take the regular examination in any subject at the close of the semester are reported absent, and credit for that subject can only be obtained by passing a Second Examination at a proper time.

Undergraduates are not allowed credit for work done in absentia. Only those who have duly registered and have regularly pursued their studies in attendance at class are admitted to examinations.

The semester record of each undergraduate is sent by the Registrar to the student's father or guardian. Failure in any semester to secure grade A, B, or C for at least forty per cent of the work undertaken by him will necessitate a student's withdrawal from College.

Absences from Class Exercises

Students are expected to attend all the regular exercises in the courses for which they are registered.

If, in any semester, a student be absent from a course more than one-eighth of the total number of assigned exercises, he will be required to take, besides the regular examination at the close of the semester, an Additional Examination. The dates fixed for Additional Examinations are the last Thursday of the first semester and the last Friday of the second semester.

When a student's absences in any study exceed one-sixth of the total number of assigned exercises in that study, his registration in that subject is cancelled, and the privilege of examination is denied. This rule is administered by the Committee on Registration, which has power to restore the cancelled registration at its discretion.

The Library

The Library contains 70,184 bound volumes and approximately 47,000 pamphlets. It is open to officers of the University, and to students upon the payment of their regular semester bills, under the following regulations:

1. During the college year the Library is open, except Sunday, from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. In the summer vacation, except on Saturday afternoon and on Sunday, it is open from 8 a.m. until 12 noon and 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. The Library is closed on New Year's Day, the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas Day.

2. Officers of the University have direct access to the shelves and are entitled to the first use of books.

3. Students may draw from the Library three volumes at a time, and these may be kept for two weeks unless specially restricted. Graduate students may have six volumes at a time.

4. The book stacks are not open to the students in general or to the public; but cards of admission may be given by the Librarian, on recommendation of an officer of instruction.

5. Reserved books in the reading room and the seminary rooms are withdrawn from circulation at the request of officers of instruction, for the use of their classes. The books reserved in the reading-room and other books of reference, are placed on open shelves freely and equally accessible to all readers; or, when much in demand, they are kept at the desk, and delivered on application there. These books are on no account to be taken from the reading room, and must be used with due regard to the rights of others.

6. Persons not members of the University are allowed the use of the reading room at the discretion of the Librarian. Persons introduced by an officer of the University may be permitted to take books for a short period on the officer's account, or may be granted the privileges of the Library upon written application endorsed by an officer of the University.

The Gymnasium

Regular classes in the gymnasium are under the supervision of competent instructors and are open to men and women. The student upon entering gymnasium classes undergoes a physical examination, and his health, strength, muscular development, and physical defects are carefully noted. From these data, exercises, based on scientific principles, are prescribed to meet his individual needs, and to give increased health, strength, and symmetry of body. See course in Physical Culture.

Athletics

Athletic exercises and games participated in by students are under the supervision of the Director of Athletics and a Committee of the Faculty. The care and equipment of the athletic field, tennis courts, gymnasium, and the cost of necessary supplies and apparatus for athletic teams are provided for by the University.

Intercollegiate contests are governed by the regulations of the Western Intercollegiate Conference, of which the University is a member.

For a description of Northwestern Field see page 43.

Religious Worship

The charter of the University provides that "no particular religious faith shall be required of those who become students of this institution."

Students of the College of Liberal Arts are expected to attend public worship on Sunday in the church of their choice.

Chapel service is held at noon on each week day, except Saturday, throughout the college year. Attendance upon at least three-fifths of these services is required.

When a student's record of chapel credits is deficient as many credits as he is expected to secure in one-half of a semester, his registration in all studies is cancelled, and it may be restored only on the recommendation of the faculty committee on chapel attendance.

Government

Students are temporary residents of the City of Evanston, and as such are amenable to the laws of the state and to the ordinances of the city. They are also subject to the rules and regulations made by the Faculty and are held to have a knowledge of all Faculty requirements published in the catalogue, or otherwise brought to their attention.

Students may be separated from the institution whenever in the opinion of the Faculty they are pursuing a course of conduct seriously detrimental to themselves or to the University. The University will tolerate neither idleness nor dissolute habits.

Social Entertainments

Permission for a party or social entertainment, at which men and women are to be present, to be held by an organization or group of students, must be obtained beforehand from the Committee on Social Life of Students. The conditions under which the party or entertainment is held are subject to the approval of the committee.

Musical Clubs

Student musical organizations are under the supervision of a standing committee of the Faculty. The chairman of the committee must be informed of the intended organization of any such association, and must be furnished with a statement of its plans, purposes, and membership. Formal organization is not permitted without the knowledge and sanction of the committee. Business managers of such organizations must not make arrangements for public appearances of the clubs without the consent of the committee. Concert dates will not be permitted to interfere with examinations, or to interrupt the routine of study. Students with delinquent standing are not allowed to retain connection with musical organizations.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

NORTHERN ORATORICAL LEAGUE.—The oratorical associations of Northwestern University, the University of Michigan, the University of Wisconsin, the University of Iowa, the University of Chicago, the University of Minnesota, and Oberlin College compose the Northern Oratorical League. The purpose of this organization is to promote an interest in public speaking, and to elevate the standard of oratory, by holding annual contests. The contests of the League are open only to undergraduates.

CENTRAL DEBATING LEAGUE.—The students of the University of Michigan, the University of Chicago, and Northwestern University are organized into a debating league in which representatives of each university meet annually, in January, representatives of each of the others in public contest. In these contests a single question is debated each year.

THE HINMAN LITERARY SOCIETY.—This society was organized in 1855, during the first year of the work of the college, and has had a continuous existence. It was named in honor of the first President of the University, the Reverend Clark T. Hinman. It meets on Tuesday evenings throughout the year.

THE ADELPHIC LITERARY SOCIETY.—This society was first organized prior to 1867, and maintained a prosperous existence for over twenty years; it then ceased to be active, but was reorganized in 1897. It meets on Thursday evenings. Two prizes of twenty and fifteen dollars, the gift of Dr. M. C. Bragdon of the class of 1870, are competed for annually by its members.

THE ROGERS DEBATING CLUB.—This society was organized in 1897, and was named in honor of Henry Wade Rogers, then President of the University. It meets on Thursday evenings. Three prizes, the gift of Mr. William Deering, are offered annually for competition among its members.

THE CLEOSOPHIC LITERARY SOCIETY.—This society for men was organized in 1905. Besides the weekly program of the society, a prize competition in debate is held annually.

ALETHENAI AND EULEXIA LITERARY SOCIETIES, for women, were organized in 1903.

ANONIAN, CALETHEA, AND LAUREAN LITERARY SOCIETIES, for women, were organized in 1905.

THE ALEPH TETH NUN SOCIETY is an organization of men for the study of political and social problems. It meets weekly and it is frequently addressed by persons prominent in public life.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.—A Young Men's Christian Association and a Young Woman's Christian Association are in active operation in the College, and exert a helpful influence upon the religious life of students. The Men's Association has headquarters at University Hall, and the Woman's Association, at Willard Hall. Each association employs a general secretary and maintains a bureau of self-help for students seeking employment. Under the direction of these organizations, religious meetings are held each week, and study of the Bible is promoted.

For a list of the officers of the Christian Associations of the College of Liberal Arts, see University Societies.

As auxiliaries to the Christian Associations there have been organized two societies—the Student Volunteer Band, composed of young men and women who have volunteered for foreign missionary service, and a society known as Mem Aleph Nun, whose membership is composed of young men who are preparing for Christian service as ministers or as Association secretaries.

THE WOMAN'S LEAGUE.—The Woman's League is an organization having as its purpose the consideration of matters of interest to college women. It is composed of women students, alumnæ, and other women actively interested in the University.

FEES AND EXPENSES

MATRICULATION FEE.—Every student on first entering the College of Liberal Arts is required to pay a matriculation fee of five dollars. This fee is paid but once and is not returnable.

FEES FOR UNDERGRADUATES.—At the beginning of each semester undergraduate students are required to pay fees for instruction and incidentals as shown in the following table. Upon payment of his semester bill the student is entitled to all the general privileges of the College. He may take any course for which he is qualified under the regulations affecting registration, but in certain laboratory courses he is required to pay additional fees as shown below.

SCHEDULE OF UNDERGRADUATE FEES FOR EACH SEMESTER

Regular full tuition and incidentals.....	$50.00
Sons and daughters of ministers.....	30.00
Students pursuing a single study, i. e., work not exceeding five hours a week	30.00
Sons and daughters of ministers pursuing a single study.....	22.00
Holders of old-time perpetual or transferable scholarships, for incidentals	22.00

FEES FOR GRADUATE STUDENTS.—The tuition fees for graduate students, whether resident or non-resident, are determined by the number of hours of instruction taken. The fee for a lecture, or seminary, or laboratory course is five dollars a year for each year-hour of credit; the total amount of tuition fees in any one year shall not exceed forty dollars.

FEES FOR STUDENTS REGISTERED IN TWO SCHOOLS.—A student whose primary registration is in another School of the University, or in Garrett Biblical Institute, pays the fees of that department and may register in the College of Liberal Arts for such courses as may be approved by both faculties concerned without additional fees for tuition. The matriculation fee is paid but once, on the student's first admission to the University, but laboratory and other special fees are chargeable for any courses taken. Students in the Evanston Academy taking courses in College not required for admission, pay regular college fees.

LABORATORY FEES.—Students pursuing laboratory courses are charged additional fees. These are to cover the cost of materials consumed and the use of special apparatus. These are not refunded if the student continues in a course as long as two weeks, except that in the Chemical Laboratory the fee is in the nature of a deposit, where an account is kept of the material used, and the unexpended balances, at the end of the year, are returned to the student. In all departments students are chargeable for unnecessary breakages. The laboratory fees for a semester are as follows:

CHEMISTRY

Fees in this department are subject to a refund

Course A	$ 7.50 a semester
Other courses except Course E, each.....	9.00 a semester
Two courses taken concurrently.....	15.00 a semester

PHYSICS

Courses A and B, each.....	2.00 a semester
Course C	3.00 a semester

ZOOLOGY

Course A	3.00 a semester
Courses B1, B2, B3, C and D, each.....	2.00 a semester

BOTANY

GRADUATION FEE.—A fee of ten dollars is charged all persons taking any degree in the College of Liberal Arts. This fee is payable on the first day of May of the year of graduation.

REFUNDS.—Fees for instruction or incidentals will not be refunded except in case of sickness. If a student withdraws before the middle of the semester, on account of his serious illness, one-half of his tuition fee will be refunded to him, on obtaining from the Dean a statement of honorable standing, and from a physician a certificate that his health will not permit him to remain in attendance.

Bills for fees are made out at the office of the Registrar in University Hall. Payment is made at the office of the Business Manager, 518 Davis Street, Evanston. Checks should be made payable to "Northwestern University," and all payments should be made in currency or in Chicago exchange.

Board and Lodging

Students living in Willard Hall pay for board and room from $225 to $261 a year, according to the desirability of the room. Bills are payable quarterly in advance. All applicants for rooms sign a contract, guaranteed by some responsible person not a College officer, to occupy the assigned room for the full College year or to secure a suitable substitute. A deposit of ten dollars is required at the time a room is assigned. This amount will be refunded at the end of the year or when the depositor has fulfilled her contract, or if the room is surrendered before the first of August five dollars will be refunded.

Bills for room and board are payable strictly in advance, and no deduction is made for absence, except in case of protracted illness.

Pearsons Hall and Chapin Hall are residences for women students of limited means, and applications for admission must be made to the Corresponding Secretary of the Woman's Educational Aid Association, Evanston. In these halls students pay for board and room $125.00 a year, in quarterly installments, at the beginning and at the middle of each semester. They are required to assist in the lighter housework.

Young men obtain board and lodging in private families at reasonable rates. Clubs are formed in which the cost of board is reduced to a minimum.

Loan Funds

The University receives annually a considerable sum of money to be loaned without interest to worthy students. Loans are made upon the recommendation of the Committee on Loan Funds. Satisfactory scholarship and promise of service are essential to securing such assistance.

Self-Support of Students

The University does not encourage students to enter college if entirely without resources. Especially is it undesirable that young women enter college without funds if wholly dependent on their own efforts. It happens, however, every year that not a few students are able to help themselves very materially by their labor, while carrying on their studies. The Young Men's Christian Association conducts a bureau of self-help which is of great assistance every year in securing work for a large number desiring it. Inquiries sent to the Secretary of that Association receive careful attention.

GROUNDS AND BUILDINGS

The Campus

The University Campus has an area of about seventy-five acres, stretching for three-quarters of a mile along the shore of Lake Michigan. On the Campus are University Hall, Fayerweather Hall of Science, Dearborn Observatory, Fisk Hall, Memorial Hall, Annie May Swift Hall, Orrington Lunt Library, Swift Hall of Engineering, Old College, the old Gymnasium, Hatfield House, Heck Hall, and the new Gymnasium now in process of construction. Music Hall, Willard Hall, Pearsons Hall, and Chapin Hall are situated on Willard Hall Campus, distant from University Hall about three minutes' walk.

A description of the University grounds and buildings may be found on page 41.

The Museum

The Museum of the College of Liberal Arts contains large collections illustrative of anthropology, botany, geology, mineralogy, and zoölogy. These are of rare value in the work of instruction in the natural sciences. The mineralogical collection is in Fayerweather Hall of Science; the other sections are on the fourth floor of University Hall.

The Laboratories

BOTANY.—The Laboratory is on the third floor of University Hall. Tables, compound and dissecting microscopes, glassware, reagents, and lockers are provided for each student. Microtomes, incubators, and sterilizing apparatus are available for the advanced courses.

CHEMISTRY.—The Laboratory is located in Fayerweather Hall of Science and includes on the main floor: a lecture-room seating sixty; a reading-room, a laboratory for general chemistry and for qualitative analysis, with forty-six tables; a laboratory for quantitative analysis, with twelve tables; a balance-room; the office and private laboratory of the professors; the assistants' room; in the basement: a general store-room, a room with four tables equipped with special conveniences for water analysis, an office and private laboratory.

GEOLOGY.—The Laboratory is in University Hall and consists of five rooms on the fourth floor. In these rooms are: study collections of typical rocks, minerals, and fossils; photographs; geological maps; a large series of topographical maps; topographical and geological models; a geological library; petrographical microscopes; thin sections of rocks and minerals; several outfits for topographical and geological mapping, each consisting of a plane table, alidade, aneroid barometer, hand level, and compass. In addition is an extensive collection, belonging to the Wisconsin Geological and Natural History Survey, including rocks and ores from the copper-bearing rocks of the Lake Superior region and the Upper Mississippi Valley lead and zinc district.

MINERALOGY.—The Laboratory is in Fayerweather Hall of Science and contains a collection of several thousand labeled minerals and a collection of unlabeled material for determination by students. The laboratory is furnished with glass and wood models of crystals, reflecting goniometer microscope, electrical slicing and grinding machine, and lantern slides illustrating mining and metallurgy. The assay laboratory is supplied with gas and coal furnaces, tools, balances, and reagents.

PHYSICS.—The Laboratory and Shops are in Fayerweather Hall of Science in rooms excellently adapted to their purpose and equipped with modern instruments, especially well in the departments of acoustics, electricity, and light. The rooms for special purposes include a workshop in the basement; a room for spectroscopy, fitted with a curved grating; a drawing room; rooms for electric and magnetic work; a room for general optics; a photometric-room; a room for testing the strength of materials with a Riehle testing machine; several small rooms for individual work. In the court is a powerhouse with two engines, two motors, two dynamos, and a large storage battery. These furnish power to the Observatory and Physical Laboratory.

PSYCHOLOGY.—The Laboratory is in Old College and consists of a general laboratory and apparatus room, dark room, research rooms, an office and reading room. The reading room is supplied with the most helpful books and periodicals on experimental psychology. The equipment includes everything necessary for purposes of demonstration in the course in general psychology, for an elementary laboratory course, and for certain typical researches. Additions are made from time to time, as the work demands.

THE ZOÖLOGICAL LABORATORY.—This Laboratory is in University Hall. It includes a large general room, a laboratory for vertebrate zoölogy, a seminary room, and department library, a room for advanced students, and a preparator's room. The equipment consists of forty-seven excellent compound microscopes, microtomes of the most recent make, dissecting microscopes and instruments, incubators, aquaria, glassware, reagents, and other apparatus for elementary and advanced work in Zoölogy. The department is supplied with a full set of Leuckart's zoölogical charts and several sets of Ziegler's wax models.

For further information in regard to the College of Liberal Arts, address the Dean of the College, Evanston, Illinois.

For blank forms of admission and for information in regard to entrance requirements and on all matters of record, address the Registrar of the College of Liberal Arts, Evanston, Illinois.

THE MEDICAL SCHOOL

THE MEDICAL SCHOOL

The School was founded in 1859 as a department of the Lind University, in 1864 it became affiliated with Northwestern University, in 1891 it assumed the name Northwestern University Medical School, and in 1905 it became an integral part of the University. Much of the success of the School is due to the benefactions of William Deering, Dr. Nathan S. Davis, Dr. Ephraim Ingals, and to the wisdom and devotion of Dr. Nathan S. Davis, who served as Dean from 1901 to 1907.

The Medical School has been a pioneer in the advancement of medical education in the United States. It was the first American school to enforce a standard of preliminary education; to adopt longer annual courses of instruction; and to initiate, in 1859, the graded curriculum, in which the studies were assigned in logical order, and in which laboratory departments prepared the way for the practical, clinical branches. The School is open to men only.

The course extends through four years. The first two years are devoted to fundamental studies, anatomy, physiology, chemistry, histology, embryology, pharmacology, pathology, special pathology, bacteriology, and etiology. Instruction is given by lectures, recitations, demonstrations, conferences, and largely by practical work in the laboratories. In the first year, and more particularly in the second courses in physical diagnosis and elementary instruction in medicine and surgery are introduced.

The fundamental branches taught in the first and second years complement the college work required for admission and,—aside from their direct application to the practical clinical years,—constitute a training which in itself is genuinely liberalizing. The third and fourth year work is eminently practical. The affiliated hospitals afford such an enormous number of cases that groups of diseases of different phases and stages can be presented at one time to the student. The large dispensaries exhibit an equally large material, but of an ambulatory type. In the last two years medicine, surgery, and obstetrics are taught, in small sections and in larger clinics, in the dispensary and in the several large adjacent hospitals affiliated with the School.

Upon graduation, more than fifty per cent of the students are appointed, on examination, to hospital internships, which afford, in one or two years, training equivalent to many years of practice.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

Candidates for admission to the Medical School must present a certificate of moral character signed by two physicians of good standing in the state in which the applicant last resided.

Graduates of recognized colleges will be admitted without examination upon the presentation of their diplomas.

Graduates of high schools, academies, state normal schools, and similar institutions, approved by the State Board of Health, and candidates holding certificates from the State Superintendent of Public Instruction or one of his deputies to the fact that they have the equivalent education, who present credit for one year of college work in chemistry, biology, physics, and modern language, will be admitted without examination.

Students conditioned in entrance requirements cannot register as students in the second year course until they have made up all conditions. Special students, not candidates for a degree, will be admitted at the discretion of the faculty.

Examinations in college subjects required in addition to high school work are held at the School on Monday next preceding the first Tuesday in October. By special arrangement examinations may also be held at St. Paul, Minnesota; Denver, Colorado; Omaha, Nebraska; St. Louis, Missouri; Cincinnati, Ohio; Detroit, Michigan; Portland, Oregon; and San Francisco, California. For such examinations application must be made to the Secretary of the Medical School prior to June 1.

Admission to Advanced Standing

Applicants for advance standing must present satisfactory records for work on which credit is asked, or they must pass examinations. Certificates from other reputable medical schools covering the number of hours in class and laboratory work given in this School are accepted, when properly signed by the Dean or Secretary of the school from which the candidate comes.

Undergraduate students from other medical colleges will not be admitted to the fourth year class. Graduates in medicine will be admitted to the fourth year class only upon special action by the Faculty.

Students from other medical schools who have pursued the following first-year medical courses may be admitted to advanced standing in the subjects covered by their official credentials if found satisfactory:

ANATOMY.—Recitations, 64 hours, and laboratory work, 320 hours, covering osteology, and dissection of four parts of the human body, arm, leg, thorax and abdomen, head and neck.

PHYSIOLOGY.—Recitations, 96 hours, and laboratory work, 96 hours, covering general physiology of cells and tissues, and the special physiology of the circulatory and respiratory systems, including normal hæmatology.

CHEMISTRY.—Lectures and demonstrations, 96 hours, and laboratory work, 196 hours, covering general chemistry and qualitative analysis, with organic chemistry.

HISTOLOGY AND EMBRYOLOGY.—Recitations, 48 hours, and laboratory work, 192 hours, covering the microscopical anatomy of human tissues and organs and the development of vertebrate embryos.

Preparation for the Study of Medicine

Students contemplating the study of medicine are urged to take at least two years of work in a college of arts or science before entering the Medical School. The following should be among the studies pursued in this preliminary training: Modern Languages; German or French, two years. Chemistry; general, organic, inorganic, qualitative analysis. Physics; mechanics, hydraulics, sound, light, electricity. Biology; biology of plants, general biology, comparative anatomy, physiology of vertebrates, histology and embryology.

Combined Courses

Students in the Medical School holding a bachelor's degree in Arts or Science from an institution of accepted grade may receive from Northwestern University a master's degree upon graduation in medicine, by complying with the requirements stated on page 118 of this catalogue.

The University offers combined courses of study in the College of Liberal Arts and the Medical School which enable a student to obtain the collegiate and the medical degree with economy of time. A description of such combined courses will be found on page 118.

Outline of Instruction

The first and second years are largely occupied by subjects introductory to practical medicine.

The subjects of the first year may be studied at the Medical School, or in the laboratory of the College of Liberal Arts at Evanston, with the exception of anatomy and surgery. These studies may be completed during the summer term of the Medical School. The work in anatomy may be taken during the year in the laboratories of the Dental School.

The studies of the first and second years lead up in logical sequence to the practical courses of the third and fourth years. The student approaches the practical subjects of the third year after completing in the first and second years subjects preparatory to practical medicine and physical diagnosis and preliminary surgery and medicine. The principles of medicine, surgery, and obstetrics are studied in recitations, in sections in the dispensary, and in larger clinics. The courses in special pathology and clinical pathology closely follow the clinical work and are accompanied by clinics and recitations on nervous diseases, gynecology, eye and ear, nose and throat, orthopedic surgery, and diseases of children.

In the fourth year the instruction is, as far as possible, case-teaching, and is entirely clinical.

Throughout the course classes, whenever possible, are limited in size, a matter of great advantage to the student, giving him the advantage of personal instruction. The sections are sufficiently small to give each student an opportunity to take for himself, under the personal supervision of his teacher, every step in the technique of laboratory and clinical courses.

Clinical Courses

Clinical instruction occupies a part of the second year and most of the last two years. Clinical material is furnished by the South Side Dispensary, Wesley Hospital, Mercy Hospital, St. Luke's Hospital, Provident Hospital, The People's Hospital, The Cook County Hospital, and the Chicago Lying-in Dispensary, and is very abundant. Some of the hospital and college clinics are attended by the entire class, but the greater number of clinics are given to small sections of twelve to sixteen students in order to allow individual instruction in physical examination, diagnosis, and treatment. A most important feature of the clinical instruction is the bedside hospital clinic, which affords a small group of students accompanying the teacher through the wards, an opportunity to study the details of symptoms, diagnosis, and treatment, and to follow the cases throughout the progress of disease. The bedside clinical instruction is arranged to give each student at least two periods a week. The hospital beds to which the students have access number in the aggregate over seven hundred. The course in clinical obstetrics at the Chicago Lying-in Dispensary is obligatory.

DEPARTMENTS OF INSTRUCTION

The Medical School was the first in the country to establish graded courses. In the present courses the student progresses from the fundamental to the clinical subjects. The advantage of such gradation can only be secured by attending the school for at least eight months consecutively each year, and by beginning with the fundamental subjects in the first semester of each year. Deviation from the regular schedule of work is not allowed without the consent of the Faculty.

Schedule of Courses

In the following general arrangement of the course, letters refer to the courses presented under the main headings in alphabetical order.

Anatomy

PROFESSOR MEYER, PROFESSOR PRENTISS, DR. RANSON, DR. THYNG, DR. HORN, DR. WHITE, DR. GIBSON, DR. DIEFENDERFER, MR. HENDRICKSON, MR. ALCOCK, MR. CHASE.

The equipment in the department of anatomy has been materially changed and enlarged during the last year. The changes in the dissecting rooms have been made with a view to making the daily work of the student as agreeable as possible. To this end three large, well-ventilated dissecting rooms have been equipped with specially designed adjustable stools and with tables securing perfect drainage. Besides these rooms there are four small rooms for special dissections by students or graduates and an additional larger room for work in topographical anatomy. An excellent refrigerating plant and an abundance of anatomical material make it possible to provide each student with full opportunity to repeat his dissections if he chooses to do so.

Rooms for research have also been equipped and important additions have been made to the equipment in osteology, histology and embryology.

a. DISSECTIONS OF THE UPPER EXTREMITY; LOWER EXTREMITY AND ABDOMEN; HEAD, NECK AND THORAX.—Four four-hour periods throughout the first year. PROFESSOR MEYER, DR. RANSON, and assistants.

b. SAME AS COURSE a.—Four three-hour periods during the first semester of the second year.

c. OSTEOLOGY.—Lectures, recitations, and laboratory work. Two hours a week, per section. One and one-half semesters. DR. HORN.

d. MICROSCOPICAL ANATOMY.—Four three-hour laboratory periods and two lectures a week for one and one-half semesters. PROFESSOR PRENTISS, DR. THYNG, and assistants.

e. HUMAN EMBRYOLOGY.—A course of lectures, recitations, and laboratory work endeavoring to acquaint the student with the essentials of embryology. Four three-hour laboratory periods and two lectures or recitations a week for one-half of one semester. PROFESSOR PRENTISS, DR. THYNG, and assistants.

f. GROSS AND MICROSCOPICAL ANATOMY OF THE HUMAN CENTRAL NERVOUS SYSTEM.—A course of lectures, recitations, and laboratory work of four three-hour periods a week during the second semester. Open to all students who have finished their dissections. PROFESSOR PRENTISS, DR. RANSON, DR. THYNG, and assistants.

g. TOPOGRAPHICAL ANATOMY.—One hour a week during the second semester. Open to students who have credit for Course a. PROFESSOR MEYER.

h. ADVANCED WORK IN NEUROLOGY.—Special arrangement, 1909-

1910. Localization of nuclei of cranial nerves, and nerve tracts by experimental and pathological methods. DR. RANSON.

i. LECTURES IN GROSS ANATOMY.—These lectures will be concerned with general considerations regarding the various systems, and discussions of obscure relations and recent contributions to anatomy. As announced from time to time. PROFESSOR MEYER.

j. THE LYMPHATIC SYSTEMS.—To be given in 1909-1910. A comprehensive review of the human lymphatic system, including the tonsils, adenoids, and hemolymph glands, by means of lectures, recitations, and demonstrations on specially prepared dissections and injections supplemented by a consideration of the lymphatic systems of lower vertebrates and incorporating the results of recent research. PROFESSOR MEYER.

k. THE GENITO-URINARY ORGANS.—To be given in 1909-1910. The scope of this course will be similar to Course j, but students will be expected to do actual laboratory work on sections, made in various places, of cadavers, of fetuses, infants, adolescents, and adults. The aim will be to consider these organs in their broadest relations as well as in their similar anatomical details. PROFESSOR MEYER and Dr. GIBSON.

l. Special problems in anatomy can be made the subject of research by personal arrangement.

Chemistry

PROFESSOR LONG, MR. JOHNSON, MR. GEPHART, DR. WRIGHT, AND ASSISTANTS.

The work in chemistry extends through the first and second years, and is required of all students.

First Year

a. ORGANIC CHEMISTRY.—Lectures and demonstrations. Three times a week. One semester. PROFESSOR LONG.

b. ORGANIC CHEMISTRY.—Laboratory course and experiments. Three times a week. One-half of a semester. PROFESSOR LONG and MR. JOHNSON.

c. VOLUMETRIC ANALYSIS.—Laboratory course. Three times a week. One-half of a semester. PROFESSOR LONG, MR. JOHNSON, and assistants.

Second Year

d. PHYSIOLOGICAL CHEMISTRY.—Lectures and demonstrations. Three times a week, first semester. PROFESSOR LONG.

e. PHYSIOLOGICAL CHEMISTRY.—A laboratory course. Twice a week. One semester. PROFESSOR LONG and MR. JOHNSON.

f. URINE ANALYSIS.—A laboratory course. Twice a week. One semester.

g. LABORATORY COURSES.—Opportunity is given to second and third year students to carry on investigations in special lines of Physiological Chemistry, and to become familiar with the application of the spectroscope, polariscope, and other instruments, as aids in original study. The more advanced work for the coming year will be in the direction of investigation on new methods of urine and feces analysis.

h. QUIZ COURSE.—A course on the most important topics covered in the Lecture Course d. Once a week. One semester. DR. WRIGHT.

College of Liberal Arts

The satisfactory completion of the following courses in the College of Liberal Arts are accepted for Courses a, b, d, e, f, of the Medical School.

A. GENERAL CHEMISTRY.—Four hours a week throughout the year. See page 81. PROFESSOR YOUNG.

B. QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS AND ORGANIC CHEMISTRY.—Four hours a week throughout the year. See page 81. PROFESSOR HINES.

C. VOLUMETRIC ANALYSIS.—Four hours a week, second semester. See page 81. PROFESSOR HINES.

The satisfactory completion of these courses in College will give the student credit for courses a, b, d, e, and f, in the Medical School.

Gynecology

PROFESSOR DUDLEY, PROFESSOR FRANK T. ANDREWS, PROFESSOR WATKINS, PROFESSOR FRANKENTHAL, PROFESSOR GILLMORE, DR. BARNES, DR. CUTHBERTSON, DR. SAUER, DR. LEWIS, DR. PAVLIK, DR. PRITZKER.

Instruction in this department comprises recitations, dispensary clinics, conferences, and surgical clinics. The clinics are given in Wesley Hospital, Mercy Hospital, St. Luke's Hospital, and to divided classes in the Dispensary. All students are required to make themselves proficient in general gynecological diagnosis and treatment, and with this object in view, are brought into close personal relation with a large number and variety of cases in the Dispensary. Three operative clinics a week, on the average, are given in hospitals in the immediate vicinity of the College. These clinics afford the student abundant opportunity to familiarize himself with all the major and minor operations of gynecology. Not only a theoretical, but a practical knowledge of gynecology is a prerequisite for graduation.

Third Year

a. OPERATIVE CLINICS AND LECTURES AT ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL.—One two-hour period a week. October to April, PROFESSOR DUDLEY; April to July, PROFESSOR FRANKENTHAL; July to October, DR. CUTHBERTSON.

Fourth Year

b. GENERAL GYNECOLOGY.—Recitations. Twice a week, from October to April. PROFESSOR GILLMORE, DR. SAUER, DR. BARNES, and DR. LEWIS.

c. OPERATIVE CLINICS AND LECTURES AT WESLEY HOSPITAL.—One two-hour period a week throughout the year. PROFESSOR WATKINS.

d. OPERATIVE CLINICS AND LECTURES AT MERCY HOSPITAL.—Once a week throughout the year. PROFESSOR FRANK T. ANDREWS.

e. DISPENSARY CLINICS.—Daily to divided classes. Every fourth year student is required to attend for four weeks. PROFESSOR GILLMORE, DR. SAUER, DR. BARNES, DR. PAVLIK, and DR. PRITZKER.

e.e. SUMMER COURSE.—Equivalent to Course e.

f. GYNECOLOGICAL CLINICS TO SECTIONS OF THE SENIOR CLASS.—Once a week. Wesley Hospital. PROFESSOR WATKINS.

Medicine

The course in physical diagnosis in the second year lays a broad foundation for the medical courses which are to follow. A thorough course is given in the technique of physical diagnosis, beginning with laboratory work upon the normal subject and illustrated by typical cases from the clinics.

An important feature of the medical instruction in the third year is the work in the medical department of the South Side and Mercy Hospital Dispensaries. Small sections of eight or ten students are assigned to a service of four weeks each, during which each student receives personal instruction in the application of his work of previous years in physical diagnosis, in the methods of differential diagnosis, in symptomatology, in therapeutics, and in prescription writing. The course in clinical pathology is so conducted that the laboratory findings and the clinical side of the cases are closely associated in the mind of the student. The personal contact with patients and individual opportunity to put into practice the didactic and clinical instruction of the various departments have always been a leading feature of instruction in this department.

During the third year classes are taught from hospital and dispensary cases and, divided into small sections, they are subjected to quizzes covering the most important diseases. A knowledge of drugs and their action being essential before prescriptions for the sick are attempted, their study is begun before clinical teaching is taken up. For the same reason general pathology and special pathology are taken in the second year. The fourth year is almost entirely devoted to clinical work, after the student is conversant with the subjects tributary to medicine. The student attends the larger clinics and ward-walks, in which he comes into intimate contact with the patients.

Second Year

a. PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS OF THE NORMAL BODY.—Laboratory work. Eight periods. Second semester. Pathological conditions, illustrated by clinical cases. DR. KLEUTGEN, DR. LAMBORN, DR. OSGOOD, and DR. KLEIN.

a.a. SUMMER COURSE.—Equivalent to Course a. DR. KLEUTGEN.

b. THEORY AND PRACTICE OF PHYSICAL DIAGNOSIS.—Lectures twice a week. PROFESSOR MIX.

c. PHYSICAL DIAGNOSIS CLINIC.—Cases chosen from the Dispensary Clinics are brought before the class and are presented with especial reference to diagnosis. Each student is expected to keep a record of such cases, to group and co-ordinate all cases of the same class, and to present his notes with a thesis on one group of cases. Once a week. PROFESSOR MIX.

Third Year

d. RECITATIONS FROM TEXT-BOOKS.—Three hours a week. PROFESSOR DYCHE, PROFESSOR ACHILLES DAVIS, PROFESSOR ELLIOTT, PROFESSOR CHESTER, DR. GOLDSMITH, and DR. OSGOOD.

e. CLINICS.—Clinics to the same sections supplementary to the recitation work; one two-hour period a week throughout the year by PROFESSOR DYCHE, PROFESSOR ACHILLES DAVIS, PROFESSOR ELLIOTT, PROFESSOR HARPOLE, PROFESSOR CHESTER, DR. GOLDSMITH, and DR. OSGOOD. These clinics also cover therapeutics.

f. DISPENSARY CLINIC TO SMALL CLASSES.—Four weeks. PROFESSOR CHESTER, PROFESSOR ACHILLES DAVIS, DR. FOWLER, DR. BUTT, DR. KLEUTGEN, DR. WILLETS, DR. PECH, and DR. MANDEL.

f.f. SUMMER COURSE.—Equivalent to Course f.

g. CLINICAL LECTURES AT ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL.—Once a week. PROFESSOR PREBLE.

h. LABORATORY DIAGNOSTIC METHODS.—Laboratory work given in conjunction with the medical department of the dispensary. The class is divided into eight sections of twelve to fifteen students. Each section attends four hours daily for one-fourth of a semester. PROFESSOR BUEHLIG.

i. SUMMER COURSE.—Laboratory work. Daily. Equivalent to Course h. PROFESSOR BUEHLIG.

Fourth Year

j. LECTURES.—One hour a week. Mercy Hospital. PROFESSOR EDWARDS.

k. LECTURES.—One hour a week. College. PROFESSOR PREBLE.

l. CLINICAL LECTURES AT MERCY HOSPITAL.—Two two-hour periods throughout the year. PROFESSOR EDWARDS.

m. CLINICAL LECTURES.—Wesley Hospital. One two-hour period throughout the year. PROFESSOR PREBLE.

n. WEEKLY VISITS TO THE HOSPITAL WARDS.—Visits at Wesley and Mercy Hospitals under the guidance of PROFESSOR EDWARDS, PROFESSOR WALLS, PROFESSOR PREBLE, PROFESSOR DYCHE, PROFESSOR CHESTER, PROFESSOR ELLIOTT, PROFESSOR ACHILLES DAVIS, DR. GOLDSMITH, DR. OSGOOD, and DR. MANDEL.

n,n. SUMMER COURSE.—Equivalent to Course n.

Sub-Department of Dermatology and Syphilology

PROFESSOR ZEISLER, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR PARDEE, DR. SIMPSON, DR. REYNOLDS, AND DR. JACOBSON

The very abundant clinical material gives the students in the dispensary an opportunity to examine each case personally. The most instructive cases are reserved for the general weekly clinic, where they are demonstrated and discussed exhaustively. Special attention is paid to differential diagnosis, histopathology, and the treatment of dermatoses most frequently encountered by the general practitioner.

Fourth Year

a. DISPENSARY CLINIC.—Daily for four weeks. PROFESSOR PARDEE and DR. SIMPSON.

a,a. SUMMER COURSE.—Equivalent to Course a.

b. CLINICAL LECTURES.—One period a week throughout the year. PROFESSOR ZEISLER.

c. LECTURES.—One a week. Second semester. PROFESSOR ZEISLER.

Sub-Department of Laryngology and RhinologyPROFESSOR MENGE AND PROFESSOR MARQUIS

The department is equipped with stalls furnished with electric lights, for the individual training of students in the technique of the examination and treatment of the throat and nose. The methods of the best foreign clinics are followed with advantages not usually available to students, except in post-graduate schools. A dark room is provided for translumination tests, and a clinical amphitheater capable of being darkened to allow operating by reflected artificial light. Each student is provided with a set of examining instruments.

a. LARYNGOLOGY AND RHINOLOGY.—Lecture one hour a week. First semester. PROFESSOR MENGE.

b. CLINICAL LECTURES.—At the College or Wesley Hospital. Throughout the year, once a week. PROFESSOR MENGE and PROFESSOR MARQUIS.

c. CLINIC.—At Wesley Hospital. Once a week. PROFESSOR MENGE.

d. DISPENSARY CLINICS.—Individual instruction in technique. Six periods a week for four weeks. PROFESSOR MENGE and PROFESSOR MARQUIS, assisted by DR. DENNIS, DR. YOUNGER, DR. BRACKEN, DR. MACLAY, and DR. NORCROSS.

d,d. CLINIC.—Summer course, equivalent to Course c.

Sub-Department of OphthalmologyPROFESSOR PUSEY, DR. TIVNEN, DR. JORDAN, AND DR. CARLTON

In the Department of Ophthalmology an effort is made to give to the student the essentials of the subject. For teaching purposes there is complete equipment. The department has its own laboratory and abundant clinical material. Small sections of the class are assigned to this department for a given period and during this time the subject is considered systematically in a series of talks, and cases showing the various diseased eye conditions are studied. The subject of refraction is considered in a general way.

Third Year

a. DISPENSARY CLINIC.—Six periods a week for four weeks. PROFESSOR PUSEY, DR. TIVNEN, DR. JORDAN, and DR. CARLTON.

Fourth Year

b. CLINIC AT MERCY HOSPITAL.—To sections of the fourth year class. Twice a week. DR. TIVNEN.

Sub-Department of OtologyPROFESSOR WILSON

Instruction in Otology is entirely clinical. The students are assigned in small sections to the ear department for a period of one month, in which time he observes the leading diseases of the ear.

Third Year

a. DISPENSARY CLINIC.—Six periods a week for four weeks. PROFESSOR WILSON.

Fourth Year

b. CLINIC AT MERCY HOSPITAL.—To sections of the fourth year class. Twice a week. DR. TIVNEN.

Sub-Department of Neurology, Clinical Neurology, Mental Diseases, and Medical Jurisprudence

PROFESSOR CHURCH, PROFESSOR PATRICK, PROFESSOR GRINKER, PROFESSOR HECHT, DR. LAYTON, DR. SHOCKEY, DR. BRENNEMANN, AND DR. YUDELSON

Third Year

a. NEUROLOGY.—Recitation course. One hour a week. Both semesters. PROFESSOR HECHT.

Fourth Year

b. DISEASES OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM.—One lecture a week. One semester. PROFESSOR CHURCH.

c. CLINICAL LECTURE.—Once a week. First semester. PROFESSOR PATRICK.

d. CLINICAL LECTURE.—Special reference to hospital cases. Once a week. Second semester. PROFESSOR CHURCH.

e. MEDICAL JURISPRUDENCE.—One lecture a week. One semester. PROFESSOR HECHT.

f. DISPENSARY CLINICS.—Six periods a week for four weeks. PROFESSOR PATRICK, PROFESSOR GRINKER, PROFESSOR HECHT, DR. SHOCKEY, DR. LAYTON, DR. W. E. BRENNEMANN, and DR. YUDELSON.

f.f. SUMMER COURSE.—Equivalent to Course f.

g. WARD VISITS.—A weekly ward visit to Wesley Hospital. PROFESSOR GRINKER and PROFESSOR HECHT.

Sub-Department of Pediatrics

PROFESSOR WALLS, PROFESSOR BRENNEMANN, DR. CAMPBELL, DR. CHENEY, DR. KROST, AND DR. SCHOENFELD

It is the plan of this department to make its instruction chiefly clinical and personal.

Third Year

a. DIDACTIC LECTURE.—One period a week. One semester. PROFESSOR WALLS and PROFESSOR BRENNEMANN.

b. RECITATIONS.—One period a week. One semester. PROFESSOR WALLS, PROFESSOR BRENNEMANN, DR. CAMPBELL, DR. CHENEY, DR. KROST, and DR. SCHOENFELD.

c. DISPENSARY.—CHILDREN'S CLINIC.—Six periods a week for four weeks. PROFESSOR WALLS, PROFESSOR BRENNEMANN, DR. CAMPBELL, DR. CHENEY, DR. KROST, and DR. SCHOENFELD.

c,c. SUMMER COURSE.—Equivalent to Course c.

d. CLINICAL LECTURE.—One period a week. PROFESSOR WALLS. The most interesting of the patients attending the dispensary clinics are reserved for the weekly college clinic. This course is required of third year students and is open to all fourth year students.

e. DIET KITCHEN.—Examination and preparation of infant foods. PROFESSOR WALLS.

Fourth Year

f. WARD-WALK.—One period a week. PROFESSOR BRENNEMANN.

Obstetrics

PROFESSOR DELEE, PROFESSOR REED, DR. MONASH, DR. STOWE, DR. WERNER, DR. HILLIS, AND DR. BOWE

The teaching in this department is clinical, didactic, by demonstrations, by individual exercises on the manikin, and by recitations and conferences in large and small classes. Obstetric cases in Mercy, Provident, and Wesley Hospitals are used for teaching. All fourth year students attend in residence the Chicago Lying-in Hospital and Dispensary. Each student sees and conducts personally six to ten labors in the homes of patients, or in the hospitals under the guidance of the assistant physicians. The pathological material is abundant. Members of the teaching staff will give optional courses on special obstetric subjects at the request of small groups of students. The Obstetric Laboratory is at the service of students desiring to do special work.

Third Year

a. THE PHYSIOLOGY OF PREGNANCY, LABOR, AND THE PUERPERIUM. Throughout the year. Two recitations a week. PROFESSOR REED and DR. MONASH.

Fourth Year

b. THE PATHOLOGY OF PREGNANCY, LABOR, AND THE PUERPERIUM. Throughout the year. Two lecture recitations a week. PROFESSOR DELEE.

c. INDIVIDUAL PRACTICE ON THE MANIKIN.—Sixteen exercises for each group of six students. DR. STOWE, DR. WERNER, DR. HILLIS, and DR. BOWE.

d. DEMONSTRATIONS.—Students of the third and fourth years attend obstetric demonstrations and labors conducted by PROFESSOR DELEE and PROFESSOR REED in the amphitheater of Wesley Hospital. Attendance on six labors is necessary for graduation.

Pathology and Bacteriology

PROFESSOR ZEIT, DR. JÄGER, AND MR. WAYSON

The laboratories of Pathology and Bacteriology and the pathological museum occupy the second floor of the main college building. The museum contains a complete and excellent collection of pathological specimens, preserved in natural colors, for instruction and practical exercises in pathological anatomy. The public autopsies held in the large amphitheater and the fresh material obtained from private and outside post-mortems, many of which are attended by small sections of the class, furnish abundant opportunity for the study of morbid anatomy and histopathology. The laboratories of Histopathology and Bacteriology are well equipped for general class work and individual research.

The department is supplied with a valuable reference library.

Second Year

a. BACTERIOLOGY, ETIOLOGY OF INFECTIOUS DISEASES AND IMMUNITY.—Lectures and demonstrations. First semester. Three hours a week. PROFESSOR ZEIT.

b. BACTERIOLOGY LABORATORY WORK.—The class is divided into sections. First semester. Three laboratory periods each week. PROFESSOR ZEIT and MR. WAYSON.

c. BACTERIOLOGY RECITATION COURSE.—First semester. The class is divided into sections. MR. WAYSON.

d. GENERAL PATHOLOGY AND HISTOPATHOLOGY, LABORATORY WORK. The class is divided into sections. Three laboratory periods each week. PROFESSOR ZEIT and DR. JÄGER.

e. GENERAL PATHOLOGY AND HISTOPATHOLOGY, RECITATION COURSE.—First semester. Two hours a week. PROFESSOR ZEIT and DR. JÄGER.

f. SPECIAL PATHOLOGY.—Lectures and demonstrations. Second semester. Four hours a week. PROFESSOR ZEIT.

g. SPECIAL PATHOLOGY.—Laboratory work. Second semester. Each section two laboratory periods each week. PROFESSOR ZEIT and DR. JÄGER.

h. PATHOLOGY.—Post-mortem technique and exercises in morbid anatomy. College and hospital autopsies as announced on the bulletin board. Students of the second and third years are excused from conflicting college duties. PROFESSOR ZEIT and assistants.

SUMMER COURSES

i. BACTERIOLOGY, LABORATORY WORK.—Three hours daily. Two months. Equivalent to Course b. PROFESSOR ZEIT and MR. WAYSON.

j. BACTERIOLOGY, RECITATION COURSE.—Equivalent to Course c. MR. WAYSON.

k. GENERAL PATHOLOGY AND HISTOPATHOLOGY, LABORATORY WORK. Three hours daily. Equivalent to Course d. PROFESSOR ZEIT and DR. JÄGER.

l. GENERAL PATHOLOGY AND HISTOPATHOLOGY, RECITATION COURSE. Equivalent to Course c.

Third Year Given in 1909-1910

m. SPECIAL PATHOLOGY.—Lectures and demonstrations. Second semester. Two hours a week. PROFESSOR ZEIT

n. SPECIAL PATHOLOGY.—Laboratory demonstrations and exercises in morbid anatomy. PROFESSOR ZEIT and assistants.

o. POST-MORTEM TECHNIQUE.—Third year students are required to attend all post-mortems and are excused from conflicting college duties. PROFESSOR ZEIT and assistants.

Second, Third, and Fourth Years—Elective

p. ADVANCED WORK AND RESEARCH IN BACTERIOLOGY.—PROFESSOR ZEIT.

q. ADVANCED WORK AND RESEARCH IN PATHOLOGY.—PROFESSOR ZEIT.

Pharmacology

PROFESSOR RICHARDS AND DR. SCOTT

The instruction in pharmacology consists of lectures, recitations, and laboratory work. In the lectures are considered the sources of drugs, their official preparations and the nature of their active constituents; various physiological conditions which may modify the intensity of drug action are discussed. The individual drugs which are used in medicine are studied in detail, especial emphasis being laid on their action upon the diseased as well as upon the normal organism. In the recitations, the material covered by the lectures and text-book is discussed. A number of recitation hours are devoted to practice in prescription writing.

In the pharmaceutical laboratory the student is required to work out for himself the general chemical and physical properties of the active constituents of drugs; to separate an alkaloid from a crude drug or from the tissues of an animal poisoned by it; to make samples of all the types of pharmacopeial preparations and study their superficial qualities; to study incompatibility in prescribing, using the preparations he has made and others which are furnished to him. In the pharmacological laboratory the action of drugs upon living animals is studied. Special efforts are devoted to the determination of the mechanism which is involved in the action of the drug. Frequent conferences are held in which the results of the work in the laboratory are discussed and criticized, and their bearing upon general questions of pharmacology and treatment brought out.

Second Year

a. LECTURES IN PHARMACOLOGY.—Two hours a week throughout the year. PROFESSOR RICHARDS.

b. RECITATIONS IN PHARMACOLOGY.—In three sections. One hour a week throughout the year. PROFESSOR RICHARDS and DR. SCOTT.

c. PHARMACEUTICAL LABORATORY, THREE SECTIONS.—Two hours a week during the first semester. PROFESSOR RICHARDS and DR. SCOTT.

d. PHARMACOLOGICAL LABORATORY, SIX SECTIONS.—Two hours a week during the second semester. PROFESSOR RICHARDS and DR. SCOTT.

Third and Fourth Years

e. RESEARCH WORK.—The laboratory is open for research work to a limited number of qualified workers. PROFESSOR RICHARDS.

Physiology

PROFESSOR HALL, PROFESSOR GRINKER, DR. KURTZ, AND ASSISTANTS

Instruction is based upon laboratory work and demonstrations. In the laboratory each student demonstrates for himself fundamental laws of physiology and observes the phenomena upon which these laws are based. The demonstrations present experiments too difficult for the student to perform alone. The laboratory work and demonstrations form an experimental basis for the science of Physiology, which is presented systematically in the recitation course accompanying the experimental courses.

First Year

a. GENERAL PHYSIOLOGY.—Cellular biology, and the physiology of muscle and nerve tissue, and of the muscular system. Lectures and demonstrations, three times a week, and laboratory work one period a week. One semester. PROFESSOR HALL and assistants.

b. SPECIAL PHYSIOLOGY.—The physiology of circulation and respiration. Recitations and demonstrations, three periods a week. Laboratory two periods a week. One-half of a semester. PROFESSOR HALL and assistants.

b.b. SUMMER COURSE.—Daily for four weeks. Equivalent to Course b. DR. KURTZ.

c. HAEMATOLOGY.—The physiology of the blood. Recitations and demonstrations, three times a week. Laboratory work, two periods a week. One-fourth of a semester. PROFESSOR HALL and DR. KURTZ.

c.c. SUMMER COURSE.—Daily for four weeks. Equivalent to Course c. DR. KURTZ.

d. PHYSIOLOGY OF THE SPECIAL SENSES.—Recitations, demonstrations and laboratory, six hours a week. One-fourth of a semester. PROFESSOR HALL and assistants.

Second Year

e. THE PHYSIOLOGY OF DIGESTION, METABOLISM, ANIMAL HEAT, AND EXCRETION.—Recitations and demonstrations. Once a week. PROFESSOR HALL.

f. PHYSIOLOGY OF THE CENTRAL NERVOUS SYSTEM.—Lectures, demonstrations, and recitations. Twice a week. One-half of a semester. PROFESSOR GRINKER.

g. EXPERIMENTAL PHYSIOLOGY OF THE CENTRAL NERVOUS SYSTEM. Laboratory work. One period a week. One-half of a semester. Elective. PROFESSOR GRINKER.

h. THE PHYSIOLOGY OF MUSCULAR EXERCISE.—Four hours a week. One semester. Elective.

Third and Fourth Year Elective

i. PATHOLOGIC PHYSIOLOGY.—Four hours a week.

j. DIETETICS, THEORETICAL AND PRACTICAL.—Four hours a week.

College of Liberal Arts

The courses of the first year, a, b, c, may be completed either in the Medical School or in the laboratories of the College of Liberal Arts at Evanston. Students wishing to complete the work in College should register in the department of Zoölogy as follows:

D. PHYSIOLOGY FOR MEDICAL STUDENTS.—Three hours a week throughout the year. DR. HARPER.

Sanitary Science

PROFESSOR EVANS

LECTURE COURSE.—The organization of a health department, contagious diseases, disinfection, school inspection, hospitals, dispensaries and ambulances, vital statistics, food control, laboratories, and sanitary bureaus, with demonstrations in the small pox hospital, drainage canal, water works, and garbage destruction. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR EVANS.

Surgery

The course offered in Surgery is systematically graded, beginning in the first year with a course in the application upon plaster models, cadavers and patients, of roller bandages, casts, splints, extensions, and braces. The last half of this course is devoted to the study of surface surgical landmarks. Third year students are given a systematic course in recitations and conferences covering the entire field of Surgery. Third year students attend at St. Luke's Hospital the Surgical Clinics and Clinical Conference Courses by Professor Owens, Professor Halstead, and Dr. McArthur and their associates. At Wesley Hospital Surgical Clinics are given by Professor Plummer, Professor Schroeder, Professor Besley, Professor Richter, and Professor Kanavel. Sections of the fourth year class attend the Surgical Clinics at the People's Hospital given by Dr. Riebel, and at the Charity Hospital by Professor Besley, Professor Richter, and Professor Kanavel. The whole fourth year class attends Professors Murphy's and Andrews' Surgical Clinics at Mercy Hospital.

a. PRELIMINARY SURGERY.—Surface landmarks, bandaging, organ location. Once a week. PROFESSOR KANAVAL, DR. DANFORTH, DR. HORN, and DR. SPEED.

Third Year

a. RECITATIONS AND CONFERENCES ON SURGERY.—To cover the entire field of Surgery, General and Special, to sections of the class three hours a week by each of the following: PROFESSOR PLUMMER, PROFESSOR KANAVAL, PROFESSOR BESLEY, PROFESSOR RICHTER, DR. CUBBINS, and DR. PIERCE. Each course lasting five weeks, the section then alternating to another teacher for the succeeding five weeks, and so on through the entire field of Surgery.

b. DISPENSARY CLINICS AT MEDICAL SCHOOL IN GENERAL SURGERY.—Individual instructions in divided classes six times a week for four weeks. PROFESSOR BESLEY, PROFESSOR KANAVAL, PROFESSOR RICHTER, DR. CHURCHILL, DR. EUSTACE, DR. RIEBEL, DR. FOX, DR. GRIMES, AND DR. FRANCIS.

b,b. SUMMER COURSES in the Dispensary will be the same as winter.

c. DISPENSARY CLINICS AT MERCY HOSPITAL DISPENSARY.—PROFESSOR NEFF, DR. CUBBINS, DR. GOLDEN, DR. BIANKINI, DR. KELLEY, DR. GRIMES, DR. SPEED, and associates.

d. DISPENSARY CLINICS IN GENITO-URINARY SURGERY, COLLEGE.—Individual instructions in divided classes six times a week for four weeks. PROFESSOR SCHMIDT, DR. LESPINASSE, DR. ROSS, DR. SWIFT, DR. MOWRY, and DR. McDOWELL.

d,d. CONTINUOUS SUMMER COURSE.—Equivalent to Course d.

e. DISPENSARY CLINICS AT PROVIDENT HOSPITAL.—DR. FOX.

f. OPERATIVE SURGERY ON CADAVER.—Laboratory. First Semester. Three periods a week for four weeks. DR. EGGERT, DR. CUBBINS, and associates.

g. EXPERIMENTAL OPERATIVE SURGERY ON DOGS.—PROFESSOR NEFF, PROFESSOR KANAVAL, DR. CHURCHILL, and DR. SCHRAGER.

h. CLINICAL LECTURES AT WESLEY HOSPITAL AMPHITHEATER.—Twice a week. PROFESSOR PLUMMER and PROFESSOR SCHROEDER. PROFESSOR PLUMMER, Friday afternoon 3 to 5. Also one clinic a week, Monday afternoon by either PROFESSOR BESLEY, PROFESSOR KANAVAL, or PROFESSOR RICHTER.

i. CLINICAL LECTURES AT ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL.—Once a week, Wednesday 2 to 4 P.M. PROFESSOR OWENS and PROFESSOR HALSTEAD, DR. ALLPORT and DR. MCARTHUR.

j. OPERATIVE SURGICAL CLINICS AT POST-GRADUATE HOSPITAL.—Once a week. One-half of the class each semester. PROFESSOR BESLEY, PROFESSOR RICHTER, and PROFESSOR KANAVAL.

k. SURGICAL PATHOLOGY.—One hour a week. The class, divided into six sections, subjects to be divided between the members of the Teaching Corps of this Branch. DR. HOLLISTER, DR. DANFORTH, DR. GOLDEN, DR. MATTER, DR. FOX, and DR. KELLEY.

l. CLINIC—GENITO-URINARY SURGERY.—Once a week. PROFESSOR SCHMIDT.

Fourth Year

m. SURGICAL CLINICS AT MERCY HOSPITAL AMPHITHEATER.—Two two-hour periods a week. PROFESSOR MURPHY, assisted by PROFESSOR NEFF and DR. GOLDEN.

n. CLINICAL AND CONFERENCE COURSE AT MERCY HOSPITAL AMPHITHEATER.—To two-hour periods a week. PROFESSOR E. WYLLYS ANDREWS, assisted by DR. PIERCE and DR. SPEED.

o. SURGICAL CLINIC AT MERCY HOSPITAL.—To sections of the fourth year class three times a week, two hours each. PROFESSOR MORGAN and DR. SAWYER.

p. LECTURES ON GENITO-URINARY SURGERY.—Once a week. PROFESSOR SCHMIDT.

q. SURGICAL CLINIC AT WESLEY HOSPITAL.—One two-hour period a week. PROFESSOR SCHROEDER.

r. SURGICAL CLINIC AT PEOPLE'S HOSPITAL.—Given to sections of the class once a week. DR. RIEBEL.

s. WARD VISITS AT WESLEY, MERCY, ST. LUKE'S, PEOPLE'S, AND PROVIDENT HOSPITALS.—Twice a week. PROFESSOR ANDREWS, PROFESSOR PLUMMER, PROFESSOR HALSTEAD, PROFESSOR NEFF, DR. PIERCE, DR. GOLDEN, DR. PARKER, DR. KURTZ, and DR. FOX.

t. CONTINUOUS SUMMER COURSE.—Equivalent to Course r.

u. ADVANCED COURSE IN GENITO-URINARY SURGERY AT ALEXIAN BROTHERS' HOSPITAL.—PROFESSOR SCHMIDT.

v. SURGICAL CLINICS AT COOK COUNTY HOSPITAL.—PROFESSOR HALSTED and PROFESSOR BESLEY, 10 to 12 a. m. PROFESSOR ANDREWS and PROFESSOR SCHROEDER, 2 to 4 p. m.

Sub-Department of Orthopedic Surgery

The instruction in Orthopedic Surgery is based upon the clinical material at hand. The abundant material of the dispensary clinic furnishes a sufficient range of cases to permit a fairly complete presentation of the whole subject of Orthopedics, with the advantage of illustrating each subject with one or more cases.

Third Year

a. RECITATION OR CLINICAL LECTURE IN ORTHOPEDICS.—Once a week.

b. DISPENSARY ORTHOPEDIC CLINICS.—Before small sections. Four weeks, three times a week. DR. JACOBS, DR. THOMAS, and DR. RANKIN.

b.b. SUMMER COURSE.—Equivalent to Course b.

c. HOSPITAL CLINICS AND OPERATIVE CLINICS.—At Mercy Hospital and Wesley Hospital, as material allows.

d. SPECIAL TRAINING.—Selected students receive personal training, at the Home for Destitute Crippled Children, in operative technique, in ordering and adjusting of braces, in applying plaster of Paris dressings, in selecting materials, and in the details of manufacture of orthopedic appliances. Friday from 1 to 3.

HOSPITALS

The following hospitals are open to students of the Medical School. The names of members of the Faculty of the Medical School are marked with an asterisk in the lists given under Clinical Courses.

MERCY HOSPITAL is situated on Twenty-sixth Street, extending from Prairie Avenue to Calumet Avenue. It is under the care of the Faculty of this School, and is conducted by the Sisters of Mercy. It receives a large number of patients annually. A large new pavilion has just been erected. The capacity is about four hundred beds. The operating rooms are equipped with every modern facility.

Daily clinics are held in the hospital amphitheater, and at the bedside in the wards. The members of the Clinical Class are allowed to examine cases for themselves in order to acquire a personal familiarity with the clinical aspects of a large variety of diseases. In groups of two or three, fourth year students are allowed to watch the progress of obstetrical cases under the direction of the House Physicians. A laboratory, equipped for clinical bacteriology and microscopical work, is utilized for teaching purposes and for clinical examinations.

The annual fee for the Mercy Hospital ticket, paid by fourth year students, is six dollars.

WESLEY HOSPITAL stands beside the College building and is connected with it by a covered corridor. Among the most notable recent additions to the equipment of the Medical School are the operating rooms, wards, and laboratories of Wesley Hospital. The wards and private rooms contain together two hundred twenty-five beds. The instruction given to the students in Wesley Hospital constitutes a very important part of the clinical course. The annual fee for the Wesley Hospital ticket, paid by fourth year students, is five dollars.

ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL is situated on Indiana Avenue, near Fourteenth Street. Owing to its central location, it receives many accident cases, and its surgical clinic is large. Clinics are given regularly in medicine, nervous diseases, surgery, gynecology, and diseases of the eye and ear. The autopsies, held in the amphitheater of the hospital morgue, constitute an important part of the clinical instruction. The clinics and autopsies of St. Luke's Hospital are attended principally by the third year students. The annual fee is five dollars.

PROVIDENT HOSPITAL is located at the corner of Thirty-sixth and Dearborn Streets. It has been enlarged recently, and has one hundred beds, accommodating eight hundred patients annually. A large dispensary treats about six thousand ambulatory patients each year.

THE PEOPLE'S HOSPITAL is a private institution, organized in 1897 by Dr. I. C. Gary, Northwestern University, 1889, as an ideal wage-earner's hospital for persons in moderate circumstances.

It is conveniently situated at the corner of Archer Avenue and Twenty-second Street, within short walking distance of the School. One interne is appointed each year from the graduating class at the College, and two fourth year students live at the hospital and serve as assistants. The hospital is well supplied with operating rooms and with a complete laboratory, and is open to the School for clinical teaching.

THE SOUTH SIDE DISPENSARY is located in Davis Hall of the School of Medicine, which was constructed especially for an out-patient hospital, and contains accommodations as complete as any institution of its kind in the country. Twenty-five thousand patients are treated in this dispensary annually. Small classes of students are trained in the details of physical diagnosis by the physicians in charge of the departments.

For dispensary courses, see the departments of instruction, pages 156 to 171.

THE CHICAGO LYING-IN HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY offers a clinical and didactic course. Each fourth year student takes a course of two weeks during which he conducts from six to ten labors, under the supervision of the resident staff, and attends the mother and child during the puerperium.

The Hospital is located at 294 Ashland Boulevard, the Dispensary at 302 Maxwell Street, in the most thickly populated district of Chicago. Its work is done in the homes of the patients. Over eleven hundred patients are confined in this service yearly—one hundred fifty in the Hospital and nine hundred fifty in the Dispensary.

The fee for the course is fifteen dollars, payable in advance to the Hospital.

THE COOK COUNTY HOSPITAL is a public institution situated at the corner of Wood and Harrison Streets. The average number of patients is between nine hundred and a thousand daily. It is open to all medical schools for clinical instruction. About a thousand students attend its clinics. The Representatives of the Faculty of Northwestern University on the Hospital Staff are: In Medicine—PROFESSOR MIX, PROFESSOR PREBLE, DR. HARPOLE, DR. ELLIOTT, and DR. GOLDSMITH; In Surgery—PROFESSOR ANDREWS, PROFESSOR SCHROEDER, PROFESSOR HALSTEAD, and PROFESSOR BESLEY.

Clinics by members of this Faculty are given every Friday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. to the students in the third year class. The annual ticket is five dollars.

THE MERCY HOSPITAL DISPENSARY was erected in 1908. For a description of the building see page 44.

HOSPITAL APPOINTMENTS

There are four internships at Wesley Hospital each year, six at Mercy Hospital, five at St. Luke's Hospital, thirty-four at Cook County Hospital, five at The Alexian Brothers' Hospital, three at The Michael Reese Hospital, six at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, two at Chicago Hospital, two at Provident Hospital, one at The Passavant Hospital, one at The Chicago Polyclinic, and six at The Chicago Lying-in Hospital. Two members of the graduating class, who have shown proficiency and are desirous of receiving training in Genito-Urinary, Venereal, and Skin Diseases, may receive appointments, to serve one year each, as internes at The Alexian Brothers' Hospital, by applying to Dr. L. E. Schmidt. For hospital appointments secured in 1908, see Prizes and Honors, page 351.

GENERAL STATEMENTS

THE LIBRARY

The Library of the Medical School, formerly known as the Alumni Library, is situated on the fourth floor of Davis Hall. It has been acquired by purchase, and by donations from students, alumni, and members of the faculty. It contains a large number of reference books, dictionaries, current journals, and all of the larger systems of Medicine and Surgery. Each department of instruction in the School is well represented, and all of the more important recent works in the various departments of instruction are added to the Library as they appear. The Library is open from 9 to 5 o'clock daily. An attendant is constantly present to aid the student. Special attention is paid to current medical literature, and to the completion of files of standard journals.

VAIL RESEARCH FUND

Dr. A. S. Vail established a research fund by a gift of $1,000.00, increased by later contributions by Dr. Vail and others. The interest on the principal is used for research fellowships. Gifts from alumni will be welcomed.

NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

REQUIREMENTS FOR DEGREES

To obtain the degree of Doctor of Medicine, the candidate must be of good moral character and must maintain an irreproachable moral standing while at the School; he must be at least twenty-one years of age; he must pay all fees in full; he must complete satisfactorily four full annual courses of lectures of eight months each, including all the topics listed as required; he must dissect the median half of the human body; he must be in attendance upon clinics for three years; he must secure satisfactory standing in all final examinations.

Final Examinations

Final examinations are held in required courses at the end of each semester. Second examinations are given in October and in February.

Students delinquent in two or more branches after the October examinations are required to take those branches a second time, and they may not elect studies that conflict with them. Such students will be listed as unclassified.

Honors

Two general honors, Magna Cume Laude and Cum Laude, are granted to students, elected by the Faculty because of uniformly good standing.

Special honors are awarded to students of uniformly good standing in required subjects and who do special work of an excellent character in any department.

FEES AND EXPENSES

MATRICULATION FEE.—The student is required to pay at the time of his first registration a matriculation fee of five dollars, which is paid but once, is charged all students alike, and is in no case refunded.

ANNUAL FEE.—The annual fee is one hundred seventy-five dollars, due in installments as follows: Before October 6, $60.00; before January 4, $60.00; before April 2, $55.00. Failure to comply with this regulation entails suspension from the quiz lists. A discount of $15.00 is made when all fees and deposits for the year are paid before October 7.

LABORATORY FEE.—Each student who uses a college microscope is charged a rental as follows: In Histology and in Pathology, $2.00 a semester; in Bacteriology, for microscope having oil-immersion lens, $3.00 a semester.

HOSPITAL FEES.—The hospital fees, ranging from five to twenty dollars a year, are announced in connection with the hospitals.

EXAMINATION FEE.—A fee of five dollars is charged for a special examination out of course.

DEPOSITS.—A deposit of ten dollars is required from each student, payable on or before the first Monday in October, to cover breakage and injury to apparatus in the laboratories, unnecessary damage to buildings, loss of instruments in laboratories and clinics. This deposit is refunded if no injury or loss occurs. Deductions to cover loss are made from the deposit of individual students, when it can be determined who has caused breakage or loss of apparatus or defacement of buildings; when it cannot be so determined, the loss or injury is deducted pro rata from the deposits of all students.

REFUNDS.—No refund of tuition fees is made except on account of serious illness. A student withdrawing before the middle of a semester who secures from the Dean a statement of honorable standing and from a physician a certificate of inability to remain in attendance, is allowed one-half the tuition fee for that semester.

ASSIGNMENT OF SEATS.—Students of the three upper classes may register and secure seats in the amphitheaters at the opening of the session, or they may do so at an earlier date by sending five dollars to the Registrar of the School.

The right is reserved to alter fees and to levy new fees without notice, as conditions may demand. Drafts should be made payable to the Registrar.

Practitioners are welcome to attend lectures and clinics for a brief time; those attending single courses or laboratory courses through the year are charged from fifteen to twenty-five dollars for each course; those taking all of the work of any one year pay the same fee as regular students.

Board and Lodging

Board and lodging vary in price from $3.50 to $6.00 a week. Room cost from $6.00 to $10.00 a month. A list of rooms and boarding places can be obtained at the Young Men's Christian Association or at the Registrar's office.

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION

The Medical School is located in the city of Chicago, on Dearborn Street, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Streets. Wesley Hospital adjoins it, connected by a covered corridor, and Mercy Hospital and St. Luke's Hospital are within short walking distance. The district surrounding furnishes an almost exhaustless supply of clinical material.

The buildings, Davis Hall and the Laboratory Building, were erected for the purposes of the School, and are comparatively new. A description of them is given on page 44.

To Reach the College

Take the South Side Elevated Railroad to Twenty-sixth Street, or the State Street cars to Twenty-fourth Street.

The Young Men's Christian Association

The Young Men's Christian Association of Northwestern University Medical School was organized in 1892 and is connected with the Inter-collegiate Department of the Chicago Association. Its members obtain the full privileges of any of the Association buildings in this city at sixty per cent of the regular rates.

The Association aims to maintain a high moral and religious tone in the School. It conducts a religious meeting once a week during the college year and weekly classes in Bible-study.

Committees of the Association aid students in obtaining board and rooms. Connected with the Medical School Association is an efficient employment bureau, conducted under the supervision of a General Secretary. A canvass is made each summer and places found for students wishing to earn money during the medical course. For a list of officers of the Association of the Medical School see University Societies, page 358.

The Hospital Quiz Class

A careful review of the medical course is very helpful to students who take the competitive hospital examinations. To meet this condition a hospital quiz class under faculty supervision is conducted during the last twenty weeks before the examinations to furnish thorough reviews without sacrificing the required fourth year work.

Only members of the highest quarter of the graduating class are eligible to the quiz class. Every member of the quiz class since 1900 has secured a hospital appointment.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL

The Summer School meets an increasing demand for summer work. It offers courses in medicine to students from institutions with less fortunate clinical facilities, to students of this School making special preparation for competitive hospital examinations at the end of the course, and to students who have work to make up.

The courses of the Summer School are well adapted to the need of practitioners. There is the best opportunity for practice in newer and more scientific methods of clinical diagnosis and pathology, and for study of experimental physiology, therapeutics, and surgery. The comparatively small number of students increases the value of summer courses.

Credit is given for these courses so far as they cover the ground of the regular course of the college year.

Courses are not given for which an insufficient number of students register. The courses of the Summer School are described in the articles on the several departments, pages 156 to 171.

The Summer School begins June 3 and closes August 1, covering the period of a half semester. Registration must be made with the Registrar at the Medical School.

TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES

Northwestern University School for Nurses, under the supervision of the Medical School, furnishes instruction in certain subjects, especially laboratory instruction, for students in the Training Schools of the affiliated hospitals, and for other persons properly qualified. The requirement for admission is a high school diploma.

The courses for nurses are separate from those of the medical students, but the laboratories and the facilities of The Medical School are freely available. The practical work for nurses is given in the hospitals under the immediate charge of the teaching force of each hospital. The diplomas for nurses are granted at the University Commencement.

Faculty

The faculty of the School for Nurses includes many instructors connected with the hospitals and The Medical School. The officers are as follows:

PROFESSOR WINFIELD SCOTT HALL....*Junior Dean of Medical Faculty,
In Charge of Course of Study, Lecturer on Physiology and Dietetics*
SISTER MARY VERONICA.....Principal of the Training School of Mercy Hospital and Superintendent of Nurses
ARLETTA ELIZABETH BRODE.....Principal of the Wesley Hospital Training School

THE LAW SCHOOL

THE LAW SCHOOL

The Law School was founded with a sum of money given by Thomas Hoyne in 1859, when there were only three similar schools west of the Allegheny Mountains. The first dean was Henry Booth, 1859-1891. For many years the School was under the joint control of the old University of Chicago and of Northwestern University, and was known as the Union College of Law. In 1891, the other University having long ceased to share in the management and being about to surrender its charter, Northwestern University assumed sole control, and the School has since borne the name of the University.

The course of study is arranged to give the knowledge of the law that will be indispensable to students wherever they may practice. Graduates of the School now practice in nearly forty States and Territories. Special opportunities are afforded for acquiring a knowledge of the law of Illinois, the peculiarities of which are pointed out in every course.

The Case system, or the study of the principles of law as demonstrated in actual cases, is followed almost to the exclusion of the use of text books. This requires more reading on the part of the student, but gives him in return that ready facility in extracting principles of law from decided cases and applying them to cases in practice which must be acquired by every lawyer. The extensive and comprehensive library of the School lends itself peculiarly to this modern and scientific mode of instruction.

The School is located in the Northwestern University Building, at the corner of Lake and Dearborn Streets, Chicago, which was acquired and rebuilt in 1901-1902, at a cost of nearly one million dollars, as a permanent home for the departments of law, pharmacy, and dentistry. It is situated near the center of the business district of Chicago and is easy of access from all residence portions of the city. The City, State, and Federal Courts are within a few blocks. The School occupies 24,000 square feet of space, divided into convenient lecture-rooms, assembly-rooms, study-rooms, professors' offices, court-room, and library. The arrangement of the rooms, opening on an inner court-yard, ensures seclusion and quiet for study.

The names of the Faculty, with the exception of the President, are arranged, within each group, in the order of date of appointment. The first group includes those who have offices in the School building. The second group includes all other members who under the statutes of the University have seats in the Faculty as officers of government.

THE LIBRARY

The library is well equipped for study and research. It comprises the United States Reports, the official Reports of all the States, the complete National Reporter System, partly in duplicate, the Lawyers' Reports Annotated, all of the official Illinois Reports in duplicate, statutes of all the States, periodicals, a large collection of digests, encyclopedias and text-books, a collection of works on Jurisprudence and Legal Biography. Of the English sources it possesses the complete Law Reports since 1865, substantially all the other regular Reports since the beginning of the Year Books, except those appearing in law journals, and the complete Statutes. It has also the Gary collection of early historical legal literature, English and Colonial, which is planned to include all such material not now elsewhere accessible in the libraries of the West.

The Gary Collection of Modern Continental Law, now numbering over 15,000 volumes on the law of twenty-one European countries, as contained in statutes, decisions, journals, and treatises, is not paralleled in scope by any other collection in the United States. As a source of investigation for Continental Law it provides facilities hitherto wholly unavailable.

The Gary Collection of International Law includes nearly 2,000 volumes; and includes printed material relating to American International Law and Diplomacy not elsewhere available in the West.

The Gary Collection of Ancient, Oriental, Primitive, and Mediaeval Law includes, among others, the Hindu, Mohammedan, Hebrew, Babylonian, Egyptian, Greek, Chinese, and Japanese systems, as well as the mediaeval European materials, and is invaluable to students of comparative law, politics, and history.

The Gary Collection of Roman and Civil Law numbers nearly 3,000 volumes, including the library of the late Moritz Voigt, of Berlin, Germany, and contains many rare volumes not found in any other American library.

The Gary Collection of Latin-American Law has been begun, and will include the laws of all Central and South American States.

The Gary Collection of Jurisprudence and Philosophy of Law is now installed.

ADMISSION AND INSTRUCTION

The candidate for admission as a regular student must be at least eighteen years of age.

A graduate of a college, university, or technical school may be admitted without examination upon the presentation of his diploma.

The graduate of a high school or academy maintaining a four-year course of study of satisfactory grade may be admitted without examination, upon the presentation of a satisfactory certificate from the proper school authority.

A candidate who has pursued a course of study equivalent to the four-year academic course may be admitted without examination upon the certificate of an authorized public officer, or of a proper officer of an institution of advanced learning.

All other applicants for admission must pass a satisfactory examination upon the subjects required for entrance to the College of Liberal Arts of this University. For these requirements see page 65.

Combined Courses

A member of the third or fourth year class, in good standing in the College of Liberal Arts, may elect work in the course in Law which shall count toward his graduation in both the College of Liberal Arts and in the Law School, but the work elected cannot exceed one years work in the Law School. Each election is subject to the approval of both Faculties. This provision enables a student to complete a course in the College of Liberal Arts and in Law in six years.

A member of the Law School may pursue not more than one course at a time in the College of Liberal Arts during the period of his registration in the Law School without additional charge for tuition.

Advanced Standing

The requirements for advanced standing are explained under the title Requirements for Degrees, page 182.

Special Students

Persons, not candidates for a degree, may pursue one or more courses as special students, provided they are qualified to pursue such courses to advantage. They will receive a certificate for all work done and may enter at any time as candidates for a degree, provided they were substantially qualified under the above requirements for admission as regular students at the time of first entering the School. No special student may take more than twenty-five semester hours of work in one year without special permission from the Dean.

Time for Entrance

Application for advanced standing must be made before November 1 in the year of entrance. Registration for the graduate or fourth year course must be made before October 1. Students are urged to enter at the beginning of the year. The disadvantages of late registration are embarrassing, especially to students who intend to practice law in Illinois.

Courses of Study

The courses of instruction offered make a total of 112 semester-hours, and are carefully graded in three years. A regular student may take any course offered in the year to which he belongs, or any course not already taken in a preceding year; but he may not take, without special permission, a course assigned to a succeeding year, except Constitutional Law, Carriers, and Patents of Invention, which may be taken in the second year. Conveyancing and Property III are not open to students who have not previously taken Property I and II.

Schedule of Hours

In general the schedule of hours is arranged as follows: First year courses, between two and five o'clock in the afternoon; second year courses, between nine and twelve o'clock in the morning; third year courses, between three and seven o'clock in the afternoon. The Practice Court is held in the evening at half-past seven.

PARTNERSHIP.—Second semester.—Ames' Cases on Partnership. Two hours. PROFESSOR LITTLE.

EXTRAORDINARY LEGAL REMEDIES.—Second semester.—Mandamus, quo warranto, habeas corpus. Roberts' Cases on Extraordinary Legal Remedies. One hour. MR. ELDER.

JURISDICTION OF FEDERAL COURTS.—Second semester.—One hour. PROFESSOR SCHOFIELD.

ORIGINAL RESEARCH AND THESIS.—Credit not to exceed two semester hours. Page 200.

Reading in Legal History, Biography, and Jurisprudence

A credit of one semester hour is given on passing the examination in each of the following courses. The courses required for graduation as listed on page 204 in the article, Requirements for Degrees, are here designated as prescribed.

The Law School provides a sufficient number of duplicate copies of the books named for the prescribed reading, but students are recommended to own the books named, if they can afford to purchase them, in order to read during the summer vacation.

An examination in all the courses is held at the beginning of the first year and at the end of the second semester, and for Course A at the end of the first semester; the student desiring to take an examination must file notice in the Secretary's Office at least two days before the announced date of examination. A student failing at any examination may take the next regular examination, if he has reviewed the work. A student may take any of these examinations at any time after entering the School no matter to what class he belongs.

No lectures are given in any of these Courses, except C1, C2, and C4, the lecture courses of Jurisprudence, International Law, and Roman Law. The work is done by private study, but the courses are under the general supervision of the Faculty, who give advice on the desired subjects of study.

GENERAL REVIEW.—Given twice, in September and June, prior to the State examination for admission to the Bar. Five hours a week for a month. MR. BAYS.

LEGAL ETHICS.—Five lectures. PROFESSOR FOLLANSBEE.

PATENTS.—Five lectures. PROFESSOR LINTHICUM.

Training in Legal Writing and in the Practice of the Law

As a part of the systematic instruction in the body of the law, represented in the foregoing curriculum, an effort is made to provide adequate training in the practical use of legal knowledge and discipline, and in certain important details of legal writing and speaking which help materially to equip the accomplished lawyer. The various branches of work directed to this end are as follows:

PLEADINGS AND OTHER INSTRUMENTS.—The courses on Common Law Pleading, Code Pleading, and Equity Pleading, in addition to the study of the legal sources, include exercises in the drafting of the various kinds of pleadings. In Corporations the class is formed, during the second semester, into two corporations, which organize, elect officers, issue stock, enlarge capital, keep books, consolidate, and do various other acts of corporate business calling for the drafting of instruments and in other ways familiarizing the student with the use of the legal knowledge acquired. In other courses, particularly in Commercial Paper, Carriers, Insurance, attention is paid to the forms of instruments in common use.

CONVEYANCING.—In the course on Conveyancing, the chief material consists of a series of fifteen selected abstracts of title representing a great variety of documents and proceedings involving property rights. A separate copy of each abstract is given each member of the class, and a detailed study of matters of form and substance, is made from the conveyancer's point of view, and with regard to the laws of different States. Thorough work in this course ought to equip the student as a practical conveyancer at the time of his entering upon his profession. No one may take this course who has not taken the courses Property I and II.

TRIAL PRACTICE.—The courses on Procedure and Practice give a systematic and detailed survey of the rules of law. The course on Evidence includes an auxiliary drill in the use of the rules. The Practice Court gives the third year student opportunity to become practically familiar with these rules by the application of them in litigation managed by himself. The sessions of the Court are held weekly, on Thursday evenings, for two hours. During each session from one to three cases are tried, with and without a jury; and other cases are disposed of in various aspects. Between the sessions, causes are being prepared and advanced from stage to stage by the student-attorneys in charge. While the proceedings are dispatched at the hearings by the respective attorneys, all members of the class are required to attend, to make notes and to report on the work done. A faithful attention to this course ought to give the graduate experience in the use of legal knowledge that will materially assist him in starting in his profession. The systematic pursuit of such a course under an experienced instructor affords the student results more thorough, accurate, and extensive than can be obtained in the desultory service of a law office during a long period. A copy of the printed Rules of the Practice Court will be mailed upon request.

LEGAL TACTICS.—For seven years, on every Monday evening until April, an address has been given, by some well-known member of the Bar, upon a topic of practice in which he had special experience. This course has been of particular value to young practitioners already at the Bar. It will be repeated with some variations in 1909-1910. The names of the speakers are published in the August-October number of the Quarterly Bulletin of the Law School. A list of lectures announced for 1908-1909 may be found on page 56 of this catalogue.

THESES.—To encourage original research, the Faculty will grant credits, not to exceed two semester hours, to any member of the third-year class who shall present a satisfactory thesis upon some legal topic. The topic must be approved by a member of the Faculty before December 1 and the thesis must be presented on or before May 15 of the year in which the student expects to graduate; it must be printed or typewritten, and becomes the property of the School. The work should be begun not later than October.

EDITORIAL WORK.—To edit and digest for the profession the opinion and record of a decided case is of great value in cultivating the skill required in preparing briefs and analyzing precedents. Each year not more than seven second and third-year men of known ability are appointed Associate Editors of the ILLINOIS LAW REVIEW, to digest manuscript decisions of the Appellate Court.

In 1908-1909, the Associate Editors were Mr. Barnes, Mr. Dean, Mr. Liessman, and Mr. Lindsay.

Legal Writing And Forensics

A graded course of training in oral argument and debate is given through three years; the work of the first two years being required for graduation. It furnishes valuable preparation for the function of a lawyer as a persuasive adviser and leader of men.

First Year

Ia. VOICE TRAINING.—October and later; exercises in sections of twelve or fifteen, once a week.

Ib. ARGUMENTATION AND BRIEFS.—November to April inclusive; once a week; lectures on Argumentation, accompanied by individual exercises in Oral Forensics and Brief-writing, subject to private correction and public criticism by the Instructor in Forensics.

For work done in courses Ia and Ib, combined, a credit of one semester hour is given.

Second Year

IIa. MOOT COURTS.—A moot court is held in the second year once a week from November 1 to May 1, at 1:45 p. m. The class is divided into two sections, A and B, meeting on alternate weeks. The work consists of the preparation and delivery of arguments and opinions of law on statements of facts assigned beforehand, and is in charge of the Instructor in Forensics, with the assistance of the other members of the Faculty.

No student is recommended for a degree, except by unanimous vote of the Faculty, who has not satisfactorily done the work of this course; but students entering the third-year class from another school may by vote of the Faculty be excused from this course. Credit, one semester hour.

IIf. PUBLIC DEBATE.—Students selected in April at the preliminary contest to compete in the second preliminary for the Towle Prizes for Public Speaking, and taking part therein, receive one semester hour of credit. Students who have not taken Ia and Ib, or the equivalent in another school, are not eligible.

Third Year

IIIa. LEGAL ADVICE CLUBS.—Third year students may form Legal Advice Clubs, by voluntary selection on or before October 10, supplemented by assignments to vacancies by the Secretary of the School. Each club contains not less than four nor more than six members, and elects a Secretary. Difficult cases arising in actual practice, sent in for advice by alumni or other practitioners, are submitted to the Clubs in rotation as the cases come in. A written opinion, citing authorities, is handed to the professor specially in charge. A credit of one semester hour may be allowed each member of a club.

IIIb. LEGAL AID SOCIETY.—After October 1 not more than ten students are assigned as assistants in the Chicago Legal Aid Society, University Branch, for practical office and trial work. No student having grade C in more than one course is eligible for assignment. The hours of work are determined by agreement with the Superintendent of the Society. In 1908-1909, each student attorney gave one or two half-days a week to the work of this Society.

Practical Problems in Contemporary Legislation

This course is open to students of the third year class who have attained an average grade of B for the first two years. The members of the class meet informally, from time to time, with the instructor to whom the section has been assigned, for discussion and criticism. The student selects his own topic for research and pursues his work independently. He makes a written report, containing an outline of his reading and other study, and his conclusions.

GENERAL STATEMENTS

PRIZES, HONORS, AND SCHOLARSHIPS

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR STUDENTS.—Twelve students are appointed annually as assistant librarians and monitors. These receive one hundred twenty-five dollars each in compensation for their services. Applications for appointments should be addressed to the Secretary of the School.

THE TOWLE PRIZES.—A first prize of $100, and a second prize of $50, the gift of Henry Sargent Towle, Esquire, Chairman of the Law School Committee of the Board of Trustees, will be awarded to the students who shall, in public competition, be adjudged most proficient in debate. For the award in 1907-1908, see page 352.

THE FOLLANSBEE PRIZE.—A prize of $50, the gift of Mitchell Davis Follansbee, Esq., will be awarded to the writer of the best thesis on same subject relating to Legal Ethics. For the award in 1907-1908 see page 352.

THE HYDE PRIZE.—The interest on a fund of $700, the gift of Charles Cheney Hyde, Esq., is awarded not oftener than once in two years to the writer of the best thesis on some subject relating to International Law.

THE MACCHESNEY PRIZES.—As a first prize, a framed etched or engraved portrait of one of the American or English jurists named on page 196, selected by the prize-winner, and as a second prize, the complete works of one of the American or English legal authors named on page 203, selected by the prize-winner, the gift of Nathan William MacChesney, Esq., will be awarded to those members of the second or third year classes who shall submit before June 1 the best essay on some topic connected with the subjects of Courses B, BA, BB, and C, in the Courses of Reading on Legal History, Biography, and Jurisprudence. The prizes will be awarded by a committee consisting of the Dean of the School, the Editor-in-Chief of the ILLINOIS LAW REVIEW, and a third person to be selected by them. The successful papers will be published in the ILLINOIS LAW REVIEW.

THE CALLAGHAN PRIZE.—A prize of $50 in books, to be selected from their own publications, the gift of Messrs. Callaghan and Company, of Chicago, is awarded annually to the member of the graduating class having the best record in scholarship for the entire course. For the award in 1907-1908 see page 352.

THE GAGE PRIZE IN DEBATE.—Students of the Law School may compete for the Gage Prize as described on page 351.

ORATORICAL CONTEST OF THE NORTHERN ORATORICAL LEAGUE.—Students of the Law School who have completed not more than four years of undergraduate study are eligible to compete for appointment as representatives of the University in the contest of the Northern Oratorical League. For further information see page 137.

REQUIREMENTS FOR DEGREES

All degrees are conferred at the University Commencement. Candidates for degrees are required to present themselves in person. The Oxford cap and gown are worn as the official dress.

Bachelor of Laws

The degree of Bachelor of Laws is conferred upon students who are recommended therefor by the Faculty of the School. Such students will be recommended as in the judgment of the Faculty are of fit character and have complied with the following requirements:

LENGTH OF ATTENDANCE.—Regular attendance for three years is required of all students, with the following exceptions: (1) students having credit of one year in law, either from a college or a law school, in good standing, may obtain a degree in two years; (2) students having completed satisfactorily two years in a law school in good standing may obtain a degree in one year; (3) students having completed satisfactorily one year in a law school of good standing, and having credit for one year in law from a college in good standing, may become candidates for a degree in one year, by special permission of the Dean.

Applications for advanced standing must be presented before November 1 of the year of entrance.

Candidates for a degree must register for courses amounting to at least ten hours a week for each year.

COURSE OF STUDY.—Candidates for a degree must obtain credit in courses amounting to sixty-six semester hours, including at least ten hours of credit obtained in each semester of the third year.

Persons who have satisfactorily completed a two-year course of study in a law school in good standing may be given credit for this work, but in no case to exceed one-half of the amount above required.

Persons who have satisfactorily completed less than two years study of law in a college or law school in good standing may be given credit for this work to an amount to be determined in each case by the Dean. The subjects on which this credit is applied will be determined by the Secretary at the time of admission.

GRADES OF SCHOLARSHIP.—Four grades are given: A, excellent; B, satisfactory; C, unsatisfactory; D, failure. A candidate may offer for a degree courses with grade C for only one-sixth the amount of credits required to be obtained by him in this School, except that he may also offer courses with grade C to the extent to which he has other courses with grade A.

SPECIFIC COURSES REQUIRED.—In reckoning the sixty-six semester hours above mentioned, no specific courses need be included, except as follows: (1) The candidate must obtain an average grade of not less than C in the prescribed courses of Reading in Legal History, Biography, and Jurisprudence, namely, A, B, and C1 or C2 or C3 or C4. A student entering with advanced standing may be excused from Course A; and a student who, in a college or law school, has already obtained credit for work equivalent to Course C1, C2, C3, or C4, accredited in this School, may be excused from Course C. (2) The three-year course in Forensic Writing and Speaking must be completed. A student entering with advanced standing who has not taken equivalent work elsewhere is subject to the remaining requirements applicable to the class he enters, except that a candidate for a degree in one year may be exempted from specified parts of the work, or may be required to take the second-year work.

PROMOTIONS.—(1) A regular student of the first-year class, not at the time a candidate for the degree of A.B. or B.S. in the College of Liberal Arts, who obtains less than sixteen hours of credit in this year, is permitted to enter the second-year class, as candidate for a degree in two additional years, only on condition that he obtain no mark lower than B in the examinations at the end of the first semester of the second year and shall obtain by the end of that year a total of forty hours of credit. (2) A regular student of the second-year class who obtains less than forty hours of credit in all the work of the first two years will be permitted to enter the third-year class, as candidate for a degree in one more year, on condition only that he obtain by the end of the first term of that year a total of fifty-two hours of credit. (3) In estimating the above credits, the usual rule for counting marks of A and C shall apply. (4) When in any case the conditions above mentioned are not fulfilled, the student may continue in the School as a candidate for a degree in not less than four years from the time of beginning. (5) The foregoing rules shall be applied by the Dean and the Secretary, and each case of such conditional admission shall be reported to the Faculty. But in any case, on petition, the Faculty, by vote, may authorize an exception from the rule or may allow the continuance in regular standing of a student who has not fulfilled a condition imposed under these rules.

Master of Laws

Candidates for the degree of Master of Laws will be required to meet the following conditions: (1) Must have obtained the degree of Bachelor of Laws in this University, or in some university or college having equal requirements. (2) Must complete, in addition, one year of residence in this School, during which time credit must be obtained in not less than from fifteen semester hours in third-year courses not previously counted toward the Bachelor's degree. (3) Must complete an exhaustive study of some topic of local law, and to pass an examination thereon, and present a paper embodying the results, of such character as to be suitable for publication in the ILLINOIS LAW REVIEW.

Juris Doctor

The candidate for the degree of Juris Doctor will be required to meet the following conditions: (1) Must present a diploma of the degree of A.B., or of an equivalent degree, from the College of Liberal Arts of this University, or other college in which the requirements are substantially equivalent; or a certificate showing the completion of at least two years work in such a college, including at least one course each in Latin, French, and German; (2) Must have obtained the degree of Bachelor of Laws in this University, or in one whose requirements are substantially equivalent; (3) Must obtain credit in the courses of the fourth or graduate year to the amount of twenty semester hours, of which not more than ten are to be obtained in the lecture courses and not less than ten in the reading courses; but in the reading courses the work done in any of the courses may be given a credit not to exceed five hours, or in any two or any three of the courses a credit not to exceed seven hours, provided two members of the Faculty so certify.

Candidates must register on or before the first Monday in October of the year of candidacy; they must pay half the fees of a special student for the lecture courses, the library fee of alumni, and a diploma fee of twenty dollars.

Master of Arts or of Science

The Master's degree in Arts or Science will be conferred under the following conditions:

A graduate of the College of Liberal Arts of this University, or other college maintaining equivalent requirements for the Bachelor's degree in Arts or Science, may obtain the Master's degree at the same time with the degree of Bachelor of Laws by pursuing, with the sanction of the Faculty of Liberal Arts, advanced work in subjects approved by that Faculty, and obtaining credit to the amount of twelve semester hours; and by presenting a thesis on an approved topic. The courses of study may, in part or entirely, deal with legal subjects; but courses of legal study, in order to count for the degree, must be of an advanced nature, must not otherwise be counted for the degree of Bachelor of Laws, and must be pursued under the direction of a member of the Faculty of the Law School. Students in law, intending to become candidates for the Master's degree, must register for the same degree in both the College of Liberal Arts and the Law School on or before the first Monday in October of the year in which they expect to graduate, and they must pay the diploma fee of ten dollars. The Master's degree is open, upon the same terms, to graduates of the Law School who register before the October next following the completion of their professional course.

The following subjects have been approved by the Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts as counting for the Master's degree: CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, INTERNATIONAL LAW, ADMINISTRATIVE LAW, ROMAN LAW, JURISPRUDENCE, LEGAL HISTORY.

FEES AND EXPENSES

These rates of tuition apply only to students registered after June 1, 1907.

TUITION FEE.—The tuition fee for regular students is one hundred twenty-five dollars a year, payable forty-five dollars October 1, forty dollars January 10, and forty dollars March 31. A rebate of five dollars is allowed to students who pay the entire fee in advance on October 1.

MATRICULATION FEE.—In addition to the tuition fee, in all cases a matriculation fee of five dollars is charged, payable once only, upon entering the University.

SPECIAL COURSE FEES.—Special students are charged at the rate of six dollars for each hour of class room work for a semester; candidates for the degree of Juris Doctor are charged three dollars for each hour of class room work for a semester and a library fee of one dollar a year. The fee for the course in Patent Law is twenty-five dollars. The fee for the General Review Course is ten dollars to members or graduates of the School, to others, fifteen dollars.

DIPLOMA FEE.—A fee of ten dollars is charged all persons taking the degree of Bachelor of Laws; a fee of twenty dollars is charged all persons taking the degree of Juris Doctor.

For further information relating to the Law School, address the Secretary of the Law School, Northwestern University Building, Lake and Dearborn Streets, Chicago, Illinois.

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

THE COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

Several years ago, in response to an insistent demand, Northwestern University introduced in the College of Liberal Arts courses in engineering subjects. These courses have together been equivalent to two years of technical work. The graduate of the College who completed them has been prepared to earn the degree of an engineering school in two years.

A gift for the erection of an engineering building at Evanston and for its endowment led the Trustees of the University to take action in June, 1907, resulting in the establishment of a College of Engineering. This gift came from Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift and her son, Mr. Edward F. Swift. The building was completed in the winter of 1908-1909.

Recitations are given in the other buildings also on the campus. These include Fayerweather Hall of Science, University Hall, Fisk Hall, Old College, and the Orrington Lunt Library. A description of these buildings, the gymnasium, the dormitories, Music Hall, Annie May Swift Hall of Oratory, and Dearborn Observatory, in all of which the College of Engineering shares, are given on pages 41 to 44.

Northwestern University was built up on the model of the eastern college and it has maintained this character throughout its history. It has broadened its courses, and has liberalized its rules, but it continues to cultivate the humanities with jealous care. In keeping with these ideals, the course in Engineering introduces an unusual number of those non-technical studies that serve to develop general education and to cultivate the thinking power of the student. Unusual stress is laid upon mathematics, physics, and other sciences fundamental to engineering; to shop work and to practical work is given as much attention as is consistent with the purpose of this School. This plan has been adopted because there appears to be increasing need for instruction of this character. On the other hand, there are already many well equipped schools of engineering giving the primary attention to practical training as opposed to this more general training; there is little need for a new school of the old kind. It is the belief of the University that a school of the kind proposed will result in the preparation of engineers of the highest type.

ADMISSION AND INSTRUCTION

The requirements for admission to the College of Engineering are identical with those of the College of Liberal Arts, published on pages 65 to 72. Particular attention should be paid in preparation to mathematics and English composition. The requirements for graduation in the College of Engineering are more easily met if the student presents for admission two units of French and two units of German as his requirements in foreign language. Admission to the College of Engineering may be by certificate or by examination. Graduates of high schools of approved standing should obtain certificates of work done showing the ground covered and the grade received in each study. These certificates should be sent to the Registrar at least one week before the opening of the fall semester. Certificate blanks may be had on request. Candidates who cannot present satisfactory certificates may be admitted on examination. Examinations for this purpose will be held at Evanston on September 27 and 28, 1909. College entrance examinations are given in the spring by the College Entrance Examination Board at various places in the United States, and their findings will also satisfy the entrance requirements.

Advanced Standing

Students from other colleges will be given credit for work done, as may be determined by the Faculty.

SCHEDULE OF STUDY

The course of study is shown in the following schedule. The first three years are offered in the scholastic year 1908-1909; the complete schedule of five years will be ready for registration in the following year.

First Year

ENGLISH LANGUAGE A.—This course gives a practical drill in the elements of good composition, and many essays are required throughout the year. Three hours.

FRENCH A OR GERMAN A.—Adequate preparation for this course requires two entrance units of the same language. Three hours.

CHEMISTRY A.—An elementary course in general Chemistry consisting of recitations and laboratory work. Four hours.

MATHEMATICS A3.—First semester.—Algebra and plane trigonometry. Second semester.—Analytical geometry, plane and solid. Five hours.

MECHANICAL DRAWING AND SHOP WORK.—One three-hour period each week is spent upon each of these subjects. Two hours.

SUMMER WORK.—Each student is expected to secure some continuous employment, during at least six weeks of the long vacation, in approved work in drawing room, shop, or testing laboratory.

Second Year

GERMAN A OR FRENCH A.—Adequate preparation for this course requires two entrance units of the same language. Three hours.

PHYSICS A.—A course in general Physics, consisting of experimental lectures, recitations, and laboratory work. Four hours.

MATHEMATICS B1.—A course in Differential and Integral Calculus. Three hours.

SURVEYING.—A course in the general theory of Surveying and surveying instruments, together with as much Astronomy as is needed for that work. Three hours.

DESCRIPTIVE GEOMETRY, KINEMATICS, MACHINE DESIGN, AND GRAPHICAL STATICS.—This work consists of lectures, recitations, and drawing, taking up three afternoons a week. Three hours.

SHOP WORK.—One afternoon. One hour.

SUMMER WORK.—Six weeks surveying practice in field work and office work under the direction of the instructor.

Third Year

CHEMISTRY B.—Lectures, recitations, and laboratory work. First semester.—Qualitative Analysis. Second semester.—Organic Chemistry. Four hours.

GEOLOGY A1.—A course in general Geology and in the Physiography of the lands. Four hours.

MATHEMATICS C1.—A course in Advanced Calculus and Differential Equations. Three hours.

PHYSICS B.—Principles of Mechanics; recitations and laboratory work; a large number of problems in which the student is expected to become proficient. Three hours.

PHYSICS C.—A course in electricity and magnetism, consisting of recitations and laboratory work. This course serves as a natural introduction to all advanced work in Electrical Engineering. Three hours.

APPROVED SUMMER WORK.

Fourth Year

ECONOMICS, ENGLISH LITERATURE A, MINERALOGY, METALLURGY OF IRON AND STEEL; STRENGTH OF MATERIALS; THERMODYNAMICS AND HEAT ENGINES; ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING, DIRECT CURRENT CIRCUIT AND MACHINERY; APPROVED SUMMER WORK.

Lectures

Special lectures upon subjects of interest to engineers and engineering students are provided throughout the year.

GENERAL STATEMENTSREGISTRATION

For general regulations and for regulations affecting registration, see page 132. The schedule of study in the College of Engineering requires a registration of seventeen hours a week, during five years, and approved summer work for six weeks in each of four summers.

DEGREES

The work of the first four years shown in the schedule of the College of Engineering includes the requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Science, which is given upon the satisfactory completion of the fourth year. Upon the satisfactory completion of the entire Engineering schedule a bachelor's degree in Engineering will be conferred. The conditions upon which professional degrees in Engineering are to be awarded will be announced later.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND FELLOWSHIPS

For information in regard to scholarships and fellowships see page 129.

ATHLETICS

Students in the College of Engineering will share with those of the College of Liberal Arts in all athletic privileges.

FEES AND EXPENSES

A matriculation fee of $5.00 is payable by each student upon entering the University. The annual tuition fee for students in the Engineering School for the year 1908-1909 is $100. In laboratory courses, fees are charged to cover the expenses of material and power used.

For a list of fees see pages 138 and 139. A fee of $10.00 is charged each person taking a degree. A special fee of $30.00 is charged for summer instruction and for the use of instruments in the field course in surveying.

Room and Board

Students of the University find suitable rooms for residence in private homes near the University campus. Board may be obtained in private families, in student clubs, and at restaurants. A considerable proportion of the students are members of fraternities, each chapter of which rents or owns a house for its exclusive use.

Self Support

Evanston offers many opportunities for young men to obtain employment of various kinds. Persons desiring such employment will do well to communicate with the Secretary of the College Young Men's Christian Association.

Inquiries for further information in regard to the College of Engineering may be addressed to College of Engineering, Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois.

THE SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

THE SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

This school was incorporated in 1886 as the Illinois College of Pharmacy, and became a department of the University the same year. In 1891 the name was changed to The School of Pharmacy of Northwestern University. It is a member of the American Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties and its graduates are recognized in all states in which graduation from a school of pharmacy is necessary to obtain license to practice.

The School's work is carried on in the University Building, Lake and Dearborn Streets, Chicago. The rooms occupied include six large laboratories, two lecture rooms, two balance rooms, library, museum, and three rooms for students, all newly furnished. The laboratories are: the laboratory for inorganic chemistry, with accommodations for three classes of seventy students each; the laboratory for botany, microscopy, and pharmacognosy, with accommodations for six sections of forty-eight students each; the manufacturing laboratory, with accommodations for four sections of seventy students each; the laboratory for organic chemistry, with accommodations for four sections of twenty-eight students each; and the dispensing laboratory, with accommodations for six sections of thirty-six students each. Courses in bacteriology are given in the bacteriological laboratory on the fifth floor.

All the members of the faculty have had extended practical experience in pharmacy. They devote their whole time to their work in this School. Especial attention is given to laboratory practice in the manufacture, testing, and valuation of preparations and in the work of dispensing.

Applications made to this school for alumni to fill desirable positions have, for many years, exceeded the supply.

The occupations open to graduates of efficient pharmaceutical schools include not only the customary practice of modern technical pharmacy, but similar employment in the service of the national, state, and municipal governments, in connection with food, drugs, and sanitation.

The course for the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist comprises preparation of the most thorough kind, both for the practice of pharmacy and for the expert services required of inspectors of food and drugs under the laws, and for similar service in manufacturing and wholesale establishments.

ADMISSION AND INSTRUCTION

Candidates for the degree of Graduate in Pharmacy must present evidence of having satisfactorily completed one full year of work in a properly accredited high school, or its equivalent, and must be at least seventeen years of age.

Candidates for the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist must have completed two years work in a high school of accepted grade or must possess an equivalent general education.

Candidates for the degree of Master of Pharmacy must fulfill the requirements for admission to the College of Liberal Arts. See Requirements for Degrees.

Special students not candidates for graduation may be admitted by special action of the Faculty.

Advanced Credits

A student presenting proper evidence of having satisfactorily completed in an approved school courses of study or laboratory work included in the curriculum of this School may receive such credit therefor as is consistent with the prescribed requirements.

Students of pharmacy who have completed the first year of work in a school of pharmacy in good standing may, at the discretion of the Faculty, be admitted to the senior class in the course for the degree of Graduate in Pharmacy, but no student will be graduated who has not been in regular attendance at this School for one full school year.

COURSES OF STUDY

For the Degree of Graduate in Pharmacy

PHARMACY.—Materials, methods, and products of pharmacy; pharmacy laws; the pharmacopœia; pharmaceutical nomenclature; applied pharmaceutical chemistry; the prescription and the art of dispensing; lectures, text, and laboratory work.

METROLOGY.—Principles; the metric system; weighing and measuring; specific weight; determinations of mass and volume and their relations; study of the instruments employed.

MICROSCOPY.—Construction and use of the microscope.

BOTANY.—Histology, organography, and taxonomy; lectures and laboratory work.

PHARMACOGRAPHY.—The study of drugs and of plant substances employed in the industrial arts; lectures and laboratory work.

INORGANIC CHEMISTRY.—General, theoretical, and descriptive; lectures, texts, and laboratory work.

ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY.—Lectures, text, and laboratory work in qualitative and quantitative analysis.

ORGANIC CHEMISTRY.—Lectures, text, and laboratory work.

MANUFACTURING.—General principles; materials and products; methods; lectures and laboratory work.

HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY.—Lectures and text.

MATERIA MEDICA, THERAPEUTICS, AND TOXICOLOGY.—Lectures and text.

For the Degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist

COURSES for the degree of Graduate in Pharmacy and, in addition thereto, ANLYTICAL CHEMISTRY.—Laboratory work in plant and drug analysis, sanitary food and water analysis, valuation of digestive preparations, examinations of fats, oils, soaps.

URINE ANALYSIS.—Laboratory work.

ORGANIC CHEMISTRY.—Lectures and text, including a special course on alkaloids, glucosides, synthetics.

GENERAL STATEMENTS

PARTIAL COURSES

The didactic and laboratory courses given in the School may be taken at proportional fees, with full credit for work satisfactorily done. No student will be received into the school for less than one semester.

LIBRARY AND MUSEUM

The Library includes complete sets of the Archiv der Pharmacie, the Proceedings of the American Pharmaceutical Association, and the British Pharmaceutical Journal; the Centralblatt from 1870, and Berichte der Chemischen Gesellschaft from 1868; complete from 1893, the Berichte der Pharmaceutischen Gesellschaft; Zeitschrift für Analytische Chemie, the Journal of the London Chemical Society, the Archiv für Hygiene, Neuste Erfindungen und Erfahrungen, Pharmaceutische Centralhalle, Repertoire de Pharmacie; the pharmacopoeias of the world, the dispensatories and commentaries on the pharmacopoeias; dictionaries and encyclopaedias, general and special; pharma- ceutical and technical formularies; the most valuable reference works upon chemistry, pharmacy, and other related subjects; all of the American pharmaceutical journals.

The museum contains more than two thousand specimens of drugs and other plant substances of industrial importance. In the various laboratories there are valuable collections of chemicals, drugs, and sick-room requisites, besides pharmaceutical preparations of proven excellence.

REQUIREMENTS FOR DEGREES

The courses for the degree of Graduate in Pharmacy may be completed in two years of twenty-five weeks each, beginning in September and ending in April or, if the student is obliged to spend any considerable portion of his time in store or other outside work, the work of each week may be reduced and the year extended from September to June. The courses for the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist occupy two full years of nine months each.

The degree of Master in Pharmacy requires three full years of work in the College of Liberal Arts and two years of work in the School of Pharmacy. Students having completed the work of three years of the course leading to a Bachelor's degree in the College of Liberal Arts, including all required subjects and the work for a major and a minor, may obtain the degree of Bachelor of Science upon the completion of the work of one year in the School of Pharmacy, and the degree of Master of Pharmacy upon the completion of all of the work for the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist.

FEES AND EXPENSES

MATRICULATION FEE.—A matriculation fee of five dollars is paid by the student on his first admission to the School. This fee is paid but once and is not returnable.

TUITION FEE.—For the course leading to the degree of Graduate in Pharmacy, the tuition fee is one hundred dollars a year. For the course leading to the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist, the tuition fee is one hundred forty dollars a year. The tuition fee covers instruction and the cost of materials used in the laboratories. It is payable half-yearly in advance.

BREAKAGE DEPOSIT.—Each student makes a deposit of ten dollars a year to cover wear and tear of equipment, amounting to about two dollars, and the breakage of apparatus in his care. The unused portion is refunded at the end of the year.

GRADUATION FEE.—A fee of ten dollars is paid by all persons receiving a degree or diploma.

Board and Rooms

Board and rooms can be secured near the School at from four dollars to six dollars a week. Students may also secure rooms and board separately. Information in regard to these matters and addresses of satisfactory private boarding places will be supplied at the College. Good accommodations are plentiful, and satisfactory arrangements can be quickly made by the student immediately upon his arrival. It is unnecessary and rarely advantageous to secure board and room in advance.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Chicago has an office in the Northwestern University Building. The Association assists students in securing desirable boarding-places, and the Secretary is ready to furnish information in regard to the work of the Association, and to render assistance to new students.

For further information address the Administrative Officer of the School of Pharmacy, Northwestern University Building, Lake and Dearborn Streets, Chicago, Illinois.

THE DENTAL SCHOOL

THE DENTAL SCHOOL

The Dental School was founded and is maintained for the purpose of preparing young men and women in the most thorough manner for the practice of dentistry, and for the promotion of dental science and dental literature. No expense has been spared in its equipment and in the employment of an adequate faculty of skilled teachers, and a large force of demonstrators and assistants.

The Dental School was organized in 1887 and three years later became a department of the University. In 1896 it absorbed the American College of Dental Surgery and for some years occupied the building on Franklin and Madison Streets, Chicago, formerly occupied by that school. It is now located in Northwestern University Building, at the corner of Lake and Dearborn Streets, Chicago.

It occupies the upper three floors of the building and has over 60,000 square feet of floor space, supplied with modern equipment.

The Clinic Room is sufficient in extent to accommodate the great clinic and the offices connected with it, is of the best design and construction, consisting of a single room with arched ceiling. It is on the sixth floor, with free light on two sides and abundant skylight. It may be reached by elevators from the principal entrance on Lake Street, and from a smaller entrance on Dearborn Street. Adjoining the Operative Clinic is the Prosthetic Clinic, and on the same floor is the senior Prosthetic laboratory for crown and bridge work; the recently added laboratory for porcelain and cast metal inlay work; an impression room; two rooms and waiting room for extracting. The system of lecture rooms, three in number, is arranged on the amphitheater plan. Each accommodates 225 students. Two are for the ordinary class lecture work, and one for the Oral Surgery clinic. This latter has a waiting-room for surgical patients, a room for diagnosis and the preparation of patients, and a recovery room with sufficient beds for the temporary care of patients. Other rooms are the Anatomical laboratory, which is placed well apart, the first year and the second year Prosthetic laboratories, the Operative Technic laboratory, the first year and the second year Chemical laboratories, the laboratory for Histology and Bacteriology, the photographic laboratory, the museum, the reading room and the library.

The location of the school is especially advantageous in obtaining the great clinic so needful in a dental school.

ADMISSION AND INSTRUCTION

The candidate may be admitted to the Dental School upon presenting a diploma or equivalent certificate from an accredited high school or kindred educational institution, or upon passing a satisfactory examination. The diploma must be signed by a superintendent of schools, or the principal of a high school, or other responsible school officer. A certificate showing that a candidate has been graduated from an accredited high school, or from a school giving an equivalent course, signed by a city or county superintendent of schools, or by a state superintendent of public instruction, will be accepted as the equivalent of a diploma. A candidate who does not present a diploma or certificate must take an examination before a state superintendent of public instruction, or his deputy, and bring a report showing that the candidate has a preliminary education equivalent to that to be obtained in an accredited high school.

Persons not having these credentials will be admitted upon examination and approval of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction or his deputy.

This School will receive no student who is not present within ten days after the opening day of the session in each year, or in case of necessary delay, by reason of illness properly certified by the attending physician, within twenty days after the opening day.

Students registering agree thereby to accept the discipline imposed by the Faculty.

It is desirable that students should register early, since the order of assignment of seats in the lecture halls is based upon the order of time of registration.

Admission to Advanced Standing

Students from high schools and colleges, wishing credit for courses parallel to courses required in this School, should bring credentials showing specifically the time spent on these subjects and should present their note books of work done.

Students who present certificates from other recognized dental schools covering subjects required in this School will be credited with such studies if the credentials are satisfactory to the Dean and to the professors in the respective departments, but when admitted to the third year the candidate must do one full year's work in this School. Graduates in medicine are credited with one year of time.

COURSE FOR THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF DENTAL SURGERY

The course covers three years. The year begins on the first Tuesday in October and closes on Commencement Day of the University in June. There are thirty-two weeks of actual instruction given, six days in each week.

Students for the regular course can be received only during the first ten days of the first semester. Students desiring to pursue special studies may be received at any time.

For regular students who desire to extend their studies four or more years, a special arrangement of studies will be provided.

Methods of Instruction

The studies of the course are grouped by departments, the work of each department is graded from the more general and fundamental subjects to the more specialized and advanced.

The work in the departments is planned with reference to that of other departments, and the greatest care is taken that the whole shall be so correlated that the student in taking up a new subject will find himself prepared by work done in other departments.

DEPARTMENTS OF INSTRUCTION

Schedule of Courses

Students are expected to take the courses in the order enumerated, but some deviation from this rule may be allowed in cases approved by the Faculty.

Each of the departments is presented under the headings as given in the table below, separately and completely, and in alphabetical order, and courses are described fully in the order of the letters.

Anatomy

PROFESSOR MIX, PROFESSOR VAN TUYL, DR. BROWN, AND ASSISTANTS

The equipment of the department of anatomy is new and very complete. The large Anatomical Laboratory, located on the top floor of the building, is well lighted on the east and south by numerous windows, and in the center of the room by a large skylight. The ventilation is perfect. The equipment includes thirty-six dissecting tables of the latest pattern, of metal with plate-glass tops. The floor is water-proof and has such drainage arrangements that it can be flooded with hose and kept clean and sweet. Skeletons are provided for the use of the students. On payment of a small deposit bones may be taken for home study.

First Year

a. VISCERAL ANATOMY, INTRODUCTORY COURSE.—First third of first semester. Two lectures and demonstrations a week. PROFESSOR MIX.

b. HUMAN DISSECTIONS.—One three-hour period a week. PROFESSOR MIX, PROFESSOR VAN TUYL, DR. BROWN, DR. WEIL, DR. COURTRIGHT, and assistants.

c. ANATOMY OF THE EXTREMITIES.—Two lectures a week. PROFESSOR MIX.

d. RECITATIONS ON LECTURES AND DISSECTIONS.—Two hours a week. PROFESSOR VAN TUYL and assistants.

Second Year

e. THE HEAD AND NECK.—Two lectures a week. PROFESSOR MIX.

f. HUMAN DISSECTIONS.—Two three-hour periods a week. PROFESSOR MIX, PROFESSOR VAN TUYL, DR. BROWN, DR. WEIL, DR. COURTRIGHT, and assistants.

g. RECITATIONS ON DISSECTIONS.—Two hours a week. PROFESSOR VAN TUYL.

Chemistry

PROFESSOR GORDIN, MR. HUDSON, AND ASSISTANTS

The Chemical Laboratories, exclusively for dental students, are large, well ventilated, and complete in every respect. One laboratory is devoted to the General Chemistry and Qualitative Analysis of the first year, another is arranged with special reference to the experimental teaching of Metallurgy and to other practical applications of chemistry of interest to dental students. In addition to the main laboratories, there are large dispensing rooms, a balance room well equipped with balances and apparatus for testing the physical properties of metals, amalgams, etc., and a room covered with a hood for carrying off the fumes, and equipped for alloying, assaying, and refining.

First Year

a. GENERAL AND INORGANIC CHEMISTRY.—Lectures and recitations. First semester. Two hours a week. PROFESSOR GORDIN.

b. CHEMICAL LABORATORY.—Illustrative experiments in General and Inorganic Chemistry. First semester. Six hours a week. PROFESSOR GORDIN, MR. HUDSON, and assistants.

c. GENERAL AND INORGANIC CHEMISTRY.—Lectures and recitations. Second semester. Two hours a week. PROFESSOR GORDIN.

d. LABORATORY.—The metals and their compounds. Qualitative chemical analysis of unknown mixtures, particularly bases and alloys. Second semester. Six hours a week. PROFESSOR GORDIN, MR. HUDSON, and assistants.

Second Year

e. ORGANIC CHEMISTRY.—Lectures and quizzes. Two hours a week. PROFESSOR GORDIN.

f. LABORATORY.—Quantitative chemical analysis of dental alloys, etc. Refining of gold, silver, and other metals. Laboratory study of cements and other filling materials. Assay of dental alloys for gold, silver, tin, platinum. Practical problems of dental chemistry. First semester. Three hours a week. PROFESSOR GORDIN, MR. HUDSON, and assistants.

g. LABORATORY.—Illustrative experiments in Organic Chemistry. Analysis of saliva. Urine analysis. Second semester. Three hours a week. PROFESSOR GORDIN, MR. HUDSON, and assistants.

Comparative Dental Anatomy

PROFESSOR DORSEY

It is the design of the department to give in a concise form a view of the animal kingdom and its classifications, especially of the vertebrates, the forms of teeth in relation to food habits, and as weapons of offense and defense; with a study of the extinct species of animals of the several classes, variations in tooth forms, illustrating development through the geological ages; the history of the changes from the simple forms to the complex forms now existing. The Museum of the Dental School is especially rich in skulls of the several orders of the animal kingdom, and furnishes illustrations for the study of all of the known tooth forms. The great collection of the Field Columbian Museum is available for illustration and study.

Second Year

a. EVOLUTION.—The meaning of similarity of structure; natural selection; changes in organs; correlation of growth between parts; principles of heredity and of fixity of species; tooth forms; definitions and descriptions of the varieties of forms; the typical mammalian dentition; classification of the animal kingdom, with concise descriptions of the typical characteristics of each. First semester. Two lectures a week. PROFESSOR DORSEY.

Professional Ethics, Dental Jurisprudence, and Economics

PROFESSOR EDMUND NOYES AND DR. KOCH

This work consists of a brief statement of the important principles of morals; an exposition of the special duties and moral obligations of professional men to their patients, their fellow practitioners, and the public, the more important contrasts between the proper ethical standard of the professions and those of business or manufacturing pursuits.

The lectures on Jurisprudence follow, in the main, the text-book by Dr. Reh fuss, and include qualification and duty of expert witnesses, the importance of dental records, the limitations of dental practice, the qualifications required and the liabilities incurred, the penalties that may be suffered, and the defense to be made in case of alleged malpractice; the laws respecting the practice of dentistry, the steps necessary to become legal practitioners, the duties and liabilities of dentists with reference to the law, etc.

Third Year

a. ETHICS—Elementary principles of ethics; professional ethics; state laws relating to dentistry; Illinois dental law; dental jurisprudence; general review. First semester. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR EDMUND NOYES.

b. DENTAL ECONOMICS.—This course was established in view of the increasing number of students without previous preceptorship in a dental office in order to provide a knowledge of the business side of dental practice. The work embraces practice building, methods of obtaining and retaining patients, business relations between the dentist and his patients, fees, accounts, records of operations, presentation and collection of accounts, methods of economy in the conduct of an office. Second semester. One lecture a week. DR. KOCH.

Histology

PROFESSOR FREDERICK B. NOYES, DR. LOUDERBACK, AND ASSISTANTS

The department is provided with a large laboratory, fitted with seventy-one hardwood desks, each furnished with reagents, lockers, a compound microscope with lenses and condensers, electric lights, and other conveniences for preparation of specimens and microscope study.

It is also provided with a stereopticon and projecting microscope for demonstration purposes. Adjoining this large laboratory, there is a professor's study, and preparation laboratory with a photographic room fully equipped with all necessary apparatus.

The laboratory classes are usually divided into sections of not more than fifty students. This work has been greatly aided by a large collection of lantern slides from photo-micrographs and framed photographic prints; and by a large histological museum containing sets of microscopic slides sufficient in number on any given subject for a full section of the class, illustrating not only all the ordinary soft tissues, but also the peridental membranes, dental pulp, periosteum, and ground sections of the teeth. These microscopic slides and sections, together with those stained and mounted by the students, are used by the classes for purposes of study.

First Year

a. LECTURE COURSE.—The construction and use of the microscope. A study of cell structure and functions, of the elementary tissues, histology of the organs; circulatory, lymphatic, alimentary tract, and accessory glands, respiratory system, urinary organs, and skin. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR FREDERICK B. NOYES.

b. LABORATORY COURSE.—A laboratory study of the subjects of the lecture course. One three-hour period a week. PROFESSOR FREDERICK B. NOYES, DR. LOUDERBACK, and assistants.

c. QUIZZES AND RECITATIONS.—One hour a week. DR. LOUDERBACK.

Second Year

d. THE DENTAL TISSUES.—Enamel; the peridental membranes; periosteum; bone; mucous membranes and other soft tissues of the mouth. One and two-thirds semesters. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR FREDERICK B. NOYES.

e. EMBRYOLOGY.—A short course. One lecture a week. One-third of a semester. PROFESSOR FREDERICK B. NOYES.

f. LABORATORY COURSE.—A laboratory study of the subjects of lecture courses d and e. One three-hour period a week. PROFESSOR FREDERICK B. NOYES, DR. LOUDERBACK, and assistants.

g. QUIZZES AND RECITATIONS.—One hour a week. DR. LOUDERBACK.

Materia Medica and Therapeutics

PROFESSOR MAWHINNEY, DR. POUNDSTONE, AND ASSISTANTS

Materia Medica is taught in a series of lectures, quizzes, and recitations, with demonstrations and experimental studies. There is also a laboratory study of the most useful methods of preparing drugs for medicinal purposes, with experimental studies of their therapeutic or toxic action. The course is richly illustrated throughout. Abundant practice is given in prescription writing. The great clinic, to which students have access throughout the year, gives abundant opportunity to witness the application and therapeutic effects of drugs, and to obtain clinical practice. The instructor is in the clinic one afternoon each week to assist and direct the demonstrating force.

Second Year

a. THE SOURCES AND VARIOUS FORMS OF DRUGS.—General and local action of drugs; agencies that modify the action of drugs; the art of prescribing medicines; a critical study of about one hundred drugs, classified according to their therapeutic and toxic action; a special laboratory study of escharotics, germicides, antiseptics, deodorizers. Systematic medication for dental purposes; dental prophylaxis; the use of germicides, antiseptics, escharotics, and astringents in dentistry. First semester. One lecture a week. Second semester. Two lectures a week. PROFESSOR MAWHINNEY.

QUIZZES AND RECITATIONS.—DR. POUNDSTONE.

b. THESES.—Each student is required to write ten theses, of not less than three hundred words each, on subjects assigned.

c. CLINICAL PRACTICE.—The Infirmary is open to second year students four hours a day for the observation of conditions requiring the use of drugs and for clinical practice in their treatment. Each student is required to make fifty points in clinical experience. See also Department of Special Pathology and Therapeutics. PROFESSOR MAWHINNEY and assistants.

Operative Dentistry and Bacteriology

PROFESSOR GREENE V. BLACK, PROFESSOR ARTHUR D. BLACK, PROFESSOR WILLARD, PROFESSOR GETHRO, DR. BIRKLAND, DR. MACFARLANE, AND ASSISTANTS

Operative Dentistry in some of its forms of presentation is before the student from the time he enters the school to his graduation. In the first year he makes a study of the human teeth, or dental anatomy, of the forms and nomenclature of the instruments used in operations on the teeth, of the preparation of cavities for filling, of filling materials and their manipulation.

The second year includes a lecture course with demonstrations on the technical procedures in filling teeth, and the student begins practical operations in the clinic room.

The third year includes a review of the technical procedures in filling operations, followed by a careful study of the pathology of dental caries, and the adaptation of means to its amelioration and cure.

The Clinic Rooms, built especially for the purpose, have abundant room with the best of light. They are well equipped with Columbia operating chairs in ample number for the classes.

The Operative Infirmary Clinic is under the direct supervision of the Professor of Operative Dentistry. The student begins this work with the opening of his second year and continues it to the end of the third year; the time given to it is much greater in the third year than in the second. It is the intention that this infirmary practice shall be as much like an actual dental practice as possible. The development of the ability to obtain and hold a practice, or the professional civility of manner of an operator toward his patient essential to personal success, is regarded equal in importance to the development of manipulative ability.

The clinic rooms will be open through the whole year for the benefit of students who may wish to have greater experience in clinical practice under competent supervision. The number of demonstrators during the summer is ample for the class that chooses to remain with the school. The clinical material is abundant and a most excellent opportunity is offered for clinical practice.

Dental Anatomy

First Year

- a. DESCRIPTIVE ANATOMY OF THE HUMAN TEETH.—Nomenclature. First semester. One lecture or recitation a week. PROFESSOR GETHERO.
- b. LABORATORY COURSE.—Studies of the forms of individual teeth; carving the tooth forms in bone or ivory; dissections and studies of the internal parts—pulp chambers and root canals. First semester. Nine hours a week. PROFESSOR GETHERO and DR. GROSSMAN.

Operative Technics

First Year

- c. INSTRUMENTS AND INSTRUMENTATION.—A study of instrument forms, instrument construction, and the adaptation of instruments to the excavation of cavities. First third of second semester. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR GETHERO.
- d. LABORATORY COURSE.—First third of second semester. Nine hours a week. PROFESSOR GETHERO and DR. GROSSMAN.
- e. CAVITY NOMENCLATURE.—A study of the location of cavities in extracted teeth, of the forms of prepared cavities, of the naming of internal parts of cavities, and of the use of instruments in their preparation. Second third of second semester. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR GETHERO.
- f. LABORATORY COURSE.—Second third of second semester. Nine hours a week. PROFESSOR GETHERO and DR. GROSSMAN.

g. FILLING MATERIALS AND FILLING TEETH.—Third third of second semester. One lecture a week.

h. LABORATORY PRACTICE.—Filling materials and filling prepared cavities; extracted teeth, ivory, or bone. Third third of second semester. Nine hours a week. PROFESSOR GETHRO and DR. GROSSMAN.

Second Year

i. TECHNICAL PROCEDURES IN FILLING TEETH.—Cavity nomenclature; cavity preparation; principles, instruments and appliances, and instrumentation; cavity preparation, by classes of cavities; filling materials; instruments and instrumentation, physics of filling operations, and of finishing fillings. Porcelain inlays; preparation of cavities; formation of matrix; making and inserting inlays; gold inlays. Filling with amalgam, cements, gutta-percha. Exposure and removal of dental pulp. Preparation and filling of root canals. Two lectures and recitations a week. PROFESSOR ARTHUR D. BLACK.

j. OPERATIVE CLINIC.—Open to second year students four hours a day during the entire season. Operations amounting to one hundred sixty points required. PROFESSOR ARTHUR D. BLACK and assistants.

Third Year

k. REVIEW OF TECHNICAL PROCEDURES IN FILLING TEETH.—First half of first semester. Two lectures a week. PROFESSOR G. V. BLACK.

l. PATHOLOGY OF DENTAL CARIES.—Bacteriology of human mouth; causative relation of bacteria to dental caries. Caries of enamel; caries of dentin; inception and progress of dental caries; conditions of the beginning of caries; systemic causes of caries; susceptibility and immunity to caries; vital phenomena in caries; hyperaesthesia of dentin; treatment of dental caries; curative effect of fillings; selection of filling materials. Second half of first semester. Two lectures a week. PROFESSOR G. V. BLACK.

m. MANAGEMENT OF PATIENTS.—Cleanliness; evil habits in chewing food, and their correction; management of special conditions. Caries of children's teeth and its treatment; shedding of the deciduous teeth. Management of children. Erosion; management of cases of erosion; management of cavities by classes; extension for prevention and its limitations. Management in special conditions. Esthetic considerations. Second semester. Two lectures a week. PROFESSOR G. V. BLACK.

n. QUIZZES AND RECITATIONS.—One hour a week. PROFESSOR WILLARD.

o. OPERATIVE CLINIC.—Open to third year students from 10:30 to 5:30 daily during term time. Operations amounting to three hundred fifty points are required. PROFESSOR G. V. BLACK and assistants.

p. SPECIAL FILLINGS.—Fillings are made under the instruction and immediate supervision of the special clinical instructors, and later full written descriptions of the conditions indicating the operation, the instrumentation and choice of instruments used, are submitted for grading as to excellence. DR. MACFARLANE and DR. BIRKLAND.

Bacteriology

A combined lecture, recitation, and laboratory course. The equipment includes culture ovens, sterilizers, conveniences for handling test tubes and for making culture media.

Third Year

q. PRINCIPLES OF BACTERIOLOGY.—The preparation of culture media; management of laboratory cultures; distinguishing varieties of micro-organisms in laboratory cultures; physiology of micro-organisms; poisons produced by micro-organisms; diseases caused by micro-organisms, particularly those of the teeth and mouth; susceptibility and immunity to diseases. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR WILLARD.

r. LABORATORY WORK.—Preparation of culture media; planting and management of cultures; separation of species in mixed cultures; deriving pure cultures from infected animals; cultures from saliva, from mucous membranes, and from carious teeth; staining, mounting, and microscopic studies; diagnosis of unknowns. Three hours a week. PROFESSOR WILLARD.

Oral Surgery

PROFESSOR GILMER, PROFESSOR ARTHUR D. BLACK, DR. POTTS, AND ASSISTANTS

The Course embraces instruction in the general principles of surgery and in the practical application of surgery to pathological conditions occurring in or about the mouth and face, giving special attention to diagnosis and the recognition of conditions.

The subject of Anaesthetics and Anaesthesia is presented in detail in lectures, in experiments on animals, in the clinic, in the oral surgery and daily in the extracting clinic. Nitrous oxide is used generally in the extracting clinic, and ether and chloroform in the oral surgery clinic. Local anaesthesia is exhibited frequently in the clinic in cases to which it is adapted.

Third Year

a. Surgical Bacteriology.—Inflammation; suppuration; wounds; hemorrhage; necrosis; caries of bones; diseases of the maxillary sinus; resection of roots; tetanus; ankylosis; arthritis; facial neuralgia; fractures; dislocations; extraction of teeth; malposition of third molars; impacted teeth; replantation, transplantation, and implantation of teeth; cleft palate and harelip; affections of the lips, tongue, and mouth; tumors; odontomes; ranula; cysts; aneurisms. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR GILMER.

b. RECITATIONS AND QUIZZES.—One and one-half hours a week. PROFESSOR ARTHUR D. BLACK.

c. SURGICAL CLINIC.—Two hours a week throughout the year. PROFESSOR GILMER, nurses from St. Luke's Hospital, and DR. POTTS.

d. SPECIAL CLINICAL INSTRUCTION.—Diagnosis and case histories. One hour a week. PROFESSOR ARTHUR D. BLACK.

e. AFTER TREATMENT OF SURGICAL CASES.—By students, under direction of PROFESSOR GILMER.

f. CLINIC IN THE EXTRACTION OF TEETH, DAILY.—Open to second and third year students. DR. STOWELL.

g. THE EVOLUTION OF GENERAL SURGICAL ANAESTHESIA.—State of the patient; nature of operation; choice of anaesthetic; prolonged dental operations; circumstances of administration; inspection and examination of patients; general anaesthetic agents; local and regional anaesthetics; dangers of anaesthesia. Second semester. One hour a week. DR. POTTS.

h. CLINICAL ADMINISTRATION OF ANAESTHETICS.—Oral surgery clinic. Two hours a week. DR. POTTS.

i. CLINICAL EXHIBITION OF NITROUS OXID ANAESTHESIA.—Daily in extracting clinic. DR. STOWELL.

Orthodontia

PROFESSOR SELLERY, DR. BAKER, AND ASSISTANTS

Orthodontia is taught both didactically and clinically. Proceeding from the normal occlusion, derangements of the alignment of the teeth and malformations of the dental arch are systematically classified, and mechanical arrangements of fixtures for bringing the several classes of irregularities into normal form are carefully studied. Text-books: Angle, Guilford, Knapp. Lantern slides from photographs, X-ray pictures, and models of cases are used.

Third Year

a. OCCLUSION AND FACIAL ART.—Etiology, classification, diagnosis of malocclusion. The alveolus and alveolar processes, the periodontal membranes, and use of models. First semester. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR SELLERY.

b. REGULATING APPLIANCES, ANGLE, GUILFORD, KNAPP.—Anchorages, jack screws, levers, traction screws, extension arch and combinations, split plates, reciprocal anchorages, retention. Illustrated with models, with movable teeth and enlarged appliances. Stereopticon views, illustrating progressive regulation and final fixation. Second semester. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR SELLERY.

c. CLINIC OR INFIRMARY COURSE.—Open to students during first and second semesters for practical work in the correction of practical cases. PROFESSOR SELLERY, DR. BAKER, and assistants.

General Pathology

PROFESSOR WIGGIN

This course is essential to the student's understanding of general pathological conditions, and forms the basis of his studies of the special pathology of the tissues of the teeth, the membranes of the teeth; the correlated tissues, and the organs of the mouth.

Second Year

a. ETIOLOGY OF DISEASE.—Disorders of nutrition and metabolism; diabetes; fever; general circulatory disturbances; local hyperemia; local anemia; hemorrhage; embolism; infarction; thrombosis; retrogressive processes; atrophy; infiltrations and degenerations; necrosis; inflammation; progressive tissue changes; neoplasms; infections; granulomata; bacteria, and diseases caused by them. Lectures and recitations. One hour a week. PROFESSOR WIGGIN.

b. QUIZ CLASS IN SECTIONS.—Second semester. Two hours a week.

Special Pathology and Therapeutics

PROFESSOR MAWHINNEY

In dental practice this is a department of operative dentistry. It includes a study of the diseases and the abnormal conditions of the pulps of the teeth, of the membranes of the teeth, of the immediate surrounding soft tissues and bones, and of the mucous membranes of the mouth.

Third Year

a. A REVIEW OF THE STRUCTURE AND FUNCTIONS OF THE DENTAL PULP.—Hyperemia and inflammation of the pulp; capping exposed pulps; obtunding sensitive dentin. Pulp devitalization; pulp removal; treatment of canals; root filling; suppuration; the healing process; immunity and susceptibility; suppuration of the dental pulp; alveolar abscess; absorption of roots of teeth and of bone; caries of bone; necrosis. A study of germicides and antiseptics with laboratory tests. Bleaching teeth. First semester. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR MAWHINNEY.

b. QUIZZES AND RECITATIONS.—First semester. One hour a week.

c. PERIDONTAL MEMBRANES.—Review of histological structures; simple gingivitis; calcic inflammation; phagedenic pericementitis; re-plantation and transplantation of teeth; functions of the mucous membranes of the mouth; stomatitis; prophylaxis; mouth hygiene. Second semester. Two lectures a week. PROFESSOR MAWHINNEY.

d. QUIZZES AND RECITATIONS.—Second semester. One hour a week.

e. CLINICAL PRACTICE.—In addition to the above courses, third year students are required to make one hundred fifty points in practical treatments in the Infirmary clinic, and to send in for examination and criticism a complete history of the conditions found and the treatment record of each of ten cases. PROFESSOR MAWHINNEY is in the Infirmary one-half day each week to superintend this work.

Physiology

PROFESSOR WIGGIN

The work in Physiology includes a course of two lectures a week and text-book study with quizzes, in the first year; in the second year the subject is continued, one lecture a week, devoted mainly to the brain, nervous system, and the functions of reproduction.

First Year

a. GENERAL PHYSIOLOGY.—The structure of the elementary tissues; the chemical composition of the body; the blood; the circulation of the blood. First semester. Two lectures a week. PROFESSOR WIGGIN.

b. QUIZ CLASS WORK.—In sections. First semester. Two hours a week.

c. RESPIRATION.—Secretion; food digestion; metabolism; nutrition and diet; animal heat; excretion; muscle; nerve physiology; production of voice. Second semester. Two lectures a week. PROFESSOR WIGGIN.

d. QUIZ CLASS WORK.—In two sections. Second semester. Two hours a week.

Second Year

e. THE CENTRAL NERVOUS SYSTEM.—Brain; spinal cord; reproductive organs; development. Lectures and recitations. One hour a week. PROFESSOR WIGGIN.

f. QUIZ CLASS WORK.—In sections. Two hours a week.

Prosthetic Dentistry

PROFESSOR PROTHERO, DR. METHVEN, DR. WALDBERG, AND ASSISTANTS

The Prosthetic Technic Laboratory and the Junior Prosthetic Laboratory are situated on the fifth floor, and the Senior Prosthetic Laboratory and the porcelain and inlay laboratory are situated on the sixth floor, adjacent to the Crown and Bridge Room. All are well supplied with outside light, and also completely equipped with electric lights.

Each laboratory is furnished with electric lathes for grinding and polishing; the Junior Laboratory is completely equipped with the heavier laboratory appliances, such as vulcanizers, celluloid presses, and apparatus for casting aluminum plates. The Prosthetic Laboratory for second and third year students is equipped with the appliances necessary for modern prosthetic dentistry; the adjacent porcelain and gold inlay laboratory is fitted with electric furnaces and with gasoline furnaces and various kinds of swaging devices and casting apparatus for gold-inlay work. The crown and bridge room, for practical prosthetic operations, is equipped with thirty modern operating chairs and a sufficient number of electric connections.

First Year

a. PROSTHETIC TECHNIQS.—This course covers the fundamental principles of denture construction and crown and bridge work, and accompanies the laboratory course. First semester. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR PROTHERO.

QUIZ AND RECITATION WORK.—First semester. One hour a week. DR. METHVEN.

b. LABORATORY COURSE.—Impression taking, model constructing, occluding, waxing, flasking, packing, vulcanizing, and finishing partial and full artificial dentures. First semester. Nine hours a week. PROFESSOR PROTHERO, DR. METHVEN, and assistants.

c. METALLOGRAPHY.—A descriptive course on the nature and physical properties of metals, especially those used in dentistry, with fundamental principles of their uses; the manipulation of metals, swaging, annealing, solders and soldering, welding, tempering. Second semester. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR PROTHERO.

d. QUIZ OR RECITATION.—On the work of Courses a, b, and c. Second semester. One hour a week. DR. METHVEN.

e. LABORATORY COURSE.—Construction of dies and counter dies; swaging metal bases of German silver; attaching teeth by soldering and by vulcanite; construction of crowns and dummies, all metal, and metal and porcelain; assembling individual crowns and dummies to form bridges; constructing and tempering taps and dies of steel; drawing wire and tubing suitable for the construction of orthodontia appliances. Second semester. Nine hours a week. PROFESSOR PROTHERO, DR. METHVEN, and assistants.

Second Year

f. LECTURE COURSE.—Review of technic principles outlined in first year; their application to practical operations in the Infirmary. The physical properties of plaster of Paris and other materials employed in prosthesis. Muscles of mastication; force of the bite; movements of the lower jaw; natural arrangement and occlusion of artificial teeth. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR PROTHERO.

g. QUIZ OR RECITATION.—One hour a week. DR. METHVEN.

h. LABORATORY COURSE.—Construction of full metal and partial metal base dentures, with teeth attached by soldering and by vulcanite; construction and application of clasps to partial dentures; advanced work in crowns and bridges. Nine hours a week. PROFESSOR PROTHERO, DR. WALDBERG, and DR. METHVEN.

i. PROSTHETIC CLINIC.—Each student is required to carry to completion for patients a number of practical cases, representing each of the various classes of prosthesis, amounting to at least fifty points. PROFESSOR PROTHERO, DR. METHVEN, and assistants.

Third Year

j. A CRITICAL REVIEW.—Summary of recent methods and appliances; application of porcelain in prosthesis; baked porcelain crowns; porcelain bridges, full porcelain dentures; methods of cavity preparation for porcelain inlays; forming, baking, and setting porcelain inlays. Methods of obtaining wax models of cavities, forming investments, and casting, and setting gold inlays. The student is assigned a series of articles for reading, and is required to present a thesis covering the subject named. One lecture a week. PROFESSOR PROTHERO.

k. LABORATORY COURSE.—Cast aluminum base dentures; celluloid dentures; banded Logan crowns; baked porcelain crowns; porcelain bridges; continuous gum dentures. First semester. Six hours a week. PROFESSOR PROTHERO, DR. WALDBERG, DR. METHVEN, and assistants.

l. PROSTHETIC CLINIC.—Practical pieces of prosthetic work of all varieties made and fitted for patients in the Infirmary. Studies of the conditions of the mucous membranes; the preparation of roots for crowns and the abutments of bridges; making and setting crowns and bridges, and preparation of cavities and setting porcelain or gold inlays. The minimum requirement is one hundred points.

The Infirmary is open to students from 10:30 to 5:30 o'clock each day during term time. This period is divided between the Prosthetic and the Operative Departments, and text-book work and general reading. PROFESSOR PROTHERO, DR. METHVEN, and assistants.

GENERAL STATEMENTS

REQUIREMENTS FOR DEGREE

The degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery is conferred upon students recommended therefor by the Faculty of the School. Those candidates and recommended who have attended the required courses of lectures, who have passed satisfactorily all required examinations in the subjects of study, the entire last year having been completed in this School, who, in the judgment of the Faculty, are of fit moral character, who are 21 years of age, who have completed the required clinical and laboratory work, and who have discharged in full all financial obligations to the University.

THE LIBRARY AND READING ROOM

The Menges Library and Reading Room, named in honor of the late Dr. Theodore Menges, occupies, together with the attached Journal Reading Room, three thousand feet of floor space. It is furnished with reading tables and chairs for about one hundred students. The Library contains 2,806 volumes of books on dental and collateral subjects; a rich supply of dictionaries and encyclopedias conveniently placed in the Reading Room for easy consultation; and a nearly complete list of the dental journals in the English language, with about 16,000 duplicate numbers. The books most used by students are duplicated, up to six or twelve, and a few to fifteen copies. The books and journals may be used in the Reading Room without restriction, and when the duplication of volumes will allow, they may be drawn out as a circulating library.

THE MUSEUM

The Museum is in the Reading Room and is open to inspection and study. The cases are arranged to show the specimens to the best advantage.

The comparative anatomy specimens are, with the exception of the gorilla and chimpanzee, of which there are full skeletons, heads with the teeth. There is a sufficient number of varieties of each of the several orders to afford specimens of every kind of tooth form and of every variety of placement in mammals, saurians, and snakes, with a rich variety of fishes.

The principal specimens of the human skull are, first, a most excellent mounting of the separated bones of the adult; second, a fine set of dissections in a series showing the development of the teeth and the roots from the first appearance in the fetus to the full adult development, and illustrating the absorption of the roots of the deciduous teeth, the shedding process, and the replacement by permanent teeth; also the absorption of the alveolar processes after the loss of teeth, with the changes that occur in the form of the bones of the jaws from childhood to old age. This is an exceptionally complete, handsome, and valuable set of specimens. There are also a variety of ordinary human skulls.

The Museum also contains a valuable collection of human teeth of abnormal forms; a very full and complete set of specimens illustrating interproximal wear and the flattening of the points of interproximal contact. It is especially rich in casts of cases of supernumerary teeth; some illustrations of the very early forms of artificial teeth, of manufactured porcelain teeth, and of dental instruments, illustrating the development in these lines. This collection has been made largely in the School by students and by alumni, and is being continually enlarged by donations from those who have met with specimens unusual or rare in practice. Such donations are requested from all practitioners who will assist in building up this great museum of abnormal conditions of teeth and of associated parts for the benefit of dental education.

FEEES AND EXPENSES

THE TUITION FEE.—The annual tuition fee is.....$150.00

This fee may, at the option of the student, be paid in two or three installments. If paid in two installments, $78.00 must be paid not later than October 20, and $75.00 on February 20. If paid in three installments, $55.00 must be paid not later than October 20, $50.00 on January 20, and $50.00 on April 20.

REGISTRATION FEE.—The annual fee for registration.....$ 5.00

BREAKAGE FEE.—The annual fee for breakage.....$ 1.00

ANATOMICAL FEE.—For first and second year students.....$ 5.00

FINAL EXAMINATION FEE.—For Seniors.....$15.00

LABORATORY DEPOSITS.—A deposit of $5.00 in the Chemical and also in the Histological laboratory is required of first and second year less a charge for materials or apparatus lost, damaged or destroyed while in the care of the student.

LOCKER FEE.—Lockers for the keeping of students' instruments, engines, and extra garments are furnished at a rental of fifty cents a year. The students furnish their own padlocks.

TIME OF PAYMENT OF FEES.—All fees are payable at the beginning of the school year.

REFUND OF FEES.—Fees are returned only in the case of serious illness.

PRACTITIONERS' COURSE FEES.—Registration, $5.00; tuition for one subject, $45.00; tuition for two or three subjects, $60.00; tuition for the entire course, $70.00. Graduates of Northwestern University Dental School receive a reduction of twenty per cent on tuition fees.

Payments should be made in currency or in Chicago exchange drawn to the order of the Secretary of Northwestern University Dental School.

Board and Lodging

Rooms and board may be obtained in convenient neighborhoods at $4.00 to $6.00 a week. Rooms without board, furnished or unfurnished, may be had at $6.00 to $10.00 a month.

THE COURSE FOR GRADUATES AND PRACTITIONERS

The course opens on June 4, 1909, and continues four weeks, with six days of teaching each week. It includes two hours of lectures and six hours of practical teaching each day, by members of the regular staff of the School. Especial attention is given to porcelain and gold inlays, crowns, bridge work of all kinds, the treatment of pyorrhœa, and the most recent methods in Operative Dentistry, Oral Surgery, and Orthodontia. The studies for 1909 are:

OPERATIVE DENTISTRY.—PROFESSOR G. V. BLACK, assisted by PROFESSOR A. D. BLACK, and others.

HISTOLOGY, AS APPLIED TO OPERATIVE DENTISTRY.—PROFESSOR FREDERICK B. NOYES.

ORAL SURGERY.—PROFESSOR GILMER and assistants.

MATERIA MEDICA.—PROFESSOR MAWHINNEY.

PROSTHETIC DENTISTRY.—PROFESSOR PROTHERO and assistants.

ORTHODONTIA.—PROFESSOR SELLERY.

Certificates are given to those who complete the course.

Registration	$ 5.00
Tuition for one subject.....	$45.00
Tuition for two or three subjects.....	$60.00
Tuition for entire course.....	$70.00

To graduates of Northwestern a reduction of twenty per cent will be made on tuition fee.

THE SCHOOL OF MUSIC

THE SCHOOL OF MUSIC

The School of Music was established in 1895. It offers extensive practical and theoretical courses in music, and is designed to fit students for the profession as composers, theorists, artists, teachers, or critics. It also makes provision for the study of music as a part of general culture or as an accomplishment.

This School occupies Music Hall on Willard Campus. This building was erected during the year 1897 for the special needs of the School of Music. It is situated on University Place, between Sherman and Orrington Avenues, immediately to the north of Willard Hall and one block west of the University Campus. It is within easy access of both street railways, and is two blocks east and two blocks north of the Evanston railway station. It is substantially built of stone and brick, with a tile roof, and is finished in Georgia pine. The main floor contains the Office of the Dean, the Business Office, Reception Room, teaching and practice rooms. On the second floor are additional class-rooms, and a well-arranged concert hall seating three hundred fifty persons. The hall is provided with a large stage, with dressing rooms, a grand piano, a two-manual pipe organ with pedals, and is seated with opera chairs. The basement floor is divided into fourteen rooms, giving a large class-room for recitations in theory and musical history, and thirteen practice rooms.

With its Preparatory Department, and its Certificate and Diploma Courses, the School of Music supplies facilities for the study of music from the very beginning to an advanced stage of artistic proficiency. The student desiring to fit himself for professional performance will find well ordered courses in the study of piano, organ, violin, violoncello, or singing, together with auxiliary studies in the theory and history of music. The student seeking to specialize in theory, composition, or the history of music will find opportunities for development along these lines.

The courses of instruction are under the guidance of experienced specialists who have enjoyed the best advantages afforded by this country and Europe. The scholarly side of musical attainment represented in the theoretical courses is unusually complete and exhaustive. While open to all seeking musical instruction, the School particularly welcomes earnest, capable, and diligent students who desire to adequately comprehend and worthily interpret a noble art.

ADMISSION AND INSTRUCTION

Students enter the School of Music either as regular or as special students. Regular students pursue prescribed courses of study as candidates for a certificate or diploma. Special students pursue such work as they may elect; but, if they are not residents of Evanston, they are required to take sufficient work to keep their time reasonably occupied. They have the privilege of appearing at the regular solo classes and students' recitals, and thus receive the benefit of frequent public performance. All students come under the discipline and general social regulations of the University.

For the course in Applied Music moderate attainments representing on an average one year of systematic training in singing or two or three years in instrumental music are necessary.

Methods of Instruction

Attention is called to the fact that instruction in instrumental and vocal music is based upon private lessons, and not upon the so-called conservatory or class system. Artistic results are entirely dependent upon a close adaptation of instruction to the individual needs of the pupil, and cannot be accomplished satisfactorily in classes. Advantages of the class system—those of emulation and observation—are fully provided for by weekly solo classes.

Outline of Courses

THE COURSE IN APPLIED MUSIC leads to the Degree of Graduate in Music.

THE COURSE IN THEORY AND HISTORY OF MUSIC leads to the Degree of Bachelor of Music.

THE POST-GRADUATE COURSE.

THE LITERARY MUSICAL COURSE.

THE COURSE IN METHODS IN PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC.

The Course in Applied Music

The course is designed as a preparation for professional work. Candidates of decided ability can complete the course in four years.

This course includes the practical study of piano, organ, violin, or voice, two lessons a week, and four hours a day spent in preparation. Voice students may substitute piano playing of medium grade, choir practice and choral practice in the Evanston Musical Club for instrumental sight-reading, ensemble playing, and reading from score. The amount of vocal practice is fixed by the instructor. Organ students divide their time between the organ and the piano; but if sufficiently advanced in technique and in sight-reading, they may be relieved from the piano requirements and may substitute one lesson a week upon the organ, with a special tuition rate. See page 259. For students of stringed instruments, orchestra practice is considered an equivalent for ensemble playing. This course includes the theoretical subjects specified below. Candidates who can meet the entrance requirements to the College of Liberal Arts will receive, upon the satisfactory completion of this course, the degree of Graduate in Music. Opportunity is given in the Evanston Academy of the University to make up any reasonable deficiency in College entrance requirements without additional expense. Matriculation once effected permits the candidate to pursue each year one College study without additional fee. Candidates registered for such subjects are not permitted to discontinue them except at the end of a semester. The courses of instruction in the College of Liberal Arts are described in detail on pages 79 to 117. The subjects open to election in the Academy are not given in this catalogue, but are listed in the Bulletin of the Evanston Academy, to be had upon application.

Candidates who confine their work to the musical studies scheduled below are granted a diploma of musical proficiency upon satisfactory completion of the course. Such students may carry one literary study in the Academy during the course without additional fee.

A suitable certificate is given on the satisfactory completion of the second year of the course. The performance of a program as outlined on page 257, under the heading Certificate of Performance, is an additional requirement.

Program Requirements

In addition to the following schedule candidates must satisfactorily perform programs conforming to the following requirements:

PIANO STUDENTS.—A concerto of considerable difficulty; one of the later Beethoven sonatas; one of the more important works of Bach; two Chopin études; selections from the more important works of Schumann and Brahms.

ORGAN STUDENTS.—One of the great preludes and fugues of Bach; a sonata of Guilman or Rheinberger; selections from the works of Thiele, Widor, Merkel, or Franck.

VIOLIN STUDENTS.—A Bach sonata; a concerto of considerable difficulty; a modern sonata for piano and violin; selections from the more important works of Vieuxtemps and Wieniawski.

VOCAL STUDENTS.—An operatic aria; an aria from Handel's Messiah or Haydn's Creation; an aria from a modern oratorio; group of songs from Brahms, Jensen, Schumann, Schubert, or Franz.

The letters given after the subjects refer to the courses as listed in the College of Liberal Arts on pages 79 to 117.

Course in Theory and History of Music

This course is intended for composers and theorists. It requires four years and leads to the degree of Bachelor of Music. The candidate for admission should be fairly experienced at the piano, and able to play all exercises and compositions taken up in class, including score reading.

The candidate must complete satisfactorily the studies of the schedule below, and obtain in the College of Liberal Arts one-fourth of the number of credits required for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. His list of studies must include General Physics.

He is required to score for full orchestra a composition assigned to him by the faculty such as a movement from a piano sonata by Beethoven, or to compose and score an original work of considerable length. This work must be satisfactory to the faculty in technical and artistic aspects, and must demonstrate a decided command of orchestral resources and effects.

This course necessitates constant attendance upon choral and orchestral concerts, and the diligent study of the full scores of standard works.

Upon the completion of three years of this course a certificate is issued by the University.

THE Post-Graduate Course

This course offers to performers opportunity to pursue further their preparation for artistic concert performance or to extend their knowledge of the classical literature of applied music. To composers it offers valuable experience in the larger forms, such as cantatas, oratorios, chamber music, and symphonies. Music, in its broadest sense, presents an almost limitless field for study, and graduates can enter this course with profit.

The Literary Musical Course

This course, intended for students of high school grade, includes the more essential subjects of general culture, together with the study of music for two hours daily. It is the four-year course of the Evanston Academy, with the substitution of Music for one-fourth of the required work. The choice of studies includes Latin, physiography, algebra, English, Grecian and Roman history, Greek, biology, plane geometry, physics, German and French. Music is pursued continuously during the entire course, two lessons a week to be taken, requiring at least two hours a day in practice and preparation. The students who wish to pursue the study of Music as a part of their school work, come under the jurisdiction of the Academy, and receive its diploma upon passing the necessary examinations. For particulars, other than musical, see the circulars of the Evanston Academy of Northwestern University.

The Course in Methods of Public School Music

This course is intended to fit the candidate for the position of Supervisor of Music in the public schools. The course requires one year, but students who enter it without previous experience in singing and without knowledge of the rudiments of music, can hardly complete it in that time. The study of music is taken up from the rudiments, but first principles are not dwelt upon extensively.

The course includes observation of class work in the public schools, under the direction of the Supervisor of Music for the City Schools of Evanston, who has charge of this department.

The study of music is assuming more and more importance in public schools throughout the country, and well-equipped supervisors are in demand. The ability to teach one or two branches of study besides music frequently helps a candidate in obtaining an appointment, and secures him higher remuneration.

Students in this course may substitute more advanced work in any of the above subjects, provided they can prove their ability to carry it. For hours of recitation and details of studies in Courses A to T, see pages 104 to 107.

GENERAL STATEMENTS

GRADUATION

Upon the recommendation of the Faculty, diplomas are given to students who complete the course in Applied Music, or the course in Theory and History of Music; certificates are given to those who complete the course in Methods of Public School Music or the second year of the course in Applied Music or the third year of the course in Theory and History of Music.

Certificate of Performance

Certificates of performance are given to students who have studied two years in the school and can perform creditably a program in their specialty. The minimum requirements are as follows:

PIANO STUDENTS.—Beethoven, a complete sonata; Bach, a fugue or three-voiced invention; Mendelssohn, Schumann, and Chopin, characteristic pieces of average difficulty; two selections from modern composers.

ORGAN STUDENTS.—Bach, prelude and fugue; Mendelssohn, sonata complete; two groups of pieces drawn from the modern English and French schools.

VIOLIN STUDENTS.—A sonata for piano and violin from Haydn, Mozart, or Beethoven; one of the easier Viotti concertos; two groups of solo pieces of average difficulty.

VOCAL STUDENTS.—An oratorio aria; a group of songs from the classic composers; a group of songs from modern composers.

FEES AND EXPENSES

The school year is divided into four quarters of nine weeks each, and unless otherwise indicated fees as stated are paid quarterly. Tuition is payable strictly in advance at the University office, 518 Davis Street. Checks may be drawn payable to Northwestern University.

MATRICULATION FEE.—A matriculation fee of five dollars is charged upon entering the regular courses or theoretical classes. It is paid but once.

INCIDENTAL FEE.—A fee of fifty cents a quarter is charged each student. This fee covers admission to the Artists' Series of Concerts.

MUSICAL CLUB FEES.—Active membership in the Evanston Musical Club, see Course G, page 105, is three dollars a year. Students in regular courses are required to attend the concerts of the Club and are charged fifty cents in the second, third, and fourth quarters for admission to these concerts, with reserved seat. Students who are active members of the Club are exempt from this charge.

DIPLOMA AND CERTIFICATE FEES.—The diploma fee is ten dollars. The certificate fee is five dollars.

LOCKER FEE.—A fee of twenty-five cents a quarter is charged those desiring the use of a locker.

FREE COURSES.—The classes in Sight-Reading, the Chamber Music and Faculty Concerts, except the Artists' Series, numerous recitals and lectures in the School of Music and others in departments of the University, are open to students of the School of Music, free of charge.

Course Fees

COURSE IN APPLIED MUSIC.—A Theory fee of twenty dollars is charged, in addition to the fee for the major study as given in the table of Applied Music Fees.

COURSE IN THEORY AND HISTORY OF MUSIC.—The fee is twenty dollars.

POST-GRADUATE COURSE.—See Special Student fees.

LITERARY MUSICAL COURSE.—The fee is the Academy tuition fee of seventy-two dollars a year, in addition to fees for Special Students of the School of Music, less five dollars a quarter.

COURSE IN METHODS OF PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC.—The regular fee is thirty dollars. Students registered in the Course in Applied Music or the Course in Theory and History of Music pay ten dollars. Students desiring applied music may take one study under the fees of the table of Applied Music Fees; if more than one be desired, the additional study is taken under the fees of the table for Special Students Fees.

ADDITIONAL FEES.—Students desiring to take more than one College study are referred to the statements of fees on page 138.

Fees for Applied Music

The fees for Applied Music are given in the following table. They are applicable to one study of students paying the full Theory Fee of twenty dollars or the full Public School Methods Fee of thirty dollars. Additional studies are taken from the table of Special Student Fees. The rates apply for a quarter of nine weeks; the lessons are a half-hour in length.

Refunds

Private lessons falling upon legal holidays are made up at the convenience of the teacher. Deductions are not made for occasional absences due to illness or other causes. In cases of protracted illness, when due notice is given, private lessons missed are transferred to a later quarter, or the loss is divided with the student.

A discount of twenty-five per cent on private lessons is allowed to the immediate members of a minister's family. It is not allowed on class instruction or practice. One-half the fee for class lessons or practice is refunded to a student who withdraws before the middle of a quarter, provided he secures from the Dean a statement of honorable standing, and from a physician a certificate that his health does not permit him to remain in attendance.

MUSIC PEDAGOGY

During the last term of each year is provided a series of lectures, primarily intended for the graduating class, and designed to give an orderly survey of the materials of music education with special reference to piano playing from the beginning to an advanced stage of attainment.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT

A Preparatory Department is maintained by the School of Music in which excellent instruction may be obtained in piano, organ, voice, or theory. Instruction is given for the most part by graduates and under-graduates of the school, classified as Assistant Instructors. The quarters coincide with those of the regular school and are nine weeks in length. Tuition rates are from twelve dollars to eighteen dollars a quarter of eighteen half-hour lessons.

For further information and for special circulars relating to the School of Music, address Northwestern University School of Music, Evanston, Illinois.

THE SCHOOL OF COMMERCE

THE SCHOOL OF COMMERCE

The School of Commerce was organized in June, 1908. Sixty business men of Chicago guaranteed the financial success of the School during the first three years of its existence. These men were members of the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants, and the Industrial Club of Chicago. Their co-operation with the University in founding a University School of Commerce has been brought about largely through the efforts of Mr. Joseph Schaffner.

The school is an integral part of Northwestern University, under the immediate financial supervision of an executive committee. This committee is composed of the President of the University, a representative of Northwestern University, three members of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and three members of the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants. The co-operation of the University with active business men insures the maintenance of University standards, and serves to keep the instruction in close touch with actual business life and modern commercial methods. The material offered by the business activities of the city and nation constitute the laboratory of higher commercial education, and in harmony with the tendency toward specialization in other lines, the work of systematizing this material and reducing it to teachable form is the especial task of the University. The location of the School in the Northwestern University Building, at the corner of Lake and Dearborn Streets, provides an excellent opportunity for young men employed in business houses to acquire a thorough training in the science of business.

The instruction of the first year of the School is confined to Economics, Elementary and Corporation Finance, Commercial Law, Intermediate and Advanced Accounting. It is the policy of the School to develop these courses until the curriculum deals with every phase of business. The scope of the work will be enlarged to include both day and night work. An arrangement is contemplated whereby students may include in their College course a part of the work required for graduation in the School of Commerce.

The School of Commerce has been remarkably successful in the response it has called forth from men employed in business. Over two hundred students have received instruction in the classes. Instructors have been drawn from the University Faculty, and from business and professional life.

ADMISSION AND INSTRUCTION

Applicants must be at least eighteen years of age. Every candidate for admission who has not completed a high school course or its equivalent is asked to submit a detailed statement of his training and business experience, after which admission to the various classes depends upon the applicant's probable ability to pursue the work with profit.

Plans are under consideration for the establishment of a degree course for admission to which two years of college credit will be required.

Courses of Instruction

The work of the first year of the diploma course is composed of the four subjects, Accounting, Commercial Law, Economics, and Finance. The work of the second and third years is, for the most part, elective. The required subjects are designed to equip the student with the fundamental principles applicable to business in general, after which he will adapt his course to the kind of business he is preparing to pursue. The subjects outlined below indicate the range of work for the second and third years. Additions and alterations will be made as experience may suggest. Elective courses are announced with the understanding that they will be given only on sufficient registration. The courses given during the year 1908-1909 are so designated.

Business Organization

The courses in this subject come under two groups: first, those dealing with the different divisions of large business concerns; second, courses dealing with principles and practice applicable to special lines of business. The aim is to bring to the use of students, experience obtained in successful business undertakings.

ESTABLISHMENT AND MANAGEMENT OF A BUSINESS.—Factors determining the time and place of opening a business; policy of management towards laborers; the organization of departments; expansion through branch concerns; tests of efficiency of branches; large scale production; development of markets; disposal of surplus product; cultivation of foreign markets; relation between producing and finance elements in large business; consistency of general executive policy.

ADVERTISING.—Relative advantages of advertising media; relation of volume and character of periodical circulation to advertising value; quality of publicity and its adaptability to different kinds of goods; mechanical and artistic elements in advertising; psychological basis of advertising.

SALESMANSHIP.—Principles of successful selling; psychological element in salesmanship; study of customers' wants; salesmanship by letter; organization of national and international selling agencies; successful selling policies.

INSURANCE.—Development of the insurance feature in modern business; importance of the different kinds of insurance in business organization; mathematics of insurance; kinds of policies; contrasts between life and fire insurance; liability insurance, investment of insurance funds; state regulation.

SPECIAL COURSES IN INSURANCE.—It is expected that courses dealing with various kinds of insurance will be organized for the benefit of advanced students who are preparing to devote themselves to particular lines of insurance business.

TRANSPORTATION.—A study of different railway systems as concerns their location; the traffic conditions; relation of different kinds of traffic; principles and practice in rate making; territorial classification of rates, terminal charges. Executive management and general policy of railroad systems. Government regulation; problems of railway management presented by state and federal regulation.

SPECIAL COURSES IN TRANSPORTATION.—The specialization of the railway business will probably necessitate dividing the work into a number of different courses. The converging of great railroad systems with their central offices in Chicago offers peculiar opportunities for work in this field.

MERCHANDISING.—The organization of wholesale and retail trades; credits; co-operation of dealers through commercial organizations; organization of leading wholesale and retail establishments; their division into departments, buying and selling policy; methods of holding departments responsible; general executive policy. Frequent lectures by experienced merchants will supplement the regular class exercises.

PUBLISHING.—Publishing as an independent industry and as an adjunct to modern business. Organization of typical publishing institutions; organization of different branches of the business, as book publishing, newspaper publishing, magazine publishing, relation of publishing to other lines of business.

REAL ESTATE.—Principles and practice involved in the management of real property; factors determining the value of real estate; residence neighborhoods, suburban real estate; real property and transportation facilities; effect of location and arrangement of streets; business properties; office buildings. Practice connected with the purchase and sale of real estate; methods of acquiring title; conditional sale; usage concerning landlord and tenant; relation of real estate transactions to contracting and building enterprise.

THE LAW OF REAL ESTATE.—The law of real estate is treated under the law of commerce.

Accounting

MR. WALTON AND MR. PHILLIPS

INTERMEDIATE COURSE.—Principles and procedure of modern accounting methods; partnership accounts; corporation accounts; receivers and executors accounts; bankers and brokers accounts. A knowledge of routine bookkeeping and primary accounting is required. Given in 1908-1909. Friday evenings, 7 to 9. MR. PHILLIPS.

ADVANCED COURSE.—Scientific analysis of problems in practical accounting, theory and auditing; municipal, public utility, and insurance accounts; manufacturing accounts and cost keeping. Students who complete this course successfully are prepared for the state examination leading to the degree of Certified Public Accountant. Given in 1908-1909. Monday evenings, 7 to 9. MR. WALTON.

HIGHER ACCOUNTING.—A continuation of the Advanced Course, intended for students who expect to follow accountancy as a profession. Specialized courses in Higher Accounting will be given in response to specific demand.

Finance

PROFESSOR HOWARD

ELEMENTARY COURSE.—The place of Finance in our economic system; principles of money; description of monetary systems; function of banks; relation of banks to speculation; panics and financial crises. Given in 1908-1909. Tuesday evenings, 7 to 9. PROFESSOR HOWARD.

CORPORATION FINANCE AND INVESTMENTS.—The economic function of corporations; their promotion, organization and legal status; the marketing of securities; corporation securities as investments; brokerage: its relation to speculation and investment; stock exchanges; public regulation of the brokerage business. Given in 1908-1909. Wednesday evenings, 7 to 9. PROFESSOR HOWARD.

SPECIAL COURSES IN FINANCE.—Specialized courses in particular branches of Finance will be organized as demand occurs, to meet the needs of students who are preparing to engage in banking or brokerage business.

Law of Commerce

PROFESSOR HOTCHKISS AND MR. DEIBLER

FIRST YEAR COURSE.—Contracts, commercial paper and agency, with such study of the legal principles as will be of practical assistance to the student in his business affairs. Given in 1908-1909. Thursday evenings, 7 to 9. MR. BAYS.

SECOND YEAR COURSE.—Partnership, corporations, suretyships, carriers, sales, and bankruptcy.

ADVANCED COMMERCIAL LAW.—This work, for the most part, will be of a specialized nature and will involve a further study of corporation law, real estate law, and other specialized branches for which there is specific demand.

Economics

PROFESSOR HOTCHKISS AND MR. DEIBLER

ELEMENTARY COURSE.—Application of sound economic reasoning to the practical affairs of business life; a study of the principles of value as manifested in different lines of business and the application of those principles to specific business problems. Given in 1908-1909. Wednesday evenings, 7 to 9. PROFESSOR HOTCHKISS.

ECONOMIC PROBLEMS.—Problems arising from the present industrial system; improved methods of production; the development and preservation of resources; industrial classes; standard of living; labor problems; business organization and consolidation of capital.

ECONOMIC GEOGRAPHY AND FOREIGN TRADE.—Comparison of the resources and leading industries of different countries; trade conditions arising out of the business systems of different countries; organization of ocean commerce; tariffs and the development of international trade; study of foreign countries as markets for American goods, and as places of investment for American capital.

PUBLIC RELATIONS OF BUSINESS.—The public influence of large business concerns; the business man as citizen; civic functions of commercial bodies; business in relation to the government; government regulation of industries; public service industries; the effect of public service industries upon the business condition of the city; critical discussion of the object, efficiency, and general policy of public regulation.

Additional Courses

Courses in Business English, Commercial German, Commercial Spanish, Industrial Chemistry, Industrial Engineering, Economic Geology, and other courses not included in a general course in Commerce, but indispensable for certain lines of business are offered in response to specific demand.

GENERAL STATEMENTS

Special Lectures

Members of the Board of Guarantors and other men prominent in business and professional life give, from time to time, general lectures to all the students in the school. The regular courses provide for frequent lectures by men who, from their experience, are able to speak authoritatively upon the practical side of subjects under discussion.

Credit in Other Schools of the University

Upon fulfillment of entrance requirements and payment of matriculation fee, students in the School of Commerce may be entered as candidates for degrees in any School of the University. Upon vote of the Faculty of another School of the University, work in the School of Commerce may be credited toward fulfilling the requirements for a degree in that School if such work is along lines covered by the curriculum of the said School.

Day Work

It is not proposed to confine the work in commerce to students in evening courses. A large proportion of the subjects which should come within the scope of a day course in commerce are now offered at Evanston, in the College of Liberal Arts, as described on pages 82 to 84. It is expected that the courses in the School of Commerce will be supplemented by courses at Evanston, and that students who enter college with the expectation of following a business career will be enabled to pursue a consecutive course of study. This arrangement, which permits the student to take his professional work in Chicago, offers advantages that will be readily appreciated.

Consular Service

The curriculum of the School of Commerce is not specifically arranged to meet the demands of consular examinations now in force, but individual courses offered in the School of Commerce, the College of Liberal Arts, and Law School furnish the preparation required. A special course is contemplated for students who are preparing for the consular service.

Graduation and Diploma

The trustees of Northwestern University upon recommendation of the Faculty of the School of Commerce grant a diploma to students who have completed satisfactorily its prescribed courses.

Degree of Certified Public Accountant

By act of the General Assembly passed May 15, 1903, provision is made for a state examination for the degree of Certified Public Accountant. Before the School of Commerce was established, the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants had long contemplated founding a school in which should be given the work necessary to prepare for this degree. One of the results of commercial development during the last generation has been the growth in importance of the accounting profession. A knowledge of accountancy is becoming almost indispensable to the successful conduct of every business. Business efficiency demands, moreover, that the professional accountant shall be a man of broad training and of recognized professional standing parallel to that of the lawyer and the physician. The close connection of the School of Commerce with the leading men of the profession will enable it not only to meet the demands of the present law, but to set a high standard of professional training.

Fees and Expenses

Tuition is divided into four special installments, payable October 12, 1908, December 7, 1908, February 15, 1909, and April 5, 1909. Students who become candidates for a degree will be required to pay the matriculation fee of five dollars.

The tuition fees in the School of Commerce are as follows:

Full diploma course, four evenings a week.....	$75.00 a year
Three subjects, three evenings a week.....	60.00 a year
Two subjects, two evenings a week.....	45.00 a year
One subject, one evening a week.....	25.00 a year

Beginning September, 1909, tuition will be payable each half year in advance.

The Northwestern University School of Oratory was organized in 1878 and occupies Annie May Swift Hall on the Campus at Evanston. It is under independent management, but is in close affiliation with the University. The regular course of study covers a period of two years, and offers extended and advanced training in Elocution, English, and Physical Training.

Students satisfactorily completing the regular course, and those completing the post-graduate course are awarded diplomas by the University.

Students in the College of Liberal Arts, by giving care to the selection of their course, may be enabled to graduate from the School of Oratory and from the College of Liberal Arts in five years. Some students, with industry and application, complete the combined course in four years.

The cost of instruction is fifty dollars a term, payable in advance. This fee entitles the student to two private lessons a week, in addition to the regular courses.

For information regarding the School of Oratory address R. L. Cumnock, Annie May Swift Hall, Evanston, Illinois.

PREPARATORY SCHOOLS

EVANSTON ACADEMY

Evanston Academy is situated on the University campus directly on the lake shore, in Evanston, and occupies Fisk Hall, which was erected in 1898. The special work of the school is to prepare students for college and technical schools. Besides this special work a general academic education is offered to those who cannot take a regular course, but who wish to prepare themselves for the study of law or of medicine, or for teaching in the public schools, or for business.

As a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools the Academy has accredited relations with all the leading colleges and universities of the middle west. It has established special accredited relations with Eastern universities that admit students by certificate.

The course of study extends through four years. Students who give satisfactory evidence of having done thoroughly a part of the course before entering are credited with that work. Students completing the course are admitted to the College of Liberal Arts on certificate of the Principal. The Academy provides instruction adequate for admission to college in the English, French, German, Spanish, Latin, and Greek languages, in mathematics, history, and civics. It has an extensive Manual Training equipment and ample rooms completely furnished with apparatus for laboratory instruction in chemistry, mechanical and electrical physics, zoölogy, botany, and physiography. A new course of study preparing for business or college includes the fundamental subjects of a college preparatory course with others looking toward commerce. The latter subjects constitute about one-third of the course, and are accepted by Northwestern University for admission to the College of Liberal Arts.

Hatfield House, the Academy dormitory for boys, is a comfortable, well-administered home for about twenty-five boys. The house master, who is a member of the Faculty, and a matron are in charge. The house is modern in its equipment—heating, plumbing, filtered water, bathing facilities. Students coming to the Academy from a distance, not earning their way nor residing with relatives, are required to live in the House.

NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY GRAND PRAIRIE SEMINARY

Grand Prairie Seminary is a preparatory school founded in 1863 and affiliated with Northwestern University in 1901. It is well endowed and maintains a high standard of scholarship. It is situated in Onarga, Illinois, on the main line of the Illinois Central Railway, eighty-four miles south of Chicago. The town is an ideal place for a school, having no saloons, and the community is noted for its high moral tone. There is a Public Library, which is at the service of the members of the School.

The equipment of the Seminary consists of three buildings, a Recitation Hall for class instruction; an Auditorium for public exercises, musical, oratory, and art instruction; a Gymnasium and Domestic Science Hall now building; and a Woman's Dormitory and Boarding Hall. The school has a library of carefully chosen volumes of standard works of reference on science, history, biography, and literature. It has laboratory facilities for instruction in physics, zoölogy, botany, and chemistry. The Seminary offers courses in the Academic Department, Normal Department, School of Business, School of Music, Department of Oratory, Art Department, School of Domestic Science and Economy, and Gymnasium.

ELGIN ACADEMY

Elgin Academy was first opened to students in December, 1856, in a commodious building erected the previous year. Its charter, originally granted in 1839, was revised in 1855, and in this amended form is still in force. In 1903 it became an affiliated school of Northwestern University.

The Academy is situated in the most healthful part of the City of Elgin, a town of 25,000 inhabitants, on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Chicago and Northwestern Railways, about forty miles from Chicago. The campus, covering an area of four acres, presents an attractive view. The main building for the regular academic work is an imposing three-story brick structure. It is heated by steam throughout, lighted by electricity, and has the city water on two floors. The rooms are large, airy, and well lighted.

A large three-story building of brick, erected in 1888 through the generosity of Mrs. Vincent S. Lovell, for manual training purposes, is now used for science work and is known as the Lovell Science Hall.

This Academy offers to young men and young women excellent opportunities for a scholarly and practical education. Students are prepared for the leading colleges or for business. The surroundings are those of refinement and of Christian living.

CASSIUS MARCIUS WOOD.....Assistant Librarian

The University has no theological school under its own control, but from the beginning has recognized Garrett Biblical Institute as meeting the needs of a theological department. There is a liberal interchange of work between the College of Liberal Arts and the Institute. Properly qualified students in either school are admitted to classes in the other without tuition fees, upon the recommendation of their respective faculties.

Garrett Biblical Institute received its charter in 1855. It is situated in Evanston, upon the University campus, and is open to young men from any evangelical church who are properly recommended as candidates for the Christian ministry. It was established especially as a seminary where young men of this class from the Methodist Episcopal Church might be educated. It is supported by income from property in the city of Chicago, bequeathed in 1853 as a perpetual foundation by Mrs. Eliza Garrett. It invites to its care and instruction young men in the Church whom God has called to be His ministers.

NORWEGIAN-DANISH THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL

This School, established to prepare men for the ministry among the Norwegian-Danish people, offers an opportunity to pursue theological studies in the English and Norwegian-Danish languages. Students are received on the recommendation of their conferences. A commodious and substantial building, containing dormitories and a dining-hall, has been erected by the Norwegian and Danish people for the use of students of the school.

The course of study extends through three years. Oral and written examinations are held at the close of each year, and those who complete the entire course in the Norwegian-Danish language are granted a certificate.

A close relation exists between Garrett Biblical Institute and the Norwegian-Danish Theological School. By an arrangement formally entered into, the students of the latter school may take the entire course of study of the Institute, substituting instruction in one or more branches in their own tongue under Principal Simonsen. Upon the satisfactory completion of the course thus pursued, they are graduated from Garrett Biblical Institute.

ADMISSION AND INSTRUCTION

Those who enter should have a thorough preparation. This can be obtained to advantage in the College of Liberal Arts. Graduates of approved colleges are admitted to the degree courses upon presentation of diplomas. Students not graduates of colleges are admitted by examination in classical and literary subjects. Applicants for admission to Diploma Courses must present certificates from approved high schools or academies, or pass an examination in the studies prescribed by the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church for admission to an annual conference.

Applicants not licensed to preach are received on the recommendation of their respective quarterly conferences, or temporarily, on a note from their pastors, promising the recommendation in due time. The form of recommendation authorized by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church is as follows:

We, the members of the Quarterly Conference of..... hereby express our judgment that..... is called of God to the work of the ministry, and we recommend him to the care and instruction of Garrett Biblical Institute.

Applicants from other churches are admitted on such certificates as are usually given by the denominations to which they belong. Students from other theological seminaries may be admitted on presenting satisfactory testimonials of equivalent work and honorable dismissal.

Exegetical Theology

BIBLICAL PHILOLOGY.—Hebrew and Greek Languages, and their cognates.

BIBLICAL INTRODUCTION.—Canonicity, Criticism, higher and lower, Sacred Literature.

BIBLICAL ARCHAEOLOGY.—Chronology, Ethnology, Geography, Antiquities.

HERMENEUTICS.—(1) General: Study of Words, Grammatical Forms, Styles. (2) Special: Study of Figurative Language, Parables, Allegories, Types, Symbols, Prophecy, Apocalypics.

EXEGESIS.—Critical and expository study of the several books of the Bible.

BIBLICAL THEOLOGY.—Development of Biblical Doctrine as distinct from Historical and Systematic Theology.

Historical Theology

SOURCES.—Canonical and Apocryphal books of the Bible, Pseudepigraphal books, sacred books of all nations. Archæological Monuments, Patristics, Symbolics, Liturgics, and Hymnology.

EXTERNAL DEVELOPMENT OF THE KINGDOM OF GOD.—Pre-Christian History of Israel and the Nations. Patriarchal period, Mosaic, Priestly, Regal, and Prophetic development, and Post-exilian Judaism, life and work of Christ, the Apostolic Age; the ancient, mediæval, and modern periods of the Christian Church.

INTERNAL DEVELOPMENT.—Religious life and thought of the church, its progress through the centuries, History of Doctrines, Comparative Religion and Theology, and Sociology.

Systematic Theology

Psychology; Ontology; Apologetics; Dogmatics; Polemics; Irenics; Ethics.

Practical Theology

THE MINISTRY AS AN INSTITUTION.—Its calls, functions, qualifications, preparation, maintenance, perils, safeguards.

LITURGICS.—Forms of worship, conduct of services, administration of the Sacraments.

ECCLESIASTICAL POLITY AND LAW.—Forms of church government, judicial administration, discipline.

PASTORAL THEOLOGY.—CATECHETICS: Training of children, educational functions of the church, Sunday-schools. POIMENICS: Pastoral care, details of the pastoral office. CHURCH ACTIVITIES: Adaptation of the machinery of the church to existing needs, benevolent work and social life of the church, employment of lay agencies, study of other religious institutions in their relations to our own.

HALIEUTICS.—Evangelistic methods, domestic and foreign missions.

COURSES OF STUDY

The courses of study offered come under two headings, Degree Courses and Diploma Courses. Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Divinity or for the diploma of the Institute must complete in residence at least one year of fifteen hours a week in three or more departments of the Institute, arranged with the approval of the Faculty. No credit is allowed for work done in absentia or by correspondence.

Degree Courses

The Degree Courses are two: one leading to the degree of Bachelor of Divinity, the other to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

BACHELOR OF DIVINITY.—The course for the degree of Bachelor of Divinity is a three years course arranged for classical graduates of approved colleges. Applicants, upon registration, are required to present their diplomas. Students, not graduates of colleges, may be admitted to this course, if, by examination not later than the close of the first term, they satisfy the Faculty of their classical and literary fitness to complete it.

Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Divinity may elect Old Testament studies in English instead of work in Hebrew. In the senior year Elocution is the only required study.

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY.—A resident course of study leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy is offered to college graduates under the regulations prescribed on page 127. Four years are required as a minimum for this degree; three at least must be spent in residence at a theological school of high standing, and the last two at Garrett Biblical Institute.

Diploma Courses

Students who complete one of the following courses of study, each of which requires three years, receive the diploma of the Institute.

THE GREEK AND HEBREW COURSE.—This course is intended for those who desire to read and understand the Scriptures in the original, but are not prepared for the Degree Course. Greek is taught during three years, beginning with the elements. Hebrew is taught during the second and third years, beginning with the elements. The Greek class in exegesis reads the Synoptic Gospels and the Acts in the senior year. The Hebrew class reads the poetical books of the Old Testament. In other departments this course is substantially the same as the Degree Courses.

THE GREEK AND ENGLISH COURSE.—English exegesis is substituted for Hebrew in this course; it is in other respects the same as the Greek and Hebrew Course.

THE ENGLISH COURSE.—Training in the English Language, in Rhetoric, Logic, and Psychology takes the place of the study of elementary Greek and Hebrew, and English exegesis of the Scriptures is given instead of the study of the poetical books in Hebrew and of the Synoptic Gospels and Acts in Greek. In Systematic, Historical, and Practical Theology, Elocution, and Sociology, the studies of the English Course are the same as in the other diploma courses.

GENERAL STATEMENTS

Methods of Instruction

The methods of instruction include recitations, lectures, and free discussion. Emphasis is laid upon elocution, which is required through three years.

Public lectures and addresses, covering all the topics that relate to the work of Christian scholars and pastors, are given from time to time by distinguished persons before the Faculty and students.

College graduates enjoy exceptional advantages. In several departments, conspicuously in the Exegetical and Historical, they are formed into separate classes. They are encouraged and helped to make special investigation, and they receive from their professors continued personal attention in their chosen line of study. They have access, upon the recommendation of the Institute Faculty, to classes of the College of Liberal Arts.

Diploma students are accorded the largest privilege of election. They may devote their energies to those studies for which they are best adapted, assured that they will receive thorough instruction, and will be held to high standards.

STUDENT SOCIETIES

During the year 1898, a Young Men's Christian Association affiliated with the World's Christian Student Federation was organized.

The Literary Department aims to stimulate theological and literary studies by exercises in composition, criticism, and extemporaneous speaking. The Missionary Department furnishes information on Home and Foreign Missions, and keeps alive the missionary spirit among the students by weekly meetings and by occasional public meetings and lectures.

BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT

LIBRARIES.—The number of volumes in the Institute and University Libraries is about eighty-five thousand. Reading-rooms are connected with both libraries, and are supplied with the important dailies, weeklies, monthlies, and quarterlies, in general and theological literature.

MEMORIAL HALL.—Memorial Hall contains a large chapel, a library and reading-room, six lecture-rooms, with private rooms for professors, and a fire-proof vault for valuable books and papers.

HECK HALL.—In Heck Hall, the dormitory, the rooms are in suites, consisting of study, bed-room, and wardrobe, and are furnished with tables, book-cases, bureaus, stands, chairs, bedsteads, and mattresses. Students supply the other furnishings.

FELLOWSHIPS AND SCHOLARSHIPS

FELLOWSHIPS.—The Faculty have recommended to the Trustees the founding of a Fellowship for post-graduate study abroad or at home. The Fellowship is to be awarded to those graduates of future classes who excel sufficiently in ability and attainments to warrant the devotion of their lives to special studies in Theology. The amount of the Fellowship will be $500.

THE WETHERELL SCHOLARSHIP, the gift of Mr. S. N. Wetherell, of Crown Point, Indiana, yielding an income of about $50.00 a year, is awarded annually to a student recommended by the Faculty.

THE LUKE HITCHCOCK SCHOLARSHIP was provided by Mrs. E. Crane Wilson, Mrs. Charles H. Fowler, and Mrs. Archer Brown, as a memorial to their father, the Rev. Luke Hitchcock, for many years a trustee of Garrett Biblical Institute. The annual income of $100.00 is given to a student who is selected by the President of the Institute, and engaged in one of the City Missions in Chicago.

EXPENSES

Young men who have learned to earn and save money often work their way unaided through college and the theological school. The means of self-help in and around Evanston are casual; but many earnest and persevering students, with tact and helpfulness, find, and even create, opportunities. To these help is rendered as far as practicable. Some sixty or seventy appointments for preaching have been made available to competent preachers among the students. Circumstances require that promises of aid shall be made with caution, and to the extent only of the ability to meet them. The institution covets consecrated young men who never quail in the presence of difficulties, and its aim is to aid them in every useful way. The Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church renders efficient help by loans. The Sarah Stewart Fund, yielding four hundred dollars a year, is for the benefit of approved candidates for missionary fields.

Tuition and rooms are free to regular theological students. Each student occupying a room in Heck Hall is charged an incidental fee of twenty dollars a year, payable half-yearly in advance, for curator's service, fuel for public rooms, and general repairs. Other students pay, half-yearly in advance, a fee of five dollars a year.

For information regarding the Norwegian-Danish School, address Norwegian-Danish Theological School, Evanston, Illinois.

SWEDISH THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

REVEREND ALBERT ERICSON, A.M., D.D., President

The Swedish Theological Seminary began its work in 1870 at Galesburg, Illinois. In 1881 it was moved to its present permanent home in Evanston. It is now established in a substantial and commodious building on its own campus fronting on Orrington Avenue. Its students are admitted to all the advantages of the departments of the University. It is under the supervision of the five Swedish Conferences in the United States of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and is the only school of its kind in that Church.

The aim of the School is to do practical work in helping young men toward success in the ministry. It was called into existence to meet the urgent and increasing demand for educated pastors and missionaries among the Swedish people in the United States.

The Seminary is supported by the income from an educational fund, collected mainly among the Swedish Methodist churches in the country.

The regular course of study in the Seminary is broad and practical and requires four years. Progress in studies is determined by examination, written and oral. On the satisfactory completion of the full course of study, students receive the Seminary diploma. There is no charge for tuition.

The continued demand for preachers among the Swedish people in this country makes it an imperative duty for the Church to maintain a special institution of learning, where suitable men can be educated for the Swedish ministry, both for the regular pastorate and as missionaries to the multitude of Swedes scattered all over the country.

Students are received on the recommendation of their Quarterly Conferences.

For further information address the President, Swedish Theological Seminary, Evanston, Illinois.

The University

ON the last day¹ of May, in the year 1850, there met in the City of Chicago, at the office of Grant Goodrich, 109 Lake Street, near Dearborn, nine men, Richard A. Blanchard, Jabez K. Botsford, Andrew J. Brown, Henry W. Clark, John Evans, Grant Goodrich, Zadoc Hall, Richard Haney, and Orrington Lunt, to consider the founding of a university in the vicinity of Chicago. They agreed that "the interests of Christian learning demand the immediate establishment of a University in the North-West," and appointed a committee to petition the General Assembly for a charter. On January 28, in the next year, 1851, Governor French signed the Act that incorporated Northwestern University under the title of "the Trustees of the Northwestern University." The name of the corporation has since been changed to Northwestern University.

The first Board of Trustees consisted of thirty-six persons, representatives of annual conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church and citizens of Chicago and vicinity. The corporation as at present constituted consists of thirty-six trustees elected by the Board itself, and two elected by each of four annual conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, making a total of forty-four trustees.

The charter provides that a majority of the Board must be members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, but that no particular religious faith shall be required of those who become students at the institution.

Amendments have provided that other chartered institutions may become departments of the University; that all property of whatever kind or description belonging to or owned by the said corporation shall be forever free from taxation for any and all purposes; that no spirituous, vinous, or fermented liquors shall be sold under license or otherwise, within four miles of the location of the University.

After considering several locations in the vicinity of Chicago, the Trustees selected for the University a tract of land on the shore of Lake Michigan, twelve miles north of the heart of Chicago, and covered by an unbroken forest. Here in 1855 the first University building was erected, and about this location has grown up the City of Evanston, a beautiful residential city of twenty-five thousand inhabitants. The professional schools of Medicine, Law, Pharmacy, Dentistry, and Commerce are situated in the City of Chicago.

Grounds, Buildings and Equipment

The University Campus in Evanston has an area of about seventy-five acres and is beautifully situated on the shore of Lake Michigan, about two miles from the northern limit of the city of Chicago. On it are the buildings of the College of Liberal Arts, the College of Engineering, Garrett Biblical Institute, the Academy, and the School of Oratory. The School of Music and the Women's dormitories—Willard Hall, Pearsons Hall, and Chapin Hall—are on Willard Hall Campus, distant from the University Campus about three minutes walk. The Medical School is in Chicago, between 24th and 25th Streets on Dearborn Street. The Schools of Law, Pharmacy, Dentistry, and Commerce are in the University Building, at the corner of Lake and Dearborn Streets.

College of Liberal Arts

University Hall, a capacious stone structure of attractive architecture, was erected in 1869. It contains the President's office, the administrative offices of the College, the botanical, geological, and zoological laboratories, lecture and recitation rooms, and private offices for professors.

Fayerweather Hall of Science, erected in 1886, was the gift of Mr. D. B. Fayerweather, of New York. It is constructed of stone and brick, with terra-cotta trimmings. The front is 130 feet, and the depth 60 feet. At the rear are two wings, extending 54 feet, inclosing a court in which the power house for the building is located. It is divided into two sections, for chemistry and physics, separated by a fire-proof wall.

Orrington Lunt Library is a structure of Bedford limestone, erected in 1893, largely from a gift of Mr. Orrington Lunt, of Evanston, a charter member of the Board of Trustees and for some time its president. Its dimensions are 162 feet by 73 feet. The main floor contains a room for book storage, directly connected with a second book-room in the basement, the reading-room, and the offices of administration. On the second floor are an auditorium with seating capacity for three hundred persons, a large room occupied by the Art Collection, donated to the University by the University Guild, and apartments for class, seminary, and office use. Other parts of the building are used for class rooms.

Dearborn Observatory is a substantial stone building, erected in 1888 through the generosity of Mr. James B. Hobbs, of Chicago, a trustee of the University. Its length from north to south is 81 feet, and its greatest breadth is 71 feet. It includes a dome for the Equatorial, a Meridian Circle room, a Library, and eight additional rooms, the whole being arranged especially for convenience in astronomical work.

The equatorial refracting telescope was made by Alvan Clark and Sons, in 1861. It has a focal length of 23 feet and a clear aperture of $18\frac{1}{2}$ inches. It is fitted with driving clock, micrometer, and other appliances necessary for research work.

The meridian circle is of the first class, and was constructed in 1867 by Messrs. A. Repsold and Sons. This instrument has an object glass of $6\frac{3}{4}$ inches aperture, and a divided circle of 40 inches diameter, reading by four microscopes. In plan of construction it is like Bessel's celebrated Konigsberg circle by the same makers, but has some improvements in the mode of illuminating the field of view, and in apparatus for registering declinations. Hough's printing and recording chronographs are used for recording meridian observations and other phenomena.

The Observatory has a chronometer, William Bond and Son, No. 279, and three mercurial pendulum clocks.

Old College was the first building erected by the University. It stood originally on the corner of Hinman Avenue and Davis Street, and for many years was the only building the University used for educational purposes. It was moved to the Campus in 1871, and was enlarged for the use of the Academy. Since 1899, when the Academy was transferred to Fisk Hall, it has been used for college class-rooms.

The Gymnasium is an imposing structure on the upper Campus. Its area is 300 feet by 150 feet. In the erection of the building every effort was made to secure a maximum of convenience and efficiency.

The equipment of the building includes a gymnasium floor of 7,200 square feet, fitted with all apparatus necessary for class work; a smaller room for boxing, fencing, wrestling, and for the use of special apparatus; a swimming pool; an indoor field without obstructions, 215 by 120 feet, and provided with apparatus for track athletics; social rooms, offices, trophy room, and locker rooms.

The indoor field will be heated in cold weather so that indoor track work and athletic games may continue throughout the academic year. The form and spaciousness of the indoor field permit its use as an auditorium for the principal events of commencement week. It will accommodate an audience of 4,500 people.

The Central Heating Plant is on the lake shore near Old College. It has capacity for heating all the buildings on the main campus.

Northwestern Field was provided as an athletic field at a cost of $25,000, exclusive of the value of the land. It is twelve acres in area, comprising two foot-ball fields, a base-ball diamond, a quarter-mile cinder track with a 200-yard straightaway, and pits for pole vaulting and jumping. The Field House contains dressing quarters and shower baths. The bleachers have a capacity of ten thousand persons.

The Tennis Courts are immediately north of the lower campus.

The College of Engineering

The Swift Hall of Engineering, completed in 1909, is situated on the lake shore, east of Orrington Lunt Library. Funds for the erection of the building and its maintenance were donated by Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift and Mr. Edward F. Swift, of Chicago.

The building is four stories in height, is chaste in its lines of construction, and is specially adapted to the purposes of engineering studies. The outer walls are of gray stone, the roof of tile, the inner walls of pressed brick. Most of the frame of the building, the stairways, and the floors are of reinforced concrete. A minimum of wood has been employed in the construction. Heating and ventilation are furnished by the blast system which forces warm fresh air into the building and exhausts the foul air.

The Hall is 126 feet long and 58 feet wide. It gives ample accommodation for class rooms, offices, laboratories, library, and study rooms.

The Medical School

The Laboratory Building is situated on Dearborn Street between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Streets. The building is a five-story structure, 110 feet by 105 feet, of cut stone, brick, and terra cotta. The building contains a large number of laboratories, an amphitheater, the museum; and rooms for lectures, for the medicine and surgery dispensary clinics, for dissections, and for original research.

Davis Hall was erected in the summer of 1893. The building contains the administrative offices, one large and several smaller amphitheaters, suites of rooms for the various departments of medicine, large clinic rooms and research laboratories, the library and reading room. Thirty thousand patients are treated here annually.

The Calumet Avenue Dispensary was erected in 1908 for ambulatory patients. Sixteen clinic rooms insure privacy and thoroughness of examination. In addition to these there are on the main floor a dry room, X-Ray laboratory, a photographic room, with dark-room equipment and office, and a director's room; and on the second floor a large assembly room.

Mercy Hospital is situated on Twenty-Sixth street, extending from Prairie Avenue to Calumet Avenue. It is under the care of the Faculty of the Medical School, and is conducted by the Sisters of Mercy. A large new pavilion has just been erected. The capacity is about four hundred beds. The operating rooms are equipped with every modern facility.

Wesley Hospital stands beside the buildings of the School and is connected with them by a covered corridor. Among the most notable recent additions to the equipment of the Medical School are the operating rooms, wards, and laboratories of Wesley Hospital. The wards and private rooms contain together two hundred twenty-five beds.

The Hospital has four large wards, of twenty beds each, separating the sexes; and medical from surgical patients. There are also eight smaller wards, a Children's Ward and two Babies' Wards. The patients from these wards, both large and small, are available for clinical instruction. Over 4,000 patients were treated last year.

The Law School, The School of Pharmacy, The Dental School, and The School of Commerce

Northwestern University Building, which contains the Law School, the School of Pharmacy, the Dental School and the School of Commerce, is located at the south-east corner of Lake and Dearborn Streets, Chicago. This property was acquired by the University in 1901 at large cost and was remodeled for the use of these departments. The Chicago office of the President and the office of the Business Manager of the University are in this building. The Law School occupies the entire third floor, containing a floor space of twenty-three thousand square feet. The quarters are commodious and handsomely equipped and include two lecture rooms, a court room, an alumni room, an assembly room, and several studies for students; two hundred lockers, the office rooms and rooms for professors. The library and reading-room occupy five thousand square feet of floor space. The assembly room, a place for rest and conversation, is spacious and well equipped.

The School of Pharmacy occupies the whole of the fourth floor. The Dental School occupies the fifth, sixth, and seventh floors.

The situation of these schools, in the heart of Chicago, affords unexcelled advantages.

The School of Music

Music Hall is situated on Willard Hall Campus, a short distance west of the University Campus. It was erected as a home for the School of Music in 1897, and is substantially built of stone and brick, with a tile roof, and is finished in pine. It contains thirty-two rooms besides a well arranged concert hall seating over three hundred. Fourteen of the rooms are used for teaching purposes and the remainder for practice. The Hall is provided with a large stage and a two manual pipe organ with pedals. The School of Music uses for its various purposes thirty-eight pianos, both grands and up-rights.

The Preparatory Schools

Fisk Hall, erected in 1898, the gift of Mr. William Deering, is devoted to the Evanston Academy. It was named in honor of Professor Herbert F. Fisk, Principal of the Academy from 1873 until 1904. The building is a three-story Romanesque structure of brick and terra cotta, with stone trimmings and a tile roof. It stands at the south end of the campus with a frontage of 180 feet on Sheridan Road. The woodwork is of quartered oak, and the heating, lighting, and ventilating appointments are excellent. A fine three manual Casavant pipe organ is in the chapel, and is used for Chapel purposes by the College and the Academy, as well as for practice purposes by organ students in the School of Music.

Hatfield House, the Academy dormitory for boys, erected in 1890, is situated on the University campus. In 1906, through the generosity of Mr. James A. Patten, of Evanston, it was remodeled as a modern and well-equipped dormitory for twenty-five boys. The rooms are in suites, consisting of a study and two well-lighted bed-rooms with wardrobes.

Grand Prairie Seminary, situated at Onarga, Illinois, has three buildings, an Auditorium seating six hundred persons, a Recitation Hall, and a Dormitory for women. The campus on which these buildings are situated consists of about six acres of beautifully shaded ground.

Elgin Academy has two well constructed buildings, situated in the most elevated portion of the city of Elgin. The main building is a three-story brick structure used for general class-room purposes. Lovell Science Hall was erected in 1888 through the generosity of Mrs. Vincent S. Lovell.

Garrett Biblical Institute

Memorial Hall, a handsome building of pressed brick, was erected on the campus for Garrett Biblical Institute in 1887. It contains the library and lecture rooms of the Institute and a chapel with seating capacity for about five hundred. The chapel windows are adorned with elaborate designs in rich cathedral class, in harmony with the ideal of the hall, which was erected as a memorial to deceased professors of the Institute and of others well known for interest in theological studies. During the summer of 1906 a fire-proof addition was completed for the Library and Archæological Museum, which has been recently endowed.

Heck Hall, a dormitory, was erected in 1867. It is a brick building, five stories in height, heated by steam and lighted by electricity. The rooms are in suites consisting of study, bed-room, and wardrobe.

The School of Oratory

Annie May Swift Hall was erected during the year 1895. The style of architecture is Venetian. The lower part of the building is of rock-faced Lemont limestone, and the upper stories of buff-colored Roman brick and terra cotta. The roof is of red tile. The building is heated by steam and lighted by electricity. It was named in memory of a deceased daughter of the late Mr. Gustavus F. Swift, of Chicago, a trustee of the University and the largest contributor toward the erection of the building. On the first floor are an auditorium, reading-room, and reception rooms. The second story is divided into fifteen rooms for private instruction.

Libraries

The main library, housed in the Orrington Lunt Library building on the University Campus contains the collection of the College of Liberal Arts, the College of Engineering, and the School of Music, and Evanston Academy. This library is at the service of all members of the University. Persons not connected with the University, desiring to use the library for purposes of study, may be granted library privileges. Additions to the library are made at the rate of about three thousand volumes a year. The library includes special collections known as the Greenleaf Collection and the Schneider Collection.

The Greenleaf Collection, the gift of the late Mr. Luther L. Greenleaf of Evanston, contains 11,246 bound volumes and a large and valuable assortment of unbound dissertations and monographs, chiefly publications of foreign universities and learned societies. It is unusually complete in Greek and Latin classics, every author being represented by the best editions from the earliest to a recent date. It contains also a choice selection of standard works in German, and other Modern languages. In the departments of history, philosophy, theology, and the fine arts, there are many works of unique value.

The Schneider Collection is the German section of the library, added in 1898 through the generosity of German citizens of Chicago, and numbers 2,533 volumes. It includes many first editions of standard authors, original prints from the period of the Reformation, and a large collection of annuals, Musenalmanache and Taschenbücher, of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

The Library of the Medical School, known as the Alumni Library, has been acquired by purchase, and by donations from students, alumni, and members of the faculty. It contains a large number of reference books and dictionaries, and all of the larger systems of Medicine and Surgery. Each department of instruction in the School is well represented, and all of the more important recent works in the various departments of instruction are added to the Library as they appear.

The Library of the Law School is centrally located in the rooms of the School. The space devoted to it is divided into large alcoves, each containing a table and comfortable chairs. The library is well stocked with reports and necessary works of reference, and is being rapidly increased. Its equipment makes it pre-eminently adapted to work of investigation. A fuller description of this library is given on page 199.

The Library of the School of Music is composed of orchestral scores, orchestral parts, four and eight-hand piano arrangements and chorus music in ample quantities to conduct properly the orchestral, chamber music, ensemble, and chorus classes. The music section of the general library, embracing reference works, general works, and special works on music to the number of 164 volumes is housed in Music Hall, where it is accessible to students of the College of Liberal Arts and of the School of Music.

The Library of Garrett Biblical Institute is in Memorial Hall. It has been collected to meet the needs of theological students, and is well selected and conveniently arranged. A rare collection of Methodist literature, the largest and richest collection in existence, has been given to this library by Mr. William Deering.

STATISTICS

Students residing in Evanston and non-residents by special arrangement, have free use of the Evanston Public Library, containing 45,000 volumes. In Chicago students have access to the Chicago Public Library, 369,247 volumes; the John Crerar Library, 246,353 volumes; the Newberry Library, 250,000 volumes; and the Library of the Chicago Historical Society, 50,000 volumes.

Museums

The Museum of the College of Liberal Arts was for many years the object of special attention on the part of the late Professor Oliver Marcy. It contains several thousand rare and valuable specimens, and is divided into sections as follows: Anthropology, Botany, Geology, Mineralogy, and Zoölogy.

The section of Mineralogy is in the laboratory of Mineralogy and Metallurgy; the other sections, on the fourth floor of University Hall, and in the rooms of the departments of Botany, Geology, and Zoology.

The Anthropology Section comprises about 8,000 specimens in aboriginal archaeology, and has been developed largely through the interest of Dr. William A. Phillips of Evanston. Primitive ceramic art in the United States is well represented by several hundred specimens from the mounds of Illinois, Wisconsin, Kentucky, and Missouri. Primitive work in stone and copper is represented by collections from various parts of the United States and from England. During recent years a collection of material from the cliff-dwellings of the pueblos of New Mexico has been added to the Museum.

The Botany Section is made up chiefly of gifts received from alumni and friends of the College and of collections made by students and instructors. It contains about fifteen thousand specimens. It includes collections made by Robert Kennicott from the Red River of the North; by Vasey from the Rocky Mountains; by Thomas and Bentley, and by I. A. Lapham, from Southern Illinois; also collections from New England and New York, the Lake Superior region, and Cook County, Illinois. The Henry H. Babcock Herbarium, donated in 1887 by Mrs. Mary Keyes Babcock, of Kenilworth, is systematically arranged, handsomely provided with substantial cases, and contains specimens from all quarters of the globe, in number about five thousand.

The Geology Section contains typical rocks from this country and Europe. These exhibit the variations in structure and texture of the large groups of sedimentary, metamorphic, and igneous rocks, and also show the rock formations in the geological column from the more ancient to the recent rocks. The series of fossils, of plants, and of animals, are extensive, containing characteristic fossils of the different geologic periods. The collections that are especially valuable are: 1, Cretaceous and Tertiary fossils, the gift of the Smithsonian Institution; 2, fossils and rocks from the Illinois Geographical Survey; 3, Niagara fossils from Chicago and Racine, including type specimens; 4, Illinois Carboniferous flora, largely from Grundy County; 5, miscellaneous specimens from many parts of the world.

The Mineralogy Section contains specimens of most of the mineral and rock species in numbers sufficient to illustrate fully characteristics and occurrence. In addition to the general collection are the Ayers loan-collection; additions from the Columbian Exposition, consisting chiefly of mass specimens and illustrations of economic ores; the Tyler collection, containing many crystals, notably good calcites; and a rare collection of azurites and malachites.

The Zoology Section contains: 1, the mammals, birds, reptiles, and batrachians indigenous to Illinois; 2, the mammals and birds of the New South Wales exhibit at the Columbian Exposition, the kangaroos and lemurs, the platypus and the echidna, the emu and the cassowary, the rifle-bird, the regent, the lyre-bird, and the apteryx from New Zealand—in all four hundred fifty specimens, a very complete presentation of that strange fauna; 3, a series of corals, and a series of birds from the Philippine Islands, including what is thought to be all the species of cuckoos and parrots for that locality; 4, a series of skeletons, prepared by Ward, including the elephant, the whale, the American crocodile, and skeletons of birds and of fishes; 5, about 30,000 miscellaneous specimens, including large animals such as the moose, the buffalo, the Virginia deer, the white bear, and the reindeer; birds from India, Central America, Brazil, British Guiana, Norway, and Russia; a collection of 15,000 marine and fresh-water shells; a large collection of fish donated by the Smithsonian Institution; fish from Lake Michigan, prepared by Dr. William A. Phillips; and a multitude of low forms of marine life, collected by Professor William North Rice, of Middletown, Connecticut.

Owing to lack of room and suitable cases much of the material of the Museum is not now on exhibition, but is stored awaiting a proper building. The main part of the Mineralogy section is on exhibit, and specimens in the other sections especially helpful in teaching are available.

The Museum of the Medical School is arranged on the second floor of the Laboratory Building and contains preparations and specimens illustrative of normal, pathological, and comparative anatomy. The specimens are preserved in natural colors by the Kayserling method and are unusually well adapted for the purposes of instruction.

The Museum of the School of Pharmacy, situated on the fourth floor of the University Building in Chicago, is exceptionally complete in exhibits of drugs, chemicals, preparations, and apparatus.

The Museum of the Dental School includes: 1, specimens to illustrate comparative anatomy, heads with teeth, of fish, reptiles, saurians, and of the several orders of mammals; 2, an exceptionally complete and valuable set of specimens of the human skull, with dissections in a series showing the development of the teeth and the roots from the first appearance to the adult; 3, a large collection of abnormal formations of the human teeth, collected by students, by alumni, and by members of the dental profession.

The Museum of Garrett Biblical Institute—A Museum of Christian Antiquities, endowed in memory of the Reverend Charles W. Bennett, Professor of Church History, is now being installed in Garrett Biblical Institute. Pictorial illustrations of the early Christian Art found in the Catacombs are already on the walls. Various Christian antiquities have been purchased abroad, and as soon as they are in place the Museum will be open to the public.

The University Guild

The University Guild is an association of women, most of them residents of Evanston, who seek to secure for the University valuable works of art and to cultivate, by means of frequent lectures and discussions, artistic taste in matters of common life. The Guild holds monthly meetings in its rooms in Orrington Lunt Library. The Guild rooms are open to the public every Wednesday afternoon throughout the year.

The Art Collection of the Guild includes a fine collection of pottery and porcelain, including handsome specimens from the most noted foreign and American factories. There are fifteen specimens of Doulton ware, including the famous Lambeth Faience Vase, six feet three inches in height, and two feet six inches in diameter. There are handsome specimens of French bronze and of Venetian, Bohemian and Tiffany glass. The collection also includes several plaster casts presented by the French Government, twenty busts of eminent scholars, Thorwaldsen's Mercury, Venus, Hebe, and the Shepherdess. The nucleus of a choice collection of oil and water color paintings, engravings, etchings, photographs, prints, and of miscellaneous articles has been acquired, to which additions are being made from year to year.

The Guild supports scholarships in the University and in the Art Institute of Chicago, and provides lectures for students. It also maintains a membership in the Municipal Art League of Chicago under which Gallery Tours are conducted through the Art Exhibits. The Guild in 1908 established art courses in the College of Liberal Arts. The instructor is known as the University Guild Lecturer on the Principles of Art. These courses are open to college students and townspeople alike at a nominal fee. See page 117.

Northwestern University Settlement

An association composed of alumni and friends of the University maintains, in Chicago, a social settlement known as the Northwestern University Settlement. The building, at the corner of Augusta and Noble Streets, is held in trust by the University for the use of the Settlement; it is a four-story brick structure, 60 by 78 feet, looking south upon two small gardens and having a space 30 by 78 feet on the north for an auditorium, gymnasium, and baths. On the ground floor are the kindergarten, club rooms for men, and boiler room. The main floor contains the kitchen, coffee house, reception room, office, and library. Five large connected club rooms, one of which is used as the house dining room, and the domestic science room, and the serving room occupy the second floor. The third floor contains rooms for thirteen residents.

The object of the Settlement is the intellectual and social improvement of the neglected city population. The settlement is located on the edge of the large Polish Quarter of the city, and in the heart of the most densely populated district in Chicago. The resident group is composed of men and women engaged in educational, professional, and public service who wish to come into living contact with the people who bear the burden of the industrial world. Opportunity is here offered to undergraduates for philanthropic work and practical acquaintance with sociological problems.

The general expenses of the Settlement are met by membership subscriptions and voluntary contributions.

University Publications

The University publishes the Northwestern University Bulletin, issued weekly during the academic year. In this series are included the General Catalogue of the University, the catalogues and other circulars of the various Schools, several issues of the Alumni News Letter, sent to every alumnus of the University, and other news bulletins to stimulate the interest of the public in the work of the University.

The Northwestern University Dental Journal is issued quarterly, and the Illinois Law Review each month. The first is the organ of the Alumni Association of the Dental School. The Illinois Law Review is controlled by an association composed of alumni, members of the Faculty, students of the Law School, and the practising lawyers of Chicago. The students of the College of Liberal Arts publish a tri-weekly, The Northwestern; a literary periodical, the Northwestern Magazine; and an annual known as the Syllabus. The students of the Evanston Academy publish the Bear; the students of the Grand Prairie Seminary, The Seminary Breeze.

The Fund for the Promotion of International Peace and Christian Unity

On April 1, 1909 Mr. John R. Lindgren donated $25,000 to Northwestern University for the purpose of promoting International Peace and of furthering Interdenominational Harmony and the intimate unity of Christendom.

This is to be accomplished by holding conferences at such times as may be deemed expedient. The conferences are to be opened by an address from some distinguished advocate of International Peace, or Christian Unity, followed by a free discussion of the topics and of the propositions introduced. If it is deemed advisable, prizes may be offered for essays upon topics relating to the purposes of the fund.

The committee consists of Dr. Charles Joseph Little, President of Garrett Biblical Institute; Dr. Abram Wingardner Harris, President of Northwestern University; Mr. John Richard Lindgren, Trustee of Northwestern University; Mr. Helge Alexander Haugan*; and Dr. Henry Clay Mabie, Rochester, New York.

Public Lectures and Concerts

The Norman W. Harris Lectures—These lectures, given annually, are endowed by a gift of Mr. Norman Wait Harris of Chicago. In his letter of gift the donor expressed the desire "that the fund should be used to stimulate scientific research of the highest type and to bring the result of such research before the students and friends of the Northwestern University, and through them before the world." The term "scientific research" was used to mean "scholarly investigation in any department of human thought or effort, without limitation to research in the so-called natural sciences, but with a desire that such investigation should be extended to cover the whole field of human knowledge." The lectures given on this foundation are published by the University.

The Fourth Course of Lectures is to be given in February, 1909, by Professor Eduard Meyer, of the University of Berlin, on the subject "Constitutions and Political Theories of Greece."

The Committee on the Norman Harris W. Lectures is: Dr. Abram W. Harris, Dean Thomas F. Holgate, Professor James Taft Hatfield, and Professor Norman Dwight Harris.

Many lectures and evening courses and concerts, open to students and to the general public, are given under the auspices of the University or of its various organizations.

College of Liberal Arts

THE College of Liberal Arts, the first school of the University to be organized, was opened to students on November 5, 1855. The courses of study are designed to afford a broad and liberal culture without direct reference to a professional career though forming a valuable preparation for it and for the highest effectiveness in business and administrative occupations. The curriculum leads to the degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science. Graduate courses are offered in advance of those open to the ordinary undergraduate and lead to the degrees of Master of Arts, Master of Science, and Doctor of Philosophy.

The site of the College of Liberal Arts is Evanston, next to Chicago, twelve miles north from the business center. The University charter contains a prohibition of saloons within four miles of the campus and the law is enforced. The city is situated on Lake Michigan, is distinguished for its wealth, its beauty, and public spirit, and possesses the academic charm that makes it an ideal college town.

The campus extends for three-quarters of a mile along the shore of the lake, and is bordered by Sheridan Road on the west. On the main campus, besides the College of Liberal Arts, are the College of Engineering, the University Library, Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston Academy, the old and new gymnasiums, and the United States Life Saving Station. Willard Hall campus contains the School of Music and the women's dormitories.

The College is fortunate in its environment. Students have access to churches, lectures, and concerts in Evanston and Chicago that supplement in a broad and stimulating way the instruction of the class room.

The educational aim of the College is not to deal with students in the mass, but to bring student and instructor together into intellectual association and co-operation, and to provide such facilities for the student as will enable him to make the most of his time and energy. In numbers, the College ranks among the larger ones of the country, but it cherishes the responsibility of the faculty to the individual student.

Combined courses of study permit the prospective student of medicine, law, or theology to save a year in the attainment of his professional degree.

Requirements for Admission

Candidates for admission to the College of Liberal Arts must be at least sixteen years of age, and must present certificates of scholarship from the institutions which they last attended, showing in detail the studies pursued in preparation for college, and bearing the recommendation of the principal for admission to this College.

Blank forms for certificates may be had on application to the Registrar, and should be returned to him, properly filled out, at least one week before the opening of the college year.

EXAMINATIONS FOR ADMISSION

The regular examinations for admission to the College of Liberal Arts are held on the first Monday and Tuesday of the college year. The dates for the year 1910 are September 19 and 20. Candidates may be examined and admitted at other times if prepared to enter classes at an advanced point in the regular courses, but they are advised to enter at the beginning of the college year.

The Board of Examiners will accept, in lieu of its own examinations, those conducted by the College Entrance Examination Board. This Board holds examinations in June in Northwestern University Building, Chicago.

ADMISSION BY CERTIFICATE

Students from an accredited academy or high school may be admitted to college on certificate without examination, provided they present themselves for admission not later than a year and three months after graduation. In case the preparation of a student admitted on certificate is found in the first semester to be unsatisfactory, he will be required to complete his preparation in a fitting-school or in such other way as may be determined.

PRELIMINARY EDUCATION

Either by examination or by certificate, candidates for admission must give evidence of preparation in fifteen units of high school work chosen from the schedule below. These must include three units of English; one and a half units of algebra; one unit of plane geometry; one unit of history, preferably ancient history; one unit of science, preferably physics; and four units of foreign languages.

The unit is a course of study requiring a daily recitation on a prepared subject for a full school year, and covering the subject matter described in the paragraphs below. Two hours of laboratory work are counted as the equivalent of one hour of prepared work.

A candidate may be admitted to college as a regular student with not more than one unit of condition, but all entrance conditions must be made up during the first year of residence.

In special cases, where a candidate is not able to meet the requirements relating to specific subjects, but can present the full equivalent of the total requirement, he may by a vote of the Faculty or of the Board of Examiners be admitted as a regular student; but this provision will not release a candidate from any of the studies specified for admission or required for a degree.

ADMISSION SUBJECTS

The subjects which may be presented for entrance credit are shown in the following table and are described under the various group headings below. The Board of Examiners may at their discretion accept credit in other subjects, provided the work has been done in a manner approved both as to quality and quantity.

English.....	3 units	Botany.....	1 unit
Algebra.....	1½ units	Zoölogy.....	1 unit
Plane Geometry.....	1 unit	Botany and Zoölogy.....	1 unit

Physiography.....	½ or 1 unit	Manual Training.....	1 unit
Physics.....	1 unit

GROUP A

The subjects in this group are required of all candidates.

1. English—The character and amount of preparation required is indicated in the program which follows, but the arrangement of the work is not prescribed. It is expected that the English work will be distributed over four years of the secondary school course. Three units.

(a) Language—Spelling, punctuation, grammar, paragraphing, the fundamental principles of rhetoric, reading, practice in writing compositions based on the student's personal experience. At least eight exercises of not less than three hundred words each are required. Descriptions of scenes or objects actually witnessed by the writers, narrations based on personal experiences, and arguments on specific questions will be accepted.

(b) Literature—The following books are to be read. The student should acquire a knowledge of the subject-matter and of the main facts in the lives of the authors, and should practice writing short compositions on subjects drawn from the reading. 1910-1911:—

I. Two to be selected from: Shakespeare's As You Like It, Henry V, Julius Caesar, The Merchant of Venice, Twelfth Night.

II. One to be selected from: Bacon's Essays; Bunyan's The Pilgrim's Progress, Part I; The Sir Roger de Coverley Papers in the Spectator; Franklin's Autobiography.

III. One to be selected from: Chaucer's Prologue; Selections from Spenser's Faerie Queen; Pope's The Rape of the Lock; Goldsmith's The Deserted Village; Palgrave's Golden Treasury, First Series, Books II and III, with special attention to Dryden, Collins, Gray, Cowper, and Burns.

IV. Two to be selected from: Goldsmith's The Vicar of Wakefield; Scott's Ivanhoe and Quentin Durward; Hawthorne's The House of the Seven Gables; Thackeray's Henry Esmond; Mrs Gaskell's Cranford; Dickens' A Tale of Two Cities; George Eliot's Silas Marner; Blackmore's Lorna Doone.

V. Two to be selected from Irving's Sketch Book; Irving's Life of Goldsmith; Lamb's Essays of Elia; DeQuincey's Joan of Arc and The English Mail Coach; Carlyle's Heroes and Hero Worship; Emerson's Essays; Ruskin's Sesame and Lilies.

VI. Two to be selected from: Coleridge's The Ancient Mariner; Scott's The Lady of the Lake; Byron's Mazeppa and the Prisoner of Chillon; Palgrave's Golden Treasury, First Series, Book IV, with special attention to Wordsworth, Keats, and Shelley; Macaulay's Lays of Ancient Rome; Poe's Poems; Lowell's The Vision of Sir Launfal; Arnold's Sohrab and Rustum; Longfellow's The Courtship of Miles Standish; Tennyson's Gareth and Lynette, Lancelot and Elaine, and The Passing of Arthur; Browning's Cavalier Tunes, The Lost Leader, How They Brought the Good News from Ghent to Aix, Evelyn Hope, Home Thoughts from Abroad, Home Thoughts from the Sea, Incident of the French Camp, The Boy and the Angel, One Word More, Hervé Riel, Pheidippides.

(c) Literature—The student is expected to make a thorough study of each of the works named below, accompanied by practice in composition. 1910-1911:—

Shakespeare's Macbeth or Julius Cæsar; Milton's Lycidas, Comus, L'Allegro, and Il Penseroso; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America or Washington's Farewell Address and Webster's first Bunker Hill oration; Macaulay's Life of Johnson or Macaulay's Essay on Milton, or Carlyle's Essay on Burns.

2. Mathematics—It is recommended that the work in Mathematics be extended over at least three years of the high school course, and especially that work be given in this subject in the last year. A good arrangement is as follows: first year, five hours a week, algebra; second year, five hours a week, plane geometry; fourth year, five hours a week for the first half-year, solid geometry; second half-year, algebra.

(a) Algebra—Factoring, common divisors and multiples, fractions, simple equations of one or more unknown quantities, involution, evolution theory of exponents, and radicals. Special attention should be given to the statement of problems in the form of equations. One unit.

(b) Algebra—A review of the previous work and a thorough study of radicals, equations involving radicals, quadratic equations with one or two unknown quantities, and equations solved as quadratics. One half unit.

(c) Plane Geometry—A course equivalent to that contained in Holgate's Geometry, with the solution of a large number of exercises and numerical problems. One unit.

3. History—The requirement is one unit of history, preferably Ancient History, No. 27. If a candidate cannot present a year of Ancient History, he may substitute for it a full unit of History chosen from Nos. 28, 29, and 30, or a unit of General History.

4. Science—One unit of Science, preferably Physics, No. 23, is required of all applicants. A candidate who cannot present a unit of Physics, may substitute for it a unit of Biology, No. 24 or 25, or a unit of Chemistry, No. 26, or a full unit of Physiography, No. 22.

GROUP B

Foreign Languages—Candidates must present four units of Foreign Languages and are advised to present at least two units of credit in Latin. A single unit of a foreign language will be accepted for entrance credit only on condition that the study of that language be continued through a second year.

6. Greek (a)—Grammar, White's First Greek Book, or an equivalent. One unit.

7. Greek (b)—Xenophon's Anabasis, Books I, II, and III; Jones' Greek Prose Composition, or an equivalent, thirty lessons. One unit.

8. Greek (c)—Anabasis Book IV; Prose Composition, lessons thirty to forty; Homer, Iliad, or Odyssey, 1,800 lines. One unit.

9. Latin (a)—Grammar; Cæsar's Gallic War, ten pages, or twenty pages of Viri Romæ, with retranslation of English into Latin. One unit.

10. Latin (b)—Cæsar's Gallic War, four Books, completed; Latin Composition. One unit.

11. Latin (c)—Cicero, six orations, including the Manilian Law; Latin Composition. One unit.

12. Latin (d)—Virgil, six books of the Aeneid. It is desired that the student's acquaintance with Virgil be not limited to the requirement. By private reading, and by sight reading in class, the Bucolics and a considerable portion of the Aeneid may with advantage be added to the amount prescribed. One unit.

13. French (a)—Correct pronunciation; elementary grammar, with exercises, including the irregular verbs; the reading of from one hundred and fifty to two hundred pages of easy French prose. One unit.

14. French (b)—Elementary grammar completed; easy composition, based on one of the works read; the reading of two hundred and fifty to three hundred pages of French prose. One unit.

15. French (c)—Study of the difficulties of French syntax and idioms; translation into French from text-book and easy original compositions; the reading of not less than six hundred pages of at least five standard authors; ability to take grammatical dictations and to understand and answer questions in French. One unit.

16. German (a)—Pronunciation; the memorizing of easy colloquial sentences; the rudiments of grammar, inflection of the articles, ordinary nouns, adjectives, pronouns, weak verbs, and the more usual strong verbs; the use of the more common prepositions; the simpler uses of modal auxiliaries and the elementary rules of syntax and word-order; abundant easy exercises; the reading of from seventy-five to one hundred pages of graduated texts. One unit.

17. German (b)—The reading of from one hundred and fifty to two hundred pages of literature in the form of easy stories and plays; translation into German of matter based on works read; continued drill upon rudiments of grammar. One unit.

18. I. German (c)—The reading of about four hundred pages of moderately difficult prose and poetry; retranslation into German; grammatical drill on the less usual strong verbs; the use of articles, cases, auxiliaries, tenses and modes, word-order and word-formation. One unit.

18. II. German (d)—The reading of about five hundred pages of good literature in prose and poetry; reference reading upon the lives of the great writers studied; writing in German of numerous short themes on assigned subjects; independent translation of English into German. One unit.

19. Spanish (a)—Correct pronunciation; the rudiments of grammar, including the conjugation of the regular and the more common irregular verbs; sufficient translation from English into Spanish to illustrate the principles of grammar; the reading of from one hundred and fifty to two hundred duo-decimo pages of graduated texts. One unit.

20. Spanish (b)—Continued study of grammar and syntax; mastery of the irregular verbs and the use of modes and tenses; advanced composition; the reading of from three hundred to four hundred pages of modern prose from different authors illustrating the tendencies of modern Spanish literature; a unified knowledge of Spanish literature of the nineteenth century. One unit.

GROUP C

The following subjects may be presented for elective credit to complete the requirement of fifteen units.

21. Mathematics (a)—Algebra, including ratio and proportion, variation, progressions, permutations and combinations, binomial theorem, logarithms and their application to interest and annuities, introduction to determinants, theory of equations and series. One-half unit.

(b) Plane Trigonometry, including the solution of oblique triangles. Consistent employment of ratio definitions of the trigonometric functions and ability to verify numerical computations are expected. One-half unit.

(c) Solid Geometry, a course equivalent to that contained in Holgate's Elementary Geometry, including numerous exercises and problems. One-half unit.

22. Physiography—The earth as a planet, the atmosphere, the climate, the ocean, and the land. Emphasis should be placed especially on the topographic features of the land, their origin and significance. Some recent text-book should form the basis for the course, and it should be supplemented by laboratory work. One-half unit or one unit.

23. Physics—A course equivalent to that contained in Millikan and Gale's First Course in Physics. The candidate must present evidence of familiarity with the general principles of physical science, especially the simpler principles and phenomena which are constantly illustrated in daily life, such as the pendulum, hydrostatics, water waves, pitch and intensity of sound, heat conduction, boiling, freezing, simple lenses, mirrors, prisms, magnets, lines of force, voltaic cells, galvanometers. It is also required that a course of laboratory work shall have been pursued in connection with the text-book, equivalent to at least forty exercises from Crew and Tatnall's Laboratory Manual of Physics, and that accurate notes descriptive of the experiments shall have been kept. One unit.

24. Botany—The study of plants as living organisms, with special regard to function, structure, and relation to environment. Each recitation or quiz period should be preceded by two hours of laboratory work. Atkinson's Lessons in Botany and Bergen's Foundations of Botany are satisfactory texts. Each pupil should perform the experiments and demonstrations for himself and should keep a neat and accurate notebook showing the work done and the conclusions reached. One unit, or a half-unit if accompanied by a half-unit of Zoölogy.

25. Zoölogy—The study for one year of animal structure, habits, and general life history by the laboratory method under a competent teacher will be accepted as a full unit of credit. Linville and Kelley's Text-Book on General Zoölogy, Kellogg's Elementary Zoölogy, and Animal Studies by Jordan, Kellogg, and Heath are among the text-books approved. Emphasis should be placed on training in observation, in accuracy in drawing, and expression in the note-books. One unit, or a half-unit if accompanied by a half-unit of Botany.

26. Chemistry—Laboratory work should be made an essential feature of the study, and may well take one-half of the total time assignment. Careful and systematic notes of his individual work should be made by the student. Quantitative experiments are recommended both for training and in order to illustrate the fundamental laws. Purely descriptive work should be limited to comparatively few elements and compounds. One unit.

27. Ancient History—A study of the history of Greece and Rome. West's Ancient History, or Botsford's Greece and Rome, or an equivalent, with supplementary reading. One unit.

28. Mediaeval and Modern European History—Myers' Mediaeval and Modern History, or an equivalent, with supplementary reading. One unit.

29. English History—A study of the political and constitutional development of England. Larned's English History or an equivalent. One unit, or one-half unit.

30. American History—Channing's Students' History of the United States, or an equivalent. One unit, or one-half unit.

31. Civil Government—James and Sanford's Government in State and Nation, or an equivalent. One half-unit.

32. Political Economy—Thurston's Economics and Industrial History, or an equivalent. One unit or one-half unit.

33. Manual Training—Joinery, wood-turning, pattern making, forging, welding, and tempering. Woodward's The Manual Training School describes the usual exercises. If a laboratory manual is not used the student should write up each exercise carefully, as in other laboratory work. One unit. This work will require at least five hours a week in the shop through two years.

ADMISSION AS SPECIAL STUDENTS

On the recommendation of the Committee on Registration and Special Students, persons of serious purpose and mature years may be admitted to college as special students to pursue selected studies. Applications for such admission must be accompanied by evidence of qualification to carry on the proposed work to advantage, but no persons will be so admitted for courses which might be pursued in a secondary school. In general, special students are expected to meet the full entrance requirements.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

Students from other colleges seeking admission to this college must present evidence of honorable dismissal from the institution last attended and must present certificates showing the grades of credit for the subjects pursued elsewhere, with the number of weeks and the number of hours a week the respective studies were followed. Students from other colleges must meet the entrance requirements to this College. The amount of advanced credit to be obtained by certificate from another institution is determined by a committee of the Faculty, and is finally adjusted only after the student has been in residence in this college for one semester. Advanced credit without examination will be given only for work done in an approved college. Claims for advanced credit must be made during the first year of residence and not later than September of the collegiate year in which the candidate expects to graduate.

ACCREDITED SCHOOLS

High schools and academies are placed on the accredited list of the University by action of the Faculty, upon the recommendation of the Committee on Accredited Schools. This relation implies that the certificates of the school properly attested will be accepted at their face value toward meeting the requirements for admission. Graduation from an accredited school is not in itself sufficient evidence of qualification for admission.

Superintendents or principals desiring to have their schools placed on the Accredited list should make application to the Chairman of the Committee on Accredited Schools, who will provide for a proper inspection. The letter of application should give the names of all teachers, with a statement of their preparation and of their experience as teachers; a careful statement of the methods pursued in teaching mathematics, languages, and sciences; the amount and kind of scientific apparatus and the library facilities accessible to students. The letter should be accompanied by the latest printed catalogue or annual report of the school, containing an outline of the course of study and a list of the text-books used.

The schools which are placed on the accredited list will continue to be accredited for three years, unless the Faculty within this period becomes satisfied that changes have occurred making further inspection desirable.

Undergraduate Studies

The courses of study offered in the College of Liberal Arts are listed under the several department headings beginning on page 81. These are for the most part elective, but certain courses shown in the schedules below are required of all candidates for a degree.

The credit assigned to a course is expressed in hours, an hour of credit being given for the satisfactory completion of work requiring one class exercise a week for one semester. As a condition of graduation, a student must complete one hundred and twenty semester hours of work, including the prescribed courses,—this being the equivalent of fifteen class exercises a week for four years.

In making up his program of studies for any year the student must give precedence to prescribed courses and in the order in which they are designated in the schedules. Except by special permission of the Committee on Registration, he must take in addition to the prescribed courses for which he is due, elective work sufficient to make a total of fifteen class exercises a week.

COURSES FOR FIRST YEAR STUDENTS

In their first year of residence students are required to register for English Language, Mathematics, one foreign language, and a second foreign language or a science. Elective studies, if any, must be confined to the following list of courses, with the provision, however, that a student properly qualified may enter a more advanced course in one of the departments listed:

Biblical Literature A Botany A Chemistry A Elocution A
English Language A French AA, AB, and A Geology A₂
German AA, AB, and A Greek AA, AB, and A History A, E, and H
Latin A
Mathematics A₁, A₂, A₃, and A₄
Physical Culture A Physics A Zoölogy A

First year students are required to take physical training three hours a week under the supervision of the department of Physical Culture.

SCHEDULE OF REQUIRED STUDIES

Prescribed Courses for the Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

I.	Mathematics A ₁ (see note below),.....	3 hours	1st year
II.	English Language A,.....	3 hours	1st year
III.	Two of the following, of which one must be chosen from the first two named: Latin A, Greek A, French A, German A,..... each	3 hours	1st year
[NOTE—If French or German is chosen, at least one course as advanced as Course A must be taken in college.]
IV.	English Literature A,.....	2 hours	2nd year
V.	One of the following: Physics A, Chemistry A, Zoölogy A, Botany A, Geology A ₁ , A ₂ , or B ₃ ,.....	4 hours	2nd or 3rd year
VI.	One of the following: History A, E, H, or BC, Economics A, Philosophy A ₁ , Psychology A ₁ and A ₂ ,.....	3 hours	2nd or 3rd year

NOTE—Mathematics A₃, 5 hours, or an additional ancient language in Sect. III, or a second science in Sect. V, may be substituted for Mathematics A₁.

Prescribed Courses for the Degree of Bachelor of Science.

I.	Mathematics A ₁ ,.....	3 hours	1st year
[NOTE—Mathematics A ₃ , five hours, may be substituted for this course.]
II.	English Language A,.....	3 hours	1st year
III.	French A and German A (see note below), each	3 hours	1st or 2nd year
IV.	English Literature A,.....	2 hours	2nd year
V.	Two of the following, of which one must be chosen from the first three named: Physics A, Chemistry A, Zoölogy A, Botany A, Geology A ₁ , A ₂ , or B ₃ ,..... each..	4 hours	1st, 2nd, or 3rd year
VI.	One of the following: History A, E, H, or BC, Economics A, Philosophy A ₁ , Psychology A ₁ and A ₂ ,.....	3 hours	2nd or 3rd year

NOTE—If a candidate has presented for admission to college three units of Latin or three units of Greek, either French or German may be omitted from this schedule, but in any case one course as advanced as Course A in either French or German, must be taken in college.

MAJOR AND MINOR STUDIES

The prescribed courses shown in the schedules on the preceding page are designed to secure to the student breadth of culture and to bring him into contact with the main divisions of modern study. To prevent him from scattering his energies unduly, on the other hand, and to ensure a fair degree of continuity in at least one department, and to a less degree also in a second, the student is required at a date not later than the beginning of the third year of residence, to announce a department in which he proposes to do major work, and a department in which he will do minor work. The courses constituting a major and a minor in the several departments are listed in the subjoined table, and are also stated under the department headings in the descriptions of courses.

Students are advised to give careful thought to the plan of their elective work and to the selection of their major subject as early as the beginning of the second year.

SCHEDULE OF MAJORS AND MINORS

Biblical Literature—MAJOR: Course A and seven additional year-hours including Course E. MINOR: Course A, and four additional year-hours.

Botany—MAJOR: Course A and six additional year-hours, including Course C or Course D. MINOR: Course A and three additional year-hours.

Chemistry—MAJOR: Courses A, B, and C. MINOR: Courses A and B.

Economics—MAJOR: Course A and seven additional year-hours, which must include at least two year-hours more advanced than the courses of the B-group. MINOR: Course A and three additional year-hours.

Education—MAJOR: Course A, or Course J, or Courses B and C, and seven additional year-hours, which must include Course K and either Course D or Course G. MINOR: Course A, or Course J, or Courses B and C, and three additional year-hours not taken concurrently with these.

English Language—MAJOR: Courses A and B, and six additional year-hours, which must include one of the Courses C, D, or H, and may include English Literature D. MINOR: Courses A and B and two additional year-hours.

English Literature—MAJOR: Course A and nine additional year-hours, which must include Course C or D, and may include English Language D. MINOR: Course A and four additional year-hours, of which not more than two year-hours may be taken concurrently with Course A.

Geology—MAJOR: Course A1 or A2 and six additional year-hours, which must include one of the C-Courses. MINOR: Course A1 or A2, or B3, and two additional year-hours not taken concurrently with these courses.

German Language and Literature—MAJOR: Courses A and B, and six additional year-hours, which must include Course D. MINOR: Courses A and B.

Latin Language and Literature—MAJOR: Courses A, B, J, C or D, and E or F. MINOR: Courses A and B.

Mathematics—MAJOR: Courses A1 and A2 (or Course A3), B1, and six additional year-hours, which must include at least one C-course. MINOR: Courses A1 and A2, (or Course A3) and either B1 or B2.

Philosophy—MAJOR: Course A1 (or Psychology A1 and Philosophy A2), and seven additional year-hours, which must include Course C1. MINOR: Course A1, (or Psychology A1 and Philosophy A2), and three additional year-hours.

Physics—MAJOR: Courses A, B, and C. MINOR: Courses A and B.

Psychology—MAJOR: Ten-year hours including Course C1. MINOR: Courses A1 and A2 (or Philosophy A2), and three additional year-hours.

Romance Languages—MAJOR: Courses A and B in French, and six additional year-hours, which must include at least two year-hours in French more advanced than Course B. MINOR: Courses A and B in French.

Scandinavian Languages—MINOR: Six year-hours more advanced than Course AA.

Semitic Languages—MINOR: Courses A and B.

Zoology—MAJOR: Course A and six additional year-hours. MINOR: Course A and two additional year-hours not taken concurrently with Course A.

FACULTY ADVISERS

Each undergraduate student on entering College is assigned to a member of the Faculty who is to act as his adviser and give him helpful counsel relating to his college life. At the beginning of the third year when the student makes choice of the department in which he will do major work, the instructor under whom he takes his principal courses becomes his adviser and should be consulted freely on all matters relating to subsequent registrations. The student is required to submit his choice of studies for each year to his adviser and obtain approval of the same before completing his registration; all changes in registration during the year must likewise receive the adviser's approval.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

The following pages give the list of courses offered in the College of Liberal Arts for the year 1909-1910. For completeness, courses offered in alternate years are included, with a note to indicate in which years they are given. The general regulations affecting the student's choice of studies may be found on pages 76 and 77.

The courses in the various departments are divided into four groups: (1) those which may be entered without prerequisite in the department; (2) those which may be taken only after or concurrently with an introductory course, or after the completion of approximately sixty hours of credit; (3) those which may be taken only after or concurrently with a course of the second group, or after the completion of approximately ninety hours of credit; (4) those which may be taken only after or concurrently with a course of the third group.

The credit which a course bears toward meeting the requirement of one hundred and twenty semester-hours for graduation is indicated in general by the number of class exercises a week for each semester, two hours of laboratory work counting as one hour of credit. Exceptions to this are indicated in the descriptions of courses. A course not elected in any year by as many as five persons may be withdrawn at the option of the Faculty.

Departments of Instruction

Unless otherwise noted the number of hours of credit in the following courses is determined by the number of days in the week on which the classes meet.

Astronomy

PROFESSOR FOX

A. Descriptive Astronomy—A general course in Astronomy adapted to the needs of students with no previous knowledge of the subject. Open to students who have secured a credit of thirty semester hours, including Mathematics A1 or A3 and Physics A. Mon., Wed., Fri. 2. First semester.

B. Spherical and Practical Astronomy—A study of the elements of practical astronomy, its problems and the methods of solution. Practice in observing and in the reduction of observations. Open to students who have completed Course A. Second semester, Wed., Fri., 2. Work in this course will be continued during the first semester of the following year.

Biblical Literature

PROFESSOR PATTEN

MAJOR: Course A and seven additional year-hours, including Course E. MINOR: Course A and four additional year-hours.

A. Introduction to the Study of the English Bible—First semester.—Transmission of the text; genuineness; authenticity; canon. Text and lectures. Open to students who have ninety hours of credit. Mon., Wed., Fri., 3. Professor Patten.

Botany

PROFESSOR ATWELL AND DR. PENNINGTON

MAJOR: Course A and six additional year-hours, including Course C or Course D. MINOR: Course A and three additional year-hours.

A. Principles of Botany—The biology and morphology of typical plants selected from the more important natural groups. Ecology and classification receive attention during the months of October and May. Laboratory and field work, with quizzes and informal lectures. Open to all students. Credit, four year-hours. Lectures, Mon., Fri., 2. Laboratory, Tu., Th., 8 to 10, 10 to 12, or 2 to 4. Professor Atwell, Dr. Pennington, and assistants.

B. Seed Plants—Morphology, distribution, and economic uses of the more prominent plant families. Open to students who have had a year-course in Botany. Credit, three year-hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 8 to 10, Professor Atwell.

BB. Trees and Forests—The morphology, classification, habits, distribution and economic value of the trees and shrubs commonly found in American forests, especially in the north central states. Open to those who have completed one year of elementary Botany. Class room work one hour a week; field work or laboratory work two hours or more a week. Credit, two hours. Fri., 10; Wed., 10 to 12. Professor Atwell.

C. Physiology and Histology of Plants—First semester—Laboratory experiments in physiology. Second semester.—Problems in histology. Open to those who have completed Courses A and B, or a fair equivalent, or may be taken concurrently with Course B. Credit, three year-hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 10 to 12. Dr. Pennington.

D. Lower Plant Life—Comparative morphology of ferns, mosses, algæ, and fungi. Laboratory work, lectures, and field work. Books of reference are provided. Open to students who have completed Course A. May be taken concurrently with Course B. Credit, two to four year-hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 2 to 4. Dr. Pennington.

F. Problems in Physiology of Plants—Open to students who have completed Course C. Hours to be arranged. Credit, two to five hours. Dr. Pennington.

G. Special Problems in Plant Life—Problems involving original work, assigned to suit the needs of individuals. Open to students who have completed the major requirement. Credit, three to five year-hours. Time to be arranged. Professor Atwell.

Chemistry

PROFESSOR YOUNG, PROFESSOR HINES AND DR. LEWIS

MAJOR: Courses A, B, and C. MINOR: Courses A and B.

A. General Chemistry, Elementary—Text and laboratory work. Those who have had a course in elementary Chemistry, but not sufficient to qualify for Course B, may, by taking Section II, have the laboratory work modified so as to avoid unnecessary repetition of work already done. Credit is not given unless the full course is completed. Open without prerequisite. Credit, four year-hours. Class work, Section I and III, Tu., Th., 1:30 to 2:30; Section II, Mon., Fri., 4 to 5. Laboratory, Section I, Tu., Th., 2:30 to 4, Wed., 1:30 to 4; Section II, Mon., Fri., 1:30 to 4; Section III, Tu., Th., 2:30 to 5. Professor Young, Professor Hines and Dr. Lewis.

B. Qualitative Analysis; Organic Chemistry—Lectures, recitations, and laboratory work. Open to students who have completed Course A or its equivalent. Credit, four year-hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 1:30 to 4:30. Dr. Lewis.

C. Quantitative Analysis—First Semester.—Gravimetric analysis. Second semester.—Volumetric analysis. Open to students who have completed or are taking Course B. Credit, three year-hours. Tu., Th., 1:30 to 4:30. Professor Hines.

E. Advanced Course in General Chemistry—A course of reading on somewhat advanced topics. The work has been based on Ostwald's Outlines of General Chemistry. Credit is not given unless the year-course is completed. Prerequisite, Course B. Two year-hours. Wed., Fri., 10. Professor Young and Professor Hines.

H. Organic Chemistry, Advanced Course—Lectures. A systematic study of the synthetic relations of the carbon compounds. This course must be preceded by Course B. Credit, two year-hours. Time to be arranged. Dr. Lewis.

BC. Advanced Analytical Chemistry—Selected topics from the following: (a) Qualitative analysis of commercial products and of substances more complex than those analyzed in Chemistry B. (b) Quantitative analysis, special methods for the analysis of technical materials, ores, etc. Open to students who have completed Courses B and C. Credit, three year-hours. Time to be arranged. Professor Hines.

D. Sanitary and Food Analysis—Examination of water, milk, butter and other food stuffs. Open to those who have completed Course C. Credit, three year-hours. Tu., Th., 9 to 12. Dr. Lewis.

G. Topics of Investigation—Problems involving original research in organic chemistry. Open only by special permission of the instructor in charge. Credit and time to be arranged. Dr. Lewis.

I. Gas Analysis, Iron and Steel Analysis—This course must be preceded by Course C. Credit, three year-hours. Time to be arranged. Professor Hines.

Economics, Finance, and Administration

PROFESSOR HOTCHKISS, PROFESSOR HOWARD, AND PROFESSOR DEIBLER

MAJOR: Course A and seven additional year-hours, which must include at least two year-hours more advanced than the courses of the B-group.

Second semester.—Plane Analytical Geometry; an elementary course on the straight line and conic sections. In the section which meets Mon., Wed., Fri., 8, the order of subjects is reversed and this section is, for the first semester, open only to students who have presented Plane Trigonometry for admission; such students may complete a year's work in Analytical Geometry by taking the second half of Course B2. Required of all candidates for a degree except those who elect Course A3. Mon., Wed., Fri., 8, 9, 10, 11, and 2. Tu., Th., Sat., 9, 9. Professor Curtiss, Professor Wilson, Professor Morehead, Dr. Moore, and Mr. Marietta.

A2. Algebra—Ratio and proportion; the progressions; the graphical treatment of simultaneous quadratic equations; the binomial theorem for positive integral exponents; determinants; the numerical solution of equations. This course may be taken concurrently with Course A1, or may be substituted for the second half of Course A1. A half-year course given each semester. Open to all students. Mon., Wed., Fri., 11. Dr. Moore.

A3. Plane Trigonometry, and Analytical Geometry—A more extended course than Course A1, including Algebra and the elements of Differential Calculus in coördination with Plane Analytical Geometry. Open to all students. Mon., Tu., Wed., Th., Fri., 8, 10, 10. Professor Wilson, Professor Morehead, and Dr. Moore.

A4. Solid Geometry—Open to students who have not presented Solid Geometry for admission. Such students may substitute this course for the second half of Course A1. Second semester. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9. Dr. Moore.

B1. Differential and Integral Calculus—The first section continues the work of Course A3, including Calculus and an introduction to Solid Analytical Geometry. The second section continues the work of Courses A1 and A2. Mon., Wed., Fri., 8, 9. Professor Curtiss and Dr. Moore.

B2. Advanced Algebra and Analytical Geometry—First semester.—Topics in advanced Algebra, including complex quantities, determinants, and the theory of equations. Second semester.—Analytical Geometry of two and three dimensions. Either half of this course is open to students who have completed Courses A1 and A2, or Course A3. Mon., Wed., Fri., 8. Professor Morehead.

B3. The Principles of Algebra and Geometry—A critical and historical study of the logical foundations of secondary mathematics. This course is included in Education E and is designed especially for those who intend to teach. Open to students who have completed Courses A1 and A2, or Course A3, and who have a college credit of fifty semester-hours. Tu., Th., 10. Not given in 1909-1910. Professor Wilson.

C1. Advanced Calculus—Infinite series; Taylor's theorem; partial differentiation; differential geometry; definite integrals over curves, surfaces and volumes; the Eulerian functions; Fourier's series; differential equations. Open to students who have completed Course B1. Mon., Wed., Fri., 11. Professor Curtiss.

C2. Analytical Mechanics—Dynamics of a rigid body. Open to students who have completed Mathematics B1 and Physics B. Tu., Th., Sat., 9. Not given in 1909-1910. Professor Wilson.

C3. Advanced Analytical Geometry—An introduction to the study of some of the more important transformations, as projection, inversion, and polar reciprocation. Much use is made of abridged notation and of homogeneous point and line coördinates. Open to students who have completed Courses A3 and B1, or Course B2. Tu., Th., Sat., 9. Professor Holgate.

C4. Modern Synthetic Geometry—The introduction of infinitely distant elements into geometry; central projection; perspectivity and projectivity; generation of conics from projective forms; ruled quadric surfaces; involution; poles and polars; systems of conics. Open to students who have completed Courses A3 and B1, or Course B2. Tu., Th., Sat., 9. Given in 1910-1911 and in alternate years with Course C3. Professor Holgate.

C5. Solid Analytical Geometry—Open to students who have completed Courses A3 and B1, or Course B2. First semester. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9. Not given in 1909-1910. Professor Wilson.

D1. The Partial Differential Equations of Mathematical Physics—The solution of problems in Heat, Electricity, Acoustics, etc., by means of Fourier's series and allied developments; a treatment of these developments; ordinary linear differential equations whose solutions are connected with these problems; the theory of the Potential Function. Open to students who have completed Course C1 or Course C2. Mon., Wed., Fri., 10. Not given in 1909-1910. Professor Curtiss.

D2. The Theory of Functions—Open to students who have completed Course C1. Tu., Th., 3; Sat., 10. Professor Curtiss.

D3. The Theory of Numbers—An introduction to the classical Theory of Numbers. Primarily for graduate students. Mon., Wed., Fri., 3. Not given in 1909-1910. Professor Morehead.

D4. Differential Geometry—The Geometry of space curves and surfaces, investigated by means of the Calculus. Primarily for graduate students. Second semester only. Not given in 1909-1910. Professor Morehead.

D5. Ordinary Differential Equations—Primarily for graduate students. Tu., Th., 1; Sat., 11. First semester only. Dr. Moore.

D6. Vector Analysis—Open to students who have completed or are taking a C-course. Hours to be arranged. Second semester only. Professor Wilson.

D7. Invariants and Galois' Theory of Equations—Open to students who have completed a C-course. Mon., Tu., Th., 4. Professor Morehead.

Music

PROFESSOR LUTKIN, PROFESSOR OLDBERG, MR. GARWOOD, MR. DODGE, AND MISS RUSSELL

The maximum credit which will be allowed for courses in Music is twenty semester-hours. Courses A and C, introductory courses in Harmony and Sight Reading, and Course G, Chorus and Choir Training, are open to College students but bear no college credit. They, or their equivalents, must be completed, before subsequent courses in the same subjects can be taken.

A. Introductory Harmony, Form and Analysis—Scale and melody writing; construction of the period; intervals and two-part writing; chord-reading; small two-part primary forms; triads, inversions, chord-connection in three and four parts, cadences, modulations, dominant sept-chord. Mon., Wed., Fri., 3; Tu., Th., 3; Sat., 9:30. Mr. Dodge.

B. History of Music—A general survey of musical history and biographies of musicians. Recitations; class singing of specimens of Gregorian chant, early canons, and folk songs. Musical illustrations of later periods. Text-books; Clarence G. Hamilton's Outlines of Music History, and Meyers' General History (revised edition). Th., 2, 3. Mr. Garwood.

C. Sight-Reading, Vocal—Drill in scale and interval singing. Time sub-divisions, ear training, dictation, part-singing. Mon., Th., 4:15. Miss Russell.

D. Harmony—Figured basses and harmonization of melodies, employing the use of triads, dominant, diminished, and supertonic sept-chords, with inversions, in dispersed harmony. Secondary sept-chords and chords of the ninth. Suspensions and tones foreign to the harmony. Organ-point, modulation, etc. Text-book: Chadwick's Harmony. Mon., Th., 11. Professor Lutkin.

E. Form and Analysis—Chord-reading. Bach's inventions. Primary forms, principally from Mendelssohn and Chopin. Song or aria form. Minuets, marches, scherzos, rondos, theme and variations, the sonata form. Sonatas as a whole. Preludes and fugues. Tu., Fri., 11. Professor Lutkin.

F. History of Music—Lectures on the growth of musical art as related to the events of general history and the development of literatures. Text-book; Waldo S. Pratt's History of Music. Mon., 2, 3. Mr. Garwood.

G. Chorus and Choir Training—The Monday evening sessions are the regular rehearsals of the Evanston Musical Club. The Wednesday sessions are at Music Hall, with the following outline of work: hymns, part-songs, anthems. Choral service of the Episcopal church. Cantatas and oratorios. Ensemble singing in duets, trios, and quartettes. Mon., 8 p.m., Wed., 5. Professor Lutkin.

H. Counterpoint—Counterpoint in the various species in two, three and four parts. Tu., Fri., 10. Professor Lutkin.

I. Advanced Harmony—Harmonization of chorals; remote modulations; unprepared and unresolved dissonances. Text-book: Foote and Spalding's Modern Harmony. Wed., 10. Professor Lutkin.

J. Composition—Primary forms, including the minuet, scherzo, march, etc. Simple and elaborated accompaniments. Score-reading, including viola clef. Mon., Th., 1:30 to 3; Tu., Fri., 8:30 to 10. Professor Oldberg.

K. Advanced History of Music—Evolution of Music; correlated arts. Lectures and class work. Text-book: Parry's Evolution of the Art of Music. Mon., 11. Mr. Garwood.

L. Analysis—Bach's well-tempered clavichord. Beethoven's sonatas. Brahms's pianoforte works. Concertos. Wed., 11. Professor Lutkin.

M. Counterpoint, Canon and Fugue—Counterpoint in five or more parts. Double and Triple counterpoint. Canons in the various intervals. Tu., 9. Professor Lutkin.

N. Vocal Composition—Exercises in the application of rhythms and forms to verse. Songs, duets; trios, quartettes, and part-songs. The anthem and the unaccompanied motette. The canticles and communion service of the Episcopal church. Mon., Th., 10. Professor Lutkin.

O. Instrumental Composition—Song or aria forms. The various sonata movements. Compositions for piano and strings, and for small orchestra. Mon., Th., 8:30 to 10. Professor Oldberg.

P. Analysis—Chamber music. Organ compositions. Church cantatas. Oratorios and symphonies. Orchestral music from full score. Fri., 9. Professor Lutkin.

Q. Canon and Fugue—Hours to be arranged. Professor Lutkin.

R. Vocal Composition—The cantata, with piano and orchestral accompaniment. Fugal and double choruses. The oratorio and the mass. Tu., 2 to 4. Professor Lutkin.

S. Instrumental Composition—The sonata form in piano and chamber music. The overture and symphony for full orchestra. Wed., 8:30 to 10:30. Professor Oldberg.

T. Public School Methods—Study of the child voice. Methods of teaching. Practical demonstration. Chorus conducting. Mon., Th., 5. Miss Russell.

Philosophy

PROFESSOR EWER AND DR. LONGWELL

MAJOR: Course A1 (or Psychology A1 and Philosophy A2,) and seven additional year-hours including Course C1. MINOR: Course A1 (or Psychology A1 and Philosophy A2) and three additional year-hours.

A1. Logic and Introduction to Philosophy—First semester.—An outline of deductive and inductive logic; text-book, lectures, written exercises. Second semester.—A systematic statement of philosophical problems and their typical solutions; the relations of philosophy to life and science; special reference to evolutionary conceptions. Text-book; lectures, collateral reading. Open to students who have thirty hours of credit. Mon., Wed., Fri., 2. Professor Ewer.

A2. Logic—Equivalent to the first semester of Course A1. Open to students who have thirty hours of credit. Second semester. Mon., Wed., Fri., 2. Dr. Longwell.

B1. Ethics—An introductory study of ethical principles and practical problems of contemporary individual and social life. Text-book, lectures, collateral reading. Open to students who have sixty hours of credit and have completed or are taking Course A1 (or Psychology A1 and Philosophy A2.) Tu., Th., 10. Dr. Longwell.

B2. Philosophy of Religion—First semester.—The nature of religion and its place in the life of humanity; early religion and the great religions of the world. Second semester.—Fundamental religious ideas in the light of present psychological, philosophical, and scientific thought. Text book, lectures, collateral reading. Open to students who have sixty hours of credit and have completed or are taking Course A1 (or Psychology A1 and Philosophy A2). Tu., Th., 11. Professor Ewer.

C1. History of Philosophy—Text book, lectures, reading in philosophical classics, ancient and modern. Open to students who have completed or are taking a B-course. Mon., Wed., Fri., 11. Dr. Longwell.

C2. Advanced Ethics—A historical study of the development of ethical conceptions and their bearing upon present social movements. Open to students who have completed Course B1. Tu., Th., 9. Professor Ewer.

D1. Theory of Knowledge and Metaphysics—First semester.—A critical and comparative study of empiricism and rationalism. Second semester.—A similar study of idealism and realism. Lectures, collateral reading, reports and discussions. Open to students who have completed Course C1. Hours to be arranged. Professor Ewer.

D2. Seminary in Modern Philosophy—A systematic and critical study of the writings of some modern philosophers. Primarily for graduates. Three hours. Hours to be arranged. Not given in 1909-1910. Professor Ewer.

Physical Culture and Hygiene

PROFESSOR GILLESBY, MR. RILEY, AND MISS HUEGIN

Regulations governing Athletics and the use of the Gymnasium may be found on page 135.

A. Hygiene—Lectures on the care of the body and the place of exercise and athletic sports in the preservation of health. Tu., Th., 11. First semester. Professor Gillesby.

B. Gymnastics—Free-hand exercises, light and heavy gymnastics. Careful physical examinations are made. Men's sections, Mon., Tu., Th., 10, 4; Mon., Wed., Fri., 5. Women's sections, Mon., Tu., Th., 11, 3; Mon., Wed., Fri., 2. Mr. Riley and Miss Huegin.

Physics

PROFESSOR CREW, PROFESSOR TATNALL, AND MR. PARSONS

MAJOR: Courses A, B, and C. MINOR: Courses A and B.

A. General Physics—First semester.—General properties of matter, wave-motion, sound. Second semester.—Heat, electricity, magnetism, light. An introductory course requiring no mathematics beyond the requirements for entrance to college, intended to acquaint the student with the elementary facts, the method, and the general principles of physical science. Text-book: Crew's General Physics. One laboratory exercise each week. Four year-hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 11. Professor Tatnall.

B1. Mechanics—An elementary experimental study of forces, moments of force, moments of inertia, elasticity, hydromechanics, an introduction to advanced physics and engineering. This is a course in pure Dynamics, and serves as an introduction to Applied Mechanics. Text-book: Crew's Principles of Mechanics. Two lectures and one laboratory exercise a week. The laboratory work is guided by especially prepared instructions. The laboratory is open every afternoon in the week except Saturday. Open to students who have completed Course A, or its equivalent. Three year-hours. Tu., Th., 11. Professor Crew and Professor Tatnall.

B2. Physical Optics—Two lectures and one laboratory exercise a week. Theoretical and experimental study of the general phenomena of refraction, diffraction, interference, and polarization. Study of the spectrometer and interferometer, and of the aims and methods of spectroscopy. Application of the principle of diffraction and interference to the grating, the telescope, the interferometer, and other optical instruments. The laboratory work is guided by a set of instructions prepared and printed especially for this laboratory. Text-book: Edser, Light for Students. Open to students who have completed Course A. Three year-hours. Hours to be arranged. Professor Crew.

C. Electricity and Magnetism, The Direct Current Circuit—Two lectures and one laboratory exercise a week. The more general laws of electricity and magnetism are discussed; the practical equations employed in the laboratory are derived and discussed. Text-book: J. J. Thomson's Elements of the Mathematical Theory of Electricity and Magnetism. The laboratory work includes the measurement by one or more methods of current, resistance, electromotive force, temperature-coefficients, capacity; a study of the magnetic properties of iron and steel, thermo-electric effects, the use of the electrometer, the Carey Foster bridge, potentiometer, copper voltameter, etc. Open to students who have completed Course A. Three year-hours. Mon., Fri., 8. Professor Crew.

D. The Alternating Current Circuit—One lecture and one laboratory exercise each week. In this course the physical properties of the alternating current circuit are considered, rather than the application of these principles to engineering problems. The laboratory work includes measurements of current, inductance, capacity, impedance, study of wave-forms, etc. Open to students who have completed Course C. Two year-hours. Hours to be arranged. Professor Tatnall.

E. Mathematical Physics; Electricity—Essential to all advanced students of pure physics and to those contemplating electrical engineering of high grade, and recommended to students interested in applied mathematics. The course is intended primarily for graduates. Text-book: Jean's Mathematical Theory of Electricity and Magnetism. Given in alternate years with Course E2. Mon., Fri., 9. Professor Crew.

E2. Mathematical Physics; Optics—The general theory of physical optics, spectrum analysis, and astrophysics, including the theory of optical instruments. Given in alternate years with Course E. Intended to be accompanied by laboratory work, the hours of credit for which are to be separately determined in each case. Schuster's Theory of Optics represents the ground covered. For advanced students and graduates. Mon., Fri., 9. Professor Crew.

Psychology

PROFESSOR SCOTT AND DR. GAULT

MAJOR: Ten year-hours, including a course as advanced as Course C1. MINOR: Courses A1 and A2 (or Philosophy A2) and three additional year-hours.

A1. Elementary General Psychology—Class room demonstrations and guidance to private observation; demonstration of apparatus and methods of experimental psychology; written exercises and experiments by members of the class; text-book, lectures, and collateral reading. Open to students who have thirty hours of credit. First semester, Mon., Wed., Fri., 10, 2, 2; second semester, Mon., Wed., Fri., 9. Professor Scott, Dr. Gault, and Dr. Longwell.

A2. Special Topics in General Psychology—A more intensive study of Feeling and Attention, Association, Suggestion, and Will than can be given in Course A1. Open to students who have completed Course A1 or its equivalent. Mon., Wed., Fri., 2. Second semester. Dr. Gault.

B1. Experimental Psychology—Intended for students of general psychology who desire to become acquainted with laboratory methods. Open to students who are taking or have completed Course A1. Two consecutive hours of laboratory work are required for one hour of credit. Wed., Fri., 3 to 5. Professor Scott and Dr. Gault.

B2. Applied Psychology; Education—This course aims to set forth the scientific basis of teaching in so far as it is found in the science of Psychology, and to enable the student to think educational problems from the point of view of mental development in the child. The physical nature of the child, his instincts and capacities, with their individual variations, are studied in considerable detail, and the work is concluded with a study of mental tests and measurements. Open to students who have completed Course A1 or its equivalent. Kirkpatrick's Fundamentals of Child Study and Thorndike's Educational Psychology. Tu., Th., 10. Dr. Gault.

B3. Applied Psychology: Business—An intensive study of psychological principles which have the most direct application to business. Business practices are analyzed and an attempt is made to understand from a psychological standpoint some of the causes of successes and failures in business. Individual students study the actual and also the possible applications, in business of such factors as imitation, competition, loyalty, the love of the game, and personal differences. More attention is paid to advertising than to other forms of business. Open to students who have completed Course A1. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9. Second semester. Professor Scott.

B4. Abnormal Psychology—Study of abnormal forms of mentality in their relation to the operations of the normal mind. Border line phenomena receive special emphasis. Such homes for the abnormal as are accessible are visited. Störing's Mental Pathology and Normal Psychology and Dendendorff's Clinical Psychiatry. Open to students who have completed Course A1 or its equivalent. Tu., Th., 11. Dr. Gault.

C1. Advanced Experimental Psychology—A continuation of Psychology D1, with the introduction of a limited amount of research. Two consecutive hours of laboratory work are required for one hour of credit. Open to students who have completed Course B1. Hours to be arranged. Professor Scott and Dr. Gault.

D1. Research Work—Open to students who have completed Course C1 or its equivalent. Hours to be arranged. Professor Scott.

Romance Languages and Literatures

PROFESSOR BAILLOT, PROFESSOR DE SALVIO, MR. GUYER, MR. BOVEE, AND MISS BRAGDON

MAJOR: Courses A and B in French and six additional year-hours, which must include at least two year-hours in French more advanced than Course B. MINOR: Courses A and B in French.

FRENCH

Le Cercle Français meets on alternate Thursdays at 7:30 o'clock p. m., and is open to all students who have completed Course A in French.

AA. Elementary French—DeBordes' Grammar. Whitney's Reader. Labiche's La Grammaire. Merimée's Colomba, Sicard's Easy French Hist- ory. Baillot-Brugnot's Composition. Labiche-Martin's Voyage de M Perrichon. Papot-Williamson's Easy French Stories. Sand's La Petite Fadette. Simple dictation, private reading, and composition. This course may not be taken to remove language requirements for admission, and credit will not be given unless the full course is completed. Mon., Tu., Wed., Th., Fri., 8, 9, 11, 2. Professor de Salvio, Mr. Guyer, Mr. Bovee, and Miss Bragdon.

AB. Intermediate French—Open to students who have presented one unit of French for admission, and may not be taken to remove entrance requirements. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9. Mr. Guyer.

A. Modern French—Baillot-Brugnot's Composition. Advanced Grammar. Reading. Madame de Girardin's La Joie fait Peur. Eugène Scribe's Les Doigts de Fée. Coppée's On rend l'Argent. Freeborn's Contes de Daudet. Pailleron's Le Monde où l'on s'Ennuie. White's Contes de Mau-passant. Victor Hugo's Quatre-Vingt Treize. Canfield's French Lyrics. Coppée's Le Pater. Victor Hugo's Hernani. Private reading: Cameron's Selections from Loti. Hennequin's Lessons in Idiomatic French. Essays. Open to students who have completed Course AA or its equivalent. Mon., Wed., Fri., 10, 11. Professor de Salvio, Mr. Guyer, and Mr. Bovee.

B. Classic French Literature of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries—First semester. Seventeenth Century. Corneille's Le Cid, Polyeucte. Racine's Athalie. Molière's Le Misanthrope, L'Avare. Warren's Prose Writers of the 17th Century. Composition. History of the French Theater, in dictations. Collateral reading: Crane's La Société Française au 17e Siècle. Short lectures on the history of the theater in France. Second semester. Eighteenth Century. Lesage's Gil Blas. Voltaire's Zaïre and letters. Beaumarchais' Le Barbier de Séville and letters. A study, with collateral reading, is also made of other authors of the eighteenth century. Exercises in French syntax. Open to students who have completed Courses AA and A. Mon., Wed., Fri., 9, 10. Professor Baillot.

K. French Conversation—Open to students who have completed Course AA. One year-hour. Mon., Fri., 11. Mr. Bovee.

C. General Survey of French Literature to the End of the Sixteenth Century—Demogeot's French Literature and Darmesteter and Hatzfeld's Le Seizième Siècle en France will be used as text-books, and collateral reading is assigned by the instructor. Dictations. Papers on collateral reading. Open to students who have completed Course B. Tu., Th., 11. Professor Baillot.

D. Modern French Literature—The literature of the Nineteenth Century taking as a basis George Pellissier's Le Mouvement Littéraire au XIXe

Siècle. Collateral reading. This course is given in French. Open to students who have completed Course B. Tu., Th., 9. Professor Baillot.

E. Advanced French—Topics closely related to those of Courses C and D; students are expected to carry on special studies with prepared papers. Open to students who have completed Course C or D. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. Professor Baillot.

F. Old French and Early French Literature—Lectures on phonology and morphology. The texts to be read are La Chanson de Roland; Aucassin et Nicolette; Erec et Énide. Open to students who have completed Courses B, and C or D. Tu., Th., 10. Professor de Salvio.

G. Advanced French Composition—Open to students who have completed French A. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. Professor Baillot.

H. Lectures on French Literature—Open to students who have completed Course C or D. Two year-hours. Th., 11. Professor Baillot.

J. The Theater of the Seventeenth Century; Advanced Course—Open to students who have completed Course C or D. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. Professor Baillot.

ITALIAN

A. Elementary Course—Grandgent's Grammar and Composition. Bowen's Reader; Goldoni's La Locandiera; Fogazzari's Peregrinatio; Manzoni's I Promessi Sposi. Credit will not be given unless the full course is completed. Mon., Wed., Fri., 8. Professor de Salvio.

B. Advanced Course—General view of Italian literature. Advanced composition. Selections from Dante's Divina Commedia; D'Ancona e Bacci's Manuale della Letteratura Italiana, Vol. V; Verga's Cavalleria Rusticana ed Altre Novelle; Fogazzari's Fedele; Alfieri's Oreste. Open to students who have completed Italian A. Three year-hours. Time to be arranged. Professor de Salvio.

C. Early Italian—Lectures on Italian phonology and morphology. The literature of the Trecento. Monaci Crestomazia dei primi secoli; D'Ancona e Bacci's Manuale della Letteratura Italiana, Vol. I. Open to advanced students and to others who satisfy the instructor of their fitness to take the course. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. Professor de Salvio.

SPANISH

A. Elementary Course—Hills and Ford's Grammar; Composition; Bransby's Spanish Reader; Valdes' José; Galdos' Dona Perfecta; Moratin's El sí de las Ninas. Credit will not be given unless the full course is completed. Mon., Wed., Fri., 2. Professor de Salvio.

B. Advanced Course—Lectures on Spanish literature with special emphasis on the modern period. Advanced composition. The following list will show approximately the range of reading: Selections from Cervantes'

Don Quixote; at least one of Lope de Vega's and Calderon's selected plays; Ramon de Campoamor's Doloras; Galdos' Mariandela; Fernan Caballero's La Gaviota; Echegaray's El Gran Galeoto; Valera's Pepita Jimenez; Tamayo y Baus' Un drama nuevo; Ford's Spanish Anthology. Open to students who have completed Spanish A. Tu., Th., 3. Professor de Salvio.

C. Early Spanish—Lectures on Spanish phonology and morphology. Spanish literature to the fifteenth century. The texts: El Poema del Cid, edited by R. Menendez Pidal; Adolph Keller's Alt-spanisches Lesebuch mit Grammatik und Glossar. Open to advanced students and to others who satisfy the instructor of their fitness to take the course. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. Professor de Salvio.

Scandinavian Languages

MR. ELMQUIST

MINOR: Six year-hours more advanced than Course AA.

AA1. Elementary Swedish—Fort's Elementary Swedish Grammar; Selma Lagerlöf's "En Herrgardssägen" and "Nils Holgersson;" Strindberg's "Sagor." Open to all students. Mon., Tu., Wed., Th., Fri., 8. Mr. Elmquist.

A1. Modern Swedish—May's and Beckman's Grammar; Selma Lagerlöf's "Gösta Berlings Saga;" Helena Nyblom's "Det Ringer;" Tegnér's "Fritiofs Saga;" Runeberg's "Fäurik Stals Sägner;" selections from Heidenstam. Open to students who have completed Course AA1 or Course A2, or who have a speaking and reading knowledge of the language. Mon., Wed., Fri., 2. Mr. Elmquist.

B1. Swedish Literature—Representative writers of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries are read: Steffen's Svensk Litteraturhistoria. Open to students who have completed Course A1. Two hours. Hours to be arranged. Mr. Elmquist.

C1. Swedish Literature from the Reformation to the Year 1800.—Open to students who have completed Course A1. Two hours. Not given in 1910-1911.

O. Old Icelandic—Sweet's Icelandic Primer. A number of poems from the Edda. Lectures on the Literature and other subjects. Open to advanced students in the department or to students who have a credit of sixty hours. Two hours. Not given in 1910-1911.

S. North and East Germanic—First semester. Gothic. Streitberg's "Gotisches Elementarbuch;" Stamm-Heyne's "Ulfilas." Second semester. Old Icelandic. Kahle's "Altisländisches Elementarbuch." Loewe's "Germanische Sprachwissenschaft." Open to students in the department or to students who have a credit of ninety semester hours. Two or three hours. Hours to be arranged. Mr. Elmquist.

A2. Modern Norwegian—Olsen's Grammar; Björnson's Fortaellinger; one or two plays of Ibsen. Open to students who have completed Course A1 or who have a speaking and reading knowledge of the language. Three hours. Hours to be arranged. Mr. Elmquist.

Semitic Languages

PROFESSOR EISELEN AND MR. RAPP

These courses are given in Garrett Biblical Institute and students electing them are subject to the regulations of that school.

HEBREW

MINOR: Courses A and B.

A. Elements of Hebrew Language—Tu., Wed., Th., Fri., 9. Mr. Rapp.

B. Introduction to Hebrew Literature—Exegetical and critical reading of selections from the prophetic and the poetic literature of the Hebrews. Open to students who have completed Course A. Wed., Th., Fri., 11. Professor Eiselen.

C. Graduate Courses—(1) The Messianic Ideas and Ideals of the Old Testament. (2) Studies in Hebrew Prophecy. Tu., Wed., 10. (3) Seminary: The religious life and the religious beliefs of the Hebrews, as shown in the activity and teaching of their religious leaders. Th., 10. Professor Eiselen.

ASSYRIAN

D1. Elementary Course—Grammar; reading of easy historical texts. Open to students who have completed Hebrew A or its equivalent. Two year-hours. Time to be arranged. Professor Eiselen.

D2. Advanced Course—Reading of historical texts. One year-hour. Time to be arranged. Professor Eiselen.

ARAMAIC

E. Elementary Course—Study of the Aramaic language and portions of the Old Testament. Open to students who have completed Hebrew A, or its equivalent. One year-hour. Time to be arranged. Professor Eiselen.

Spanish

See Romance Languages and Literatures, page 112.

Zoölogy

PROFESSOR LOCY, PROFESSOR HARPER, DR. MEAD, MR. REDELINGS, MR. SMITH

MAJOR: Course A and six additional year-hours. MINOR: Courses A and two additional year-hours not taken concurrently with Course A.

A. Structure, Development, and Evolution of Animal Life—A general educational course. Comparative study of living organisms; physiological side receiving much attention. First semester. Observations on the properties of living matter; a few selected types of invertebrated animals. Second semester. The basis of the doctrine of organic evolution is set forth and its present status indicated. A large part of the time of this semester is devoted to observations on the development of animals, using eggs of fishes, amphibia, and the chick. Open to those without previous instruction in zoölogy or biology; recommended to students who have had a year's work in the high school, for whom a special laboratory section is formed. Credit is not given unless the full course is completed. Four year-hours. Lectures: Tu., Th., 9. Professor Locy. Laboratory sections: I, 8-10 Mon., Wed., II, 10-12, Mon., Wed.; III, 10-12, Tu., Th.; IV, 2-4, Tu., Th. Professor Locy, Dr. Mead, Mr. Smith, and assistants.

A2. Ornithology—Second semester. Primarily field observations. History of Ornithology, anatomy of birds, their migrations, habits, classification, and the identification of native forms. Open to students who have pursued elementary work in Zoölogy. Class limited to fifteen students. One lecture and two hours of laboratory work. Fri., 9-12. Excursions will take the place of laboratory work during the spring migrations. Dr. Mead.

B1. Comparative Anatomy and Physiology of Vertebrates—First semester. Comparative Anatomy. Study of selected vertebrate types. The recitations and lectures are based on Weidersheim's Comparative Anatomy of Vertebrates. Second semester. Vertebrate Embryology; a discussion of the broader problems opened by study of the development of animals. Lectures and laboratory work. Four year-hours. Wed., Fri., 9. Laboratory work to be arranged on Tu., Wed., Th., Fri., 9 to 12. Professor Locy and Mr. Redelings.

B2. Invertebrate Zoölogy—The laboratory study will be confined to forms found in this region. Field excursions will be included. In addition to the structure and development of certain types, physiological problems will be considered and recent studies upon animal behavior will be illustrated in the laboratory work. Two year-hours. Tu., Th., 9. Professor Harper.

B3. Physiology—A course in human and general physiology. Lectures, recitations and class demonstrations. A two-hour laboratory period may at intervals be substituted for one exercise a week. Two year-hours. Mon., Fri., 2. Professor Harper.

B4. Rise and Progress of General Biology and Zoölogy—Historical lectures; from the renaissance of science to the present, particular attention to the beginning, the growth, and the modification of fundamental doctrines and principles that have become fruitful in the nineteenth century. Intended primarily for students taking other work in the department. Open to students who have pursued elementary work in General Biology. One year-hour. Tu., 4. Given in 1909-1910 and in alternate years. Professor Locy.

C1. Cytology and Histology—First semester. Cell-life and elementary histology; anatomy and physiology of the cell, microscopical structure of the elementary animal tissues; the general methods of microscopical technique. Second semester. Microscopical structure of the animal organs; the important special methods of microscopical technique. Text-books: Wilson's The Cell in Development and Inheritance and Stöhr's Text-book of Histology. Three hours. Mon., 9. Laboratory hours to be arranged. Professor Harper.

C2. Mammals, Living and Fossil—First semester. This course will treat of the evolution of mammals, their past and present distribution, anatomy, adaptations and classifications. Reports on assigned topics will be required from time to time. Text-books: Beddards' Mammalia and Weber's Die Säugetiere. Open to students who have completed Courses A and B1. May also be taken concurrently with B1. Three hours. Fri., 9. Laboratory hours to be arranged. Dr. Mead.

D. Physiology—Intended for students preparing for medicine. Includes the work of the first year of Physiology in the Medical School, and is accepted in full for that course. Based on Hall's text-book and laboratory manual. Open to students who have completed Courses A and B1. Three year-hours. Mon., Wed., Fri., 3. Professor Harper.

E. The Central Nervous System and its Terminal Organs—First semester. Comparative structure of the central nervous system, with discussions of some of its physiological activities. Lectures and demonstrations. Second semester. The structure and evolution of sense-organs. Two hours of credit may be secured by additional laboratory work. One year-hour. Given in 1910-1911 and in alternate years. Professor Locy.

F. Topics of Investigation—An introduction to original research. Limited problems are assigned and worked out under the direction of the professor in charge. Consultation of the literature bearing on the problem; a thesis embodying results. A reading familiarity with French and German is essential. Open to students who have completed Courses A, B1, and C. Credit and time to be arranged. Professor Locy.

G. Research Work—Similar to Course F, but with broader scope. The thesis must embody a critical review of the important literature and must show substantial conclusions based upon the work of the student. Means of publication will be found for worthy papers. For graduate students who have completed the equivalent of the courses designated above; may be elected for either ten or for fifteen hours of credit. Time to be arranged. Professor Locy.

Special Courses in Art

The following courses in the Principles of Art are offered during the year 1909-1910, by Miss Stella Skinner, under the auspices of the University Guild. The lectures and laboratory work are given in the Guild Rooms in Orrington Lunt Library.

A1. Fundamental principles of art expression, illustrated by typical examples; art in the home, the development of the dwelling and its decorations from primitive to modern times; modern domestic architecture; furniture styles and their significance; ceramics; pictures and framing; dress; economics of shopping. Open without fee to students in regular courses in the College of Liberal Arts, College of Engineering, and School of Music. To others, a fee of three dollars a semester is charged. Credit, two year-hours. Tu., Th., 3. Miss Skinner.

A2. Laboratory exercises connected with Course A1. Fee to students enrolled in regular courses in the College of Liberal Arts, College of Engineering, and School of Music, three dollars a semester. To others, the fee for Courses A1 and A2 is five dollars a semester. Credit, one year-hour. Time to be arranged. Miss Skinner.

B. Advanced Design. Laboratory exercises in continuation of the study of Art Principles. Historic styles of ornament with reference to original significance and modern adaptation. Open to students who completed Courses A in 1908-1909, and to others with equal preparation. Laboratory fee, three dollars a semester. Credit, two year-hours. Time to be arranged. Miss Skinner.

Summer Courses

Special courses are offered during the summer vacation by members of the Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts. These are intended primarily for teachers and for undergraduates wishing to make up deficiencies, but are open to any persons qualified to take them. The courses bear appropriate college credit.

Courses in the College of Engineering

The following courses in the College of Engineering are open to students in the College of Liberal Arts, and may be elected for credit toward a bachelor's degree.

A1. Mechanical Drawing—One afternoon a week. Credit one year-hour. Laboratory fee, three dollars. Professor Irish.

B1. Freshman Shop Work—One afternoon a week. Credit one year-hour. Laboratory fee, four dollars. Professor Basquin.

A2. Sophomore Drawing—One recitation and two afternoons a week.

Credit three year-hours. Open to students who have completed Course A1 and Mathematics A3. Laboratory fee, three dollars.

B2. Sophomore Shop Work—One afternoon a week. Credit one year-hour. Open to students who have completed Course B1. Laboratory fee, four dollars. Professor Basquin.

C1. Surveying—Two recitations and one morning a week. Credit three year-hours. Open to students who have completed Course A1 and Mathematics A3. Laboratory fee, five dollars.

C2. Field Work in Surveying—A six-weeks summer course. Open to students who have completed Course C1. Professor Irish.

E1. Direct Current Circuit and Machinery—Credit three year-hours. Open to students who have completed Physics C and Mathematics B1. Laboratory fee, three dollars. Professor Bauer.

H2. Structural Mechanics—Two recitations and one afternoon a week. Credit three year-hours. Open to students who have completed Physics B and Mathematics B1. Laboratory fee, five dollars. Professor Basquin J1. Heat Engines—Credit three year-hours. Open to students who have completed Physics B. Laboratory fee, three dollars. Professor Bauer.

Courses in Garrett Biblical Institute

The following courses in Garrett Biblical Institute may be elected by students in the College of Liberal Arts who have sixty hours of credit toward a degree, but no student may present more than thirty hours of credit from these courses. Students electing them are subjected to the regulations of the Institute.

A. Christian Doctrine—Three hours a week. Professor Terry.

B. New Testament Greek—(a) The Gospel according to Luke and the Book of Acts, critical and exegetical study, three hours a week; (b) The Pauline Epistles, introduction, analysis, and exegesis, three hours a week; (c) The remaining books of the New Testament, textual, critical, and exegetical study, three hours a week. Professor Hayes.

C. Hebrew, Assyrian, Aramaic—See page 114. Professor Eiselen.

D. Church History—Post-Nicene History of the Christian Church. Christianity within the Roman Empire. The Church and Mediaeval Society; the Reformation; the Modern Church. Three hours a week. Professor Little.

General Statements

Professional Studies

Certain courses announced in the preceding pages have a more or less direct bearing on the professional career which the student may have in contemplation, and elective studies may well be chosen with this in view. The following paragraphs contain the regulations under which a student by a proper combination of courses in the College of Liberal Arts and a professional school may shorten the time required to secure both an academic and a professional degree.

Credit toward a bachelor's degree for studies pursued in a professional school is in all cases restricted to work done in the schools of Northwestern University, but time spent in a professional school cannot be counted toward meeting the requirements of one year of residence in the College of Liberal Arts demanded of all candidates for a degree.

PREPARATION FOR MEDICINE

The Bachelor's Degree and the Medical Degree in Seven Years—Students enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts who are intending to enter the Medical School, and who desire to shorten the time required for degrees in both Arts and Medicine, may elect the remainder of their work in the Medical School after they have secured ninety hours of credit, provided this credit includes all the required studies for the bachelor's degree, as shown on pages 76 and 77, and fulfils the requirements for a major and a minor. If the student's work is properly planned this preliminary credit can be secured in three years.

Under this provision students may give full time during their fourth year of residence to work in the Medical School, but their registration in the College of Liberal Arts must be continued during this fourth year as if in regular attendance. A certificate from the Medical faculty that a full year's work has been satisfactorily accomplished is accepted by the College as completing the one hundred and twenty hours required for the bachelor's degree. Credit is not accepted from the Medical School for subjects for which credit has already been given in the College.

This plan of combined courses makes it possible to secure both degrees in seven years, three in the College and four in the Medical School. For all work done in the Medical School the fees of that school must be paid.

On the other hand, certain courses offered in the College of Liberal Arts cover corresponding courses in the Medical School, and may be taken for credit in that school. Students who have had an elementary course in Physics and who complete Chemistry A and B, and the second semester of Chemistry C, Volumetric Analysis, in the College laboratories are given credit for Chemistry a, b, c, d, e, f, that is, for first year Chemistry in the Medical School. Those who complete Zoölogy A, B1, C, and D receive credit for Histology and Embryology a, b, c, d, e, and Physiology a, b, c, d, e, in the Medical School. Students who include these courses in their college program may transfer to the Medical School at graduation with approximately a year of advanced credit. They can thus complete the Medical course in three years, securing both degrees in seven years, four in the College of Liberal Arts and three in the Medical School. Common credit for the two degrees will not be allowed to such an extent as to make it possible for the student to secure both degrees in less than seven years and a student intending to spend but three years in actual attendance upon lectures in the Medical School must register in that school as a medical student at the beginning of his fourth year in College.

PREPARATION FOR LAW

The Bachelor's Degree and the Law Degree in Six Years—A student in the College of Liberal Arts who has secured ninety hours of credit, including the required studies described on pages 76 and 77, and the requirements for a major and a minor, may transfer to the Law School at the end of his third year and complete there the work for the collegiate bachelor's degree. The satisfactory completion of the first year of the Law School course, as certified by the faculty of that school, is deemed sufficient to make good the remaining thirty hours of credit required for the Liberal Arts degree. Students so transferring, however, must continue their registration in College during their fourth year as if in regular attendance, and they pay the Law School fees.

A full four year-course in College is recommended by the faculty of the Law School as preparatory to the study of law, and students are urged in any case to complete as much as possible of a full College course before entering the Law School. The following program, which meets the requirements for a bachelor's degree, is suggested by the Law School faculty as best adapted to the needs of Law students:

First Year—Mathematics A1, 3 hours; English Language A, 3 hours; Latin A, 3 hours; Chemistry A or Physics A, 4 hours; History A, 3 hours.

Second Year—English Literature A, 2 hours; German A, 3 hours; English Language B, 2 hours; Latin B, 3 hours; History B, C or BC, 2 or 3 hours; Economics A, 3 hours.

Third Year—Latin C, 3 hours; English Language F, 2 hours; History E and N, or S1, 5 hours; Economics B6 and C3, 5 hours.

Fourth Year—Latin F, 2 hours; English Literature D, H, or I, 2 or 3 hours; History K, 2 hours; Philosophy A1, 3 hours; Economics C1 and C2.

PREPARATION FOR DENTISTRY

Students in the College of Liberal Arts who intend to take up the study of Dentistry are advised to pursue courses in Latin, English, Mathematics, and the Sciences, including Physics. Those who have completed Zoölogy D, Zoölogy C, Chemistry A, and Chemistry B, will be given advanced credit in the Dental School for Physiology a, b, c, d, Histology a, b, c, and Chemistry a, b, c, g.

PREPARATION FOR THEOLOGY

Students in the College of Liberal Arts who have sixty semester hours of credit and who wish to shorten the time for securing degrees in Arts and Theology, may elect certain courses in Garrett Biblical Institute to the amount of thirty semester-hours, thereby reducing the time for the two degrees by one year.

Courses in the Institute open to College students are listed on page 118.

Since exegesis is an important part of a theological course, students contemplating the study of Theology should secure while in College a ready command of the Greek and Hebrew languages. A knowledge of German also will prove serviceable.

PREPARATION FOR PHARMACY

Students who have secured ninety semester hours of credit in the College of Liberal Arts, including the prescribed courses for their degree, and the requirements for a major and a minor, may enter the School of Pharmacy, and fulfil the total requirements for the bachelor's degree by satisfactorily completing the work of the first year in the course for the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist.

Credit in the College of Liberal Arts for work done in the School of Pharmacy may not exceed thirty semester-hours, and it may not include any items for which credit in the College has already been secured. Students taking work in the School of Pharmacy must pay the fees of that school.

PREPARATION FOR BUSINESS OR THE PUBLIC SERVICE

Students preparing for a business career or wishing to enter the public service will find ample opportunity for study along helpful lines in the departments of Economics and History. The program of required studies for the bachelor's degree permits the student to devote to special study in these departments nearly the whole of the third and fourth years, and some time also in the first and second years.

The following schedule of courses is suggested for such students:

First Year—Mathematics A1, 3 hours; English Language A, 3 hours; French or German, 3 hours; Chemistry A or Geology A1, 4 hours; History A, 3 hours.

Second Year—German or French, 3 hours; English Literature A, 2 hours; Economics A, 3 hours; History, 3 hours; Elective work, 4 hours.

Third Year—Physics or other science, 4 hours; Spanish, 3 hours; History, 3 hours; Economics, 5 or 6 hours.

Fourth Year—History, 3 hours; Economics, 6 hours; Geology A2, 4 hours; Elective work, 3 hours.

PREPARATION FOR FOREIGN SERVICE

Students who wish to prepare for the consular or other foreign service will find ample opportunity for helpful study in the departments of Modern Languages, Economics, and History. The program of required studies for the bachelor's degree permits the student to devote to study in these departments a very large proportion of his time.

Students preparing for the foreign service are advised to secure a good reading knowledge of two modern languages besides English, an acquaintance with the elements of two sciences, and a thorough grasp of those subjects required in the United States' consular examinations. The most important of these are: French, German, or Spanish; the resources, commerce, history and government of the United States; the elements of political economy, trade statistics, and international, commercial, and maritime law; political and commercial geography; modern history, since 1850, and diplomacy of Europe and the Far East.

The following schedule of courses is suggested for such students:

First Year—Mathematics A1, 3 hours; English Language A, 3 hours; French or German, 3 hours; Chemistry A, 4 hours; or Geology A2, 4 hours; History A or E, 3 hours.

Second Year—German or French, 3 hours; English Literature A, 2 hours; History BC, 3 hours; Economics A, 3 hours; Elective Work, 4 hours.

Third Year—Physics or other science, 4 hours; Spanish, 3 hours; History G, 3 hours; History N, 3 hours; Economics B2, 3 hours.

Fourth Year—History K, European Diplomacy, and S1, American Diplomacy, 4 hours; Economics B6, Administration, 3 hours; Economics B1, Industrial History and Commercial Geography, 2 hours; Economics C2, Public Finance and Taxation, 2 hours; or Economics C3, Private and Corporation Finance, 2 hours; Elective Work, 3 hours.

PREPARATION FOR TEACHING IN SECONDARY SCHOOLS

Students expecting to teach in secondary schools will find it advantageous to elect in College a considerable number of courses having a professional bearing. A major should be taken in the department in which the student wishes to be specially qualified, and a minor, or if possible a second major, in a closely related department. Beginners in high schools are frequently required to teach more than one subject and it is a wise precaution to be qualified in at least two departments. The courses in the Department of Education are designed to meet the needs of students seeking an acquaintance with the progress of education and the development of educational theory as liberal culture as well as for those desiring professional training for teaching.

The following schedule is suggested for prospective teachers:

First Year—English Language A, 3 hours; Mathematics A1, 3 hours; two of the following: Latin A, Greek A, French A, German A, 6 hours.

Second Year—English Literature A, 2 hours; Education A, General History of Education, 3 hours; Science, 4 hours; Elective, including a course in the major subject and also a course in the minor subject, 7 hours.

Third Year—Psychology A, General Psychology, 3 hours; Education B or J, 3 hours; major subject, 3 hours; minor subject, 3 hours; Elective work, 3 hours.

Fourth Year—Education C, D, or H, 2 hours; major subject, 6 hours; Elective work, which may well include work to complete a second major, 7 hours.

Special Testimonial for Prospective Teachers—To meet the increasing demand on the part of School Boards for teachers who have had professional training, the College Faculty has authorized the issuance from the Registrar's Office, on request, of a testimonial supplementary to the Bachelor's diploma, bearing the signatures of the Registrar and the Secretary of the Faculty, and certifying that the applicant has completed with satisfactory credit certain enumerated courses in Education and Psychology. The testimonial further specifies the department or departments in which the applicant has completed the major or minor requirement, and which he is deemed competent to teach.

Only those persons are eligible to this testimonial who have completed the requirements for a degree, including at least the minor in Education, and one course in Psychology.

Graduate Studies

Advanced courses of study adapted to the needs of graduate students are offered by the various departments as announced in the general list of courses. These courses are in excess of the requirements for an undergraduate major, and may be pursued either with or without reference to an advanced degree. They are open to properly qualified candidates from this and from other universities.

The conditions under which students may register for graduate work are given below, and the regulations affecting advanced degrees may be found on pages 125 and 126. The work of such students is under the supervision of a standing committee of the Faculty, but in general a graduate student may pursue any study for which, in the judgment of the instructor in charge, he has adequate preparation.

Following are the rules governing graduate registration:

1. Resident candidates for a Master's degree must register not later than the tenth of October next preceding the date of the final examination. Residence requires regular attendance upon all prescribed lectures or other exercises in the courses which the candidate pursues, and such prescribed lectures and exercises must occur at least once a week in each course of instruction.

2. A student desiring to become a candidate for a Master's degree while enrolled in one of the professional schools of Northwestern University, or in Garrett Biblical Institute, under Rule 4, page 125, must register in the College of Liberal Arts as a graduate student by the date fixed in the preceding paragraph, and upon such registration he is regarded as a resident candidate.

3. A graduate of a professional school desiring to become a candidate for a Master's degree, under Rule 4, page 125, must register in the College of Liberal Arts as a graduate student as early as the tenth of October next following the completion of the professional course.

4. A candidate for a Doctor's degree must register not later than the tenth day of October next preceding the date of the final examination.

5. A candidate for an advanced degree must furnish the Registrar with all data required for the record of his application, and with a statement of the courses of study he proposes to pursue. His application and the statement of courses must be approved by the Committee on Graduate Study and by the heads of the departments in which the work is to be taken.

6. Graduates of this, or of any other college, not candidates for an advanced degree, may with the consent of the departments concerned and the approval of the Committee on Graduate Study, register as resident students in such advanced studies as they are found qualified to pursue.

Requirements for Degrees

THE BACHELOR'S DEGREE

The programs of study described on pages 76 and 77 lead to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science respectively.

1. The candidate for a Bachelor's degree must file with the Registrar, on or before the last Saturday in May in the year next preceding that in which he expects to obtain the degree, an application for such degree on a form provided by the University.

2. He must have pursued studies in residence in the College of Liberal Arts of Northwestern University for at least one college year before the degree can be conferred.

3. He must complete all the prescribed courses for the degree sought, and, in addition, elective courses sufficient to make a total credit of one hundred and twenty hours. The courses completed must include the major work in at least one department and the minor work in at least one other department.

4. Of the total credit presented for the degree, not more than one-fifth of the work done under the College Faculty may be of grade D.

5. No student who has not removed all entrance conditions by the first of October in any year and secured on record a total of at least eighty-four hours of credit including the required studies of the first year can be recognized as a candidate for a degree at the close of that year.

THE MASTER'S DEGREE

A Master's degree may be conferred on a Bachelor of Northwestern University, or of any other institution of accepted grade, under the following regulations:

1. The candidate must have pursued studies in residence in the College of Liberal Arts of Northwestern University for at least one year, except as stated below.

2. A Bachelor of Northwestern University may become a non-resident candidate for the corresponding Master's degree after having completed one-half year of graduate work in residence, but in such case the remaining half-year of work, if done out of residence, must be extended over at least two semesters. Graduates of other institutions are not admitted as non-resident candidates for a degree.

3. A Bachelor of Northwestern University, or of another institution of accepted grade, may become a candidate for a Master's degree while pursuing studies in the Medical School or Law School of this University, or in Garrett Biblical Institute, or upon the completion of the professional course in one of these schools, subject to the provisions of Rules 2 and 3 on page 124.

4. The candidate for a Master's degree must present credit in approved courses of study amounting to thirty semester hours. If he is enrolled in one of the professional schools above enumerated, or is a graduate therefrom, he must present credit amounting to twelve semester hours of advanced work in an approved field, in addition to the maximum prescribed professional course.

This advanced work may be taken either under the Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts or under the Faculty of the professional school, but in either case it must be approved by the Committee on Graduate Study of the College of Liberal Arts.

5. At least one-half of the work offered for a Master's degree must be chosen from one or at most two departments of study in which the candidate has previously completed the undergraduate major work or its full equivalent.

6. The candidate must present a thesis on an approved topic pertaining to his primary subject. The subject of his thesis must be filed with the Registrar not later than the first Wednesday in December; and the thesis itself must be filed with the registrar not later than the second Saturday of May. It shall be printed or typewritten in prescribed form and a copy shall be furnished to the library of the College of Liberal Arts.

7. A candidate for a Bachelor's degree who during his undergraduate course devotes excess time to the continuation of his major subject, or to other advanced topics approved by the Committee on Graduate Study, may for such work receive credit toward a Master's degree; but in no case will the Master's degree be conferred in less than one year after the conferring of the Bachelor's degree.

8. A non-resident candidate for a Master's degree will be required, at stated times, to make written reports on the progress of his work.

9. The final examination of the candidate for a Master's degree takes place at the University at an appointed date, about May 20. The examination is conducted by a committee composed of the head of the department in which the student has done his primary work and not less than two other members of the Faculty chosen from the same or from related departments. The committee in the case of a candidate doing work in a professional school shall include two members of the Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts.

THE DOCTOR'S DEGREE

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy is conferred under the following regulations:

1. A candidate for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must have received the Bachelor's degree from Northwestern University, or from some other institution of accepted standing.

2. The degree may be conferred on successful candidates after three years of graduate study, of which at least two must be in residence. The last year, or the first two years, must be spent in residence at Northwestern University. The period of three years may, however, be shortened in the case of students who, as undergraduates, have pursued special studies beyond the requirement for major work in the direction of their proposed graduate work. Study for a specified time will in no case be regarded as sufficient ground for conferring the degree, but in all cases high attainments in scholarship and evidence of capacity for original investigation are demanded.

3. The candidate must give two-thirds of his time to advanced work in one department of study which shall constitute his primary subject, and the remaining time to either one or two secondary subjects. The requirement "advanced work" implies preliminary study in the given subject equivalent to at least an undergraduate major in that department.

4. The candidate must have a reading knowledge of French and German as a preliminary qualification but in exceptional cases an equivalent in Latin, Greek, or Hebrew may be accepted instead of French.

5. The candidate must present a thesis upon an approved topic pertaining to his primary subject which gives evidence of original investigation. A revised typewritten copy of the thesis in prescribed form must be filed with the Registrar as early as the Saturday next preceding the last Monday in April. If the thesis is approved, the candidate must, within such time as shall be designated, present twenty-five printed copies to the University Library.

6. The final examination, which is both written and oral, is held about May 20, and covers the entire primary subject, including the topic of the thesis. The secondary subject, or subjects, may be discontinued when the candidate has fulfilled the requirements of attendance at lectures and has passed the necessary written examinations.

SPECIAL REGULATIONS AFFECTING THE DOCTOR'S DEGREE

Students in Garrett Biblical Institute may become candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy under the following special regulations. The general regulations affecting examinations, theses, and a knowledge of foreign languages apply to these candidates.

1. The candidate must have completed a course for a Bachelor's degree, the sufficiency of which has been accepted by a joint committee of the Faculty of the Institute and of the Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts.

2. He must have completed two full years of theological study, either in Garrett Biblical Institute or in another theological school of recognized standing.

3. He must thereafter be accepted as a candidate for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy by a vote of the Faculty of the Institute, and must be registered as a candidate for such degree with the College of Liberal Arts; he must then continue in residence at least two years, and must complete the work of two full years. Of this work two-thirds must be taken in one department of the Institute; the remaining one-third may be taken in not more than two departments of the Institute or of the College of Liberal Arts. During these two years of residence the candidate is subject to the direction of the head of the department in which his primary work is taken. The whole course of study is subject to the approval of the faculty of the College of Liberal Arts through its Committee on Graduate Study.

4. Of the four years required for a degree of Doctor of Philosophy, three at least must be spent in residence at a theological school of high standing, and the last two must be spent in Garrett Biblical Institute.

Prizes and Honors

FELLOWSHIPS

University Fellowships—For the promotion of graduate study and research, the University awards fellowships of three hundred dollars each. These are assigned from year to year to various departments according to the merits of the applicants and the conditions of the departments. In 1900-1910 ten such fellowships were awarded.

Fellowships are open to men and women, alike, whether graduates of this University or of other institutions, and appointments are made for one year.

Fellows do not pay tuition fees, but may be required to give limited assistance in the work of the department, not, however, to such an extent as to interfere with the primary purpose of the fellowship. Fellows entering from other institutions must pay the matriculation fee.

Applications for appointment as Fellow must be made not later than the first of April. Awards are made not later than the first of May. Blank forms for applications may be had from the office of the Registrar.

The Woman's Club Fellowship—The Woman's Club of Evanston has established a fellowship of three hundred dollars a year for the promotion of research in the field of Household Economics. The fellowship is open to women graduates of any college of accepted rank and the appointment carries with it free tuition, but the holder is expected to render limited assistance in the work of the Woman's Club along lines closely related to her studies. The appointment is made by the President of the University early in September. Applications, accompanied by full information as to the character and training of the applicant, and by an outline of the work proposed, should be in hand before the first of September.

University Settlement Fellowship—This fellowship yields an income of three hundred dollars, contributed by the students of the College of Liberal Arts, and carries exemption from tuition fees. The holder is required to reside in the Northwestern University Settlement.

SCHOLARSHIPS

The following scholarships are awarded annually to meritorious undergraduates in the College of Liberal Arts. Applications for appointment should be made to the Dean of the College not later than the first day of May in each year.

Catherine M. White Scholarships—From a bequest of nine thousand dollars under the will of Catherine M. White, of Evanston, there have been established three scholarships paying full undergraduate tuition fees. The recipients hold themselves responsible for limited clerical service.

Methodist Episcopal Church Scholarship—This scholarship, yielding annually the interest on seven hundred and fifty dollars, was founded by the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Evanston for the benefit of a meritorious student, and is awarded by the officers of the church.

University Guild Scholarship—This scholarship, founded by the University Guild of Evanston, affords to a young woman an income equal to the tuition fee in College. The holder is responsible for certain duties in the Guild Rooms.

First Year Scholarships—Fifty scholarships are awarded annually to select members of the incoming class, upon applications endorsed by the principal and faculty of the secondary school from which the applicant graduates. The applicant must meet the full entrance requirements and must present certificates from the teachers in his secondary school for excellence of character, physical vigor, manliness, and promise of usefulness as a citizen. The award is made at the University by a committee of the College faculty.

Marcy Scholarship in Biology—The University has at its disposal a table at the Marine Biological Laboratory, Wood's Holl, Massachusetts, for the use of advanced students from the biological department of the College of Liberal Arts. The occupants of this table are entitled to all the privileges of the laboratory, including instruction, lectures, and the use of appliances and apparatus.

Colonial Dames Scholarship—To encourage the study of American History and to promote the spread of American principles among the youth of Chicago, especially among those of foreign birth or parentage, the Society of the Colonial Dames of America in the State of Illinois has established a scholarship affording to the holder one hundred and fifty dollars annually. Competition for this scholarship is open to graduate and advanced undergraduate students and the award is based on a knowledge of American History and the ability to interest others in that study. The successful contestant is required to conduct a class in American History and Civil Government one evening a week, for boys and young men in Northwestern University Settlement, Chicago. At the time the award is made candidates shall have completed Courses H and BC in History, and they shall pass a qualifying examination in the subject matter of these courses. The award shall be made on the basis of this qualifying examination and the general fitness of the candidates to meet the aims of the scholarship.

The American School of Classical Studies at Rome—The University is a contributor to the American School of Classical Studies at Rome, and is represented on its Board of Managers by a member of the Faculty. The school affords facilities for archæological and classical investigation and study in Rome, and graduates of the University are entitled to its advantages without tuition fees.

PRIZES

The following prizes are open to candidates for a degree in the College of Liberal Arts. A successful contestant may not again compete for the same prize. Unredeemed failures in more than one department of study at the time for appointing contestants prohibit a student from competing for any prize.

The John B. Kirk Prize in Oratory—This prize of one hundred dollars was established in 1877 by Mr. James Kirk of Evanston, and is now the gift of Mrs. John B. Kirk. It is awarded each year for excellence in original oratory, under the following regulations:

1. Orations submitted in competition must not exceed two thousand words and must be typewritten.

2. They must be deposited with the Registrar not later than noon of the first day of February.

3. Any student of the University who has not received a bachelor's degree is entitled to compete.

4. The four contestants receiving from a committee of the Faculty the highest marks in thought and composition for their original orations shall receive the sum of fifteen dollars each and shall be entitled to participate in a public contest.

5. The public contest shall be held on the evening of the second Friday in March. The contestant who receives the highest marks in this contest, special emphasis being laid upon interpretation and delivery, shall receive the additional sum of forty dollars and shall be entitled to represent the University in the Northern Oratorical League.

6. The successful competitor in the public contest shall be known as the Kirk Prize winner, and the names of the remaining three contestants shall appear in the University publications as receiving honorable mention. The winner of the Kirk Prize shall present to the donor a typewritten copy of his oration.

The Harris Prize in Political and Social Science—A prize of one hundred dollars, the gift of Mr. Norman Wait Harris, of Chicago, is awarded to the writer of the best essay on an assigned topic in the department of Economics, Finance, and Administration.

1. No undergraduate student is eligible for this prize unless he shall have completed at the time of making the award the equivalent of Course A and at least three additional year-hours in Economics.

2. Essays offered in competition must contain not less than ten thousand words, and be either printed or typewritten. If typewritten, they must be on letter paper of a good quality, of quarto size, with a margin of not less than one inch at the top, at the bottom, and on each side, so that they may be bound without injury to the writing. On the title-page of each essay must be written an assumed name, and under cover with the essay must be sent a sealed letter containing the real name of the writer and superscribed with his assumed name.

3. The copies of all essays submitted for this prize become the property of the University, and the essay receiving first place shall have endorsed upon it a certificate of that fact.

4. An essay submitted in competition must be deposited with the Registrar of the College before twelve o'clock noon on May 1.

5. The Faculty appoints three judges and the award is made for the essay declared to be the best by at least two of the judges, provided that the University reserves the right to make no award if, in the opinion of the majority of the judges, the best essay shall not be of sufficient merit.

The Gage Debate Prizes—Prizes aggregating one hundred dollars are given annually by the Honorable Lyman J. Gage for excellence in debate.

The recipients of these prizes are selected through a series of debates, held in the autumn of each year, to which students from all departments of the University are eligible. The winners of the Gage prizes become the representatives of the University in the annual contest of the Central Debating League.

The Sargent Prizes in Public Speaking—Two prizes of fifty and twenty-five dollars, respectively, endowed by Mr. George M. Sargent, of Evanston, are given for excellence in public speaking.

1. Eight candidates are appointed by the Faculty from students who have completed not less than fifty hours of college work including Elocution B.

2. At least one of the prizes must be given for an oratorical effort. A declamation may not exceed twelve hundred words.

3. No prompting of the speakers will be allowed, and a failure of memory will exclude a competitor from consideration.

4. The award is made by a committee appointed by the Faculty, but composed of persons who are not members of that body.

The Orrington Lunt Prize—A prize of one hundred dollars, established in 1908 by Cornelia Gray Lunt, in memory of her father, Orrington Lunt, is awarded annually to the writer of the best essay on a subject in the departments of English Literature and History. The subject is assigned in the respective departments in alternate years. At the time of the award, the writer must have completed the major course of study in the related department. The essay should be typewritten, signed by an assumed name, and accompanied by the real and the assumed name in a sealed envelope. It must be deposited with the Registrar not later than May 1. If no essay of sufficient merit is presented, the prize will not be awarded.

Regulations Affecting Students

RESIDENCE

Men students find comfortable homes in private families within easy reach of the College. Some live in chapter houses, maintained by the fraternities.

Women students, wherever they reside, are under the supervision of the Dean of Women and are expected to conform to the general regulations prescribed for the conduct of those living in the Halls. They are required to room in one of the Halls provided for them, unless special exemption is granted.

Willard Hall, the largest of the three women's dormitories, is under the immediate oversight of the Dean of Women, who lives in the building. For information respecting Willard Hall inquiries should be addressed to Willard Hall, Evanston, Illinois.

Pearsons Hall and Chapin Hall are in charge of an association of women residents in Evanston, incorporated as the Woman's Educational Aid Association. This association considers the claims of applicants for admission and has a friendly supervision over the residents. The lighter housework of Pearsons and Chapin Halls is done by the young women residing in them, under the direction of a competent matron. In this way the expenses of living are materially reduced. For information respecting Pearsons Hall or Chapin Hall, inquiries should be addressed to the Corresponding Secretary of the Woman's Educational Aid Association, Evanston, Illinois.

REGISTRATION

Every undergraduate student is required to register in person at the office of the Registrar before entering upon College work.

The registration days are the first Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of each semester. The student not registered at the close of this period is subject to a fee of two dollars for later registration.

On the registration days of the first semester the student must register for the work of the whole year. Changes may be made only with permission from the Committee on Registration and from the student's adviser.

Each student is required to register for fifteen hours of work a week, unless permission has been obtained from the Committee on Registration to register for less or more. Prescribed studies take precedence of elective studies in the order in which they are prescribed. Two hours of laboratory work are credited as one hour. No credit is given for work not regularly registered.

Permission to register for more than fifteen hours will not be granted unless the committee is satisfied that the student can carry the whole work creditably. A student engaged in outside work making a serious drain on his time or energy may not register for more than twelve hours.

If entrance conditions are not removed before the beginning of the second year of residence, the work necessary to fulfill the entrance requirements must be included in the regular registration for that year, and the total registration may not exceed sixteen hours. The second year of a foreign language necessary to ensure admission credit for a first year of that language is treated as an entrance condition.

Before completing his registration, the student is required to consult his faculty adviser and his registration papers must state the full amount of work to be undertaken each semester, whether in the College of Liberal Arts or elsewhere, and must indicate the number of hours devoted to each subject, and the school or department in which it is to be taken.

Students of the College of Liberal Arts desiring to take work in any other School of the University must first obtain consent from the faculty of the College of Liberal Arts and from the faculty of the School in which the work is to be taken, and they must file such consent with the Registrar before beginning the work. Failure to comply with this regulation will be deemed sufficient cause for cancellation of the entire registration.

At the time of registration the student obtains from the Registrar his tuition bill for the semester, which must be presented immediately at the Business Manager's Office for payment.

EXAMINATIONS

Regular Examinations—These are held at the close of each semester in the studies of that semester. Any student whose daily work has not been satisfactory may be excluded from examination at the option of the instructor.

Second Examinations—These are set for students who have been absent from a regular examination, or who have failed to receive a passing grade at a regular examination. Second examinations are held on the first Wednesday in the first semester, on the first Saturday in the second semester, and on the Monday following Easter.

No student may take more than one second examination for the same item of credit, and such second examination must be taken within nine months from the date of the regular examination at which credit should have been obtained. Students absent from the regular examinations of the first semester are admitted to the second examinations held in February, only in case of illness or other urgent necessity, and by consent of the instructor in charge.

Additional Examinations—Students absent from class exercises in excess of the limit are required to take additional examinations on the last Thursday of the first semester and on the last Friday of the second semester. Students absent from a required additional examination are held to take that examination at the next date set, and no credit can be given for the course until this examination is passed.

Special Examinations—Examinations may not be given at times other than those specified above without permission of the Faculty.

GRADES OF SCHOLARSHIP

At the end of each semester the standing of a student in each of his courses is reported by the instructor to the Registrar and is entered of record. Standing is expressed, according to proficiency, in grades A, B, C, D, E, F.

Grade A denotes superior scholarship; grade B, good scholarship; grade C, fair scholarship; grade D, poor scholarship; grade E, a condition which may be removed by a second examination; grade F, a failure removable only by repetition of the subject in the class. Work of grades A, B, and C is counted toward a degree. Work of grade D may also be counted toward a degree, but not more than one-fifth of the work done under the College Faculty offered to meet the requirements for graduation may be of this grade and no work of this grade may be counted toward a major.

Work reported as of grade E must either be made good at a second examination within nine months, or be taken again in the class-room if credit is to be obtained.

Work reported incomplete at the end of any semester, and not made good before the close of the next semester, can thereafter be given credit only upon a second examination taken under the conditions which apply to work reported as of grade E.

Students who do not take the regular examination in any subject at the close of the semester are reported absent, and credit for that subject can only be obtained by passing a Second Examination at a proper time, and only one such examination is allowed.

Undergraduates are not allowed credit for work done in absentia. Only those who have duly registered and have regularly pursued their studies in attendance at class are admitted to examinations.

The semester records of each undergraduate are sent by the Registrar to the student's father or guardian. Failure in any semester to secure grade A, B, or C for at least forty per cent of the work undertaken by him will necessitate a student's withdrawal from College.

ABSENCES FROM CLASS EXERCISES

Students are expected to attend all the regular exercises of the courses for which they are registered. Neglect of class attendance without sufficient cause is a misdemeanor and will be treated accordingly. If, however, for any cause full attendance is impossible, the following rules apply.

1. If a student be absent from more than one-eighth of the total number of assigned exercises, in any course, he will be required to take, on a fixed date, besides the regular examination at the close of the semester, an Additional Examination. The dates fixed for such examinations are the last Thursday of the first semester and the last Friday of the second semester.

2. When a student's absences in any course exceed one-sixth of the total number of assigned exercises in that course, his registration in that subject is cancelled, and the privilege of examination is denied. This rule is administered by the Committee on Registration, which has power to restore the cancelled registration at its discretion.

THE LIBRARY

The Library contains 74,247 bound volumes and approximately 50,000 pamphlets. It is open to officers of the University, and to students upon the payment of their regular semester bills, under the following regulations:

1. During the college year the Library is open, except on Sunday, from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. In the summer vacation, except on Saturday afternoon and on Sunday, it is open from 8 a.m. until 12 noon and 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. The Library is closed on New Year's Day, the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas Day.

2. Officers of the University have direct access to the shelves and are entitled to the first use of books.

3. Students may draw from the Library three volumes at a time, and these may be kept for two weeks unless specially restricted. Graduate students may have six volumes at a time.

4. The book stacks are not open to the students in general or to the public; but cards of admission may be given by the Librarian on recommendation of an officer of instruction.

5. Reserved books in the reading room and the seminary rooms are withdrawn from circulation at the request of officers of instruction for the use of their classes. The books reserved in the reading room and other books of reference, are placed on open shelves freely and equally accessible to all readers; or, when much in demand, they are kept at the desk, and delivered on application there. These books are on no account to be taken from the reading room, and must be used with due regard to the rights of others.

6. Persons not members of the University are allowed the use of the reading room at the discretion of the Librarian. Persons introduced by an officer of the University may be permitted to take books for a short period on the officer's account, or may be granted the privileges of the Library upon written application endorsed by an officer of the University.

THE GYMNASIUM

The new gymnasium which is at present in process of building at a cost of approximately $250,000, through the generosity of Mr. James A. Patten of Evanston, is one of the largest and best equipped in the country.

Regular classes are under the supervision of competent instructors and are open to men and women. The student upon entering gymnasium classes undergoes a physical examination, and his health, strength, muscular development, and physical defects are carefully noted. From these data, exercises, based on scientific principles, are prescribed to meet his individual needs and to give increased health, strength, and symmetry of body. See course in Physical Culture.

ATHLETICS

Athletic exercises and games participated in by students are under the supervision of the Director of Athletics and a Committee of the Faculty. The care and equipment of the athletic field, tennis courts, gymnasium, and the cost of necessary supplies and apparatus for athletic teams are provided for by the University.

Intercollegiate contests are governed by the regulations of the Western Intercollegiate Conference, of which the University is a member.

For a description of Northwestern Field see page 45.

RELIGIOUS WORSHIP

The charter of the University provides that "no particular religious faith shall be required of those who become students of this institution."

Students of the College of Liberal Arts are expected to attend public worship on Sunday in the church of their choice.

Chapel service is held at ten o'clock on each week day, except Saturday, throughout the college year. Attendance upon at least three-fifths of these services is required.

When a student's record of chapel credits is deficient as many credits as he is expected to secure in one-half of a semester, his registration in all studies is cancelled, and it may be restored only on the recommendation of the faculty committee on chapel attendance.

GOVERNMENT

Students are temporary residents of the City of Evanston, and as such are amenable to the laws of the state and to the ordinances of the city. They are also subject to the rules and regulations made by the Faculty and are held to have a knowledge of all Faculty requirements published in the catalogue, or otherwise brought to their attention.

Students may be separated from the institution whenever in the opinion of the Faculty they are pursuing a course of conduct seriously detrimental to themselves or to the University. The University will tolerate neither idleness nor dissolute habits.

SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENTS

Permission for a party or social entertainment at which men and women are to be present, to be held by an organization or group of students, must be obtained beforehand from the Committee on Social Life of Students. The conditions under which the party or entertainment is held are subject to the approval of the committee.

MUSICAL CLUBS

Student musical organizations are under the supervision of a standing committee of the Faculty. The chairman of the committee must be informed of the intended organization of any such association, and must be furnished with a statement of its plans, purposes, and membership. Formal organization is not permitted without the knowledge and sanction of the committee. Business managers of such organizations must not make arrangements for public appearances of the clubs without the consent of the committee. Concert dates will not be permitted to interfere with examinations, or to interrupt the routine of study. Students with delinquent standing are not allowed to retain connection with musical organizations.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Northern Oratorical League—The oratorical associations of Northwestern University, the University of Michigan, the University of Wisconsin, the University of Iowa, the University of Chicago, the University of Minnesota, and Oberlin College compose the Northern Oratorical League. The purpose of this organization is to promote an interest in public speaking and to elevate the standard of oratory, by holding annual contests. The contests of the League are open only to undergraduates.

Central Debating League—The students of the University of Michigan, the University of Chicago, and Northwestern University are organized into a debating league in which representatives of each university meet annually, in January, representatives of each of the others in public contest. In these contests a single question is debated each year.

The Hinman Literary Society—This society was organized in 1855, during the first year of the work of the college, and has had a continuous existence. It was named in honor of the first President of the University, the Reverend Clark T. Hinman. It meets on Tuesday evenings throughout the year.

The Adelpic Literary Society—This society was first organized prior to 1867, and maintained a prosperous existence for over twenty years; it then ceased to be active, but was reorganized in 1897. It meets on Thursday evenings. Two prizes of twenty and fifteen dollars, the gift of Dr. M. C. Bragdon of the class of 1870, are competed for annually by its members.

The Rogers Debating Club—This society was organized in 1897, and was named in honor of Henry Wade Rogers, then President of the University. It meets on Thursday evenings. Three prizes, the gift of Mr. William Deering, are offered annually for competition among its members.

The Cleosophic Literary Society—This society for men was organized in 1905. Besides the weekly program of the society, a prize competition in debate is held annually.

Alethenai and Eulexia Literary Societies, for women, were organized in 1903.

Anonian, Calethea, and Laurean Literary Societies, for women, were organized in 1905.

The Aleph Teth Nun Society is an organization of men for the study of political and social problems. It meets weekly and is frequently addressed by persons prominent in public life.

Christian Associations—A Young Men's Christian Association and a Young Women's Christian Association are in active operation in the College, and exert a helpful influence upon the religious life of students. The Men's Association has headquarters at University Hall, and the Women's Association, at Willard Hall. Each association employs a general secretary and maintains a bureau of self-help for students seeking employment. Under the direction of these organizations, religious meetings are held each week, and study of the Bible is promoted.

For a list of the officers of the Christian Associations of the College of Liberal Arts, see University Societies, page 301.

As auxiliaries to the Christian Associations there have been organized two societies—the Student Volunteer Band, composed of young men and women who have volunteered for foreign missionary service, and a society known as the Oxford Club whose membership is composed of young men preparing for Christian service as ministers or as Association secretaries.

The Woman's League—The Woman's League is an organization having as its purpose the consideration of matters of interest to college women. It is composed of women students, alumnae, and other women actively interested in the University.

Fees and Expenses

Matriculation Fee—Every student on first entering the College of Liberal Arts is required to pay a matriculation fee of five dollars. This fee is paid but once and is not returnable.

Fees for Undergraduates—At the beginning of each semester undergraduate students are required to pay fees for instruction and incidentals as shown in the following table. Upon payment of his semester bill the student is entitled to all the general privileges of the College. He may take any course for which he is qualified under the regulations affecting registration, but in certain laboratory courses he is required to pay additional fees as shown below.

SCHEDULE OF UNDERGRADUATE FEES FOR EACH SEMESTER

Regular full tuition and incidentals.....	$50.00
Sons and daughters of ministers.....	30.00

Reduced rates of tuition are given only to sons and daughters of clergymen who are actively pursuing the work of the ministry.

Students pursuing a single study, i. e., work not exceeding five hours a week.....	30.00
Sons and daughters of ministers pursuing a single study.....	22.00
Holders of old-time perpetual or transferable scholarships, for inci- dentals.....	22.00

Fees for Graduate Students—The tuition fees for graduate students, whether resident or non-resident, are determined by the number of hours of instruction taken. The fee for a lecture, or seminary, or laboratory course is five dollars a year for each year-hour of credit; the total amount of tuition fees in any one year shall not exceed forty dollars.

Fees for Students Registered in two Schools—A student whose primary registration is in another School of the University, or in Garrett Biblical Institute, pays the fees of that department and may register in the College of Liberal Arts for such courses as may be approved by both faculties concerned without additional fees for tuition. The matriculation fee is paid but once, on the student's first admission to the University, but laboratory and other special fees are chargeable for any courses taken. Students in the Evanston Academy taking courses in College not required for admission, pay regular college fees.

Laboratory Fees—Students pursuing laboratory courses are charged additional fees. These are to cover the cost of materials and the use of special apparatus. They are not refunded if the student continues in a course as long as two weeks, except that in the Chemical Laboratory the fee is in the nature of a deposit, where an account is kept of the material used, and the unexpended balances, at the end of the year, are returned to the student. In all departments students are chargeable for unnecessary breakages. The laboratory fees for each semester are as follows:

CHEMISTRY

Course A.....	$ 7.50
Other courses except Course E, each.....	9.00
Two courses taken concurrently.....	15.00

PHYSICS

Course A or B.....	2.00
Course C.....	3.00

ZOOLOGY

Course A.....	3.00
Courses B ₁ , B ₂ , B ₃ , C or D.....	2.00

BOTANY -

Any Course.....	2.00

GEOLOGY

Course A ₁ , A ₂ , B ₃ , B ₅ , C ₃ , or C ₄	2.00
Course B ₄	5.00

Graduation Fee—A fee of ten dollars is charged all persons taking any degree in the College of Liberal Arts. This fee is payable on the first day of May of the year of graduation.

Refunds—Fees for instruction or incidentals will not be refunded except in case of sickness. If a student withdraws before the middle of the semester, on account of his serious illness, one-half of his tuition fee will be refunded to him, on obtaining from the Dean a statement of honorable standing, and from a physician a certificate that his health will not permit him to remain in attendance.

Bills for fees are made out at the office of the Registrar in University Hall. Payment is made at the office of the Business Manager, 518 Davis Street, Evanston. Checks should be made payable to "Northwestern University," and all payments should be made in currency or in Chicago exchange.

BOARD AND LODGING

Students living in Willard Hall pay for board and room from $225 to $261 a year, according to the desirability of the room. Bills are payable quarterly in advance. All applicants for rooms sign a contract, guaranteed by some responsible person not a college officer, to occupy the assigned room for the full college year or to secure a suitable substitute. A deposit of ten dollars is required at the time a room is assigned. This amount will be refunded at the end of the year or when the depositor has fulfilled her contract, or if the room is surrendered before the first of August five dollars will be refunded.

Bills for room and board are payable strictly in advance, and no deduction is made for absence, except in case of protracted illness.

Pearsons Hall and Chapin Hall are residences for women students of limited means, and applications for admission must be made to the Corresponding Secretary of the Woman's Educational Aid Association, Evanston. In these halls students pay for board and room $125.00 a year, in quarterly installments, at the beginning and at the middle of each semester. They are required to assist in the lighter housework.

Young men obtain board and lodging in private families at reasonable rates. Clubs are formed in which the cost of board is reduced to a minimum.

LOAN FUNDS

The University receives annually a considerable sum of money to be loaned without interest to worthy students. Loans are made upon the recommendation of the Committee on Loan Funds. Satisfactory scholarship and promise of service are essential to securing such assistance.

SELF-SUPPORT OF STUDENTS

The University does not encourage students to enter college if entirely without resources. Especially is it undesirable that young women should enter college without funds if wholly dependent on their own efforts. It happens, however, every year that not a few students are able to help themselves very materially by their labor, while pursuing their studies. The Young Men's Christian Association conducts a bureau of self-help which is of great assistance every year in securing work for a large number desiring it. Inquiries sent to the Secretary of that Association receive careful attention.

Grounds and Equipment

THE CAMPUS

The University Campus has an area of about seventy-five acres, stretching for three-quarters of a mile along the shore of Lake Michigan. On the Campus are University Hall, Fayerweather Hall of Science, Dearborn Observatory, Fisk Hall, Memorial Hall, Annie May Swift Hall, Orrington Lunt Library, Swift Hall of Engineering, Old College, the old Gymnasium, Hatfield House, Heck Hall, and the new Gymnasium now nearly completed. Music Hall, Willard Hall, Pearsons Hall, and Chapin Hall are situated on Willard Hall Campus, distant from University Hall about three minutes' walk.

A description of the University grounds and buildings may be found on page 44.

THE MUSEUM

The Museum of the College of Liberal Arts contains large collections illustrative of anthropology, botany, geology, mineralogy, and zoölogy. These are of rare value in the work of instruction in the natural sciences. The mineralogical collection is in the department laboratory in the old Gymnasium; the other sections are on the fourth floor of University Hall but are not open to the public, for want of suitable rooms for display.

THE LABORATORIES

Botany—The Laboratory is on the third floor of University Hall. Tables, compound and dissecting microscopes, glassware, reagents, and lockers are provided for each student. Microtomes, incubators, and sterilizing apparatus are available for the advanced courses.

Chemistry—The Laboratory is located in Fayerweather Hall of Science and includes on the main floor: a lecture room seating sixty; a reading-room, a laboratory for general chemistry and for qualitative analysis, with forty-six tables; a laboratory for quantitative analysis, with twelve tables; a balance-room; the office and private laboratory of the professors; the assistants' room; on the ground floor: a general store-room, a room with four tables equipped with special conveniences for water analysis, a large laboratory for organic chemistry, an office and private laboratory.

Geology—The Laboratory is in University Hall and consists of five rooms on the fourth floor. In these rooms are: study collections of typical rocks, minerals, and fossils; photographs; geological maps; a large series of topographical maps; topographical and geological models; a geological library; petrographical microscopes; thin sections of rocks and minerals; several outfits for topographical and geological mapping, each consisting of a plane table, alidade, aneroid barometer, hand level, and compass. In addition is an extensive collection, belonging to the Wisconsin Geological and Natural History Survey, including rocks and ores from the copper-bearing rocks of the Lake Superior region and the upper Mississippi Valley lead and zinc district.

Mineralogy—The laboratory is in what was formerly the gymnasium, and contains a collection of several thousand labeled minerals and a collection of unlabeled material for determination by students. The laboratory is furnished with glass and wood models of crystals, reflecting goniometer microscope, electrical slicing and grinding machine, and lantern slides illustrating mining and metallurgy. The assay laboratory is supplied with gas and coal furnaces, tools, balances, and reagents.

Physics—The Laboratory and Shops are in Fayerweather Hall of Science in rooms excellently adapted to their purpose and are well equipped with modern instruments, especially in the departments of acoustics, electricity, and light. The rooms for special purposes include a workshop in the basement; a room for spectroscopy, fitted with a curved grating; a drawing room; rooms for electric and magnetic work; a room for general optics; a photometric-room; several small rooms for individual work. In the court is a powerhouse with two engines, two motors, two dynamos, and a large storage battery which furnishes power to the laboratory.

Psychology—The Laboratory is in old College and consists of a general laboratory and apparatus room, dark room, research rooms, an office and reading room. The reading room is supplied with the most helpful books and periodicals on experimental psychology. The equipment includes everything necessary for purposes of demonstration in the course in general psychology, for an elementary laboratory course, and for certain typical researches. Additions are made from time to time, as the work demands.

The Zoological Laboratory—This Laboratory is in University Hall. It includes a large general room, a laboratory for vertebrate zoölogy, a seminary room, and department library, a room for advanced students, and a preparator's room. The equipment consists of a large number of excellent compound microscopes, microtomes of the most recent make, dissecting microscopes and instruments, incubators, aquaria, glassware, reagents, and other apparatus for elementary and advanced work in Zoölogy. The department is supplied with a full set of Leuckart's zoölogical charts and several sets of Ziegler's wax models.

DORMITORIES FOR WOMEN

Willard Hall is a large, substantial edifice containing a chapel and other public rooms, and large private apartments for one hundred twenty women. The rooms are well lighted and well ventilated, cheerful and attractive. The building is provided with fire escapes, and is heated by hot water.

Pearsons Hall and Chapin Hall are brick and stone buildings, convenient and well-furnished homes for women. Each hall affords accommodation for about sixty women. They are under the control of the Woman's Educational Aid Association of Evanston.

For further information in regard to the College of Liberal Arts, address the Dean of the College, Evanston, Illinois.

For blank forms of admission and for information in regard to entrance requirements and on all matters of record, address the Registrar of the College of Liberal Arts, Evanston, Illinois.

The Medical School

NORTHWESTERN University Medical School was organized in 1859 as the Medical Department of Lind University of Chicago; and its first annual course of medical instruction began October 9th, 1859. The active founders and permanent supporters of the school were Doctors Hosmer A. Johnson, Edmund Andrews, Ralph N. Isham, Nathan S. Davis, and William H. Byford, aided by Doctors David Rutter, John H. Hollister, F. Mahla, M. K. Taylor, and Titus Deville.

The Medical School occupied rooms in the Lind Block on the corner of Randolph and Market Streets until the fall of 1863 when Lind University released the Medical Faculty from all further obligations to remain a department of that institution. Being thrown on their own resources, the Medical Faculty erected a building on State Street near Twenty-second Street, and continued the Medical School under the name of the Chicago Medical College. In 1869 the Chicago Medical College became the medical department of Northwestern University. The College in 1870 moved its building on State Street to the corner of Twenty-sixth Street and Prairie Avenue. The building was now on the same ground as Mercy Hospital, which it adjoined. In 1890 Mercy Hospital needed the ground on which the college building stood for extensive additions and the College needed new buildings to accommodate its laboratories and growing dispensary. By the aid of Mr. William Deering land was purchased at the corner of Twenty-fifth and Dearborn Streets. Davis Hall and the present Laboratory Building were erected during 1892 on this land and were first used in the college year 1893-1894. In 1901 a splendid, fire-proof building was erected by the side of the Medical School for the use of Wesley Hospital. This building materially augmented the clinical opportunities that were available to the students in the Medical School. In 1905 the Medical School became an integral part of Northwestern University with which it had been affiliated since 1869.

Much of the success of the School is due to the benefactions of Mr. William Deering, Dr. Nathan S. Davis, and Dr. Ephriam Ingals, and to the wisdom and devotion of Dr. Nathan S. Davis, who served as Dean from 1901 to 1907.

The Medical School has been a pioneer in the advancement of medical education in the United States. It was the first American school to enforce a standard of preliminary education; to adopt longer annual courses of instruction; and to initiate, in 1859, the graded curriculum, in which the studies were assigned in logical order, and in which laboratory departments prepared the way for the practical clinical branches. The School is open to men only.

Requirements for Admission

Candidates for admission to the Medical School must qualify under the following regulations:

a. Certificates of moral character signed by two physicians of good standing in the State in which the applicant last resided must be presented.

b. Graduates of recognized colleges will be admitted without examination upon the presentation of their diplomas.

c. Graduates of approved high schools and academies which offer courses of study equivalent to the requirements for admission to the College of Liberal Arts of this University, see pages 68 to 74, will be admitted without examination upon the presentation of their diplomas, and proof of one year of college work in chemistry, biology, physics, and modern languages, in addition to the four years of high school work scheduled.

d. Graduates of State Normal Schools, or of similar institutions whose courses of study are fully equivalent to those of public high schools with a four-year curriculum, will be admitted without examination upon the presentation of their diplomas, and proof of one year of College work in chemistry, biology, physics, and modern languages.

e. Students not holding certificates or diplomas similar to those indicated above may be admitted on the presentation of satisfactory credentials for having completed a course of study equal to that required for admission to the second year in a College of Liberal Arts. Otherwise they will be required to pass examinations for admission upon the subjects enumerated below, full equivalents being accepted for the prescribed subjects.

f. Students conditioned in entrance requirements must make up conditions before the beginning of the second year, and cannot be registered as regular students in the second year course until this is done.

EXAMINATIONS FOR ADMISSION

Examinations for admission to the Medical School are held at the School on the Monday next preceding the first Tuesday in October. By special arrangement examinations may also be held at St. Paul, Minnesota; Denver, Colorado; Omaha, Nebraska; St. Louis, Missouri; Cincinnati, Ohio; Detroit, Michigan; Portland, Oregon; and San Francisco, California. For examination at the Medical School application must be made to the Secretary of the Medical School prior to September 15. For examination in cities other than Chicago, application must be made to the Secretary of the Medical School prior to September 1.

ADMISSION AS SPECIAL STUDENTS

At the discretion of the Faculty persons of serious purpose and mature years may be admitted to the Medical School as special students to pursue selected studies. Applications for such admittance must be accompanied by evidence of qualification to carry on the proposed work to advantage. In general, special students are expected to meet the full entrance requirements.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

Applicants for advanced standing must present satisfactory records for work on which credit is asked, or they must pass examinations. Certificates from other reputable medical schools covering the number of hours in class and laboratory work given in this School are accepted, when properly signed by the Dean or Secretary of the school from which the candidate in medicine comes.

Undergraduate students from other medical colleges will not be admitted to the fourth-year class. Graduates in medicine will be admitted to the senior class only upon special action by the faculty.

Students from other medical schools who have pursued the following first-year medical courses may be admitted to advanced standing in the subjects covered by their official credentials if found satisfactory:

ANATOMY—Recitations, 64 hours, and laboratory work, 320 hours, covering osteology, and dissection of four parts of the human body, arm, leg, thorax and abdomen, head and neck.

PHYSIOLOGY—Recitations, 96 hours, and laboratory work, 96 hours, covering general physiology of cells and tissues, and the special physiology of the circulatory and respiratory systems, including normal hæmatology.

CHEMISTRY.—Lectures and demonstrations, 96 hours, and laboratory work, 196 hours, covering general chemistry and qualitative analysis, with organic chemistry.

HISTOLOGY AND EMBRYOLOGY.—Recitations, 48 hours, and laboratory work, 192 hours, covering the microscopical anatomy of human tissues and organs and the development of vertebrate embryos.

PREPARATION FOR THE STUDY OF MEDICINE

Students contemplating the study of medicine are urged to take at least two years of work in a college of arts or science before entering the Medical School. The following should be among the studies pursued in this preliminary training: Modern Languages: German or French, two years. Chemistry: General, inorganic, qualitative analysis, organic. Physics: Mechanics, hydraulics, sound, light, electricity. Biology: Biology of plants, general biology, comparative anatomy, physiology of vertebrates, histology and embryology.

COMBINED COURSE IN ARTS AND MEDICINE

THE BACHELOR'S DEGREE AND THE MEDICAL DEGREE IN SEVEN YEARS

Students in the College of Liberal Arts of this University intending to enter the Medical School, and desiring to shorten the time required for degrees in both Arts and Medicine, may be released from further work in the College of Liberal Arts when they have secured ninety hours of credit. This credit, must, however, include all the required studies for the degree sought, as shown on pages 76 and 77 of the University Catalogue (1909-1910), and must fulfill the requirements for a major and a minor. If the student's work is properly planned, this necessary credit can be secured in three years.

Under this provision students may give their full time during the fourth year to work in the Medical School, but must continue registration in the College as if in regular attendance. A certificate from the Medical faculty that the equivalent of a full year's work has been satisfactorily accomplished is accepted by the College as completing the one hundred twenty hours required for the bachelor's degree. Credit is not accepted from the Medical School for subjects for which credit has already been given in the College.

This plan of combined courses makes it possible to secure both degrees in seven years, three in the college and four in the Medical School. For all work done in the Medical School the fees of that School must be paid.

On the other hand, some courses offered in the College of Liberal Arts cover corresponding courses in the Medical School, and may be taken for credit in that School. Students who complete Chemistry B, and the second semester of Chemistry C, Volumetric Analysis, in the College laboratories are given credit for Chemistry a, b, and c, that is, for the first year Chemistry in the Medical School. Those who complete Zoölogy B1, C, and D receive credit for Anatomy d and e, and Physiology a, b, and c in the Medical School.

General Outline of Instruction

This Medical School now requires for admission evidence from its students of adequate collegiate preparation in physics, general chemistry, general biology, and consequently these subjects are not included in the curriculum.

The School was the first in the United States to establish a graded course of study and in the course of study outlined in this catalogue the student advances from the fundamental laboratory courses to the clinical, bed-side subjects. The advantages of such gradation can be secured only by at least eight months consecutive attendance, and by beginning with the fundamental subjects in the fall semester of each year. Deviation from the regular schedule of work is not allowed save by action of the Faculty.

The subjects taught in the first year may be studied, with the exception of gross anatomy and surgery in the laboratories of the College of Liberal Arts in Evanston. The work in gross anatomy may be taken by college students during the year in the laboratories of the Dental School in the Northwestern University Building, 87 Lake Street. Students who enter the Medical School from the College of Liberal Arts may complete their gross anatomy and surgery during the summer terms of the Medical School.

The first two years of the medical course are devoted almost entirely to practical work in the laboratories. The logical sequence of the scientific studies of the first and second years leads up to the practical courses of the third and fourth years. The student approaches the practical subjects of the third year after completing those subjects preparatory to practical medicine, and after courses in physical diagnosis and preliminary pathology, surgery, and medicine in the second year. The principles of medicine, surgery, and obstetrics are studied in recitations, in clinics given to small sections, in section work in the dispensary, and in larger clinics. The courses in special pathology and clinical pathology closely follow the clinical work, and are accompanied with clinics and recitations on nervous diseases, gynecology, eye and ear, nose and throat, orthopedic surgery, and diseases of children. In the fourth year the instruction is case-teaching and is largely clinical.

In the entire course, the classes, wherever it is possible, are limited in size, a matter of great advantage to the student, as it gives him the privileges of personal instruction. The sections of classes are sufficiently small to give each student an opportunity to take for himself, under the personal supervision of his teacher, every step in the technique of laboratory and clinical courses.

CLINICAL INSTRUCTION

Clinical instruction occupies most of the last two years and a part of the second year. Clinical material is very abundant and is furnished by the South Side Dispensary, Calumet Avenue Dispensary, Wesley Hospital, Mercy Hospital, St. Luke's Hospital, Provident Hospital, People's Hospital, Cook County Hospital, and the Chicago Lying-in Dispensary. Some of the hospital and college clinics are attended by the entire class, but the greater number of clinics are given to small sections of from twelve to sixteen students, who thus receive individual instruction in physical examination, diagnosis, and treatment. A most important feature of the clinical instruction is the bedside hospital clinic, in which a small group of students accompany the teacher through the ward and study the details of symptoms, diagnosis, and treatment, and follow the cases throughout the progress of disease. The course of bedside clinical instruction is so arranged that each student has at least two periods a week. The hospital beds to which the students have access number in the aggregate over nine hundred. The course in clinical obstetrics at the Chicago Lying-in Dispensary is obligatory.

SCHEDULE OF COURSES

In the following general arrangement of the course, letters refer to the courses presented under the main headings in alphabetical order, as described on pages 159 to 178.

FIRST YEAR

Anatomy, a, c, d.
Chemistry, a, b, c.
Physiology, a, b, c.
Surgery, aa.

SECOND YEAR

SUMMER COURSES

The summer school meets an increasing demand for summer work. It offers courses in medicine to students from institutions with less fortunate clinical facilities, to students of this School making special preparation for competitive hospital examinations at the end of the course, and to students who have work to make up.

The courses of the Summer School are well adapted to the need of practitioners. There is the best opportunity for practice in newer and more scientific methods of clinical diagnosis and pathology, and for study of experimental physiology, therapeutics, and surgery. The comparatively small number of students increases the value of summer courses.

Credit is given for these courses so far as they cover the ground of the regular course of the college year.

Courses are not given for which an insufficient number of students register. The courses of the Summer School are described in the articles on the several departments, pages 159 to 178.

The Summer School begins June 1 and closes August 1, covering the period of a half semester. Registration must be made with the Registrar at the Medical School.

THE HOSPITAL QUIZ CLASS

A careful review of the medical course is very helpful to students who take the competitive hospital examinations. To meet this condition a hospital quiz class under faculty supervision is conducted during the last twenty weeks before the examinations to furnish thorough reviews without sacrificing the required fourth year work.

Only members of the highest quarter of the graduating class are eligible to the quiz class. Every member of the quiz class since 1900 has secured a hospital appointment.

Anatomy

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR RANSON, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR PRENTISS, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR THYNG, DR. CURRAN, DR. SCOTT, DR. DIFENDERFER, MR. HENDRICKSON, MR. CHASE.

For the work in gross anatomy there are provided three large well-ventilated dissecting rooms, and three smaller rooms for special dissections by students or graduates. An additional room, equipped for the study of topographical anatomy, is open daily and gives the student an opportunity to supplement impressions gained in the dissecting room by a study of models, special dissections, and sections of formalin hardened bodies. There is an excellent refrigerating plant for the preservation of cadavers, with good facilities for embalming and storage.

The histological laboratory is well lighted and provided with the essentials for the study of microscopic anatomy. There is a complete set of Ziegler models for use in embryology and a permanent collection of histological, embryological, and neurological specimens. Facilities for research work are provided, and most of the important anatomical journals are found in the department.

The method of instruction is almost wholly objective. The student is encouraged to form clear conceptions of the objects studied in the laboratory, lectures and quizzes being used only to stimulate him to renewed interest in his laboratory work.

a. Dissections of the Human Body—Four three-hour periods throughout both semesters of the first year and the first semester of the second year. The body is divided into three parts, (1) upper extremity, (2) lower extremity and abdomen, (3) head, neck, and thorax. Two of these parts are dissected in the first year and the remaining part in the first semester of the second year. A careful dissection under direct supervision of instructors is supplemented once a week by a quiz of the class in small sections. Mon., and Tu., 1-4 Sec. II-III second year, II first year; Wed., Th., 1-4 Sec. I-III second year, I-II first year; Fri., Sat., 1-4, Sec. I-II second year, I first year. Professor Ranson, Dr. Curran, Dr. Scott and Assistants.

b. Summer Course—Students may if they desire dissect one of the three parts in the Summer School. 1-5, six days a week during July and August. Professor Ranson and Assistants.

c. Lectures and Recitations—Two hours a week during the first semester of the first year. In order to render the work objective each student is required to hold before him a specimen of the bone under discussion and to identify for himself each of the markings on the bone. Tu., Sat., 4-5. Professor Ranson.

d. Microscopical Anatomy and Embryology—Two three-hour laboratory periods and two lectures or recitations a week throughout the first year. The work includes a thorough study of cells, tissues, and organs as to structure and development, with instruction in the ordinary methods of preparing tissues for microscopical examination. A clear understanding of the structures studied is given by tracing their origin in the embryo, and special stress is laid upon the identification by the students of the various normal tissues and organs. For this reason careful laboratory drawings are required. The course is divided into two parts:

1. Cytology and Histology of the Normal Tissues—(a) the study of cells, their structure, reproduction; (b) segmentation and the formation of the germ-layers in the embryo; (c) the structure and development of the normal tissues. First twelve weeks of the first semester. Sec. I, 1-4 Mon., Tu.,; Sec. II, 1-4 Fri., Sat. Professor Thyng, Professor Prentiss, and Assistants.

2. Development and Histology of the Human Organs—(a) From a study of whole mounts, dissections and serial sections of mammalian embryos the origin and development of the organs is traced, thus leading up to (b) a thorough study of the microscopical structure of the adult organs, exclusive of the central nervous system. Last three weeks of the first semester and second semester: Sec. I, 1-4 Mon., Tu.; Sec. II, 1-4 Fri., Sat. Professor Prentiss, Professor Thyng, and Assistants.

e. Gross and Microscopical Anatomy of the Human Central Nervous System—A course of lectures, recitations and laboratory work of two three-hour periods a week during the second semester of the second year. Each student dissects a human brain, and studies a series of microscopical sections through typical regions of the brain and spinal cord. Sec. I, 1-4, Fri., Sat.; Sec. II, 1-4, Mon., Tu.; Sec. III, 1-4, Wed., Th., Lectures Tu., 4-5. Professor Ranson, Professor Thyng, and Assistants.

f. Lectures on Topographical Anatomy—One lecture a week throughout both semesters of the second year. Th., 4-5. Professor Ranson.

g. Laboratory Work in Topographical Anatomy—Open to students who have credit for Course a. Two three-hour periods a week during the first two months of the second semester. Transverse and longitudinal sections through formalin hardened bodies. Sec. I, 1-4, Wed., Th.; Sec. II, 1-4, Fri., Sat.; Sec. III, 1-4, Mon., Tu. Dr. Curran.

h. Special Problems in Anatomy—Opportunity is offered for suitably trained students to carry on investigations of an original character in Neurology, Embryology, Histology, and other branches of Anatomy. Professor Ranson, Professor Prentiss, Professor Thyng.

Chemistry

PROFESSOR LONG, MR. JOHNSON, MR. GEPHART, DR. WRIGHT, MR. SMITH.

The work in chemistry extends through the first and second years and is required of all students. Commodious laboratories, well equipped for experimental work are located on the fourth floor of the Laboratory Building. The Chemical Lecture Room is on the third floor, as are also the Chemical Museum, a small laboratory for advanced work and special problems, and the private laboratory and office of the head of the department.

FIRST YEAR

a. Organic Chemistry—This course comprises three lectures and one quiz a week throughout the second semester, and is intended to cover the general principles of this fundamental branch of chemical science. The work in organic chemistry is a proper and necessary introduction to the physiological chemistry of the second year, and is abundantly illustrated by aid of models and an excellent collection of organic preparations. Mon., Wed., Fri., 4-5, second semester. Professor Long.

b. Organic Chemistry, Laboratory Course—The work in this course is given in the second half of the second semester, and consists in the preparation of certain organic compounds described in the didactic course. These compounds are selected mainly with reference to their illustrative importance. Three periods each week, Tu., Th., Sat., 10-12. Professor Long and Mr. Johnson.

c. Volumetric Analysis—Three periods each week through the first half of the second semester. Enough work is given in this course to familiarize the student with the general principles of this branch of analysis and serve as an introduction to the practical work required in the physiological chemistry in the second year. Tu., Th., Sat., 10-12. Mr. Johnson and Assistants.

SECOND YEAR

d. Physiological Chemistry—Lectures and demonstrations three times a week through the first semester. This is a systematic course covering the whole field of general physiological chemistry and repeats and extends the organic chemistry of the carbo-hydrates, the fats, and the proteins. The nature of ferments and digestive agents is fully discussed with special reference to the digestion of ordinary foods, and the connection between the foods and the products of metabolism, especially of protein metabolism, is presented. The chemistry of the blood, the urine, the feces, and the products of various organs is given as fully as time permits. Attention is given also to the important questions of nutrition and the practical value of different foods, keeping in mind the bearing of these questions on topics of internal medicine. An attempt is made to sift out from the great mass of physiological chemical literature that which is likely to prove of permanent importance in the practice of medicine and to present it in proper order. Mon., Wed., Fri., 4-5. Professor Long

e. Physiological Chemistry—Laboratory course covering the study of foods, digestive agents, products of metabolism and various fluids of the body. The important properties of the fats, carbo-hydrates, and the commoner proteins are reviewed experimentally. Two periods a week through one semester. Sec. I, Mon., Wed., 8-10; Sec. II, Tu., Th., 8-10. First semester. Professor Long and Mr. Johnson.

f. Urine Analysis—A laboratory course is given in two periods a week through the second semester. The more exact recent quantitative processes are presented along with the usual routine methods. Sec. I, Mon., Wed., 8-10; Sec. II, Tu., Th., 8-10. Second semester. Mr. Johnson.

g. Special Laboratory Courses—Opportunity is given for more advanced work and research work in several lines of physiological chemistry. Professor Long, Mr. Johnson, and Mr. Gephart.

h. Quiz Courses—Two courses are given. The first is given once a week through the first semester on the work covered by Course d. The other is given once a week through the second semester on the work of Course f. In both of these courses the applications to practical medicine are regularly presented. Sec. I, Mon., 11-12; Sec. II, Sat., 11-12. Dr. Wright.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

The following courses satisfactorily completed in the College of Liberal Arts are accepted for Courses a, b, and c of the Medical School.

b. Qualitative Analysis and Organic Chemistry—Four hours a week throughout the year. See page 83 of University Catalogue. Professor Hines.

c. Volumetric Analysis—Four hours a week, second semester. See page 83 of University Catalogue. Professor Hines.

Gynecology

PROFESSOR DUDLEY, PROFESSOR FRANK T. ANDREWS, PROFESSOR WATKINS, PROFESSOR FRANKENTHAL, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR GILLMORE, DR. BARNES, DR. CUTHBERTSON, DR. LEWIS, DR. SAUER, DR. PAVLIK, DR. PRITZKER.

Instruction in this department comprises recitations, dispensary clinics, conferences, and surgical clinics. The clinics are given in Wesley Hospital, Mercy Hospital, St. Luke's Hospital, and to divided classes in the Dispensary. All students are required to make themselves proficient in general gynecological diagnosis and treatment, and with this object in view, are brought into close personal relation with a large number and variety of cases in the Dispensary. Three operative clinics a week, on the average, are given in hospitals in the immediate vicinity of the College. These clinics afford the student abundant opportunity to familiarize himself with all the major and minor operations of gynecology. Not only a theoretical, but a practical knowledge of gynecology is a prerequisite for graduation.

THIRD YEAR

a. Operative Clinics and Lectures at St. Luke's Hospital—One two-hour period a week. Wed., 10-12. October to April, Professor Dudley, April to July, Professor Frankenthal; July to October, Dr. Cuthbertson.

FOURTH YEAR

b. General Gynecology—Recitations. Twice a week. First semester. Mon., Tu., 4-5. Professor Gillmore, Dr. Sauer, Dr. Barnes, and Dr. Lewis.

c. Operative Clinics and Lectures at Wesley Hospital—One two-hour period a week throughout the year. Th., 8-10. Professor Watkins.

d. Operative Clinics and Lectures at Mercy Hospital—Once a week throughout the year. Th., 8-10. Professor Frank T. Andrews.

e. Dispensary Clinics—Daily to divided classes. Every fourth year student is required to attend for four weeks. Daily 2-4. Assistant Professor Gillmore, Dr. Sauer, Dr. Barnes, Dr. Pavlik, and Dr. Pritzker.

e.e. Summer Course—Equivalent to Course e. Daily 2-4.

f. Gynecological Clinics to Sections of the Fourth Year Class—Once a week, Wed. 8-9, Wesley Hospital, Professor Watkins; Wed., 8-9, Mercy Hospital, Dr. Barnes.

Medicine

PROFESSOR EDWARDS, PROFESSOR DAVIS, PROFESSOR PREBLE, PROFESSOR WALLS, PROFESSOR MIX, PROFESSOR ABT, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR DYCHE, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR CHESTER, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR DAVIS, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR ELLIOTT, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR BUHLIG, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR HARPOLE, DR. OSGOOD, DR. GOLDSMITH, DR. MANDEL, DR. FOWLER, DR. KLEUTGEN, DR. BUTT, DR. LAMBORN, DR. WILLETTTS, DR. PECH, DR. GALLAND, DR. WHITE, DR. ANDERSON, DR. HOWARD.

The course in physical diagnosis in the second year lays a broad foundation for the medical courses which are to follow. A thorough course is given in the technique of physical diagnosis, beginning with laboratory work upon the normal subject and illustrated by typical cases from the clinics.

THIRD YEAR

The class is divided into small sections not exceeding twenty students in number. Throughout both semesters each section is assembled for three recitation periods of one hour each and one two-hour clinical period. In the recitation periods special attention is paid to the explanation of the morbid phenomena of disease by the application of the principles of physical diagnosis, special pathology and pathological physiology, which have been given in the second year.

Cases presented in the clinical period are selected with special reference to the subjects already considered in the recitation course. In both recitation and clinical periods due attention is given to applied therapeutics.

An important feature of the medical instruction in the third year is the work in the medical department of the South Side and the Calumet Avenue Dispensaries. Small sections of eight or ten students are assigned to a service of four weeks each, during which each student receives personal instruction in the application of his work of previous years in physical diagnosis, in the methods of differential diagnosis, in symptomatology, in therapeutics, and in prescription writing. The study of drugs and their action, familiarity with which is essential before prescriptions for the sick are attempted, is begun before clinical teaching is taken up. For the same reason general pathology and special pathology are taken in the second year. The course in clinical pathology is so conducted that the laboratory finds and the clinical side of the cases are closely associated in the minds of the student. The personal contact with patients and individual opportunity to put into practice the didactic and clinical instruction of the various departments are leading features of instruction in this department.

FOURTH YEAR

Medical instruction in the fourth year is largely clinical. In the large clinics the students are required to examine and diagnose the cases. Semididactic summaries of symptoms, cases, the principles of diagnosis, prognosis and the minute details of therapy are given special prominence.

In the small ward classes the fourth year students are taken to the bedside of the patient and there become familiar with the variations in the full clinical course of the cases.

The fourth year students are assigned to the out patients in the capacity of clinical assistants and they are held strictly responsible for the care of the patients, and are required to compile complete data on all features of selected cases.

SECOND YEAR

a. Physical Examinations of the Normal Body—Laboratory work. Eight periods. First semester. Pathological conditions, illustrated by clinical cases. Sec. I, Tu., 10-12; Sec. II, Wed., 10-12. Dr. Kleutgen, Dr. Lamborn, Dr. Osgood, and Dr. Klein.

a,a. Summer Course—Equivalent to Course a. Dr. Kleutgen.

b. Theory and Practice of Physical Diagnosis—Lectures twice a week. Tu., Fri., 5-6. Professor Mix.

c. Physical Diagnosis Clinic—Cases chosen from the dispensary clinics are brought before the class and are presented with especial reference to diagnosis. Each student keeps a record of such cases, groups and co-ordinates all cases of the same class, and presents his notes with a thesis on one group of cases. Once a week. Th., 11.30-12.30. Professor Mix.

THIRD YEAR

d. Recitations from Text-Books—Three hours a week. Mon., Th., Sat., 8-9. Professor Dyche, Professor Achilles Davis, Professor Elliott, Professor Chester, Dr. Goldsmith, Dr. Osgood, and Dr. Mandel.

e. Clinics—Clinics to the same sections supplementary to the recitation work; one two-hour period a week throughout the year. These clinics also cover therapeutics. Th., 3-5, Professor Dyche; Sat., 10-12, Professor Achilles Davis; Fri., 8-10, Professor Elliott; Tu., 3-5, Professor Chester; Fri., 1-3, Dr. Goldsmith; Mon., 10-12, Dr. Osgood.

f. South Side Dispensary Clinic to Small Classes—Four weeks. Daily 10-12. Professor Chester, Professor Achilles Davis, Dr. Fowler, Dr. Butt, Dr. Kleutgen, Dr. Willetts, Dr. Pech, and Dr. Mandel.

f,f. Summer Course—Equivalent to Course f. Daily 10-12.

g. Clinical Lectures at St. Luke's Hospital—Once a week. Wed., 8-9. Professor Preble.

h. Calumet Avenue Dispensary Clinics—Four weeks. Daily 10-12. Professor Edwards, Professor Dyche, Professor Chester, and Dr. Mandel.

h,h. Summer Course—Equivalent to Course h. Daily 10-12.

i. Laboratory Diagnostic Methods—A laboratory course in the chemical, bacteriologic, and microscopic methods used in diagnosis. This covers the examination of urine, blood, stomach contents, feces, sputum, pus, fluid exudates, smears and cultures from nose and throat, and other excretions, special emphasis being laid upon the interpretations from the results. The routine laboratory work of Wesley Hospital is now being done in this laboratory and, with the material from the South Side Dispensary, gives opportunity to students to do all the numerous tests necessary for diagnosis. The class is divided into eight sections of about fifteen students each. Each section attends a morning and an afternoon period of two hours each for one-fourth of a semester. Daily 10-12 and 2-4. Professor Buhlig and assistants.

i,i. Summer Course—Laboratory work. Daily 10-12 and 2-4. Equivalent to course i. Professor Buhlig and assistants.

FOURTH YEAR

j. Lectures—One hour a week. At Mercy Hospital. Mon., 9-10. Professor Edwards.

k. Lectures—One hour a week. At the Medical School. Th., 5-6. Professor Preble.

l. Clinical Lectures at Mercy Hospital—Two two-hour periods throughout the year. Tu., Fri., 10-12. Professor Edwards.

l,l. Clinical Lectures at Mercy Hospital—Summer term. Tu., 10-12, Dr. Mandel; Fri., 10-12, Professor Chester.

m. Clinical Lectures at Wesley Hospital—One two-hour period throughout the year. Wed., 10-12. Professor Preble.

m,m. Summer Course—Equivalent to Course m. Dr. A. Davis.

n. Weekly Visits to the Hospital Wards—Visits at Wesley and Mercy Hospitals under the guidance of Professor Edwards, Professor Walls, Professor Preble, Professor Dyche, Professor Chester, Professor Elliott, Professor Achilles Davis, Dr. Goldsmith, Dr. Osgood, and Dr. Mandel.

n,n. Summer Course—Equivalent to Course n.

SUB-DEPARTMENT OF DERMATOLOGY AND SYPHILOLOGY

PROFESSOR ZEISLER, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR PARDEE, DR. SIMPSON, DR. JACOBSON.

The very abundant clinical material gives the students in the dispensary an opportunity to examine each case personally. The most instructive cases are reserved for the general weekly clinic, where they are demonstrated and discussed exhaustively. Special attention is paid to differential diagnosis, histopathology, and the treatment of dermatoses most frequently encountered by the general practitioner.

THIRD YEAR

a. Dispensary Clinic—Daily for four weeks. Daily 2-4. Professor Pardee, Dr. Simpson, and Dr. Jacobson.

a,a. Summer Course—Equivalent to Course a. Daily 2-4.

- b. Clinical Lectures—One period a week throughout the year. Wed., 4-5. Professor Zeisler.
- c. Lectures—One a week. Second semester. Wed., 5-6. Professor Zeisler.

SUB-DEPARTMENT OF LARYNGOLOGY AND RHINOLOGY

PROFESSOR MENGE, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR MARQUIS, DR. YOUNGER, DR. DENNIS, DR. MACLAY, DR. NORCROSS, DR. BRACKEN.

Instruction in the Department of Laryngology and Rhinology is given in large general clinics as well as in small sections in the dispensary. Actual individual teaching is accomplished in the dispensary by giving each student his own work-place fully equipped with electric light, compressed air, and examination instruments and by assigning patients to him. Thus he learns the technique of examination, the commoner diagnoses, and various methods of treatment which he himself pursues.

The operative clinics are held in Wesley Hospital, and being supplied by the abundant material from the dispensary and hospital, are held in systematic order, the cases shown exemplifying the regular routine of the lecture course. The new quarters in the dispensary comprise a suite of rooms including an examination room, a dark room, and two large rooms for general instruction. These rooms are admirably equipped for the purpose of clinical instruction.

THIRD YEAR

- a. Laryngology and Rhinology—Clinical lecture one hour a week. One semester. Tu., 10-11. Professor Menge.
- b. Clinical Lectures—At the School or at Wesley Hospital. Once a week throughout the year. Fri., 10-12. Professor Menge and Professor Marquis.
- c. Dispensary Clinic—Individual instruction in technique. Six periods a week for four weeks. Daily 10-12. Professor Menge and Professor Marquis, assisted by Dr. Dennis, Dr. Younger, Dr. Bracken, Dr. Maclay, and Dr. Norcross.
- c.c. Summer Course—Equivalent to Course c. Daily 10-12.

SUB-DEPARTMENT OF OPHTHALMOLOGY

PROFESSOR PUSEY, DR. JORDAN, DR. TIVNEN.

In the department of Ophthalmology an effort is made to give to the student the essentials of the subject. For teaching purposes there is complete equipment. The department has its own laboratory and abundant clinical material. Small sections of the class are assigned to this department for a given period, and during this time the subject is considered systematically, and cases showing the various diseased eye conditions are studied. The subject of refraction is considered in a general way.

THIRD YEAR

a. Dispensary Clinic—Six periods a week for four weeks. Daily 10-12. Professor Pusey and Dr. Jordan.

FOURTH YEAR

b. Clinic at the College or Wesley Hospital—Once a week throughout the year. Optional. Professor Pusey.

c. Clinic at Mercy Hospital—To sections of the fourth year class, Tu., Th., 2:30-3:30. Dr. Tivnen.

ELECTIVE AND FOR GRADUATES

d. Laboratory Course—Study of the anatomy and histology of the eye. Professor Pusey.

e. Laboratory Course—Study of the pathology and bacteriology of the eye. Professor Pusey.

f. Graduate Clinical and Refractive Course—Hours to be arranged. Professor Pusey and Dr. Jordan.

SUB-DEPARTMENT OF OTOTOLOGY

PROFESSOR WILSON, DR. MCGIBBON, AND DR. TIVNEN

The department of Otology occupies half of the third floor of Davis Hall. In addition to rooms specially adapted to clinical instruction, a large laboratory has been equipped for graduate and research work. The Dispensary rooms are well equipped for examining and treating ambulatory cases. The affiliated hospitals and the dispensaries afford a large amount of material for practical instruction. The students are assigned in small sections for a period of one month, in which the student is afforded the opportunity of acquiring a practical knowledge of the diseases of the ear.

THIRD YEAR

a. Dispensary Clinic—Demonstrations, dispensary practice, and recitations. Daily 10-12. Demonstrations three half-hour periods a week. Recitations two half-hour periods a week. Professor Wilson and Dr. McGibbon.

FOURTH YEAR

b. Clinic at Mercy Hospital—To sections of the fourth year class. Twice a week. Tu., Th., 2:30-3:30. Dr. Tivnen.

ELECTIVE, AND FOR GRADUATES

c. Laboratory Course—Study of the anatomy and histology of the ear. Hours to be arranged. Professor Wilson.

d. Laboratory Course—Study of the pathology and bacteriology of diseases of the ear. Hours to be arranged. Professor Wilson.

SUB-DEPARTMENT OF NEUROLOGY, CLINICAL NEUROLOGY, MENTAL DISEASES, AND MEDICAL JURISPRUDENCE

PROFESSOR CHURCH, PROFESSOR PATRICK, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR GRINKER, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR HECHT, DR. LAYTON, DR. SHOCKEY, DR. WILLIAM E. BRENNEMANN, DR. YUDELSON.

THIRD YEAR

a. Neurology—Recitation course. One hour a week. Both semesters.
Sat., 9-10. Professor Hecht.

FOURTH YEAR

b. Diseases of the Nervous System—One lecture a week throughout the year. Fri., 4-5. Professor Church.

c. Clinical Lecture—Once a week. First semester. Mon., 3-4. Professor Patrick.

d. Clinical Lecture—Special reference to hospital cases. Once a week.
Second semester. Mon., 3-4. Professor Church.

e. Medical Jurisprudence—One lecture a week. First semester. Th., 4-5. Professor Hecht.

f. Dispensary Clinics—Six periods a week for four weeks. Daily, 2-4.
Professor Patrick, Professor Grinker, Professor Hecht, Dr. Shockey, Dr.
Layton, Dr. W. E. Brennemann, and Dr. Yudelson.

f,f. Summer Course—Equivalent to Course f. Daily 2-4.

g. Ward Visits—A weekly ward visit to Wesley Hospital. Th., 1-3.
Professor Grinker and Professor Hecht.

SUB-DEPARTMENT OF PEDIATRICS

PROFESSOR WALLS, PROFESSOR ABT, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR BRENNEMANN, DR. CAMPBELL, DR. CHENEY, DR. KROST.

It is the plan of this department to make its instruction chiefly clinical and personal.

THIRD YEAR

a. Didactic Lecture—One period a week. One semester. Wed., 8-9.
Professor Walls, Professor Abt, and Professor Brennemann.

b. Recitations—One period a week. One semester. Wed., 9-10.
Professor Walls, Professor Brennemann, Dr. Campbell, Dr. Cheney, and Dr. Krost.

c. Dispensary—Children's Clinic—Six periods a week for four weeks.
Daily 10-12. Professor Walls, Professor Brennemann, Dr. Campbell, Dr.
Cheney, and Dr. Krost.

c,c. Summer Course—Equivalent to Course c. Daily 10-12.

d. Clinical Lecture—The most interesting of the patients attending the dispensary clinics are reserved for the weekly School clinic. This course is required of third year students and is open to all fourth year students. One period a week. Tu., 11-12. Professor Walls.

e. Diet Kitchen—Examination and preparation of infant foods. Daily 10-12. Professor Walls.

f. Didactic Lecture—Once a week at the School. Hours to be arranged. Professor Abt.

FOURTH YEAR

g. Clinical Lecture at Michael Reese Hospital—Twice a week to the entire class. Mon., Sat., 8-9. Professor Abt.

h. Ward-Walk—One period a week. Fri., 8-9. Professor Brenne-mann.

Obstetrics

PROFESSOR DE LEE, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR REED, DR. MONASH, DR. STOWE, DR. WERNER, DR. HILLIS, DR. BOWE.

The teaching in this department is clinical, didactic, by demonstrations, by individual exercises on the manikin, and by recitations and conferences in large and small classes. Obstetric cases in Mercy, Provident, and Wesley Hospitals are used for teaching. All fourth year students attend in residence a two weeks' service at the Chicago Lying-in Hospital and Dispensary. Each student sees and conducts personally six to ten labors in the homes of patients, or in the hospital under the guidance of the assistant physicians. The pathological material is abundant. Members of the teaching staff will give optional courses on special obstetric subjects at the requests of small groups of students. The Obstetric Laboratory is at the service of students desiring to do special work.

THIRD YEAR

a. The Physiology of Pregnancy, Labor, and the Puerperium—Throughout the year. Two recitations a week. Tu., Th., 9-10. Professor Reed and Dr. Monash.

FOURTH YEAR

b. The Pathology of Pregnancy, Labor, and the Puerperium—Throughout the year. Two lecture recitations a week. Mon., Fri., 5-6. Professor De Lee.

c. Individual Practice on the Manikin—Sixteen exercises for each group of six students. Mon., Wed., Fri., 1-3. Dr. Stowe, Dr. Werner, Dr. Hillis, and Dr. Bowe.

d. Demonstrations—Students of the third and fourth years attend obstetric demonstrations, operations, and labors conducted by Professor De Lee and Professor Reed in the amphitheater of Wesley Hospital. Attendance on six labors is necessary for graduation.

Pathology and Bacteriology

PROFESSOR ZEIT, MR. WAYSON, DR. JACKSON, DR. SCOTT, MR. ALCOCK, MR. JAMES, MR. GUTIERREZ, MR. MEIXNER, MR. HAUCH.

The laboratories of pathology and bacteriology and the museum of the department occupy the second floor of the main College building. The laboratories are well equipped for general class work, as well as for individual research. The museum of pathology contains a very complete and excellent collection of pathological specimens, most of which are preserved in natural colors. Liberal use is made of these specimens for instruction and practical exercises in morbid anatomy. The museum is open at all times for inspection. The number of public autopsies, held in the large amphitheater, is ample and together with the large museum collection and the fresh material obtained from hospital and private post-mortems, many of which are attended by small sections of 15 to 20 students, furnish abundant opportunity for the study of morbid anatomy and histopathology. The department is supplied with a valuable reference library and advanced students or physicians can be provided with good facilities for research work.

The courses in pathology and bacteriology are given during the second year and consist of laboratory work, demonstrations, lectures, and recitations. The laboratory courses in general pathology and bacteriology are given during the first semester, special pathology during the second semester. The whole class attends all post-mortems held during the two semesters of the second and third years, one hundred hours of attendance at autopsies being required. During both semesters the class attends two lectures a week on bacteriology, etiology of infectious diseases and immunity, and two lectures a week on pathology. Many of these lectures are illustrated by lantern slides and demonstrations. During the second semester systematic exercises in anatomic diagnosis by means of Kayserling specimens and fresh material are held regularly after the study of the pathology of each organ. The student is given representative material for the preparation of a very complete and valuable collection of about 350 slides illustrating all the important pathologic lesions and micro-organisms which he has studied during his laboratory courses.

SECOND YEAR

a. Bacteriology and Etiology of Infectious Diseases and Immunity—Lectures and demonstrations. Two hours a week. Both semesters. Th., 5-6; Fri., 11-12. Professor Zeit.

b. Bacteriology Laboratory Course—The class is divided into sections, each section taking three periods of two hours each a week during the first semester. Sec. I, Tu., Th., Sat., 8-10; Sec., II, Mon., Wed., Fri., 8-10. Professor Zeit and Mr. Wayson.

c. Bacteriology Recitation Course—One hour each week. First semester. Sec. I, Th., 10-11; Sec. II, Mon., 10-11. Mr. Wayson.

d. General Pathology—Lectures and demonstrations. Two hours a week. First semester. Mon., Wed., 5-6. Professor Zeit and Dr. Jackson.

e. General Pathology and Histopathology Laboratory Course—The class is divided into sections, each section taking three periods of two hours each week during the first semester. Sec. I, Mon., Wed., 10-12, Fri., 8-10; Sec. II, Tu., Th., 10-12, Sat., 8-10. Professor Zeit and Dr. Jackson.

f. General Pathology and Histopathology Recitation Course—One hour each week. First semester. Mon., 5-6. Dr. Jackson.

g. Special Pathology—Lectures and demonstrations. Two hours a week. Second semester. Tu., Wed., 11-12. Professor Zeit.

h. Special Pathology—Laboratory course. The class is divided into sections, each section taking two periods of three hours each week during the second semester. Sec. I, Tu., Th., 8-11; Sec. II, Mon., Wed., 8-11. Professor Zeit and Dr. Jackson.

i. Special Pathology Recitation Course—One hour each week. Second semester. Mon., 5-6. Dr. Jackson.

j. Autopsies—Second and third year class. College and hospital autopsies as announced on Bulletin Board. Students of the second and third years are excused from conflicting school duties. One hundred hours of attendance required. Professor Zeit and assistants.

SUMMER COURSES

k. Bacteriology Laboratory Course—Six periods of two hours each daily for eight weeks. Equivalent to Course b. Daily 10-12. Professor Zeit and Mr. Wayson.

l. Bacteriology Recitation Course—Two hours each week for eight weeks. Equivalent to Course c. Tu., Th., 3-4. Mr. Wayson.

m. General Pathology and Histopathology—Laboratory Course—Six periods of two hours each, daily, for eight weeks. Equivalent to Course e. Daily 8-10. Professor Zeit and Dr. Jackson.

n. General Pathology Recitation Course—Two hours each week for eight weeks. Equivalent to Course f. Mon., Wed., 3-4. Dr. Jackson.

SECOND, THIRD, AND FOURTH YEARS—ELECTIVE

o. Advanced Work and Research in Bacteriology—Professor Zeit.

p. Advanced Work and Research in Pathology.—Professor Zeit.

Pharmacology

The department of pharmacology is adequately equipped for the laboratory study of the principles of materia medica and pharmacy as well as for the study of the physiological action of drugs. Each student is supplied with the necessary chemical apparatus to enable him to perform individual experiments on the nature of drug constituents, separation, measurements, and identification of active principles, the manufacture of all types of pharmacopoeial preparations and the compounding of prescriptions. There is also sufficient equipment in tables, animal holders, muscle levers, electrical apparatus, manometers, kymographs, tambours, endimeters, sphygmomanometers, myocardiographs, and other apparatus, for each student to take part in experiments upon the physiological action of drugs. A collection of the official drugs and their preparations is accessible to the student at all times; also a collection of experimental records—tracings, charts, and drawings—illustrating the action of the important drugs.

The course in pharmacology consists of laboratory work, lectures, and recitations. The laboratory work of the first semester includes the study of the general chemical and physical properties of the active constituents of drugs, methods of separating and identifying alkaloids, the manufacture of at least one sample of each type of pharmacopoeial preparation, and prescription writing. The laboratory work of the second semester covers the physiological action of drugs. Each section is divided into groups of two, three, or four students as occasion demands, and each group performs experiments illustrating the effects exerted by drugs upon various physiological systems, muscular, nervous, respiratory, circulatory, digestive, and excretory. For the laboratory work the class is divided into sections of about 24 students each, so that personal supervision of the work is assured. The lectures are devoted mainly to consideration of the action of drugs and the relations between drug action and the disturbed physiology of disease. The recitations are informal reviews or quizzes of the work covered in the lectures and text-book.

SECOND YEAR

a. Lectures in Pharmacology—Two hours a week throughout the year. Fri., Sat., 10-11. Professor Richards.

b. Recitations in Pharmacology—In three sections. One hour a week throughout the year. Sec. I, Tu., 3-4; Sec. II, Th. 3-4; Sec. III, Sat., 1-2. Professor Richards.

c. Pharmaceutical Laboratory—Three Sections. Three hours a week during the first semester. Sec. I, Mon., 1-4; Sec. II, Wed., 1-4; Sec. III, Fri., 1-4. Professor Richards and Dr. Scott.

d. Pharmacological Laboratory—Three Sections. Three hours a week during the second semester. Sec. I, Mon., 1-4; Sec. II, Wed., 1-4; Sec. III, Fri., 1-4. Professor Richards and Dr. Scott.

THIRD AND FOURTH YEARS

e. Research Work—The laboratory is open for research to a limited number of qualified workers. Professor Richards and Dr. Scott.

Physiology

PROFESSOR HALL, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR GRINKER, DR. KURTZ, MR. SALTER, MR. BLY, MR. GIBSON, MR. NYBERG.

Instruction is based upon laboratory work and demonstrations. In the laboratory each student demonstrates for himself fundamental laws of physiology and observes the phenomena upon which these laws are based. The demonstrations present experiments too difficult for the student to perform alone. The laboratory work and demonstrations form an experimental basis for the science of Physiology, which is presented systematically in the recitation course accompanying the experimental courses.

The equipment of the department includes a large laboratory, a smaller laboratory, an instrument room, departmental library, storage room, shop, preparation room, and facilities in the general animal house. The laboratories are well supplied with all of the instruments needed for scientific investigation, and excellent facilities are afforded for the study of the special senses, particularly vision.

FIRST YEAR

a. General Physiology—Cellular biology, and the physiology of muscle and nerve tissue and the muscular system. Lectures and demonstrations, three times a week, and laboratory work one period a week. Living plants and animals, principally unicellular organisms from aquaria, are used in the course in cell-physiology. Frogs are used in the second part of the course and the student has ample opportunity to work out the laws of contraction and of fatigue. In the last part of the course the human ergograph is used and the laws of human work are formulated. First semester. Laboratory, Sec. I, Wed., 8-10; Sec. II, Fri., 8-10. Lectures, Mon., Wed., Fri., 11-12. Professor Hall and assistants.

b. The Physiology of Circulation, Respiration and Excretion—Recitations and demonstrations three periods a week. Through operations on mammals under anaesthesia, and through observations upon the human subject the phenomena of circulation and respiration are studied in detail. Laboratory, two periods a week. Three-fourths of a semester. Laboratory, Sec. I, Mon., Tu., 8-10; Sec. II, Wed., Th., 8-10. Lectures, Mon., Wed., Fri., 11-12. Professor Hall and assistants.

b,b. Summer Course.—Daily for six weeks. Equivalent to Course b. Laboratory, Sec. I, Mon., Tu., 8-10; Sec. II, Wed., Th., 8-10. Lectures, Mon., Wed., Fri., 11-12. Dr. Kurtz.

c. Haematology—The physiology of the blood. Recitations and demonstrations three times a week. The student makes an extended study of his own blood and that of other members of his group with the aid of improved clinical instruments. Thus he is able to master the technique of blood examination, and incidentally to familiarize himself with the properties of normal human blood. Laboratory work, two periods a week. One-fourth of a semester. Laboratory, Sec. I, Mon., Tu., 8-10; Sec. II, Wed., Th., 8-10. Lectures, Mon., Wed., Fri., 11-12. Professor Hall and Dr. Kurtz.

c. c. Summer Course—Daily for two weeks. Equivalent to Course c. Laboratory, Sec. I, Mon., Tu., 8-10; Sec. II, Wed., Th., 8-10. Lectures, Mon., Wed., Fri., 11-12. Dr. Kurtz.

SECOND YEAR

d. The Physiology of Digestion, Metabolism, and Animal Heat—Recitations and demonstrations three times a week, first half of second semester. The chemistry of foods, and of digestion and metabolism being fully covered in the department of chemistry, the department of physiology discusses the process of secretion and the conditions which modify glandular activity. The principles of dietetics are reviewed, and the metabolic changes which various foodstuffs undergo are followed through the system. Mon., Wed., Fri., 4-5. Professor Hall.

e. Physiology of the Special Senses—Two laboratory periods and three recitations per week. The laboratory possesses extensive facilities for teaching the physiology of vision and special attention is given to the physics of refraction. One-half of second semester. Laboratory, Sec. I, Mon., Tu., 1-4; Sec. II, Wed., Th., 1-4; Sec. III, Fri., Sat., 1-4. Lectures, Mon., Wed., Fri., 4-5. Professor Hall and assistants.

f. Physiology of the Central Nervous System—Lectures, demonstrations, and recitations. Twice a week. One-half of second semester. Mon., Wed., 5-6. Professor Grinker.

g. Experimental Physiology of the Central Nervous System—Laboratory work. One period a week. One-half of a semester. Elective. Professor Grinker.

THIRD AND FOURTH YEAR—ELECTIVE

h. Pathologic Physiology—Four hours a week.

i. Dietetics, Theoretical and Practical—Four hours a week.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

The courses of the first year, a, b, c, may be completed either in the Medical School or in the laboratories of the College of Liberal Arts at Evanston. Students wishing to complete the work in College should register in the department of Zoology as follows:

d. Physiology for Medical Students—Three hours a week throughout the year. Dr. Harper.

Sanitary Science

PROFESSOR EVANS

Lecture Course—The organization of a health department, contagious diseases, disinfection, school inspection, hospitals, dispensaries and ambulances, vital statistics, food control, laboratories, and sanitary bureaus, with demonstrations in the smallpox hospital, drainage canal, water works, and garbage destruction. One lecture a week. First semester, Wed., 5-6; second semester, Th., 4-5. Professor Evans.

PROFESSOR MURPHY, PROFESSOR OWENS, PROFESSOR E. W. ANDREWS, PROFESSOR MORGAN, PROFESSOR PLUMMER, PROFESSOR HALSTEAD, PROFESSOR SCHROEDER, PROFESSOR SCHMIDT, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR NEFF, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR BESLEY, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR RICHTER, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR KANAVEL, DR. CUBBINS, DR. PIERCE, DR. MATTER, DR. FOX, DR. RIEBEL, DR. DANFORTH, DR. EGGERT, DR. HOLLISTER, DR. LESPINASSE, DR. THOMAS, DR. BIANKINI, DR. BLACK, DR. ERICKSON, DR. FRANCIS, DR. GOLDEN, DR. MCDOWELL, DR. MOWRY, DR. PARKER, DR. RANKIN, DR. ROSS, DR. SCHRAGER, DR. SPEED, DR. SWIFT, DR. NELSON, DR. ISEMAN, DR. WELCH, DR. CORBUS, DR. CUPPLER, DR. LEVITAN, DR. HOY, DR. ANDREWS, DR. MOORE, DR. CURRY.

The course offered in surgery is systematically graded, beginning in the first year with a course in the application upon plaster models, cadavers, and patients, of roller bandages, casts, splints, extensions, and braces. The last half of this course is devoted to the study of surface surgical landmarks. Third year students are given a thorough course in recitations and conferences covering the entire field of surgery. Third year students attend at St. Luke's Hospital the Surgical Clinics and Clinical Conference Courses by Professor Owens, Professor Halstead, Professor Plummer, and their associates. At Wesley Hospital Surgical Clinics are given by Professor Schroeder, Professor Besley, Professor Richter, and Professor Kanavel. Sections of the fourth year class attend the Surgical Clinics at the People's Hospital given by Dr. Riebel, and at the Post Graduate Hospital by Professor Besley, Professor Richter, and Professor Kanavel. The whole fourth year class attends Professors Murphy's and Andrews's Surgical Clinics at Mercy Hospital.

FIRST YEAR

a.a. Preliminary Surgery—Surface landmarks, bandaging, organ location. Once a week. Second semester. Mon., Wed., Fri., 8-10; Professor Kanavel, Dr. Danforth, Dr. Horn, and Dr. Cushway.

THIRD YEAR

a. Recitations and Conferences on Surgery—To cover the entire field of surgery, general and special, sections of the class meet three hours a week under each of the following: Professor Kanavel, Professor Besley, Professor Richter, Dr. Cubbins, Dr. Pierce, and Dr. Golden. Each course continues five weeks, the section then passing to another instructor for the succeeding five weeks, and so on through the entire field of surgery. Mon., 9-10, Tu., 8-9, Wed., 4-5.

b. Dispensary Clinics at Medical School on General Surgery—Individual instruction in divided classes six times a week for four weeks. Daily 2-4. Professor Besley, Professor Kanavel, Professor Richter, Dr. Churchill, Dr. Eustace, Dr. Riebel, Dr. Fox, and Dr. Francis.

b.b. Summer Courses in the Dispensary will be the same as the winter courses. Daily 2-4.

c. Dispensary Clinics at Calumet Avenue Dispensary—Daily 10-12. Professor Murphy, Dr. Nelson, Dr. Iseman, Dr. Welch, Dr. Speed, Dr. Biankini, Dr. Levitan, Dr. Hoy, Dr. Andrews, Dr. Moore, Dr. Magnusen, Dr. Eustace, and Dr. Cummings.

d. Dispensary Clinics in Genito-Urinary Surgery, the Medical School—Individual instructions in divided classes six times a week for four weeks. Daily 2-4. Professor Schmidt, Dr. Lespinasse, Dr. Ross, Dr. Swift, Dr. Mowry, and Dr. McDowell.

d.d. Continuous Summer Course—Equivalent to course d. Daily 2-4.

e. Dispensary Clinics at Provident Hospital—Wed., 2-3. Dr. Fox.

f. Operative Surgery on Cadaver—Laboratory. Second semester. Three periods a week for four weeks. Mon., Tu., Th., 1-3. Dr. Eggert, Dr. Cubbins, and associates.

g. Experimental Operative Surgery on Dogs—First Semester. Mon., Tu., Th., 2-4. Professor Kanavel, Dr. Churchill, Dr. Cushway, and Dr. Joseph Abt.

h. Clinical Lectures at Wesley Hospital Amphitheater—Tu., 4-6. Professor Besley; Th., 4-6., Professor Richter.

i. Clinical Lectures at St. Luke's Hospital—Once a week. Wed., 1:45-3:45. Professor Owens, Professor Plummer, and Professor Halstead.

j. Operative Surgical Clinics at Post-Graduate Hospital—Once a week. One-half of the class each semester. Th., 10-12. Professor Kanavel.

k. Surgical Pathology—One hour a week. The class, in six sections, subjects to be divided between the members of the teaching corps of this branch. Wed., 5-6. Dr. Danforth, Dr. Golden, Dr. Fox, Dr. Speed, Dr. Dagg, and Dr. Riebel.

l. Clinic—Genito-Urinary Surgery—Once a week. Sat., 3:30-5. Professor Schmidt.

m. Surgical Clinics at Cook County Hospital—Professor Halstead and Professor Besley, Fri., 10-12; Professor Andrews and Professor Schroeder, Fri., 3-5.

FOURTH YEAR

n. Surgical Clinics at Mercy Hospital Amphitheater—Two two-hour periods a week. Mon., Th., 10-12. Professor Murphy, assisted by Dr. Golden.

o. Clinical and Conference Course at Mercy Hospital Amphitheater—Two two-hour periods a week. Tu., Fri., 8-10. Professor E. Wylls Andrews, assisted by Dr. Pierce, and Dr. Speed.

p. Surgical Clinic at Mercy Hospital—To sections of the fourth year class three times a week, two hours each. Professor Morgan and Dr. Sawyer.

q. Lectures on Genito-Urinary Surgery.—Once a week. Tu., 5-6. Professor Schmidt.

r. Surgical Clinic at Wesley Hospital—One three-hour period a week. Sat., 9-12. Professor Schroeder.

s. Surgical Clinic at People's Hospital—Given to sections of the class once a week. Th., 2-3. Dr. Riebel.

t. Ward visits at Wesley, Mercy, St. Luke's, People's, and Provident Hospitals—Twice a week. Professor Andrews, Professor Plummer, Professor Halstead, Professor Neff, Dr. Pierce, Dr. Golden, Dr. Parker, Dr. Kurtz, and Dr. Fox.

u. Continuious Summer Course—Equivalent to course t.

v. Advanced Course in Genito-Urinary Surgery at Alexian Brothers Hospital—Daily 8-10. Professor Schmidt.

SUB-DEPARTMENT OF ORTHOPEDIC SURGERY

The instruction in Orthopedic Surgery is based upon the clinical material at hand. The abundant material of the dispensary clinic furnishes a sufficient range of cases to permit a fairly complete presentation of the whole subject of Orthopedics, with the advantage of illustrating each subject with one or more cases.

THIRD YEAR

a. Dispensary Orthopedic Clinics—Before small sections. Four weeks. Three times a week. Mon., Wed., Sat., 2-4. Dr. Thomas and Dr. Rankin.

a.a. Summer Course—Equivalent to Course a. Mon., Wed., Sat., 2-4.

b. Hospital Clinics and Operative Clinics—At Mercy Hospital and Wesley Hospital, as material allows.

c. Special Training—Selected students receive personal training at the Home for Destitute Crippled Children, in operative technique, in ordering and adjusting of braces, in applying plaster of Paris dressings, in selecting materials, and in the details of manufacture of orthopedic appliances. Fri., 1-3.

Buildings, Hospitals, and Hospital Staffs

The Laboratory Building is located on Dearborn Street, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Streets. It has a frontage of 110 feet, and a depth of 105 feet; is five stories above the basement, and is constructed of cut stone and brick, with terra-cotta trimmings. On the first floor are an amphitheater the laboratories of physiology and biology, and the rooms occupied by the medicine and surgery dispensary clinics; on the second floor are the laboratories for pathology, bacteriology, hygiene, clinical pathology, and the pathological museum; and on the third floor, large laboratories of histology and embryology, with three smaller rooms for original research, equipped with necessary apparatus, a large lecture-room, a room for chemical and physical apparatus, and the private laboratory of the professor of chemistry. On the fourth floor, one-half of the entire space is occupied by chemical and surgical laboratories, and the other half by the laboratories of physiological chemistry and pharmacology, with smaller rooms for research work. On the fifth floor are dissecting rooms, a room for demonstrating topographical anatomy, and three smaller rooms for special dissections.

Davis Hall was erected in the summer of 1893. On the first floor are the administrative offices and faculty rooms, a large amphitheater, an apothecary's room, an examination room for the director of the dispensary, and suites of rooms for the dispensary departments of laryngology and rhinology and genito-urinary surgery. On the second and third floors there are smaller amphitheaters, and suites of rooms equipped for the departments of gynecology, orthopedics, neurology, pediatrics, otology, ophthalmology, and dermatology. On the third floor large clinic rooms and research laboratories have been equipped for clinical research work in eye and ear diseases, done nowhere else in this country. On the fourth floor are the library and reading-room. Thirty thousand patients are treated here annually.

The Calumet Avenue Dispensary is a two-story building erected in 1908 to provide for ambulatory patients. Sixteen clinic rooms ensure privacy and thoroughness of examination. In addition to these there are on the main floor a dry room, an X-Ray laboratory, a photographic room, with dark-room equipment and office, and a Director's room. On the second floor is a large assembly room. Two pathological laboratories are provided and equipped for investigation and research.

Mercy Hospital is situated on Twenty-sixth Street, extending from Prairie Avenue to Calumet Avenue. It is under the care of the Faculty of this School, and is conducted by the Sisters of Mercy. It receives a large number of patients annually. A large new pavilion has just been erected. The capacity is about four hundred beds and the operating rooms are equipped with every modern facility.

Daily clinics are held in the hospital amphitheater, and at the bedsides in the wards. The members of the classes are allowed to examine cases for themselves in order to acquire a personal familiarity with the clinical aspects of a large variety of diseases. In groups of two or three, fourth year students are allowed to watch the progress of obstetrical cases under the direction of the house physicians. A laboratory, equipped for clinical bacteriology and microscopical work, is utilized for teaching purposes and for clinical examinations.

The annual fee for the Mercy Hospital ticket, paid by third and fourth year students, is six dollars.

Wesley Hospital stands beside the School buildings and is connected with them by a covered corridor. Among the most notable recent additions to the equipment of the Medical School are the operating rooms, wards, and laboratories of Wesley Hospital. The wards and private rooms contain together two hundred twenty-five beds. The instruction given to the students in Wesley Hospital constitutes a very important part of the clinical course. A new wing costing $110,000 is now being built, and the facilities thus provided will make Wesley one of the best equipped hospitals in the West.

The Hospital has four large wards, of twenty beds each, separating the sexes; and medical from surgical patients. There are also eight smaller wards, a children's ward and two babies' wards. The patients from these wards, both large and small, are available for clinical instruction. Over four thousand patients were treated last year.

Third and fourth year students pay a hospital fee of $5 annually.

St. Luke's Hospital is situated on Indiana Avenue, near Fourteenth Street. Owing to its central location, it receives many accident cases, and its surgical clinic is large. Clinics are given regularly in medicine, nervous diseases, surgery, gynecology, and diseases of the eye and ear. The autopsies, held in the amphitheater of the hospital morgue, constitute an important part of the clinical instruction. The clinics and autopsies of St. Luke's Hospital are attended principally by the third year students. The addition of the new George Smith Memorial Pavilion gives this hospital a superior equipment. The annual fee is five dollars.

Provident Hospital is situated at the corner of Thirty-sixth and Dearborn Streets. It has been enlarged and now has one hundred beds, accommodating eight hundred patients annually. A large dispensary treats about six thousand ambulatory patients each year.

The People's Hospital is a private institution, organized in 1897 by Dr. I. C. Gary, Northwestern University, 1889, as an ideal wage-earner's hospital for persons in moderate circumstances.

It is conveniently situated at the corner of Archer Avenue and Twenty-second Street, within short walking distance of the School. One interne is appointed each year from the graduating class at the School, and two fourth year students live at the hospital and serve as assistants. The hospital is well supplied with operating rooms and with a complete laboratory, and is open to the School for clinical teaching.

The Chicago Lying-In Hospital and Dispensary offers a clinical and didactic course. Each fourth year student takes a course of two weeks during which he conducts from six to ten labors, under the supervision of the resident staff, and attends the mother and child during the puerperium.

The Hospital is situated at 294 Ashland Boulevard, the Dispensary at 302 Maxwell Street, in the most thickly populated district of Chicago. Its work is done in the homes of the patients. Over eleven hundred patients are confined in this service yearly—one hundred and fifty in the Hospital, nine hundred and fifty in the Dispensary.

An essential and valuable part of the fourth year course is the two weeks spent by each student in residence at the Lying-In Dispensary on Maxwell Street. This institution is situated in the heart of the poorer districts of Chicago, and it cares for poor women during confinement at their own homes. A physician, a student, and a nurse are sent to the patient's house, and take care of her during labor just as she would be treated if she were well-to-do. The student and nurse visit mother and babe daily for ten days afterward. The student learns a definite and minute aseptic technique and system in obstetric work, beside gaining accurate knowledge of the mechanism and conduct of labor. He learns the physiological manifestations of the puerperal changes, and studies the newly born child as it accommodates itself to extra-uterine existence. Thus in later practice he will be able to distinguish the diseased from the normal conditions.

The pathological service is large, and each student sees and assists at three or more operations either in the Dispensary service itself or in the hospitals allied to the School to which the patients are transported. During the two weeks in residence, he personally attends six or more deliveries and makes 80 to 120 post partum visits. His time not spent at cases is employed in studying obstetrics and in obstetric colloquia with the physicians.

The fee for the course is fifteen dollars, payable in advance to the Hospital.

The Cook County Hospital is a public institution situated at the corner of Wood and Harrison Streets. The average number of patients is between nine hundred and a thousand daily. It is open to all medical schools for clinical instruction. About a thousand students attend its clinics. The representatives of the Faculty of Northwestern University on the Hospital Staff are: in Medicine—Professor Mix, Professor Preble, Professor Harpole, Professor Elliott, and Dr. Goldsmith; in Neurology—Professor Patrick and Professor Grinker; in Surgery—Professor Murphy, Professor Andrews, Professor Schroeder, Professor Halstead, and Professor Besley; in Ophthalmology—Professor Pusey; in Pathology—Professor Evans; In Obstetrics—Professor De Lee and Dr. Stowe; in Pediatrics—Professor Abt; in Laryngology—Professor Marquis.

Clinics by members of this Faculty are given every Friday from 8 a. m.

until 5 p. m. to the students in the third year class. The annual ticket is five dollars.

LOCATION

The Medical School is in Chicago, on Dearborn Street, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Streets. It is the only Medical School on the South Side, and consequently is furnished with an almost exhaustless supply of clinical material. Wesley Hospital is located on the corner of Dearborn and Twenty-fifth Streets, and is connected with the Medical School buildings by corridors. Mercy Hospital is a short walking distance to the east of the School, and St. Luke's is nearby, to the north of the School.

Provident Hospital is to the south on Dearborn Street, and the People's Hospital is west on Twenty-second Street at Archer Avenue. Cook County and the Lying-in Hospitals are within a short car ride of the school buildings.

TO REACH THE MEDICAL SCHOOL

Take the South Side Elevated Railroad to Twenty-sixth Street. The School is one block west and one block north. The State Street cars stop at Twenty-fifth Street, one block east of the Medical School. Or, take Through Route No. 22, or Wentworth Avenue cars to Twenty-fifth Street and walk three blocks east.

THE LIBRARY

The Library of the Medical School, formerly known as the Alumni Library, is situated on the fourth floor of Davis Hall. It has been acquired by purchase and by donations from students, alumni, and members of the faculty. It contains a large number of reference books, dictionaries, current journals, and all of the larger system of Medicine and Surgery. Each department of instruction in the School is well represented, and all of the more important recent works in the various departments of instruction are added to the Library as they appear. The Library is open from 8:30 to 5 o'clock daily. An attendant is constantly present, to aid the student. Special attention is paid to current medical literature, and to the completion of files of standard journals.

In addition to this specialized library of 5,569 bound and 8,609 unbound volumes, students have access to the Libraries of the other Schools of the University, aggregating 226,435 volumes. In Chicago, students have access to the Chicago Public Library, 369,247 volumes; the John Crerar Library, 246,353 volumes; the Newberry Library, 250,000 volumes; and the Library of the Chicago Historical Society, 50,000 volumes.

FEES AND EXPENSES

Matriculation Fee—The student is required to pay at the time of his first registration a matriculation fee of five dollars, which is paid but once, is charged to all students alike, and is in no case refunded.

Annual Fee—The annual fee is one hundred seventy-five dollars, due in installments as follows: Before October 6, $60.00; before January 4, $60.00; before April 2, $55.00. Failure to comply with this regulation entails suspension from the quiz lists. A discount of $15.00 is made when all fees and deposits for the year are paid on or before the second day of school.

Laboratory Fee—Each student who uses a college microscope is charged a rental as follows: In Histology, $2.00 a semester; in Bacteriology, for microscope having oil-immersion lens, $3.00 a semester; in Clinical Pathology, $1.50; in Pathology, $2.00.

Hospital Fees—The hospital fees are payable at the various hospitals:

Mercy Hospital.....	$6.00
Wesley Hospital.....	5.00
Lying-in Hospital.....	15.00
Cook County Hospital.....	5.00
St. Luke's Hospital.....	5.00

Examination Fee—A fee of five dollars is charged for a special examination out of course.

Deposits—A deposit of ten dollars is required from each student, payable on or before the first Monday in October, to cover breakage and injury to apparatus in the laboratories, unnecessary damage to buildings, loss of instruments in laboratories and clinics. This deposit is refunded if no injury or loss occurs. Deductions to cover loss are made from the deposit of individual students, when it can be determined who has caused breakage or loss of apparatus or defacement of buildings; when it cannot be so determined, the loss or injury is deducted pro rata from the deposits of all students.

A deposit of $5.00 is required in each of the following courses as a materials ticket: Histology, Pathology, Clinical Pathology, and Bacteriology. If the student does not use materials to the entire value of his ticket, the balance is refunded to him at the end of the course.

A deposit of $10.00 is required in Osteology and is to insure the safe return of the bones loaned the student. When all the bones are returned the deposit is returned in full.

Refunds—No refund of tuition fees is made except on account of serious illness. A student withdrawing before the middle of a semester who secures from the Dean a statement of honorable standing and from a physician a certificate of inability to remain in attendance, is allowed one-half the tuition fee for that semester.

Assignment of Seats—Students of the three upper classes may register and secure seats in the amphitheaters at the opening of the session, or they may do so at an earlier date by sending five dollars to the Registrar of the School.

The right is reserved to alter fees and to levy new fees without notice, as conditions may demand. Drafts should be made payable to the University.

Practitioners are welcome to attend lectures and clinics for a brief time; those attending single classes or laboratory courses through the year are charged from fifteen to twenty-five dollars for each course; those taking all of the work of any one year pay the same fee as regular students.

ROUTINE OF REGISTRATION

Each student is required to register in person at the office of the Registrar before entering upon his work, at the beginning of the year. On the registration days of the first semester students must register for the work of the whole year.

Applications for admission should be addressed to the Registrar of the Medical School. When presenting himself for admission the applicant should bring an official statement of his entrance credits, if he is entering the freshman class; a letter of honorable dismissal and an official statement of his previous work, if he is entering with advanced standing from another institution. These credentials will be passed upon by the Secretary of the Faculty, Faculty Room, Davis Hall.

A new student will receive from the Secretary of the Faculty a card entitling him to matriculate, when his admission credits are accepted. Students matriculate and pay their fees in the office of the Registrar, Davis Hall. If tuition fees are not paid on the second day of school the discount of $15 is not granted, making the tuition $175.00 for the year. After receiving a receipt for their fees, students are permitted to register for the various classes. Registration is completed on the fourth floor of Davis Hall where the Registration books are accessible. Failure to pay fees or to register entails loss of credit through failure to appear on the class lists.

GRADES OF SCHOLARSHIP

At the end of each semester the standing of a student in each of his courses is reported by the instructor to the Registrar and is entered on record. Semester records are not given to the students who are in arrears in their tuition fees, and no reports are given to seniors for fourth year work.

Work reported as of Grade D must either be made good at the next following opportunity for re-examination, or must be taken again in the class room if credit is to be obtained. Work reported as of grade E, or in which two D's have been reported must be made up in class.

No credit will be given to students for section work unless taken according to schedule with section to which student is assigned.

EXAMINATIONS

Regular examinations are held at the end of each semester. Second examinations are held in October, February and May. These are set for students who have been absent from regular examinations, or who have failed to receive a passing grade at a regular examination. Students delinquent in two or more branches, after the October examinations, are required to take those branches a second time and may not elect studies that conflict with them. Such students will be listed as unclassified. Any student who has received a D and who wishes to take a re-examination must receive permission from the Chairman of the Committee on Re-examinations.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

To obtain the degree of Doctor of Medicine, the candidate must be of good moral character and must maintain an irreproachable moral standing while at School; he must be at least twenty-one years of age; he must pay all fees in full; he must complete satisfactorily four full annual courses of lectures of eight months each, including all the topics listed as required; he must dissect the median half of the human body; he must be in attendance upon clinics for three years; he must secure satisfactory standing in all final examinations.

HONORS

A general honor, Cum Laude, is granted to students, elected by the Faculty because of uniformly good standing.

Special honors are awarded to students of uniformly good standing in required subjects and who do special work of an excellent character in any department.

RULES REGARDING GRADUATE STUDIES AND DEGREES IN THE COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science are governed by the rules affecting such degrees as printed in the Annual Catalogue pages 124 to 125. Candidates for the Master's Degree are governed by the rules affecting such degrees as printed in the Annual Catalogue, pages 125 to 126, with the provision however that in addition to complying with these regulations, he is directly subject to the direction of his work by the Committee on Graduate Study in the Medical School.

Training School for Nurses

Northwestern University School for Nurses under the supervision of the Medical School, furnishes instruction in certain subjects, especially laboratory instruction for students in the Training Schools of the affiliated hospitals, and for other persons properly qualified. The requirement for admission is a high school diploma.

The courses for nurses are separate from those of the medical students, but the laboratories and the facilities of the Medical School are freely available. The practical work for nurses is given in the hospitals under the immediate charge of the teaching force of each hospital. The diplomas for nurses are granted at the University Commencement.

OFFICERS OF THE FACULTY FOR NURSES

The faculty of the School for Nurses includes many instructors connected with the hospitals and with the Medical School. The officers are as follows:
Professor Winfield Scott Hall..... Junior Dean of Medical Faculty,

In Charge of Course of Study, Lecturer on Physiology and Dietetics.
Sister Mary Veronica..... Principal of the Training School of Mercy Hospital and Superintendent of Nurses

Bertha L. Knapp, R.N..... Principal of the Wesley Hospital Training School

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION FOR NURSES

Anatomy—Demonstrations from the human subject covering especially (1) Surface landmarks of all important structures of the body cavities and of surgically important regions; (2) Anatomy of the abdominal organs; (3) Anatomy of the thoracic organs; (4) Anatomy of the pelvic organs and the genitalia. Twenty-four periods. Dr. Kurtz.

Chemistry—Laboratory work and recitations on elementary inorganic and organic Chemistry, covering the fundamental principles of Chemistry and of chemical reactions, and of molecular structure; also the chemical properties of the principal elements and compounds. This course is required as preparatory for the course in Physiology and Dietetics. Twenty-four periods. Professor Long and Mr. Johnson.

Physiology and Dietetics—Laboratory work and recitations covering the subject of nutrition; and the chemistry of food-stuffs and of foods; the chemistry and motor phenomena of digestion; the chemical changes which foods undergo in the body; the process of excretion. The principles of Dietetics, covering the food value of food-stuffs, of foods, and of menus, and the devising of typical menus for various conditions of health and disease. Thirty-two periods. Professor Hall.

Bacteriology—Laboratory work, demonstrations and recitations covering the general principles of bacterial life and growth, and the principles of sterilization and disinfection. Twenty-four periods. Professor Zeit and Mr. Wayson.

Information regarding the complete courses offered to Nurses in the affiliated Hospitals may be obtained by addressing the Principal of either the Mercy or Wesley Hospital Training School for Nurses, Chicago, Illinois.

Information regarding the Medical School may be obtained by addressing Northwestern Medical School, 2431 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

The Law School

THE LAW SCHOOL was founded in 1859 with a sum of money given by Thomas Hoyne, when there were only three similar schools west of the Allegheny Mountains. The first dean was Henry Booth, 1859-1891. For many years the School was under the joint control of the old University of Chicago and of Northwestern University, and was known as the Union College of Law. In 1891, the other University having long ceased to share in the management and being about to surrender its charter, Northwestern University assumed sole control, and the School has since borne the name of the University.

The course of study is arranged to give the knowledge of the law that will be indispensable to students wherever they may practice. Graduates of the School now practice in nearly forty States and Territories. Special opportunities are afforded for acquiring a knowledge of the law of Illinois, the peculiarities of which are pointed out in every course.

The Case system, or the study of the principles of law as demonstrated in actual cases, is followed almost to the exclusion of the use of text books. This requires more reading on the part of the student, but gives him in return that ready facility in extracting principles of law from decided cases and applying them to cases in practice which must be acquired by every lawyer. The extensive and comprehensive library of the School lends itself peculiarly to this modern and scientific mode of instruction.

The School is located in the Northwestern University Building, at the corner of Lake and Dearborn Streets, Chicago, which was acquired and rebuilt in 1901-1902, at a cost of nearly one million dollars, as a permanent home for the departments of law, pharmacy, and dentistry. It is situated near the center of the business district of Chicago and is of easy access from all residence portions of the city. The City, State, and Federal Courts are within a few blocks. The School occupies 24,000 square feet of space, divided into convenient lecture rooms, assembly-rooms, study-rooms, professor's offices, court-room, and library. The arrangement of the rooms, opening on an inner court-yard, ensures seclusion and quiet for study.

The first group includes those who have offices in the School building. The second group includes all other members who under the statutes of the University have seats in the Faculty as officers of government.

The Library

The library is well equipped for study and research. It comprises the United States reports, the official Reports of all the States, the complete National Reporter System, partly in duplicate, complete sets of the leading series of selected cases and all of the official Illinois Reports in duplicate, statutes of all the states, complete sets of representative legal periodicals, a collection of digests, encyclopedias and text-books. Of the English sources it possesses the complete Law Reports since 1865, substantially all the other regular Reports since the beginning of the Tear Books, except those appearing in law journals, the complete statutes, the modern reports of Ireland, and Supreme Court of Canada.

The Law School Library includes also the following special collections representing a portion of the gift to the Library of Hon. Elbert H. Gary, '67, of New York:

The Gary Collection of Modern Continental Law, now numbering over 15,000 volumes on the law of twenty-one European countries, as contained in statutes, decisions, journals, and treatises, is not paralleled in scope by any other collection in the United States. As a source of investigation for Continental Law it provides facilities hitherto wholly unavailable.

The Gary Collection of International Law of nearly 3,000 volumes includes printed material relating to American International Law and Diplomacy not elsewhere available in the West.

The Gary Collection of Ancient, Oriental, Primitive, and Mediaeval Law includes among others, the Hindu, Mohammedan, Hebrew, Babylonian, Egyptian, Greek, Chinese, and Japanese systems, as well as the mediaeval Euproean materials, and is invaluable to students of comparative law, politics, and legal history.

The Gary Collection of Roman and Civil Law numbers nearly 3,000 volumes, including the library of the late Moritz Voigt, of Berlin, Germany, and contains many rare volumes not found in any other American library.

The Gary Collection of Latin-American Law has been begun, and will include the modern laws of all Central and South American States.

The Gary Collection of Jurisprudence and Philosophy of Law numbers 500 volumes, and includes all the important American, English, German, French, Italian, and Latin texts on this subject.

The Gary Collection of Anglo-American Legal History will include all available material relating to English and American historical legal literature, complete sets of Colonial Session laws (mostly reprints), revisions, contemporary and modern treatises on the laws of the Colonies, and all other material related to the history of the development of the Common law in England and the United States. This collection now numbers about 2,000 volumes, and contains many rare and valuable historical treatises.

Admission and Instruction

The candidate for admission as a regular student must be at least eighteen years of age.

A graduate of a college, university, or technical school may be admitted without examination upon the presentation of his diploma.

The graduate of a high school or academy maintaining a four-year course of study of satisfactory grade may be admitted without examination upon the presentation of a satisfactory certificate from the proper school authority.

A candidate who has pursued a course of study equivalent to the four-year academic course may be admitted without examination upon the certificate of an authorized public officer, or of a proper officer of an institution of advanced learning.

All other applicants for admission must pass a satisfactory examination upon the subjects required for entrance to the College of Liberal Arts of this University. For these requirements see page 68.

COMBINED COURSES

A member of the third or fourth year class, in good standing in the College of Liberal Arts, may elect work in the course in Law which shall count toward his graduation in both the College of Liberal Arts and in the Law School, but the work elected cannot exceed one year's work in the Law School. Each election is subject to the approval of both faculties. This provision enables a student to complete a course in the College of Liberal Arts and Law in six years.

A member of the Law School may pursue not more than one course at a time in the College of Liberal Arts during the period of his registration in the Law School without additional charge for tuition.

ADVANCED STANDING

The requirements for advanced standing are explained under the title Requirements for Degrees, page 211.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

Persons, not candidates for a degree, may pursue one or more courses as special students, provided they are qualified to pursue such courses to advantage. They will receive a certificate for all work done and may enter at any time as candidates for a degree, provided they were substantially qualified under the above requirements for admission as regular students at the time of first entering the School. No special student may take more than twenty-five semester hours of work in one year without special permission from the Dean.

TIME FOR ENTRANCE

Students are urged to enter at the beginning of the year. The disadvantages of late registration are embarrassing, especially to students who intend to practice law in Illinois.

Application for advanced standing must be made before November 1 in the year of entrance. Registration for the graduate or fourth year course must be made before October 1.

COURSES OF STUDY

The courses of instruction offered make a total of 117 semester-hours, and are carefully graded in three years. A regular student may take any course offered in the year to which he belongs, or any course not already taken in a preceding year; but he may not take, without special permission, a course assigned to a succeeding year, except Constitutional Law, Carriers, and Patents of Invention, which may be taken in the second year. Conveyancing and Property III are not open to students who have not previously taken Property I and II.

SCHEDULE OF HOURS

In general the schedule of hours is arranged as follows: First year courses, between two and five o'clock in the afternoon; second year courses, between nine and twelve o'clock in the morning; third year courses, between three and seven o'clock in the afternoon. The Practice Court is held in the evening at half-past seven.

Mining Law—Two hours. Selected cases. (Given in 1910-11 and alternate years) Professor Costigan.

Irrigation Law—One hour. Selected cases. (Given in 1910-11 and alternate years) Professor Costigan.

Reading in Legal History, Biography and Jurisprudence

A credit of one semester hour is given on passing the examination in each of the following courses. The courses required for graduation as listed on page 211 in this article, Requirements for Degrees, are here designated as prescribed.

The Law School provides a sufficient number of duplicate copies of the books named for the prescribed reading, but students are recommended to own the books named, if they can afford to purchase them, in order to read during the summer vacation.

An examination in all the courses is held at the beginning of the first year and at the end of the second semester, and for Course A at the end of the first semester; the student desiring to take an examination must file notice in the Secretary's Office at least two days before the announced date of examination. A student failing at any examination may take the next regular examination, if he has reviewed the work. A student may take any of these examinations at any time after entering the School no matter to what class he belongs.

No lectures are given in any of these Courses, except C1, C2, and C4, the lecture courses of Jurisprudence, International Law, and Roman Law. The work is done by private study, but the courses are under the general supervision of the Faculty, who give advice on the desired subjects of study.

FIRST YEAR

a. Introduction to Legal History and the Study of Law—Materials for reading: (a) Blackstone's Commentaries, any edition; Introduction, Sections 1-4; Book I, Chapters 1, 2, 5, 9, 11, 12, Book II, Chapters 4-6; Book III, Chapters 3-9, 12, 13, 17-27; Book IV, Chapters 19-25, 27-29, 32, 33; (b) Woodruff's Introduction to the Study of Law; (c) Wambaugh's Study of Cases, Part I. Credit, one semester hour. Prescribed.

SECOND YEAR

b. History of the Bench and Bar—Materials for reading: Campbell's Lives of the Chancellors, later editions, Volumes VIII-X, Erskine to Brougham inclusive, excepting chapters 181, 186, 189, 194, 199, 201, 203, 205, 209, 228, 229; Campbell's Lives of the Chief Justices, Volume III, chapters 30-40, Mansfield; the two essays of Zane and Veeder, in Select Essays in Anglo-American Legal History, Volume I, edited for the Association of American Law Schools, 1907. Credit, one semester hour. Prescribed.

ba. History of the Bench and Bar—Materials for reading: (a) Campbell's Lives of the Chancellors, Volumes VI and VII, Hardwicke to Loughborough inclusive, excepting chapters 132, 133, 134, 146, 147, 149, 150, 151; (b) Campbell's Lives of the Chief Justices, Volume IV, Kenyon to Tenterden inclusive, excepting chapter 50; or, any one of the following English biographies: Arnould's Life of Denman; Hardcastles' Life of Campbell; O'Brien's Life of Russell; Atlay's Victorian Chancellors; (c) Any two of the following American biographies: Life and Letters of Joseph Story; Harvey's Reminiscences or Lodge's Life of Daniel Webster; Brown's Life or Neilson's Memoirs of Rufus Choate; Memoirs and Letters of James Kent; Memoirs of Sargent S. Prentiss; Magruder's Life of John Marshall; Caton's Bench and Bar of Illinois; Carson's History of the Federal Supreme Court; or, any three volumes of Lewis' Great American Lawyers. Credit, one semester hour. Optional.

bb. History of the English Legal System—Materials for reading: (a) Pollock and Maitland's History of the English Law, Volumes I, II; or Holdsworth's History of English Law, Volumes I, II, III; and (b) The following works: Holmes' The Common Law; Stephen's History of the Criminal Law; or (c) Select Essays in Anglo-American Legal History, Volumes I, II, and III. Credit, one semester hour. Optional.

THIRD YEAR

One at least is prescribed from the four following:

c1. Jurisprudence—Any one work under each of the following two divisions: (a) Analytical Jurisprudence: Austin's Jurisprudence; Holland's Salmond's Jurisprudence; Terry's Principles of Anglo-American Law. (b) Historical Jurisprudence: Maine's Ancient Law; Fustel's Ancient City; Lee's Historical Jurisprudence. Credit for work done in the course on Analytical Jurisprudence, in the general curriculum, is accepted in place of this Course. Credit, one semester hour.

c2. International Law—Materials as prescribed in the regular course, International Law I. Credit, one semester hour.

c3. Roman Law—Any one of the following texts: Gaius' Institutes, edited by Poste; Justinian's Institutes, edited and translated by Moyle; Pound's Readings in Roman Law. Credit for work done in the course on Roman Law, in the general curriculum, is accepted in place of this Course. Credit, one semester hour.

c4. History of Germanic Law—Any one of the following works: Heusler's Institutionen des Deutschen Rechts; Brunner's Deutsche Rechtsgeschichte; Brissaud's Manuel d'histoire du droit français. Credit, one semester hour.

Course in Practical Problems in Contemporary Legislation—This advanced, or seminar, course, open to third-year students whose scholarship average is not less than B, will be offered in the second term of the year. The course will count as one semester hour of credit, and will be given in sessions of two hours each week for the second term, each session to be in the nature of a conference, and to consist of a report by one member of the class, followed by criticism from the other members and the instructor. A list of select topics, not less than twenty-five in all, is posted on the Bulletin Board by October 15, and therewith a short reference list for each topic to the appropriate material. The topics will be assigned to the members of the class according to their preferences; for this purpose all persons desiring to take the course must register with the Secretary before October 15, and the topics will be assigned at a preliminary meeting called as soon thereafter as may be feasible. Each member will be expected to make a thorough study of the available materials under his topic. He will then at the conference present a short written summary of the nature of the problem, the proposed remedies, and his conclusions thereon, accompanied by a bibliography of the materials consulted. This short report must be circulated in manifold, among all members of the course, one week beforehand. A more extended report or essay, covering all details, will be filed later with the instructor. The number of members of the course is limited to sixteen. An excess of applications over this number will be apportioned according to some plan to be settled between the instructor and the applicants. Each member will have but one topic assigned to him, and will make his report at such time after February 1 as may be determined by mutual agreement at the preliminary meeting in October.

Graduate or Fourth Year Courses Counting for the Degree of Juris Doctor

The candidate may offer any third-year lecture-course not previously taken, and reading courses chosen from the following list:

History and Biography of the Bench and Bar—To include the reading of all the materials named in Course BA, under courses of Reading in Legal History; and an essay on a selected topic.

History of the English Legal System—To include the reading of all the materials named in Course BB, under courses of Reading in Legal History; and an essay on a selected topic.

History of American Law—A study of the history of a subject in the law of one or more jurisdictions of the United States.

Analytical Jurisprudence—To include the reading of all the materials named in Course c1 (a), under courses of Reading in Legal History; and an essay on a selected topic.

Primitive Law—To include the reading of all the materials named in Course c1 (b), under courses of Reading in Legal History; and an essay on a selected topic.

History of Roman Law—A study in the history of a topic in Roman Law; this must be preceded by the lecture course in Roman Law, or its equivalent.

History of Germanic Law—To include the reading of all the materials named in Courses c4, under courses of Reading in Legal History; and an essay on a selected topic.

Modern Continental Law of Europe—A study of some subject of contemporary law in one or more European Continental countries.

Comparative Legislation—A study of some problem of modern legislation in two or more countries of Europe or America.

Comparative History of Legal Ideas—A study of the development of some legal idea or transaction in different independent systems, European and non-European.

Legal Bibliography—The preparation of a topical bibliography on a branch of the law named in these courses or on a substantial part of such a branch.

Ecclesiastical Law—A study of some topic of ecclesiastical law, European or American.

Constitutional and Administrative Law of Continental Europe—A comparative study of a constitutional or administrative principle in the countries of Continental Europe.

Legal Ethics—A study of a problem of legal ethics.

Principles of American Law—A study of a doctrine or rule of law in one or more jurisdictions of the United States.

Parliamentary Law—A study of a rule of parliamentary law or practice, as applied today in deliberative bodies.

Not Counting for a Degree

Trade-Marks and Copyrights—Six lectures. Mr. Pickard.

General Review—Given twice, in September and June, prior to the State examination for admission to the Bar. Five hours a week for a month. Mr. Bays.

Legal Ethics—Five lectures. Professor Follansbee.

Patents—Five lectures. Professor Linthicum.

Training in Legal Writing and in the Practice of the Law

As a part of the systematic instruction in the body of the law, represented in the foregoing curriculum, an effort is made to provide adequate training in the practical use of legal knowledge and discipline, and in certain important details of legal writing and speaking which help materially to equip the accomplished lawyer. The various branches of work directed to this end are as follows:

Pleadings and Other Instruments—The courses on Common Law Pleading, Code Pleading, and Equity Pleading, in addition to the study of the legal sources, include exercises in the drafting of the various kinds of pleadings. In Corporations the class is formed during the second semester into two corporations, which organize, elect officers, issue stock, enlarge capital, keep books, consolidate, and do various other acts of corporate business calling for the drafting of instruments and in other ways familiarizing the student with the use of the legal knowledge acquired. In other courses, particularly in Commercial Paper, Carriers, Insurance, attention is paid to the forms of instruments in common use.

Conveyancing—In the course on Conveyancing, the chief material consists of a series of fifteen selected abstracts of title representing a great variety of documents and proceedings involving property rights. A separate copy of each abstract is given each member of the class, and a detailed study of matters of form and substance, is made from the conveyancer's point of view, and with regard to the laws of different states. Thorough work in this course ought to equip the student as a practical conveyancer at the time of his entering upon his profession. No one may take this course who has not taken the courses Property I and II.

Trial Practice—The courses on Procedure and Practice give a systematic and detailed survey of the rules of law. The course on Evidence includes an auxiliary drill in the use of the rules. The Practice Court gives the third year student opportunity to become practically familiar with these rules by the application of them in litigation managed by himself. The sessions of the Court are held weekly, on Thursday evenings, for two hours. During each session from one to three cases are tried, with and without a jury; and other cases are disposed of in various aspects. Between the sessions, causes are being prepared and advanced from stage to stage by the student-attorneys in charge. While the proceedings are dispatched at the hearings by the respective attorneys, all members of the class are required to attend, to make notes and to report on the work done. A faithful attention to this course ought to give the graduate experience in the use of legal knowledge that will materially assist him in starting in his profession. The systematic pursuit of such a course under an experienced instructor affords the student results more thorough, accurate, and extensive than can be obtained in the desultory service of a law office during a long period. A copy of the printed Rules of the Practice Court will be mailed upon request.

Theses—To encourage original research, the Faculty will grant credits, not to exceed two semester hours, to any member of the third-year class who shall present a satisfactory thesis upon some legal topic. The topic must be approved by a member of the Faculty before December 1 and the thesis must be presented on or before May 15 of the year in which the student expects to graduate; it must be printed or typewritten, and becomes the property of the School. The work should be begun not later than October.

Editorial Work—To edit and digest for the profession the opinion and record of a decided case is of great value in cultivating the skill required in preparing briefs and analyzing precedents. Each year not more than seven second and third-year men of known ability are appointed Associate Editors of the Illinois Law Review, to digest manuscript decisions of the Appellate Court.

In 1908-1909, the Associate Editors were Mr. Johnson, Mr. Lockart, Mr. Stern, Mr. Wolf, Mr. Hoffman, and Mr. Schupp.

Legal Writing and Forensics

Moot Courts—A moot court is held in the second year once a week from November 1 to May 1, at 1:45 p. m. The class is divided into two sections A and B, meeting on alternate weeks. The work consists of the preparation and delivery of arguments and opinions of law on statements of facts assigned beforehand, and is in charge of the Instructor in Forensics, with the assistance of the other members of the Faculty.

No student is recommended for a degree, except by unanimous vote of the Faculty, who has not satisfactorily done the work of this course; but students entering the third-year class from another school may by vote of the Faculty be excused from this course. Credit, one semester hour.

Public Debate—Students selected in April at the preliminary contest to compete in the second preliminary for the Towle Prizes for Public Speaking and taking part therein, receive one semester hour of credit. Students who have not taken Ia and Ib, or the equivalent in another school, are not eligible.

Legal Advice Clubs—Third year students may form Legal Advice Clubs, by voluntary selection on or before October 10, supplemented by assignments to vacancies by the Secretary of the School. Each club contains not less than four nor more than six members, and elects a Secretary. Difficult cases arising in actual practice, sent in for advice by alumni or other practitioners, are submitted to the Clubs in rotation as the cases come in. A written opinion, citing authorities, is handed to the professor specially in charge. A credit of one semester hour may be allowed each member of a club.

Legal Aid Society—After October 1 not more than ten students are assigned as assistants in the Chicago Legal Aid Society, University Branch, for practical office and trial work. No student having grade C in more than one course is eligible for assignment. The hours of work are determined by agreement with the Superintendent of the Society. In 1908-1909 each student attorney gave one or two half-days a week to the work of this Society.

General Statements

PRIZES, HONORS, AND SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarships for Students—Fifteen students are appointed annually as assistant librarians and monitors. These receive one hundred twenty-five dollars each in compensation for their services. Applications for appointments should be addressed to the Secretary of the School.

The Towle Prizes—A first prize of $100, and a second prize of $50, the gift of Henry Sargent Towle, Esquire, Chairman of the Law School Committee of the Board of Trustees, will be awarded to the students who shall, in public competition, be adjudged most proficient in debate.

The Follansbee Prize—A prize of $50, the gift of Mitchell Davis Follansbee, Esq., will be awarded to the writer of the best thesis on the same subject relating to Legal Ethics.

The Hyde Prize—The interest on a fund of $700, the gift of Charles Cheney Hyde, Esq., is awarded not oftener than once in two years to the writer of the best thesis on some subject relating to International Law.

The MacChesney Prizes—As a first prize, a framed etched or engraved portrait of one of the American or English jurists named on page 204, selected by the prize-winner, and as a second prize, the complete works of one of the American or English legal authors named on page 205, selected by the prize-winner, the gift of Nathan William MacChesney, Esq., will be awarded to those members of the second or third year classes who shall submit before June 1 the best essay on some topic connected with the subjects of Courses b, ba, bb, and c, in the Courses of Reading on Legal History, Biography, and Jurisprudence. The prizes will be awarded by a committee consisting of the Dean of the School, the Editor-in-Chief of the Illinois Law Review, and a third person to be selected by them. The successful papers will be published in the Illinois Law Review.

The Kocourek Prize (A Prize of $50, the gift of Albert Kocourek, Esq.,) will be awarded to the writer of the best thesis, in a competition among three or more students, on some juristic subject. In lieu of a thesis there may be presented a translation into English of not less than five thousand words on some phase of a juristic subject not already translated into English. This prize is offered for the first time in 1909-1910.

The Pound Prize—A prize of $25, the gift of Roscoe Pound, Esq., will be awarded the student of the graduating class who has the best record in scholarship for the entire course. This prize is offered for the first time in 1909-1910.

The Gage Prize in Debate—Students of the Law School may compete for the Gage Prize as described on page 130.

Oratorical Contest of the Northern Oratorical League—Students of the Law School who have completed not more than four years of undergraduate study are eligible to compete for appointment as representatives of the University in the contest of the Northern Oratorical League. For further information see page 130.

REQUIREMENTS FOR DEGREES

All degrees are conferred at the University Commencement. Candidates for degrees are required to present themselves in person. The Oxford cap and gown are worn as the official dress.

Bachelor of Laws

The degree of Bachelor of Laws is conferred upon the students who are recommended therefor by the Faculty of the School. Such students will be recommended as in the judgment of the Faculty are of fit character and have complied with the following requirements:

Length of Attendance—Regular attendance for three years is required of all students, with the following exceptions: (1) students having credit for one year in law, either from a college or a law school, in good standing, may obtain a degree in two years; (2) students having completed satisfactorily two years in a law school in good standing may obtain a degree in one year;

(3) students having completed satisfactorily one year in a law school of good standing, and having credit for one year in law from a college in good standing may become candidates for a degree in one year, by special permission of the Dean.

Applications for advanced standing must be presented before November 1 of the year of entrance.

Candidates for a degree must register for courses amounting to at least ten hours a week for each year.

Courses of Study—Candidates for a degree must obtain credit in courses amounting to sixty-six semester hours, including at least ten hours of credit obtained in each semester of the third year.

Persons who have satisfactorily completed a two-year course of study in a law school in good standing may be given credit for this work, but in no case to exceed one-half of the amount above required.

Persons who have satisfactorily completed less than two years study of law in a college or law school in good standing may be given credit for this work to an amount to be determined in each case by the Dean. The subjects on which this credit is applied will be determined by the Secretary at the time of admission.

Grades of Scholarship—Four grades are given: A, excellent; B, satisfactory; C, unsatisfactory; D, failure. A candidate may offer for a degree courses with grade C for only one-sixth the amount of credits required to be obtained by him in this School, except that he may also offer courses with grade C to the extent to which he has other courses with grade A.

Specific Courses Required—In reckoning the sixty-six semester hours above mentioned, no specific courses need be included, except as follows: (1) The candidate must obtain an average grade of not less than C in the prescribed courses of Reading in Legal History, Biography, and Jurisprudence, namely, a, b and c1, or c2 or c3 or c4. A student entering with advanced standing may be excused from course a; and a student who, in a college or law school, has already obtained credit for work equivalent to Course c1, c2, c3 or c4, accredited in this School, may be excused from Course c. (2) The three-year course in Forensic Writing and Speaking must be completed.

A student entering with advanced standing who has not taken equivalent work elsewhere is subject to the remaining requirements applicable to the class he enters, except that a candidate for a degree in one year may be exempted from specified parts of the work, or may be required to take the second year work.

Promotions—(1) A regular student of the first year class, not at the time a candidate for the degree of A.B. or B.S. in the College of Liberal Arts, who obtains less than sixteen hours of credit in this year, is permitted to enter the second-year class, as candidate for a degree in two additional years, only on condition that he obtain no mark lower than B in the examinations at the end of the first semester of the second year and shall obtain by the end of that year a total of forty hours of credit.

(2) A regular student of the second-year class who obtains less than forty hours of credit in all the work of the first two years will be permitted to enter the third-year class, as candidate for a degree in one more year, on condition only that he obtain by the end of the first term of that year a total of fifty-two hours of credit.

(3) In estimating the above credits, the usual rule for counting marks of A and C shall apply.

(4) When in any case the conditions above mentioned are not fulfilled, the student may continue in the School as a candidate for a degree in not less than four years from the time of beginning.

(5) The foregoing rules shall be applied by the Dean and the Secretary, and each case of such conditional admission shall be reported to the Faculty. But in any case, on petition, the Faculty, by vote, may authorize an exception from the rule or may allow the continuance in regular standing of a student who has not fulfilled a condition imposed under these rules.

Master of Laws

A candidate for the degree of Master of Laws will be required to meet the following conditions: (1) They will have obtained the degree of Bachelor of Laws in this University, or in some university or college having equal requirements. (2) He will complete, in addition, one year of residence in this School, during which time credit must be obtained in not less than from fifteen semester hours in third-year courses not previously counted toward the Bachelor's degree. (3) He will complete an exhaustive study of some topic of local law, pass an examination thereon, and present a paper embodying the results, of such character as to be suitable for publication in the Illinois Law Review.

Juris Doctor

The candidate for the degree of Juris Doctor will be required to meet the following conditions: (1) He will present a diploma of the degree of A.B., or of an equivalent degree, from the College of Liberal Arts of this University, or other college in which the requirements are substantially equivalent; or a certificate showing the completion of at least two years work in such a college, including at least one course each in Latin, French and German; (2) He will have obtained the degree of Bachelor of Laws in this University, or in one whose requirements are substantially equivalent; (3) He will obtain credit in the courses of the fourth or graduate year to the amount of twenty semester hours, of which not more than ten are to be obtained in the lecture courses and not less than ten in the reading courses; but in the reading courses the work done in any of the courses may be given a credit not to exceed five hours or in any two or any three of the courses a credit not to exceed seven hours, provided two members of the Faculty so certify.

Candidates will register on or before the first Monday in October of the year of candidacy; they will pay half the fees of a special student for the lecture courses, the library fee of alumni, and a diploma fee of twenty dollars.

Master of Arts or of Science

The Master's degree in Arts or Science will be conferred under the following conditions:

A graduate of the College of Liberal Arts of this University, or other college maintaining equivalent requirements for the Bachelor's degree in Arts or Science, may obtain the Master's degree, at the same time with the degree of Bachelor of Laws by pursuing, with the sanction of the Faculty of Liberal Arts, advanced work in subjects approved by that Faculty, and obtaining credit to the amount of twelve semester hours; and by presenting a thesis of an approved topic. The courses of study may, in part or entirely, deal with legal subjects; but courses of legal study, in order to count for the degree, must be of an advanced nature, must not otherwise be counted for the degree of Bachelor of Laws, and must be pursued under the direction of a member of the Faculty of the Law School. Students in law, intending to become candidates for the Master's degree, will register for the same degree in both the College of Liberal Arts and the Law School on or before the first Monday in October of the year in which they expect to graduate, and will pay the diploma fee of ten dollars. The Master's degree is open, upon the same terms, to graduates of the Law School who register before the October next following the completion of their professional course.

The following subjects have been approved by the Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts as counting for the Master's degree: CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, INTERNATIONAL LAW, ADMINISTRATIVE LAW, ROMAN LAW, JURISPRUDENCE, LEGAL HISTORY.

THE ORDER OF THE COIF

The Order of the Coif was organized in 1907. Its purpose is the encouragement of scholarship and the advancement of ethical standards in the legal profession. The membership consists of seven regular students in each class of the Law School who receive the highest grades in scholarship, four of whom are elected and installed in the month of May of the second school year of the class, and the other three in the month of October of the third year of the class. The members elected from the class of 1910 may be found on page 294.

FEES AND EXPENSES

These rates apply only to students registered after June 1, 1910.

Matriculation fee, paid at first registration in the University.....	$ 5.00
Tuition Fee, for regular students, a year.....	150.00
Payable $50 October 1, $50 January 10, and $50 March 31.
A rebate of $5.00 is allowed if the entire fee is paid October 1.

Special Course Fees.

Special students, for each hour of class work, a semester.....	8.00
Candidates for the degree of Juris Doctor, for each hour of class work, a semester.....	3.00
Library fee for the same students, a year.....	1.00
Course in Patent Law.....	25.00
General Review Course, for members or graduates of the School..	15.00
For others.....	20.00

The College of Engineering

Several years ago, in response to an insistent demand, Northwestern University introduced in the College of Liberal Arts courses in engineering subjects. These courses have together been equivalent to two years of technical work. The graduate of the College who completed them has been prepared to earn the degree of an engineering school in two years.

A gift for the erection of an engineering building at Evanston and for its endowment led the Trustees of the University to take action in June, 1907, resulting in the establishment of a College of Engineering. This gift came from Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift and her son, Mr. Edward F. Swift. The building was completed in the winter of 1908-1909.

Recitations are given in the other buildings also on the campus. These include Fayerweather Hall of Science, University Hall, Fisk Hall, Old College, and the Orrington Lunt Library. A description of these buildings, the gymnasium, the dormitories, Music Hall, Annie May Swift Hall of Oratory, and Dearborn Observatory, in all of which the College of Engineering shares, are given on pages 44 to 48.

Northwestern University was built up on the model of the eastern college and it has maintained this character throughout its history. It has broadened its courses, and has liberalized its rules, but it continues to cultivate the humanities with jealous care. In keeping with these ideals, the course in Engineering introduces an unusual number of those non-technical studies that serve to develop general education and to cultivate the thinking power of the student. Unusual stress is laid upon mathematics, physics, and other sciences fundamental to engineering; to shop work and to practical work is given as much attention as is consistent with the purpose of this School. This plan has been adopted because there appears to be increasing need for instruction of this character. On the other hand, there are already many well equipped schools of engineering giving primary attention to practical training as opposed to this more general training; there is little need for a new school of the old kind. It is the belief of the University that a school of the kind proposed will result in the preparation of engineers of the highest type.

Admission and Instruction

The requirements for admission to the College of Engineering are identical with those of the College of Liberal Arts, published on pages 68 to 74. Particular attention should be paid in preparation to mathematics and English composition. The requirements for graduation in the College of Engineering are more easily met if the student presents for admission two units of French and two units of German as his requirements in foreign language. Admission to the College of Engineering may be by certificate or by examination. Graduates of high schools of approved standing should obtain certificates of work done showing the ground covered and the grade received in each study. These certificates should be sent to the Registrar at least one week before the opening of the fall semester. Certificate blanks may be had on request. Candidates who cannot present satisfactory certificates may be admitted on examination. Examinations for this purpose will be held at Evanston on September 19 and 20, 1910. College entrance examinations are given in the spring by the College Entrance Examination Board at various places in the United States, and their findings will also satisfy the entrance requirements.

ADVANCED STANDING

Students from other colleges will be given credit for work done, as may be determined by the Faculty.

Schedule of Study

The course of study is shown in the following schedule. The first four years are offered in the scholastic year 1909-1910.

FIRST YEAR

English Language A—This course gives a practical drill in the elements of good composition, and many essays are required throughout the year. Three hours.

French A or German A—Adequate preparation for this course requires two entrance units of the same language. Three hours.

Chemistry A—An elementary course in general Chemistry consisting of recitations and laboratory work. Four hours.

Mathematics A3—First semester—Algebra and plane trigonometry. Second semester—Analytical geometry, plane and solid. Five hours.

Mechanical Drawing and Shop Work—One three-hour period each week is spent upon each of these subjects. Two hours.

Summer Work—Each student is expected to secure some continuous employment, during at least six weeks of the long vacation, in approved work in drawing room, shop, or testing laboratory.

SECOND YEAR

German A or French A—Adequate preparation for this course requires two entrance units of the same language. Three hours.

Physics A—A course in general Physics, consisting of experimental lectures, recitations, and laboratory work. Four hours.

Mathematics B1—A course in Differential and Integral Calculus. Three hours.

Surveying—A course in the general theory of Surveying and surveying instruments, together with as much Astronomy as is needed for that work. Three hours.

Descriptive Geometry, Kinematics, Machine Design, and Graphical Statics—This work consists of lectures, recitations, and drawing, taking up three afternoons a week. Three hours.

Shop Work—One afternoon. One hour.

Summer Work—Six weeks surveying practice in field work and office work under the direction of the instructor.

THIRD YEAR

Chemistry B—Lectures, recitations, and laboratory work. First semester—Qualitative Analysis. Second semester—Organic Chemistry. Four hours.

Geology A1—A course in general Geology and in the Physiography of the lands. Four hours.

Mathematics C1—A course in Advanced Calculus and Differential Equations. Three hours.

Physics B—Principles of Mechanics; recitations and laboratory work; a large number of problems in which the student is expected to become proficient. Three hours.

Physics C—A course in electricity and magnetism, consisting of recitations and laboratory work. This course serves as a natural introduction to all advanced work in Electrical Engineering. Three hours.

Approved Summer Work.

FOURTH YEAR, CIVIL ENGINEERING

Economics A—The elements of Economics. Three hours.

English Literature A—A general view of English Literature. Two hours.

Structural Mechanics H2—Three hours.

Thermodynamics and Heat Engines J1—Three hours.

Contracts—One hour.

Iron and Steel—One hour.

Elective in Geology—Three hours.

Journal Meetings—One hour.

Approved Summer Work.

The details of the fifth year of the Civil Engineering course have not yet been arranged. It is expected that the fifth year will include Structures, Railway Engineering, Hydraulic Engineering, Bridges, The Public Relations of Engineers.

FOURTH YEAR, MECHANICAL AND ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

Economics A—The elements of Economics. Three hours.

English Literature A—A general view of English Literature. Two hours.

Structural Mechanics H2—Three hours. Direct Current Engineering Three hours.

Contracts—One hour.

Iron and Steel—One hour.

Elective—Three hours.

Journal Meetings—One hour.

Approved Summer Work.

The details of the fifth year of the Mechanical and Electrical Engineering course have not yet been arranged. It is expected that the fifth year will include Thermodynamics, Heat Engines, Hydraulic Engineering, Alternating Current Engineering, The Public Relations of Engineers.

LECTURES

Special lectures upon subjects of interest to engineers and engineering students are provided throughout the year.

General Statements

REGISTRATION

For general regulations and for regulations affecting registration, see page 132. The schedule of study in the College of Engineering requires registration of seventeen hours a week, during five years, and approved summer work for six weeks in each of four summers.

DEGREES

The work of the first four years shown in the schedule of the College of Engineering includes the requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Science which is given upon the satisfactory completion of the fourth year. Upon the satisfactory completion of the entire Engineering schedule a bachelor's degree in Engineering will be conferred. The conditions upon which professional degrees in Engineering are to be awarded will be announced later.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND FELLOWSHIPS

For information in regard to scholarships and fellowships see page 127.

ATHLETICS

Students in the College of Engineering will share with those of the College of Liberal Arts in all athletic privileges.

ROOM AND BOARD

Students of the University find suitable rooms for residence in private homes near the University campus. Board may be obtained in private families, in student clubs, and at restaurants. A considerable proportion of the students are members of fraternities, each chapter of which rents or owns a house for its exclusive use.

SELF SUPPORT

Evanston offers many opportunities for young men to obtain employment of various kinds. Persons desiring such employment will do well to communicate with the Secretary of the College Young Men's Christian Association.

FEES AND EXPENSES

Matriculation Fee, paid on first registration.....	$ 5.00
Tuition Fee, a year.....	100.00
Payable one-half at the beginning of the first semester, one half at the beginning of the second semester.
Laboratory Fees
Courses A1, A2, E1, and J1, each course, a semester.....	3.00
Courses B1 and B2, each, a semester.....	4.00
Courses C1 and H2, each, a semester.....	5.00
Fees for summer instruction and the use of surveying instruments...	30.00
Diploma Fee.....	10.00

Inquiries for further information in regard to the College of Engineering may be addressed to the Director of College of Engineering, Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois.

The School of Pharmacy

THIS school, incorporated in 1886 as the Illinois College of Pharmacy, became a department of the University the same year. In 1891 the name was changed to the School of Pharmacy of Northwestern University. It is a member of the American Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties and its graduates are recognized in all states in which graduation from a school of pharmacy is necessary to obtain license to practice.

The School's work is carried on in the University Building, Lake and Dearborn Streets, Chicago. The rooms occupied include six large laboratories, two lecture rooms, two balance rooms, library, museum, and three rooms for students, all newly furnished. The laboratories are: the laboratory for inorganic chemistry, with accommodations for three classes of seventy students each; the laboratory for botany, microscopy, and pharmacognosy, with accommodations for six sections of forty-eight students each; the manufacturing laboratory, with accommodations for four sections of seventy students each; the laboratory for organic chemistry, with accommodations for four sections of twenty-eight students each; and the dispensing laboratory, with accommodations for six sections of thirty-six students each. Courses in bacteriology are given in the bacteriological laboratory on the fifth floor.

All the courses of instruction in the School are given exclusively to students of pharmacy and are adapted to their special needs. Especial attention is given to laboratory practice in the manufacture, testing, and valuation of preparations and in the work of dispensing.

Applications made to this school for alumni to fill desirable positions have, for many years, exceeded the supply. Undergraduate students are also in demand, being wanted for part-time service in Chicago drug stores while pursuing their courses of study.

The occupations open to graduates of efficient pharmaceutical schools include not only the customary practice of modern technical pharmacy, but similar employment in the service of the national, state, and municipal governments, in connection with food, drugs, and sanitation.

The course for the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist comprises preparation of the most thorough kind, both for the practice of pharmacy and for the expert services required of inspectors of food and drugs under the laws, and for similar service in manufacturing and wholesale establishments.

Admission and Instruction

Candidates for the degree of Graduate in Pharmacy must present evidence of having satisfactorily completed one full year of work in a properly accredited high school, or its equivalent, and must be at least seventeen years of age..

Candidates for the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist must have completed two years work in a high school of accepted grade or must possess an equivalent general education.

Candidates for the degree of Master of Pharmacy must fulfill the requirements for admission to the College of Liberal Arts. See Requirements for Degrees.

Special students not candidates for graduation may be admitted by action of the Faculty.

CREDITS FOR WORK DONE IN OTHER SCHOOLS

Students who have satisfactorily completed the first year's work in any other approved college or school of pharmacy, upon presentation of proper evidence thereof, are admitted to the second year class, provided the work done in each subject is fully equivalent to that of the first year's program of this School and provided that their work conforms to the rule that related subjects must be studied in logical sequence.

Credit is given, subject to the same conditions, for any courses in individual subjects satisfactorily completed elsewhere, so far as these subjects are included in the required studies of this School.

Courses of Study For the Degree of Graduate in Pharmacy

First Year

PHARMACY—PROFESSOR OLDBERG, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR MINER, MR. OGLESBY, AND MR. FISCHNAR.

Definition of Pharmacy—Its functions and problems.

The Pharmacopoeia—Its scope, objects and construction. Pharmacopoeial nomenclature.

Preparatory study of the various classes of Materials employed in the preparation of medicines.

General Pharmaceutical Processes and Manipulations.

General Study of the Various Classes of Pharmaceutical Preparations.

Weights and Measures, and Pharmaceutical Arithmetic.

Laboratory Practice—Work designed to familiarize the student with apparatus, processes and materials, and to apply the lessons taught in the didactic courses. This course includes the manufacture of a great variety of finished products.

CHEMISTRY—PROFESSOR GORDIN, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR PATTERSON, AND MR. HARRISON.

Lecture Courses in General and Inorganic Chemistry, theoretical and descriptive.

Laboratory Work in elementary chemistry and in Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis.

PHARMACEUTICAL BOTANY AND MICROSCOPY—DR. JENSEN

The organs, tissues, and microscopical structure of plants and plant drugs.

HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY—ASSISTANT PROFESSOR KAHN

A necessary introduction to the study of the action and uses of medicines

Second Year

PHARMACY—PROFESSOR OLDBERG, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR MINER, MR. HARRISON, MR. OGLESBY, AND MR. FISCHNAR

Applied Inorganic Pharmaceutical Chemistry—The chemical preparations, their production and pharmacy.

Pharmaceutical Chemical Problems—Exercises in writing chemical equations, making stoichiometric calculations, etc.

The Special Pharmacy of Important Vegetable Drugs and their Preparations.

Extempore Operative Pharmacy—The prescription and its construction and interpretation. The dispensing department and its problems. Incompatibilities.

Duties and responsibilities of pharmacists and their agents.

The practical details of daily work of a properly equipped and well conducted retail drug store. Miscellaneous medicinal and pharmaceutical preparations and sick room supplies furnished by pharmacists.

Senior Laboratory Course—Practice in the manufacture of chemical and pharmaceutical preparations and in the extraction and purification of important natural constituents of plant drugs.

The Art of Dispensing—A practical laboratory course accompanying the lectures and recitations.

Pharmaceutical Economics—A course established to provide a knowledge of the business side of pharmacy for those students who have had no drug store experience and for those whose general training has been inadequate.

Business Training—A course designed to teach the student book-keeping and other essential business methods employed in the retail drug store.

CHEMISTRY—PROFESSOR GORDIN, AND ASSISTANT PROFESSOR PATTERSON

Lecture Course in Organic Chemistry—The principles of the chemistry of the combustible carbon compounds.

Laboratory Course in Drug Assaying and Organic Pharmaceutical Testing.

PHARMACOGNOSY—DR. JENSEN

About two hundred of the most important drugs are thoroughly studied.

MATERIA MEDICA—ASSISTANT PROFESSOR KAHN

The properties, action, uses, and doses of drugs and medicines including therapeutics and toxicology.

The course in Urine Analysis is also offered to students Registered for the degree of Graduate in Pharmacy and may be taken by them in their second year.

For the Degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist

All the courses required for the degree of Graduate in Pharmacy constitute a part of the curriculum required for the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist. The following courses are required in addition:

First Year

PHARMACY—PROFESSOR OLDBERG, AND MR. OGLESBY

The general lessons taught by a comparison of the principal pharmacopoeias of other countries with the pharmacopoeia of the United States.

CHEMISTRY—PROFESSOR GORDIN, AND MR. HARRISON¹

Gravimetric Analysis—Fundamental operations characteristic of the general method and special processes employed in the actual gravimetric determination of inorganic substances.

The course in drug assaying and pharmaceutical testing, as described among the second year courses in chemistry for the degree of Graduate in Pharmacy, is taken by the candidates for the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist in the latter part of the first year.

Second Year

CHEMISTRY—PROFESSOR GORDIN, AND ASSISTANT PROFESSORS MINER AND PATTERSON

Special Lectures upon important Chemical Constituents of plant drugs such as alkaloids, glucosides, etc., and upon certain important features of chemical physics including the use of the polariscope and other instruments in chemical work.

Organic Chemical Preparations—A laboratory course.

Urine Analysis, Qualitative and Quantitative.

Advanced Course in Drug Assaying and Pharmaceutical Testing.

Food and Sanitary Analysis.

FOOD AND DRUGS COURSE

The curriculum prescribed for the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist affording as it does special training for the expert work required by food and drugs legislation, is modified to some extent at the option of students who desire to specialize more in the direction of the examination of food and drugs and who do not intend to practice pharmacy.

SPECIAL COURSES

Special students are admitted, by special action of the Faculty, to any of the individual courses included in the program of work required for a degree, to advanced courses, and to any additional special courses which the School is prepared to offer. The fees for such elective courses are in proportion to their extent, and full credit is given in the form of certificates for work satisfactorily completed.

Degrees

The requirements for graduation include regular attendance, for at least one year in this School, the satisfactory completion of the prescribed program of work, good moral character and satisfactory department, and the settlement of all accounts.

Degrees are conferred at the Graduating Exercises held at the conclusion of the Graduate in Pharmacy course in April and at the general University Commencement in June. On these occasions all candidates for degrees are required to be present in person, the Oxford cap and gown being worn as the official dress.

The degrees conferred are those of Graduate in Pharmacy, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy, and Master of Pharmacy.

DEGREE OF GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

The course for this degree occupies two school years of six months each, during which the student devotes his whole time to his studies and laboratory work.

The same course occupies two years of nine months each when the student engages in concurrent drug-store employment and when he, accordingly, carries only two-thirds of the weekly program of studies pursued by students who give their whole time to school work.

DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN PHARMACY

This degree requires four years, two years of study in the College of Liberal Arts and two years in the School of Pharmacy.

DEGREE OF MASTER OF PHARMACY

This degree is conferred upon completion of three years of study in the College of Liberal Arts and two years in the School of Pharmacy.

DEGREE OF PHARMACEUTICAL CHEMIST

This course extends through two years of nine months each, with the student's whole time occupied with his studies and laboratory work. The three years' course for the same degree occupies the student's whole time through three school years of six months each. The program of work is the same as in the two years' course.

POST GRADUATE COURSE

A post-graduate course is offered to Graduates in Pharmacy of other schools who have had sufficient preparation to undertake the completion of the prescribed curriculum for the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist in one additional year. In this course the program of work is modified in each case so as to enable the student to take all the work which he has not already had.

General Statements

THE LIBRARY

The School possesses a valuable pharmaceutical reference library. It now contains 2950 bound volumes and pamphlets. All the principal current chemical and pharmaceutical journals, foreign and American, are received, and are accessible alike to instructors and students.

The library includes complete sets of Archiv der Pharmazie; the Centralblatt from 1870 and the Berichte der Deutsch Chemischen Gesellschaft from 1868; also, complete from 1893, Zeitschrift für analytische Chemie, Neueste Erfindungen und Erfahrungen, Berichte der Pharmazeutischen Gesellschaft, Journal of the London Chemical Society, Pharmazeutische Centralhalle, and Repertoire de Pharmacie; complete sets of the British Pharmaceutical Journal, Proceedings of the American Pharmaceutical Association, and the American Journal of Pharmacy.

The library contains also all the pharmacopœias of the world with supplements to date, dispensaries and commentaries on the pharmacopœias, pharmaceutical and chemical encyclopedias and dictionaries, pharmaceutical and other technical formularies, the most valuable reference works and textbooks on chemistry, pharmacy, materia medica, and related subjects, and the publications of the American Chemical Society.

THE MUSEUM AND EXHIBITS

The museum contains more than two thousand specimens of drugs, chemicals, pharmaceutical preparations, and other substances of medicinal or industrial importance, pharmaceutical and chemical apparatus and implements, and other articles of interest to students.

Authentic specimens of distinct varieties of plant drugs, many of great value or of special interest, are contained in these collections, including not only exceptionally fine drugs, but also spurious ones. All plant drugs used to a sufficient extent to be found in the drug markets are represented by good specimens in the museum.

The exhibits of chemical products, inorganic and organic, are exceptionally large, and the exhibits of pharmaceutical products and sick-room supplies are instructive.

Specimens of numerous kinds of chemicals and preparations manufactured by the students attest the practical character of the laboratory training given in the School.

FEES AND EXPENSES

Matriculation Fee, paid on first admission to the School, not returnable	$ 5.00
Tuition Fees, payable half yearly in advance
For the course leading to the degree of Graduate in Pharmacy, a year.....	100.00
For the course leading to the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist, a year.....	140.00
Breakage Deposit, covering wear and tear of equipment, estimated at $3.00 a year, and the breakage of apparatus, the balance being refunded at the end of the year	10.00
Graduation Fee.....	10.00

BOARD AND ROOMS

Within walking distance of the School is a quiet residence portion of the city near Lake Michigan. In this section room and board together may be obtained at from $4.50 to $6.00 per week. A less expensive way to live, however, is for two or several students to rent rooms together, either single rooms or ensuite, and secure their meals in one of the many excellent restaurants with which the city abounds.

Complete information regarding all of these matters may be obtained of the Y. M. C. A. secretary in the rotunda of Northwestern University building.

To assist worthy students who are compelled to earn their way while pursuing their studies the School has established an employment department. Familiarity with the business conditions in Chicago and large acquaintance with the druggists of the city afford unusual opportunities for placing young men in good drug stores at satisfactory remuneration. The Faculty does not recommend this double work, but if it is unavoidable, the School will gladly do all in its power to place students in satisfactory positions.

Some students find employment afternoons, evenings and at other times in miscellaneous kinds of work; through coöperation with the Young Men's Christian Association, a branch of which is a part of the equipment of the professional schools in Northwestern University Building, such places may be secured, the central location of the School making this plan easy of execution.

For further information regarding any feature of the School's work address Thomas V. Wooten, Administrative Officer, Room 414, Northwestern University Building, Lake and Dearborn Streets, Chicago, Illinois.

The Dental School

THE DENTAL SCHOOL was founded and is maintained for the purpose of preparing young men and women in the most thorough manner for the practice of dentistry, and for the promotion of dental science and dental literature. No expense has been spared in its equipment and in the employment of an adequate faculty of skilled teachers, and a large force of demonstrators and assistants.

The Dental School was organized in 1887 and three years later became a department of the University. In 1886 it absorbed the American College of Dental Surgery and for some years occupied the building on Franklin and Madison Streets, Chicago, formerly occupied by that school. It is now located in Northwestern University Building, at the corner of Lake and Dearborn Streets, Chicago.

It occupies the upper three floors of the building and has over 60,000 square feet of floor space, supplied with modern equipment.

The Clinic Room is sufficient in extent to accommodate the great clinic and the offices connected with it, is of the best design of construction, consisting of a single room with arched ceiling. It is on the sixth floor, with free light on two sides and abundant skylight. It may be reached by elevators from the principal entrance on Lake Street, and from a smaller entrance on Dearborn Street. Adjoining the Operative Clinic is the Prosthetic Clinic, and on the same floor is the senior Prosthetic laboratory for crown and bridge work; the recently added laboratory for porcelain and cast metal inlay work; an impression room; two rooms and waiting room for extracting. The system of lecture rooms, three in number, is arranged on the amphitheater plan. Each accommodates 225 students. Two are for the ordinary class lecture work, and one for the Oral Surgery clinic. This latter has a waiting-room for surgical patients, a room for diagnosis and the preparation of patients, and a recovery room with sufficient beds for the temporary care of patients. Other rooms are the Anatomical laboratory, which is placed well apart, the first year and the second year Prosthetic laboratories, the Operative Technic laboratory, the first year and the second year Chemical laboratories, the laboratory for Histology and Bacteriology, the photographic laboratory, the museum, the reading room and library.

The location of the school is especially advantageous in obtaining the great number of clinical patients needful in a dental school.

Admission and Instruction

A candidate for admission to the Dental School may be accepted upon presentation of a diploma or equivalent certificate from an accredited high school or kindred educational institution, or upon passing a satisfactory examination. The diploma must be signed by a superintendent of schools, the principal of a high school, or other responsible school officer. A certificate showing that a candidate has been graduated from an accredited high school, or from a school giving an equivalent course, signed by a city or county superintendent of schools, or by a state superintendent of public instruction, will be accepted as the equivalent of a diploma. A candidate who does not present a diploma or certificate must take an examination before a state superintendent of public instruction, or his deputy, and bring a report showing that the candidate has a preliminary education equivalent to that to be obtained in an accredited high school.

Persons not having these credentials will be admitted upon examination and approval of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction or his deputy.

This School will receive no student who is not present within ten days after the opening day of the session in each year, or in case of necessary delay, by reason of illness properly certified by the attending physician, within twenty days after the opening day.

Students registering agree thereby to accept the discipline imposed by the Faculty.

It is desirable that students should register early, since the order of assignment of seats in the lecture halls is based upon the order of registration.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

Students from high schools and colleges, wishing credit for courses parallel to courses required in this School, should bring credentials showing the time spent on these subjects and should present their note books written in these courses.

Students who present certificates from other recognized dental schools covering subjects required in this School will be credited with such studies if the credentials are satisfactory to the Dean and to the professors in the respective departments, but when admitted to the third year the candidate must do one full year's work in this School. Graduates in medicine are credited with one year of time.

Course for the Degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery

The course covers three years. The year begins on the first Tuesday in October and closes on Commencement Day of the University in June. There are thirty-two weeks of actual instruction given, six days in each week.

Students for the regular course are received only during the first ten days of the first semester. Students desiring to pursue special studies may be received at any time.

For regular students who desire to extend their studies to four or more years, a special arrangement of studies will be provided.

A post graduate, or practitioner's course has been specially arranged which begins the day after Commencement in each year, and continues during four weeks thereafter.

METHODS OF INSTRUCTION

The studies of the course are grouped by departments, the work of each department proceeding from the more general and fundamental subjects to the more specialized and advanced.

The work in the departments is planned with reference to that of other departments, and the greatest care is taken that the whole shall be so correlated that the student in taking up a new subject will find himself prepared by work done in other departments.

Departments of Instruction

SCHEDULE OF COURSES

Students are expected to take the courses in the order enumerated, but some deviation from this rule may be allowed in cases approved by the Faculty.

Each of the departments is presented under the headings as given in the table below, separately and completely, and in alphabetical order, and courses are described fully in the order of the letters.

FIRST YEAR WORK

Anatomy a, b, c, d.
Chemistry a, b, c, d.
Histology a, b, c.
Operative Technics c, d, e, f, g, h.
Dental Anatomy a, b.
Physiology a, b, c, d.
Prosthetic Technics a, b, c, d, e.

SECOND YEAR WORK

Anatomy e, f, g.
Chemistry e, f, g, h.
Comparative Anatomy a.*
Histology d, e, f, g.
Materia Medica and Therapeutics a, b, c.
Operative Technics i, j.
General Pathology a, b.
Physiology e, f.
Prosthetic Technics f, g, h, i.

THIRD YEAR WORK

Ethics, Jurisprudence, and Dental Economics a, b.
Operative Dentistry k, l, m, n, o, p.
Bacteriology q, r.
Oral Surgery a, b, c, d, e, f.
Anaesthesia g, h, i.
Orthodontia a, b, c.
Pathology and Therapeutics a, b, c, d, e.
Prosthetic Technics j, k, l.

*Omitted for 1909-1910 and transferred to the third year in 1910-1911.

Anatomy

PROFESSOR MIX, PROFESSOR VAN TUYL, DR. BROWN, AND ASSISTANTS

The equipment of the department of anatomy is new and complete. The large Anatomical Laboratory, on the top floor of the building, is well lighted on the east and south by numerous windows, and in the center of the room by a large skylight. The ventilation is perfect. The equipment includes thirty-six dissecting tables of the latest pattern, of metal with plate-glass tops. The floor is water-proof and has such drainage that it can be flooded with hose and kept thoroughly clean. Skeletons are provided for the use of the students. On payment of a small deposit bones may be taken for home study.

FIRST YEAR

- a. Visceral Anatomy, Introductory Course—First third of first semester. Two lectures and demonstrations a week. Professor Mix.
- b. Human Dissections—One three-hour period a week. Professor Mix, Professor Van Tuyl, Dr. Brown, Dr. Courtright, and assistants.
- c. Anatomy of the Extremities—Two lectures a week. Professor Mix.
- d. Recitations on Lectures and Dissections—Two hours a week. Professor Van Tuyl and assistants.

SECOND YEAR¹

- e. The Head and Neck—Two lectures a week. Professor Mix.
- f. Human Dissections—Two three-hour periods a week. Professor Mix, Professor Van Tuyl, Dr. Brown, Dr. Courtright and assistants.
- g. Recitations on Dissections—Two hours a week. Professor Van Tuyl.

Chemistry

PROFESSOR GORDIN, MR. HUDSON, AND ASSISTANTS

The Chemical Laboratories, exclusively for dental students, are large, well ventilated, and complete in every respect. One laboratory is devoted to General Chemistry and Qualitative Analysis, another is arranged with special reference to the experimental teaching of Metallurgy and to other practical applications of chemistry of interest to dental students. In addition to the main laboratories, there are large dispensing rooms, a balance room well equipped with balances and apparatus for testing the physical properties of metals, amalgams, etc., and a room covered with a hood for carrying off fumes, and equipped for alloying, assaying, and refining.

FIRST YEAR

- a. General and Inorganic Chemistry—Lectures and recitations. First semester. Two hours a week. Professor Gordin.

b. Chemical Laboratory—Illustrative experiments in General and Inorganic Chemistry. First semester. Six hours a week. Professor Gordin, Mr. Hudson, and assistants.

c. General and Inorganic Chemistry—Lectures and recitations. Second semester. Two hours a week. Professor Gordin.

d. Laboratory—The metals and their compounds. Qualitative chemical analysis of unknown mixtures, particularly bases and alloys. Second semester. Six hours a week. Professor Gordin, Mr. Hudson, and assistants.

SECOND YEAR

e. Organic Chemistry—Lectures and quizzes. Two hours a week. Professor Gordin.

f. Laboratory—Quantitative chemical analysis of dental alloys, etc. Refining of gold, silver, and other metals. Laboratory study of cements and other filling materials. Assay of dental alloys for gold, silver, tin, platinum. Practical problems of dental chemistry. First semester. Three hours a week. Professor Gordin, Mr. Hudson, and assistants.

g. Laboratory—Illustrative experiments in Organic Chemistry. Analysis of saliva. Urine analysis. Second semester. Three hours a week. Professor Gordin, Mr. Hudson, and assistants.

Comparative Dental Anatomy*

PROFESSOR DORSEY

It is the design of the department to give in a concise form a view of the animal kingdom and its classifications, especially of the vertebrates, the forms of teeth in relation to food habits, and as weapons of offense and defense; a study of the extinct species of animals of the several classes, variations in tooth forms, illustrating development through the geological ages; the history of the changes from the simple forms to the complex forms now existing. The Museum of the Dental School is especially rich in skulls of the several orders of the animal kingdom, and furnishes illustrations for the study of all of the known tooth forms. The great collection of the Field Columbian Museum is available for illustration and study.

SECOND YEAR

a. Evolution—The meaning of similarity of structure; natural selection; changes in organs; correlation of growth between parts; principles of heredity and of fixity of species; tooth forms; definitions and descriptions of the varieties of forms; the typical mammalian dentition; classification of the animal kingdom, with concise descriptions of the typical characteristics of each. First semester. Two lectures a week. Professor Dorsey.

*Omitted for 1909-1910 and transferred to the third year in 1910-1911

Professional Ethics, Dental Jurisprudence, and Economics

PROFESSOR EDMUND NOYES AND DR. KOCH

This work consists of a brief statement of the important principles of morals; an exposition of the special duties and moral obligations of professional men to their patients, their fellow practitioners, and the public, the more important contrasts between the proper ethical standard of the professions and those of business or manufacturing pursuits.

The lectures on Jurisprudence follow, in the main, the text-book by Dr. Reh fuss, and include qualification and duty of expert witnesses, the importance of dental records, the limitations of dental practice, the qualifications required and the liabilities incurred, the penalties that may be suffered, and the defense to be made in case of alleged malpractice; the laws respecting the practice of dentistry, the steps necessary to become legal practitioners, and the duties and liabilities of dentists with reference to the law.

Third Year

a. Ethics—Elementary principles of ethics; professional ethics; state laws relating to dentistry; Illinois dental law; dental jurisprudence; general review. First semester. One lecture a week. Professor Edmund Noyes.

b. Dental Economics—This course was established to equip the increasing number of students without previous preceptorship in a dental office with a knowledge of the business side of dental practice. The work embraces practice building, methods of obtaining and retaining patients, business relations between the dentist and his patients, fees, accounts, records of operations, presentation and collection of accounts, methods of economy in the conduct of an office. Second semester. One lecture a week. Dr. Koch.

Histology

PROFESSOR FREDERICK B. NOYES, MR. GLOMSET, AND ASSISTANTS

The department is provided with a large laboratory, fitted with seventy-one hardwood desks, each furnished with reagents, lockers, a compound microscope with lenses and condensers, electric lights, and other conveniences or preparation of specimens and microscopic study. It is provided also with a stereopticon and projecting microscope for demonstration purposes. Adjoining this large laboratory, there are a professor's study, and preparation laboratory with a photographic room fully equipped with all necessary apparatus.

The laboratory classes are usually divided into sections of not more than fifty students. This work has been greatly aided by a large collection of lantern slides from photo-micrographs and framed photographic prints; and by a large histological museum containing sets of microscopic slides sufficient in number on any given subject for a full section of the class, illustrating not only all the ordinary soft tissues, but also the peridental membranes, dental pulp, periosteum, and ground sections of the teeth. These microscopic slides and sections, together with those stained and mounted by the students, are used by the classes for purposes of study.

First Year

a. Lecture Course—The construction and the use of the microscope. A study of cell structure and functions, of the elementary tissues; histology of the organs; circulatory, lymphatic, alimentary tract, and accessory glands, respiratory system, urinary organs, and skin. One lecture a week. Professor Frederick B. Noyes.

b. Laboratory Course—A laboratory study of the subjects of the lecture course. One three-hour period a week. Professor Frederick B. Noyes, Mr. Glomset, and assistants.

c. Quizzes and Recitations—One hour a week. Mr. Glomset.

Second Year

d. The Dental Tissues—Enamel; the peridental membranes; periosteum; bone; mucous membranes and other soft tissues of the mouth. One and two-thirds semesters. One lecture a week. Professor Frederick B. Noyes.

e. Embryology—A short course. One lecture a week. One-third of a semester. Professor Frederick B. Noyes.

f. Laboratory Course—A laboratory study of the subjects of lecture courses d and e. One three-hour period a week. Professor Frederick B. Noyes, Mr. Glomset, and assistants.

g. Quizzes and Recitations—One hour a week. Mr. Glomset.

Materia Medica and Therapeutics

PROFESSOR MAWHINNEY, DR. POUNDSTONE, AND ASSISTANTS

Materia Medica is taught in a series of lectures, quizzes, and recitations, with demonstrations and experimental studies. There is also a laboratory study of the most useful methods of preparing drugs for medicinal purposes, with experimental studies of their therapeutic or toxic action. The course is richly illustrated throughout. Abundant practice is given in prescription writing. The great clinic, to which students have access throughout the year, gives large opportunity to witness the application and therapeutic effects of drugs, and to obtain clinical practice. The instructor is in the clinic one afternoon each week to assist and direct the demonstrating force.

Second Year

a. The Sources and Various Forms of Drugs—General and local action of drugs; agencies that modify the action of drugs; the art of prescribing medicines; a critical study of about one hundred drugs, classified according to their therapeutic and toxic action; a special laboratory study of escharotics, germicides, antiseptics, deodorizers. Systematic medication for dental purposes; dental prophylaxis; the use of germicides, antiseptics, escharotics, and astringents in dentistry. First semester. One lecture a week. Second semester. Two lectures a week. Professor MaWhinney and Dr. Poundstone.

Lectures and Recitations—Dr. Poundstone.

b. Theses—Each student is required to write ten theses, of not less than three hundred words each, on subjects assigned.

c. Clinical Practice—The Infirmary is open to second year students four hours a day for the observation of conditions requiring the use of drugs and for clinical practice in their treatment. Each student is required to make one hundred points in clinical experience. See also Department of special Pathology and Therapeutics. Professor MaWhinney and assistants.

Operative Dentistry and Bacteriology

PROFESSOR GREENE V. BLACK, PROFESSOR ARTHUR D. BLACK, PROFESSOR WILLARD, PROFESSOR GETHRO, DR. BIRKLAND, DR. MACFARLANE, AND ASSISTANTS

Operative Dentistry in some of its forms is presented to the student from the time he enters the school to his graduation. In the first year he makes a study of the human teeth, or dental anatomy, of the forms and nomenclature of the instruments used in operations on the teeth, of the preparation of cavities for filling, of filling materials and their manipulation.

The second year includes a lecture course with demonstrations on the technical procedures in filling teeth, and the student begins practical operations in the clinic room.

The third year includes a review of the technical procedures in filling operations, followed by a careful study of the pathology of dental caries, and the adaptation of means to its amelioration and cure.

The Clinic Rooms, built especially for the purpose, have abundant room with the best of light. They are well equipped with Columbia operating chairs in ample number for the classes.

The Operative Infirmary Clinic is under the direct supervision of the Professor of Operative Dentistry. The student begins this work with the opening of his second year and continues it to the end of the third year; the time given to it is much greater in the third year than in the second. It is the intention that this infirmary practice shall be as much like an actual dental practice as possible. The development of the ability to obtain and hold a practice, or the professional courtesy of an operator toward his patient essential to personal success, is regarded equal in importance to the development of manipulative ability.

The clinic rooms will be open through the whole year for the benefit of students who may wish to have greater experience in clinical practice under competent supervision. The number of demonstrators during the summer is sufficient for the class that chooses to remain with the school. The clinical material is ample and excellent opportunity is offered for clinical practice.

DENTAL ANATOMY

First Year

a. Descriptive Anatomy of the Human Teeth—Nomenclature. First semester. One lecture or recitation a week. Professor Gethro.

b. Laboratory Course—Studies of the forms of individual teeth; carving the tooth forms in bone or ivory; dissections and studies of the internal parts—pulp chambers and root canals. First semester. Nine hours a week. Professor Gethro and Dr. Grossman.

OPERATIVE TECHNICS

First Year

c. Instruments and Instrumentation—A study of instrument forms, instrument construction, and the adaptation of instruments to the excavation of cavities. First third of second semester. One lecture a week. Professor Gethro.

d. Laboratory Course—First third of second semester. Nine hours a week. Professor Gethro and Dr. Grossman.

e. Cavity Nomenclature—A study of the location of cavities in extracted teeth, of the forms of prepared cavities, of the naming of internal parts of cavities, and of the use of instruments in their preparation. Second third of second semester. One lecture a week. Professor Gethro.

f. Laboratory Course—Second third of second semester. Nine hours a week. Professor Gethro and Dr. Grossman.

g. Filling Materials and Filling Teeth—Third third of second semester. One lecture a week.

h. Laboratory Practice—Filling materials and filling prepared cavities; extracted teeth, ivory, or bone. Third third of second semester. Nine hours a week. Professor Gethro and Dr. Grossman.

Second Year

i. Technical Procedures in Filling Teeth—Cavity nomenclature; cavity preparation; principles, instruments and appliances, and instrumentation; cavity preparation, by classes of cavities; filling materials; instruments and instrumentation, physics of filling operations, and of finishing fillings. Porcelain inlays; preparation of cavities; formation of matrix; making and inserting inlays; gold inlays. Filling with amalgam, cements, gutta-percha.

Exposure and removal of dental pulp. Preparation and filling of root canals. Two lectures and recitations a week. Professor A. D. Black.

j. Operative Clinic—Open to second year students four hours a day during the entire season. Operations amounting to one hundred points required in gold, and one hundred points in amalgam. Professor A. D. Black and assistants.

Third Year

k. Review of Technical Procedures in Filling Teeth—First half of first semester. Two lectures a week. Professor G. V. Black.

l. Pathology and Dental Caries—Bacteriology of human mouth; causative relation of bacteria to dental caries. Caries of enamel; caries of dentin; inception and progress of dental caries; conditions of the beginning of caries; systematic causes of caries; susceptibility and immunity to caries; vital phenomena in caries; hyperaesthesia of dentin; treatment of dental caries. curative effects of fillings, selection of filling materials. Second half of first semester. Two lectures a week. Professor G. V. Black.

m. Management of Patients—Cleanliness; evil habits in chewing food, and their correction; management of special conditions. Caries of children's teeth and its treatment; shedding of the deciduous teeth. Management of children. Erosion; management of cases of erosion; management of cavities by classes; extension for prevention and its limitations. Management in special conditions. Aesthetic considerations. Second semester. Two lectures a week. Professor G. V. Black.

n. Quizzes and Recitations—One hour a week. Professor Willard.

o. Operative Clinic—Open to third year students from 10:30 to 5:30 daily during term time. Operations amounting to two hundred points are required in gold, and two hundred points in amalgam. Professor G. V. Black and assistants.

p. Special Fillings—Fillings are made under the instruction and immediate supervision of the special clinical instructors, and later full written descriptions of the conditions indicating the operation, the instrumentation and choice of instruments used, are submitted for grading as to excellence. Dr. Macfarlane and Dr. Birkland.

BACTERIOLOGY

A combined lecture, recitation, and laboratory course. The equipment includes culture ovens, sterilizers, conveniences for handling test tubes and for making culture media.

Third Year

q. Principles of Bacteriology—The preparation of culture media; management of laboratory cultures; distinguishing varieties of micro-organisms in laboratory cultures; physiology of micro-organisms; poisons produced by micro-organisms; diseases caused by micro-organisms, particularly those of the teeth and mouth; susceptibility and immunity to diseases. One lecture a week. Professor Willard.

r. Laboratory Work—Preparation of culture media; planting and management of cultures; separation of species in mixed cultures; deriving pure cultures from infected animals; cultures from saliva, from mucous membranes and from carious teeth; staining, mounting, and microscopic studies; diagnosis of unknowns. Three hours a week. Professor Willard.

Oral Surgery

PROFESSOR GILMER, PROFESSOR ARTHUR D. BLACK, DR. POTTS, AND ASSISTANTS

The Course embraces instruction in the general principles of surgery and in the practical application of surgery to pathological conditions occurring in or about the mouth and face, giving special attention to diagnosis and recognition of conditions.

The subject of Anaesthetics and Anaesthesia is presented in detail in lectures, in experiments on animals, in the clinic, in the oral surgery and daily in the extracting clinic. Nitrous oxide is used generally in the extracting clinic, and ether and chloroform in the oral surgery clinic. Local anaesthesia is exhibited frequently in the clinic in cases to which it is adapted.

Third Year

a. Surgical Bacteriology—Inflammation; suppuration; wounds; hemorrhage; necrosis; caries of bones; diseases of the maxillary sinus; resection of roots; tetanus; ankylosis; arthritis; facial neuralgia; fractures; dislocations; extraction of teeth; malposition of third molars; impacted teeth; replantation, transplantation, and implantation of teeth; cleft palate and harelip; affections of the lips, tongue, and mouth; tumors; odontomes; ranula; cysts; aneurisms. One lecture a week. Professor Gilmer.

b. Recitations and Quizzes—One and one-half hours a week. Professor Arthur D. Black.

c. Surgical Clinic—Two hours a week throughout the year. Professor Gilmer, nurses from St. Luke's Hospital, and Dr. Potts.

d. Special Clinical Instruction—Diagnosis and case histories. One hour a week. Professor Arthur D. Black.

e. After Treatment of Surgical Cases—By students, under direction of Professor Gilmer.

f. Clinic in the Extraction of Teeth, Daily—Open to second and third year students. Dr. Stowell.

g. The Evolution of General Surgical Anaesthesia—State of the patient; nature of operation; choice of anaesthetic; prolonged dental operations; circumstances of administration; inspection and examination of patients; general anaesthetic agents; local and regional anaesthetics, dangers of anaesthesia. Second semester. One hour a week. Dr. Potts.

h. Clinical Administration of Anaesthetics—Oral surgery clinic. Two hours a week. Dr. Potts.

i. Clinical Exhibition of Nitrous Oxid Anaesthesia—Daily in extracting clinic. Dr. Stowell.

Orthodontia

PROFESSOR SELLERY, DR. BUCKLEY, AND ASSISTANTS

Orthodontia is taught both didactically and clinically. Proceeding from the normal occlusion, derangements of the alignment of the teeth and malformations of the dental arch are systematically classified, and mechanical arrangements of fixtures for bringing the several classes of irregularities into normal form are carefully studied. Text-books: Angle, Guilford, Knapp. Lantern slides from photographs, X-ray pictures, and models of cases are used.

Third Year

a. Occlusion and Facial Art—Etiology, classification, diagnosis of malocclusion. The alveolus and alveolar processes, the periodontal membranes, and use of models. First semester. One lecture a week. Professor Sellery.

b. Regulating Appliances, Angle, Guilford, Knapp—Anchorage, jack screws, levers, traction screws, extension arch and combinations, split plates, reciprocal anchorages, retention. Illustrated with models, with movable teeth and enlarged appliances. Stereopticon views illustrating progressive regulation and final fixation. Second semester. One lecture a week. Professor Sellery.

c. Clinic or Infirmary Course—Open to students during first and second semesters for practical work in the correction of practical cases. Professor Sellery, Dr. Buckley, and assistants.

General Pathology

PROFESSOR WIGGIN

This course is essential to the student's understanding of general pathological conditions, and forms the basis of his studies of the special pathology of the tissues of the teeth, the membranes of the teeth; the correlated tissues, and the organs of the mouth.

Second Year

a. Etiology of Disease—Disorders of nutrition and metabolism; diabetes; fever; general circulatory disturbances; local hyperemia; local anemia; hemorrhage; embolism; infarction; thrombosis; retrogressive processes; atrophy; infiltrations and degenerations; necrosis; inflammation; progressive tissue changes; neoplasms; infections; granulomata; bacteria, and diseases caused by them. Lectures and recitations. One hour a week. Professor Wiggin.

b. Quiz Class in Sections—Second semester. Two hours a week.

Special Pathology and Therapeutics

PROFESSOR MAWHINNEY

In dental practice this is a department of operative dentistry. It includes a study of the diseases and the abnormal conditions of the pulps of the teeth, of the membranes of the teeth, of the immediate surrounding soft tissues and bones, and the mucous membranes of the mouth.

Third Year

a. A Review of the Structure and Functions of the Dental Pulp—Hyperemia and inflammation of the pulp; capping exposed pulps; obtunding sensitive dentin. Pulp devitalization; pulp removal; treatment of canals; root filling; suppuration; the healing process; immunity and susceptibility; suppuration of the dental pulp; alveolar abscess; absorption of roots of teeth and of bone; caries of bone; necrosis. A study of germicides and antiseptics with laboratory tests. Bleaching teeth. First semester. One lecture a week. Professor MaWhinney.

b. Quizzes and Recitations—First Semester. One hour a week.

c. Periodontal Membranes—Review of histological structures; simple gingivitis; calcic inflammation; phagadenic pericementitis; replantation and transplantation of teeth; functions of the mucous membranes of the mouth; stomatitis; prophylaxis; mouth hygiene. Second semester. Two lectures a week. Professor MaWhinney.

d. Quizzes and Recitations—Second semester. One hour a week.

e. Clinical Practice—In addition to the above courses, third year students are required to make two hundred points in practical treatments in the Infirmary clinic, and to send in for examination and criticism a complete history of the conditions found and the treatment record of each of ten cases. Professor MaWhinney is in the Infirmary one-half day each week to superintend this work.

Physiology

PROFESSOR WIGGIN

The work in Physiology includes a course of two lectures a week and text-book study with quizzes, in the first year; in the second year the subject is continued, one lecture a week, devoted mainly to the brain, nervous system, and the functions of reproduction.

First Year

a. General Physiology—The structure of the elementary tissue; the chemical composition of the body; the blood; the circulation of the blood. First semester. Two lectures a week. Professor Wiggin.

b. Quiz Class Work—In sections. First semester. Two hours a week.

c. Respiration—Secretion; food digestion; metabolism; nutrition and diet; animal heat; excretion; muscle; nerve physiology; production of voice. Second semester. Two lectures a week. Professor Wiggin.

d. Quiz Class Work—In two sections. Second semester. Two hours a week.

Second Year

e. The Central Nervous System—Brain; spinal cord; reproductive organs; development. Lectures and recitations. One hour a week. Professor Wiggin.

f. Quiz Class Work—In sections. Two hours a week.

Prosthetic Dentistry

PROFESSOR PROTHERO, DR. METHVEN, DR. WALDBERG, AND ASSISTANTS

The Prosthetic Technic Laboratory and the Junior Prosthetic Laboratory are situated on the fifth floor, and the Senior Prosthetic Laboratory and the porcelain and inlay laboratory are situated on the sixth floor, adjacent to the Crown and Bridge Room. All are well supplied with outside light, and also completely equipped with electric lights.

Each laboratory is furnished with electric lathes for grinding and polishing. The Junior Laboratory is completely equipped with the heavier laboratory appliances, such as vulcanizers, celluloid presses, and apparatus for casting aluminum plates. The Prosthetic Laboratory, for the use of second and third year students, and devoted to practical operations for patients, is equipped with the appliances necessary for modern prosthetic dentistry, including compressed air for blow pipe work. The adjacent porcelain and gold inlay laboratory is fitted with electric furnaces and with gasoline furnaces and various kinds of swaging devices and casting apparatus for gold-inlay work. The crown and bridge room, for practical prosthetic operations, is equipped with thirty modern operating chairs and a sufficient number of electric connections.

First Year

a. Prosthetic Technics—This course covers the fundamental principles of denture construction and crown and bridge work, and accompanies the laboratory course. First semester. One lecture a week. Professor Prothero.

Quiz and Recitation Work—First Semester. One hour a week. Dr. Methven.

b. Laboratory Course—Impression taking, model constructing, occluding, waxing, flasking; packing, vulcanizing, and finishing partial and full artificial dentures. First semester. Nine hours a week. Professor Prothero, Dr. Methven, and assistants.

c. Metallography—A descriptive course on the nature and physical properties of metals, especially those used in dentistry, with fundamental principles of their uses; the manipulation of metals, swaging, annealing, solders, and soldering, welding, tempering. Second semester. One lecture a week. Professor Prothero.

d. Quiz or Recitation—On the work of Courses a, b and c. Second semester. One hour a week. Dr. Methven.

e. Laboratory Course—Construction of dies and counter dies; swaging metal basis of German silver; attaching teeth by soldering and by vulcanite; constructions of crowns and dummies, all metal, and metal and porcelain; assembling individual crowns and dummies to form bridges; constructing and tempering taps and dies of steel; drawing wire and tubing suitable for the construction of orthodontia appliances. Second semester. Nine hours a week. Professor Prothero, Dr. Methven, and assistants.

Second Year

f. Lecture Course—Review of technic principles outlined in first year; their application to practical operations in the Infirmary. The physical properties of plaster of Paris and other materials employed in prosthesis. Muscles of mastication; force of the bite; movements of the lower jaw; natural arrangement and occlusion of artificial teeth. One lecture a week. Professor Prothero.

g. Quiz or Recitation—One hour a week. Dr. Methven.

h. Laboratory Course—Construction of full metal and partial metal base dentures, with teeth attached by soldering and by vulcanite; construction and application of clasps to partial dentures; advanced work in crowns and bridges. Nine hours a week. Professor Prothero, Dr. Waldberg, and Dr. Methven.

i. Prosthetic Clinic—Each student is required to carry to completion for patients a number of practical cases, representing each of the various classes of prosthesis, amounting to at least one hundred points in crowns and bridges and one hundred points in plate work. Professor Prothero, Dr. Methven, and assistants.

Third Year

j. A Critical Review—Summary of recent methods and appliances; application of porcelain in prosthesis; baked porcelain crowns; porcelain bridges, full porcelain dentures; methods of cavity preparation for porcelain inlays; forming, baking, and setting porcelain inlays. Methods of obtaining wax models of cavities, forming investments, and casting, and setting gold inlays. The student is assigned a series of articles for reading, and is required to present a thesis covering the subject named. One lecture a week. Professor Prothero.

k. Laboratory Course—Cast aluminum base dentures; celluloid dentures; banded Logan crowns; baked porcelain crowns; porcelain bridges; continuous gum dentures. First semester. Six hours a week. Professor Prothero, Dr. Waldberg, Dr. Methven, and assistants.

l. Prosthetic Clinic—Practical pieces of prosthetic work of all varieties made and fitted for patients in the Infirmary. Studies of the conditions of the mucous membranes; the preparation of roots for crowns and the abutments of bridges; making and setting crowns and bridges, and preparation of cavities and setting porcelain or gold inlays. The minimum requirement is two hundred points in crowns and bridges and two hundred points in plate work.

The Infirmary is open to students from 10:30 to 5:30 o'clock each day during term time. This period is divided between the Prosthetic and the Operative Departments, and text-book work and general reading. Professor Prothero, Dr. Methven, and assistants.

Course for Graduates and Practitioners

The course opens on June 9, 1910, and continues four weeks, with six days of teaching each week. It includes two hours of lectures and six hours of practical teaching each day, by members of the regular staff of the School. Especial attention is given to porcelain and gold inlays, crowns, bridge work of all kinds, the treatment of pyorrhœa, and the most recent methods in Operative Dentistry, Oral Surgery, and Orthodontia. The studies for 1910 are:

Operative Dentistry—Professor G. V. Black, assisted by Professor A. D. Black, and others.

Histology, as Applied to Operative Dentistry—Professor Frederick B. Noyes.

Oral Surgery—Professor Gilmer and assistants.

Materia Medica—Professor MaWhinney.

Prosthetic Dentistry—Professor Prothero and assistants.

Orthodontia—Professor Sellery.

Certificates are given to those who complete the course.

For the fees payable for this course see "Fees and Expenses," page 252.

General Statements

REQUIREMENTS FOR DEGREE

The degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery is conferred upon students recommended therefor by the Faculty of the School. Candidates are recommended who have attended the required courses of lectures, who have passed satisfactorily all required examinations in the subjects of study, the entire last year having been completed in this School; who have completed the required clinical and laboratory work; who, in the judgment of the Faculty are of fit moral character and are 21 years of age; and who have discharged in full all financial obligations to the University.

THE LIBRARY AND READING ROOM

The Menges Library and Reading Room, named in honor of the late Dr. Theodore Menges, occupies, together with the attached Journal Reading Room, three thousand feet of floor space. It is furnished with reading tables and chairs for about one hundred students. The Library contain 2904 volumes of books on dental and collateral subjects; a rich supply of dictionaries and encyclopedias conveniently placed in the Reading Room for easy consultation; and a nearly complete list of the dental journals that have been published in the English language, with about 16,000 duplicate numbers. The books most used by the students are duplicated, up to six or twelve, and a few to fifteen copies. The books and journals may be used in the Reading Room without restriction, and when the duplication of volumes will allow, they may be drawn out as a circulating library.

THE MUSEUM

The Museum is in the Reading Room and is open to inspection and study. The cases are arranged to show the specimens to the best advantage.

The comparative anatomy specimens are, with the exception of the gorilla and chimpanzee, of which there are full skeletons, heads with the teeth. There is a sufficient number of varieties of each of the several orders to afford specimens of every kind of tooth form and of every variety of placement in mammals, saurians, and snakes, with a rich variety of fishes.

The principal specimens of human skull are first, an excellent mounting of the separated bones of the adult; second, a fine set of dissections in a series showing the development of the teeth and the roots from the first appearance in the fetus to the full adult development, and illustrating the absorption of the roots of the deciduous teeth, the shedding process, and the replacement by permanent teeth; also the absorption of the alveolar processes after the loss of teeth, with the changes that occur in the form of the bones of the jaws from childhood to old age. This is an exceptionally complete, attractive, and valuable set of specimens. There is also a variety of ordinary human skulls.

The Museum contains also a valuable collection of human teeth of abnormal forms; a very full and complete set of specimens illustrating interproximal wear and the flattening of the points of interproximal contact. It is especially rich in casts of cases of supernumerary teeth; some illustrations of the very early forms of artificial teeth, of manufactured porcelain teeth, and of dental instruments, illustrating the development in these lines. This collection has been made in the School largely by students and by alumni, and is being continually increased by donations from those who have met with specimens unusual or rare in practice. Such donations are requested from all practitioners to assist in building up this great museum of abnormal conditions of teeth and of associated parts for the benefit of dental education.

FEEES AND EXPENSES

Tuition Fee—A year$150.00

This fee may be paid in two or three installments. If paid in two installments, $78.00 must be paid not later than October 20, and $75.00 on February 20. If paid in three installments, $55.00 must be paid not later than October 20, $50.00 on January 20, and $50.00 on April 20.

Registration Fee—A year$ 5.00

Breakage Fee—A year 1.00

Anatomical Fee—For first and second year students 5.00

Final Examination Fee—For Seniors 15.00

Laboratory Deposit—For chemistry and histology, each, a year 5.00

Deductions are made for damage and loss of apparatus, the balance being refunded to the student. The deposit must be made before the student is admitted to the laboratory.

Locker Fee—For use of a locker for the protection of a student's private property, the student furnishing his own lock, a year50

Time of Payment of Fees—All fees are payable at the beginning of the school year.

Refund of Fees—Fees are returned only in the case of serious illness.

Payments should be made in currency or in Chicago exchange drawn to the order of the Secretary of Northwestern University Dental School.

BOARD AND LODGING

Rooms and board may be obtained in convenient neighborhoods at $4.00 to $6.00 a week. Rooms without board, furnished or unfurnished, may be had at $6.00 to $10.00 a month.

PRACTITIONERS' COURSE²FEES

Registration$ 5.00

Tuition for one subject 45.00

Tuition for two or three subjects 60.00

Tuition for the entire course 70.00

Graduates of the School are allowed a reduction of 20 per cent from these fees.

For further information relating to the Dental School, address The Secretary, Northwestern University Dental School, Chicago, Illinois.

The School of Music

THE SCHOOL OF MUSIC was established in 1895. It offers extensive practical and theoretical courses in music, and is designed to fit students for the profession as composers, theorists, artists, teachers, or critics. It also makes provision for the study of music as a part of general culture or as an accomplishment.

This School occupies Music Hall on Willard Hall Campus. This building was erected during the year 1897 for the special needs of the School of Music. It is situated on University Place, between Sherman and Orrington Avenues, immediately to the north of Willard Hall and one block west of the University Campus. It is within easy access of all electric railways, and is two blocks east and two blocks north of the Evanston railway station. It is substantially built of stone and brick, with a tile roof, and is finished in Georgia pine. The main floor contains the Office of the Dean, the Business Office, Reception Room, teaching and practice rooms. On the second floor are additional class-rooms, and a well-arranged concert hall seating three hundred fifty persons. The hall is provided with a large stage, with dressing rooms, a grand piano, a two-manual pipe organ with pedals, and is seated with opera chairs. The basement floor is divided into fourteen rooms, giving a large class-room for recitations in theory and musical history, and thirteen practice rooms.

With its Preparatory Department, and its Certificate and Diploma Courses, the School of Music supplies facilities for the study of music from the very beginning to an advanced stage of artistic proficiency. The student desiring to fit himself for professional performance will find well ordered courses in the study of piano, organ, violin, violoncello, or singing, together with auxiliary studies in the theory and history of music. The student seeking to specialize in theory, composition, or the history of music will find opportunities for development in these departments of work.

The courses of instruction are under the guidance of experienced specialists who have enjoyed the best advantages afforded by this country and Europe. The scholarly side of musical attainment represented in the theoretical courses is unusually complete and exhaustive. While open to all seeking musical instruction, the School particularly welcomes earnest, capable, and diligent students who desire adequately to comprehend and worthily interpret a noble art.

Admission and Instruction

Students enter the School of Music either as regular or as special students. Regular students pursue prescribed courses of study as candidates for a certificate or diploma. Special students pursue such work as they may elect; but, if they are not residents of Evanston, they are required to take sufficient work to keep their time reasonably occupied. They have the privilege of appearing at the regular solo classes and students' recitals, and thus receive the benefit of frequent public performance. All students come under the discipline and general social regulations of the University.

For the course in Applied Music moderate attainments representing on an average one year of systematic training in singing or two or three years in instrumental music are necessary.

METHODS OF INSTRUCTION

Attention is called to the fact that instruction in instrumental and vocal music is based upon private lessons, and not upon the so-called conservatory or class system. Artistic results are entirely dependent upon a close adaptation of instruction to the individual needs of the pupil, and cannot be accomplished satisfactorily in classes. Advantages of the class system—those of emulation and observation—are fully provided for by weekly solo classes.

OUTLINE OF COURSES

The Course in Applied Music leads to the Degree of Graduate in Music.

The Course in Theory and History of Music leads to the Degree of Bachelor of Music.

The Post-Graduate Course.

The Literary Musical Course.

The Course in Methods in Public School Music.

The Course in Applied Music

The course is designed as a preparation for professional work. Students of decided ability can complete the course in four years.

The course includes the practical study of piano, organ, violin or voice, in private individual lessons, twice a week, for which four hours a day are spent in preparation. It includes also certain theoretical subjects scheduled below, which are given in classes. Voice students may substitute piano playing of medium grade, choir practice and choral practice in the Evanston Musical Club for instrumental sight-reading, ensemble playing, and reading from score. The amount of vocal practice is fixed by the instructor. Organ students divide their time between the organ and the piano; but if sufficiently advanced in technique and in sight reading, they may be relieved from the piano requirements and may substitute one lesson a week upon the organ, with a special tuition rate. See page 262. For students of stringed instruments, orchestra practice is considered an equivalent for ensemble playing.

STUDIES IN COLLEGE

Students pursuing the Course in Applied Music who meet the entrance requirements of the College of Liberal Arts will receive, upon the satisfactory completion of this course, the degree of Graduate in Music. Opportunity is given in the Evanston Academy of the University to make up any reasonable deficiency in College entrance requirements without additional expense. Matriculation once effected permits the candidate to pursue each year one College study without additional fee. Candidates registered for such subjects are not permitted to discontinue them except at the end of a semester. The courses of instruction in the College of Liberal Arts are described in detail on pages 81 to 117. The subjects open to election in the Academy are not given in this catalogue, but are listed in the Bulletin of the Evanston Academy, to be had upon application.

Candidates who confine their work to the musical studies scheduled below are granted a diploma of musical proficiency upon satisfactory completion of the course. Such students may carry one literary study in the Academy during the course without additional fee.

A student completing the second or third year work may obtain a School of Music certificate stating his grades in the various theoretical studies, and if desired, it will include a statement as to the character and degree of attainment in applied music.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

In addition to the following schedule candidates for diplomas must satisfactorily perform programs conforming to the following requirements:

Piano Students—A concerto or chamber-music of advanced difficulty; one of the later Beethoven sonatas; one of the more important works of Bach; two Chopin études; selections from the more important works of Schumann and Brahms.

Organ Students—One of the great preludes and fugues of Bach; a sonata of Guilmant or Rheinberger; selections from the works of Thiele, Widor, Merkel, or Franck.

Violin Students—A Bach sonata; a concerto of advanced difficulty; a modern sonata for piano and violin; selections from the more important works of Vieuxtemps and Wieniawski.

Vocal Students—An operatic aria; an aria from Handel's Messiah or Haydn's Creation; an aria from a modern oratorio; group of songs from Brahms, Jensen, Schumann, Schubert, or Franz.

The letters given after the subjects in the table below refer to the courses as listed in the College of Liberal Arts section of this catalogue, pages 81 to 117.

Course in Theory and History of Music

This course is intended for composers and theorists. It requires four years and leads to the degree of Bachelor of Music. The candidate for admission to the course should be fairly experienced at the piano, and able to play all exercises and compositions taken up in class, including score reading.

The candidate must complete satisfactorily the studies of the schedule below, and obtain in the College of Liberal Arts one-fourth of the number of credits required for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. His list of studies must include General Physics.

He is required to score for full orchestra a composition assigned to him by the faculty such as a movement from a piano sonata by Beethoven, or to compose and score an original work of considerable length. This work must be satisfactory to the faculty in technical and artistic aspects, and must demonstrate a decided command of orchestral resources and effects.

This course necessitates constant attendance upon choral and orchestral concerts, and the diligent study of the full scores of standard works.

Upon the completion of three years of this course a certificate is issued by the University.

The Post-Graduate Course

This course offers to performers opportunity to pursue further their preparation for artistic concert performance or to extend their knowledge of the classical literature of applied music. To composers it offers valuable experience in the larger forms, such as cantatas, oratorios, chamber music, and symphonies.

The Literary Musical Course

This course, intended for students of high school grade, includes the more essential subjects of general culture, together with the study of music for two hours daily. It is the four-year course of the Evanston Academy, with the substitution of Music for one-fourth of the required work. The choice of studies includes Latin, physiography, algebra, English, Grecian and Roman history, Greek, biology, plane geometry, physics, German and French. Music is pursued continuously during the entire course, two lessons a week to be taken, requiring at least two hours a day in practice and preparation. Students who wish to pursue the study of Music as a part of their school work come under the jurisdiction of the Academy, and receive its diploma upon passing the necessary examinations. For particulars, other than musical, see the circulars of the Evanston Academy of Northwestern University.

The Course in Methods of Public School Music

The course is intended to fit the candidate for the position of Supervisor of Music in the public schools. The course requires one year, but students who enter it without previous experience in singing and without knowledge of the rudiments of music can hardly complete it in that time. The study of music is taken up from the rudiments, but first principles are not dwelt upon extensively.

The course includes observation of class work in the public schools, under the direction of the Supervisor of Music for the City Schools of Evanston, who has charge of this department.

A study of music is assuming more and more importance in public schools throughout the country, and well-equipped supervisors are in demand. The ability to teach one or two branches of study besides music frequently helps a candidate in obtaining an appointment, and secures him higher remuneration.

Students in this course may substitute more advanced work in any of the above subjects, provided they can prove their ability to carry it. For hours of recitation and details of studies in Courses A to T, see pages 104 to 106.

Music Pedagogy

During the last term of each year is provided a series of lectures, primarily intended for the graduating class, and designed to give an orderly survey of the materials of music education with special reference to piano playing from the beginning to an advanced stage of attainment.

Preparatory Department

A Preparatory Department is maintained by the School of Music in which excellent instruction may be obtained in piano, organ, voice, or theory. Instruction is given for the most part by graduates and under-graduates of the school, classified as Assistant Instructors. The quarters coincide with those of the regular school and are nine weeks in length. Tuition rates are from fifteen dollars to eighteen dollars a quarter of eighteen half-hour lessons.

General Statements

GRADUATION

Upon the recommendation of the Faculty, diplomas are given to students who complete the course in Applied Music, or the course in Theory and History of Music; certificates are given to those who complete the course in Methods of Public School Music or the second or third years of the course in Applied Music or the course in Theory and History of Music.

Certificate of Performance

Certificates of performance are given to students who have studied two years in the school and can perform creditably a program in their specialty. The minimum requirements are as follows:

Piano Students—Beethoven, a complete sonata; Bach, a fugue or three-voiced invention; Mendelssohn, Schumann, Chopin, characteristic pieces of average difficulty; two selections from modern composers.

Organ Students—Bach prelude and fugue; Mendelssohn, sonata complete; two groups of pieces drawn from the modern English and French schools.

Violin Students—A sonata for piano and violin from Haydn, Mozart, or Beethoven; one of the easier Viotti concertos; two groups of solo pieces of average difficulty.

Vocal Students—An oratorio aria; a group of songs from the classic composers; a group of songs from modern composers.

FEES AND EXPENSES

All fees are for the year 1909-1910 and are subject to change in subsequent years. Revised rates are given each year in advance in the July catalogue of the School of Music, to be had upon request.

The school year is divided into four quarters of nine weeks each, and the indicated fees, unless otherwise stated are payable each quarter strictly in advance at the University office, 518 Davis Street. Checks may be drawn payable to Northwestern University.

Matriculation Fee—A matriculation fee of five dollars is charged upon entering the regular courses of theoretical classes. It is paid but once.

Incidental Fee—A fee of fifty cents a quarter is charged each student. This fee covers admission to the Artists' Series of Concerts.

Musical Club Fees—Active membership in the Evanston Musical Club, see Course G, page 105, is three dollars a year. Students in regular courses are required to attend the concerts of the Club and are charged fifty cents in the first, second and third quarters for admission to these concerts, with reserved seat. Students who are active members of the Club are exempt from this charge.

Diploma and Certificate Fees—The diploma fee is ten dollars. The certificate fee is five dollars.

Locker Fee—A fee of twenty-five cents a quarter is charged those desiring the use of a locker.

Free Courses—The classes in Sight-Reading, the Chamber Music and Faculty Concerts, except the Artists' Series, numerous recitals and lectures in the School of Music and others in departments of the University, are open to students of the School of Music, free of charge.

COURSE FEES

Course in Applied Music—A Theory fee of twenty dollars is charged in addition to the fee for one major study as given in the table below.

Course in Theory and History of Music—The fee is twenty dollars.

Post-Graduate Course—Same as Special Student fees.

Literary Musical Course—The fee is the Academy tuition fee of seventy-two dollars a year, in addition to fees for Special Students of the School of Music, less five dollars a quarter.

Course in Methods of Public School Music—The regular fee is thirty dollars. Students registered in the Course in Applied Music or the Course in Theory and History of Music pay ten dollars. Students desiring applied music may take one study under the fees of the table of Major Study Fees; if more than one be desired, the additional study is taken in the table of Special Students Fees.

Additional Fees—Students desiring to take more than one College study are referred to the statements of fees on page 138.

Major Study Fees

The fees for Major studies are given in the following table. They are applicable to one study of students paying the full Theory Fee of twenty dollars or the full Public School Methods Fee of thirty dollars. Additional studies are taken from the table of Special Student Fees. The rates apply for a quarter of nine weeks; the lessons are a half-hour in length.

REFUNDS

Private lessons falling upon legal holidays are made up at the convenience of the teacher. Deductions are not made for occasional absences due to illness or other causes. In cases of protracted illness, when due notice is given, private lessons missed are transferred to a later quarter, or the loss is divided with the student.

A discount of twenty-five per cent on private lessons is allowed to the immediate members of the family of a clergyman who is actively engaged in the work of the ministry. It is not allowed on class instruction or practice. One-half the fee for class lessons or practice is refunded to a student who withdraws before the middle of a quarter, provided he secures from the Dean a statement of honorable standing, and from a physician a certificate that his health does not permit him to remain in attendance.

For further information and for special circulars relating to the School of Music, address Northwestern University School of Music, Evanston, Illinois.

The School of Commerce

THE SCHOOL OF COMMERCE was organized in June, 1908. The foundation of the School was in response to the view of both the University and many of the merchants of Chicago that the time was ripe for the organization of higher commercial education on a broad and scientific basis.

The material offered by the business activities of the city and the nation constitutes the laboratory of this education; the work of systematizing the material and reducing it to teachable form is the especial task of the University. The location of the School in the Northwestern University Building in the heart of the city provides an excellent opportunity for young men employed in business houses to acquire a thorough training in the science of commerce.

At the start the University received the active co-operation and financial assistance of the business men of Chicago. Sixty merchants guaranteed the financial success of the school for the first three years of its work. These men were members of the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Illinois Society of Certified Accountants, and the Industrial Club of Chicago. While the School is an integral part of the University, the immediate financial supervision is in an executive committee composed of the President of the University, a second representative of the University, three members of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and three members of the Illinois Society of Public Accountants. The co-operation of the University and active business men insures the maintenance of University standards of work and close touch with actual business life and modern commercial methods.

It is anticipated that as the School matures in years and experience it will offer a wider curriculum and will invite to its service men eminent in the art as well as in the science of commerce; that it will find ever readier access to commercial data; that the School will become a clearing-house for interesting and important business information, the dissemination of which by scientific methods will be a valuable asset to the commercial life of the country.

Admission and Instruction

Applicants for admission to the School must be at least eighteen years of age. A candidate for a diploma is expected to have had the advantage of a complete high school training or its equivalent. Persons of suitable age and business experience, who are not in a position to register for the complete diploma course, may register for any subject for which they are prepared. The criterion for admission to the several courses will be the ability to pursue the work with profit. Plans are under consideration for the establishment of a degree course for admission to which two years of college credit will probably be required.

Courses of Instruction

A candidate for a diploma or a degree in the School of Commerce is required to complete the following work: one year in Accounting, one year in Commercial Law, one year in Finance and one year in Economics. The required subjects are designed to equip the student with the fundamental principles applicable to business in general, after which he will adapt his course to the nature of the business he is preparing to pursue. The subjects outlined below indicate the range of work from which electives may be chosen. Additions and alterations will be made as experience may suggest.

Accounting

PROFESSOR WALTON, MR. ANDERSON, MR. LANGER

Accounting, First Principles—Introduction to the study of Accounting, Analysis of accounts and business properties, involving a study of earnings, debits, credits, assets and liabilities. Sufficient attention will be devoted to the main types of bookkeeping to give the student without previous experience an intelligent understanding of the fundamental principles of accounting. Monday evenings, 7-9. Mr. Langer.

Accounting, Intermediate—Principles and procedure of modern accounting methods; partnership accounts; corporation accounts; receivers' and executors' accounts; bankers' and brokers' accounts; cost accounts. A knowledge of routine bookkeeping and primary accounting is required. Friday evenings, 7-9. Mr. Anderson.

Accounting, Advanced—Scientific analysis of problems in practical accounting, theory and auditing; municipal, public utility and insurance accounts; cost accounts and the sub-divisions of manufacturing accounts. Students who complete this course satisfactorily are prepared for the state examination leading to the degree of Certified Public Accountant. Monday evenings, 7-9. Professor Walton.

Higher Accounting Problems—A continuation of the advanced course designed to broaden the foundation of students who intend to follow accountancy as a profession. Specialized courses in higher accounting may be arranged in response to specific demand. Not given in 1909-1910.

Business Organization

PROFESSOR SCOTT, MR. MAHIN, DR. CAMPBELL, MR. FINNEGAN,
MR. MASON, MR. KERR

The courses in this subject will fall under two groups: first, those dealing with the different divisions of large business concerns; second, courses dealing with principles and practice applicable to special lines of business. The aim is to bring to the use of students the experience gained in successful business undertaking.

Establishment and Management of a Business—Factors determining the time and place of opening a business; policy of management toward laborers; the organization of departments; expansion through branch concerns; tests of efficiency branches; large scale production; development of markets; disposal of surplus product; cultivation of foreign markets; relation between producing and finance elements in a large business; consistency of general executive policy. Not given in 1909-1910.

Psychology of Business, Advertising and Sales—Study of the laws of psychology which have most direct application to business; psychological principles of efficient organization; esprit de corps; laws for increasing human efficiency. Salesmanship from the psychological standpoint; study of customers' wants. Advertising; study of the development and value of different advertising media; publicity departments in various establishments. Monday evenings, 7-9. Professor Scott and Mr. Mahin.

Life Insurance—General introduction to the theory and practice of life insurance; industrial, fraternal and assessment insurance; mortality tables and methods of computing therefrom premiums, annuity assessments and general policy values; organization of an insurance company; problems of management; force of salesmen, and branch agencies; state control; taxation and supervision. Friday evenings, 7-9. Dr. Campbell.

Fire Insurance—History and general conduct of the business; kinds of policies and risks as affected by provisions for preventing fire and by other circumstances; different methods of determining risks; the Dane schedule; outline of insurance company organization, practice and routine with explanation of schedules, rules and forms; appraising, adjustment and settlement of losses; state taxation and control. Wednesday evenings, 7-9. Mr. Finnegan.

Railroad Organization and Problems—Survey of the organization of a railroad and its relation to shippers, the public and the government; development of transportation systems and their relation to markets; Chicago, "The Great Central Market;" rights and liabilities of common carriers, classification of rates, rate agreements and rate wars; government regulation and control. Friday evenings, 7-9. Mr. Kerr.

Merchandising—Organization of wholesale and retail trades; credits; co-operation of dealers through commercial organizations; organizations of leading wholesale and retail establishments; their division into departments; buying and selling policy; methods of holding departments responsible; general executive policy. Frequent lectures by experienced merchants will supplement the regular class exercises. Mr. Mason.

Real Estate—See Commercial Law II.

Money, Banking, and Finance

PROFESSOR HOWARD AND PROFESSOR WILDMAN

Finance—Monetary problems as related to our economic system; principles of money; description of monetary systems; function of banks; relation of banks to speculation; panics and financial crises. Thursday evenings, 7-9. Professor Howard.

Corporation Finance—The economic function of corporations; their promotion, organization and legal status; the marketing of securities; brokerage: its relation to speculation and investment; stock exchanges; failures and reorganizations; public regulation of the brokerage business. Thursday evenings, 7-9. Professor Wildman.

Stocks and Bonds and Investments—A study of the securities issued by national, state and municipal governments and by railroads and other industrial corporations; the nature of investment; a comparison of the advantages of various kinds of stocks and bonds for investment purposes; the security market; organization and methods of the stock exchange; banking and stock brokerage business; the organization of bond houses and their methods of marketing securities. Tuesday evenings, 7-9. Professor Wildman.

Economics

PROFESSOR HOTCHKISS AND PROFESSOR WILDMAN.

Practical Economics—Application of sound economic reasoning to the practical affairs of business life. A study of the principles of value as manifested in different lines of industrial activity, and the application of these principles to specific business problems. Wednesday evenings, 7-9. Professor Wildman.

Economic Problems—Industrial conditions arising out of concentration of industry; development and preservation of resources; improved methods of production; industrial classes; standard of living; development of trade unions; influence of unions; business organization and the consolidation of capital; discussion of present economic conditions in business. Not given in 1909-1910.

Economic Resources and Foreign Trade—Comparison of the resources and leading industries of different countries; foreign countries as markets for American goods, as places of investment for American capital; trade conditions in South America and in the Far East; influence of shipping on foreign trade; organization of ocean commerce; tariffs and the development of international trade. Not given in 1909-1910.

Public Relations of Business—Relations of large-scale organization to the city, the state and the nation. Civic functions of civil bodies, such as associations of commerce, commercial clubs, boards of trade; government regulation of industries; public service industries and their effect upon the business condition of the city; critical discussion of the object, efficiency, and general policy of public regulation. Not given in 1909-1910. Professor Hotchkiss.

Languages

MR. SHERBURN, MR. VAN SCHAICK

Business English—Drill and criticism in the writing of arguments, themes, letters, reports and other forms of composition. Special attention devoted to the use of clear, forceful and dignified English in business correspondence. The aim is to give students a more complete mastery of the language and greater fluency of expression. Wednesday evenings, 7-9. Mr. Sherburn.

Commercial Spanish—Training in pronunciation and conversation; appropriate stress laid on technical vocabulary of trade and on Spanish forms of commercial correspondence. Thorough drill in grammar and in the use of correct and idiomatic expression. The aim of this course is to provide such a practical knowledge of modern Spanish as would prove of value in commercial relations with our insular possessions and the South American republics. Thursday evenings, 7-9. Mr. Van Schaick.

Commercial French—Practice and drill in French grammar and idioms; exercises in translation; analysis, discussion and reproduction of models of French business communications and of official documents pertaining to commercial life. The course is intended for those who desire a practical knowledge of modern French for business purposes. Not given in 1909-1910.

Commercial German—Thorough drill in grammar and idioms; frequent exercises in conversation and in grammatical forms, accompanied by practice and criticism in commercial correspondence. Not given in 1909-1910.

Additional Courses

Courses in Industrial Chemistry, Industrial Engineering, Economic Geology and other subjects not included in the general course in Commerce but indispensable for certain lines of business are offered in response to specific demand.

General Statements

SPECIAL LECTURES

Members of the Board of Guarantors and other men prominent in business and professional life give, from time to time, general lectures to all the students in the school. The regular courses provide for frequent lectures by men who, from their experience, are able to speak authoritatively upon the practical side of subjects under discussion.

CREDIT IN OTHER SCHOOLS OF THE UNIVERSITY

Upon fulfillment of entrance requirements and payment of matriculation fee, students in the School of Commerce may be entered as candidates for degrees in any School of the University. Upon vote of the Faculty of another School of the University, work in the School of Commerce may be credited toward fulfilling the requirements for a degree in that School if such work is along lines covered by the curriculum of the said School.

DAY WORK

It is not proposed to confine the work in commerce to students in evening courses. A large proportion of the subjects which should come within the scope of a day course in commerce are now offered at Evanston, in the College of Liberal Arts, as described on pages 84 to 86. It is anticipated that day work in business subjects will continue to be developed both in Chicago and in Evanston, and that students who enter college with the expectation of following a business career will be enabled to pursue a consecutive course of study. This arrangement, which permits the student to take his professional work in Chicago, offers advantages that will be readily appreciated.

CONSULAR SERVICE

The curriculum of the School of Commerce is not arranged specifically to meet the demands of consular examinations now in force, but individual courses offered in the School of Commerce, the College of Liberal Arts, and the Law School furnish the preparation required. A special course is contemplated for students who are preparing for the consular service.

GRADUATION AND DIPLOMA

The trustees of Northwestern University upon recommendation of the Faculty of the School of Commerce grant a diploma to students who have satisfactorily completed its prescribed courses.

DEGREE OF CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT

By act of the General Assembly passed May 15, 1903, provision is made for a state examination for the degree of Certified Public Accountant. Before the School of Commerce was established, the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants had long contemplated founding a school in which the work necessary to prepare for this degree should be given. One of the results of commercial development during the last generation has been the growth in importance of the accounting profession. A knowledge of accounting is becoming almost indispensable to the successful conduct of every business. Business efficiency demands, moreover, that the professional accountant shall be a man of broad training and of recognized professional standing parallel to that of the lawyer and the physician. The close connection of the School of Commerce with the leading men of the profession will enable it not only to meet the demands of the present law, but to set a high standard of professional training.

FEES AND EXPENSES

The tuition fees, per annum, in the School of Commerce will be as follows:

For full diploma course, four evenings of 2 hours each a week	$75.00
For three subjects, three evenings a week	60.00
For two subjects, two evenings a week	45.00
For one subject, one evening a week	25.00

Tuition is divided into two equal installments, payable October 11, 1909, and February 14, 1910.

Students who become candidates for a diploma or a degree will be required to pay the matriculation fee of five dollars.

Address all correspondence to the Northwestern University School of Commerce, Lake and Dearborn Streets, Chicago.

The Northwestern University School of Oratory was organized in 1878 and occupies Annie May Swift Hall on the Campus at Evanston. It is under independent management, but is in close affiliation with the University. The regular course of study covers a period of two years, and offers extended and advanced training in Elocution, English, and Physical Training.

Students satisfactorily completing the regular course, and those completing the post-graduate course are awarded diplomas by the University.

Students in the College of Liberal Arts, by giving care to the selection of their course, may be enabled to graduate from the School of Oratory and from the College of Liberal Arts in five years. Some students, with industry and application, complete the combined course in four years.

The cost of instruction is fifty dollars a term, payable in advance. This fee entitles the student to two private lessons a week, in addition to the regular courses.

For information regarding the School of Oratory, address R. L. Cumnock, Annie May Swift Hall, Evanston, Illinois.

Evanston Academy is situated on the University campus directly on the lake shore, in Evanston, and occupies Fisk Hall, which was erected in 1898. The special work of the school is to prepare students for college and technical schools. Besides this special work a general academic education is offered to those who cannot take a regular course, but who wish to prepare themselves for the study of law or of medicine, or for teaching in the public schools, or for business.

As a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the Academy has accredited relations with all the leading colleges and universities of the middle west. It has established special accredited relations with Eastern universities that admit students by certificate.

The course of study extends through four years. Students who give satisfactory evidence of having done thoroughly a part of the course before entering are credited with that work. Students completing the course are admitted to the College of Liberal Arts on certificate of the Principal. The Academy provides instruction adequate for admission to college in the English, French, German, Spanish, Latin, and Greek languages, in mathematics, science, history, and civics. It has an extensive manual training equipment and ample rooms completely furnished with apparatus for laboratory instruction in chemistry, mechanical and electrical physics, zoology, botany, and physiography. A new course of study preparing for business or college includes the fundamental subjects of a college preparatory course with others looking towards commerce. The latter subjects constitute about one-third of the course, and are accepted by Northwestern University for admission to the College of Liberal Arts.

Hatfield House, the Academy dormitory for boys, is a comfortable, well administered home for about twenty-five boys. The house master, who is a member of the Faculty, and a matron are in charge. The house is modern in its equipment—heating, plumbing, filtered water, bathing facilities. Students coming to the Academy from a distance, not earning their way nor residing with relatives, are required to live in the House.

Grand Prairie Seminary is a preparatory school founded in 1863 and affiliated with Northwestern University in 1901. It is well endowed and maintains a high standard of scholarship. It is situated in Onarga, Illinois, on the main line of the Illinois Central Railway, eighty-four miles south of Chicago. The town is an ideal place for a school, having no saloons, and the community is noted for its high moral tone. There is a Public Library, which is at the service of the members of the School.

The equipment of the Seminary consists of four buildings, a Recitation Hall for class instruction; an Auditorium for public exercises, musical, oratory, and art instruction; a Gymnasium and Domestic Science Hall; and a Woman's Dormitory and Boarding Hall. The school has a library of carefully chosen volumes of standard works of reference on science, history, biography, and literature. It has laboratory facilities for instruction in physics, zoölogy, botany, chemistry, and domestic science. The Seminary offers courses in the Academic Department, Normal Department, School of Business, School of Music, Department of Oratory, Art Department, School of Domestic Science and Economy, and Gymnasium.

Elgin Academy was first opened to students in December, 1856, in a commodious building erected the previous year. Its charter, originally granted in 1839, was revised in 1855, and in this amended form is still in force. In 1903 it became an affiliated school of Northwestern University.

The Academy is situated in the most healthful part of the city of Elgin, a city of 28,000 inhabitants, on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Chicago and Northwestern Railways, about forty miles from Chicago. The campus, covering an area of four acres, presents an attractive view. The main building for the regular academic work is an imposing three-story brick structure. It is heated by steam throughout, lighted by electricity, and has the city water on two floors. The rooms are large, airy, and well lighted.

A large three-story building of brick, erected in 1888 through the generosity of Mrs. Vincent S. Lovell, for manual training purposes, is now used for science work and is known as the Lovell Science Hall.

This Academy offers to young men and young women excellent opportunities for a scholarly and practical education. Students are prepared for the leading colleges or for business. The surroundings are those of refinement and of Christian living.

Garrett Biblical Institute received its charter in 1855. It is situated in Evanston, upon the University campus. It was established especially as a theological seminary where young men from the Methodist Episcopal Church might be educated, but it is open to young men from any evangelical church who are properly recommended as candidates for the Christian ministry. It is supported by income from property in the city of Chicago, bequeathed in 1853 as a perpetual foundation by Mrs. Eliza Garrett.

Northwestern University has no theological school under its control, but from the beginning has recognized Garrett Biblical Institute as meeting the needs of a theological department. There is a liberal interchange of work between the College of Liberal Arts and the Institute. Students of the Institute may, on recommendation of the Faculty, take work in the College of Liberal Arts, under the following conditions:

1. All courses in the University, will be open to the students of the Institute without cost, except as hereinafter provided.
2. No student will be recommended to the College of Liberal Arts unless he has been in residence one full year in the Institute, except in the case of modern languages, to which courses the recommendation may apply the first year.
3. No student will be recommended for admission to courses scheduling more than five semester hours.
4. Recommendations can be given only to regular students of the Institute; students in special courses and post-graduate students do not come within this rule.
5. All students entering the College of Liberal Arts from the Institute will be required to pay laboratory fees and fees of courses, which, under the rule of the College, require special fees.
6. All students registered in the Institute taking work in the College shall pay the fixed matriculation fee, viz. $5.00.
7. All students admitted to the College from the Institute shall, in all other respects than those herein set forth, be subject to the rules of the College of Liberal Arts.

The following courses in the Garrett Biblical Institute are open for College undergraduate credit, the total credit for an individual student being limited to thirty semester hours.

Junior Hebrew.....	4 hours
Middle Hebrew.....	3 hours
Senior Hebrew.....	variable
Assyrian.....	2 hours
Advanced Assyrian.....	1 hour
Junior Greek (N).....	3 hours

Courses of Study

The courses of study offered come under two headings, Degree Courses and Diploma Courses. Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Divinity or for the diploma of the Institute must complete in residence at least one year of fifteen hours a week in three or more departments of the Institute, arranged with the approval of the Faculty. No credit is allowed for work done in absentia or by correspondence.

DEGREE COURSES

The Degree Courses are two: one leading to the degree of Bachelor of Divinity, the other to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

Bachelor of Divinity—The course for the degree of Bachelor of Divinity is a three years course arranged for classical graduates of approved colleges. Applicants, upon registration, are required to present their diplomas. Students, not graduates of colleges, may be admitted to this course, if, by examination or otherwise, they satisfy the Faculty of their classical and literary fitness to complete it.

Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Divinity may elect Old Testament studies in English instead of work in Hebrew. In the senior year Elocution is the only required study.

Doctor of Philosophy—A resident course of study leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy is offered to college graduates under the regulations prescribed on page 126. Four years are required as a minimum for this degree; three at least must be spent in residence at a theological school of high standing, and the last two at Garrett Biblical Institute.

Master of Arts—Students in Garrett Biblical Institute pursuing the Bachelor of Divinity Course may become candidates for the Degree of Master of Arts in Northwestern University on the conditions set forth on pp. 125 and 126.

DIPLOMA COURSES

Students who complete one of the following courses of study, each of which requires three years, receive the diploma of the Institute.

The Greek and Hebrew Course—This course is intended for those who desire to read and understand the Scriptures in the original, but are not prepared for the Degree Course. Greek is taught during three years, beginning with the elements. Hebrew is taught during the second and third years, beginning with the elements. The Greek class in exegesis reads the Synoptic Gospels and the Acts in the senior year. The Hebrew class reads selections from the prophetic and poetical books of the Old Testament. In other departments this course is substantially the same as the Bachelor of Divinity Course.

The Greek and English Course—English exegesis is substituted for Hebrew in this course; it is in other respects the same as the Greek and Hebrew Course.

The English Course—Training in the English Language, in Rhetoric, Logic, and Psychology takes the place of the study of elementary Greek and Hebrew, and English exegesis of the Scriptures is given instead of the study of the prophetic and poetical books in Hebrew and of the Synoptic Gospels and Acts in Greek. In Systematic, Historical, and Practical Theology, Elocution, and Sociology, the studies of the English Course are the same as in the other diploma courses.

General Statements

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION

Those who enter should have a thorough preparation. This can be obtained to advantage in the College of Liberal Arts. Graduates of approved colleges are admitted to the degree courses upon presentation of diplomas. Students not graduates of colleges are admitted by examination in classical and literary subjects. Applicants for admission to Diploma Courses must present certificates from approved high schools or academies, or pass an examination in the studies prescribed by the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church for admission to an annual conference.

Applicants not licensed to preach are received on the recommendation of their respective quarterly conferences, or temporarily, on a note from their pastors, promising the recommendation in due time. The form of recommendation authorized by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church is as follows:

We, the members of the Quarterly Conference of hereby express our judgment that is called of God to the work of the ministry, and we recommend him to the care and instruction of Garrett Biblical Institute.

Applicants from other churches are admitted on such certificates as are usually given by the denominations to which they belong. Students from other theological seminaries may be admitted on presenting satisfactory testimonials of equivalent work and honorable dismissal.

METHODS OF INSTRUCTION

The methods of instruction include recitations, lectures, and free discussion.

Public lectures and addresses, covering all the topics that relate to the work of Christian scholars and pastors, are given from time to time by distinguished persons before the Faculty and students.

College graduates enjoy exceptional advantages. In several departments, conspicuously in the Exegetical and Historical, they are formed into separate classes. They are encouraged and helped to make special investigation, and they receive from their professors continued personal attention in their chosen line of study.

STUDENT SOCIETIES

During the year 1898, a Young Men's Christian Association affiliated with the World's Christian Student Federation was organized. The Literary Department aims to stimulate theological and literary studies by exercises in composition, criticism, and extemporaneous speaking. The Missionary Department furnishes information on Home and Foreign Missions, and keeps alive the missionary spirit among the students by weekly meetings and by occasional public meetings and lectures.

BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT

Libraries—The number of volumes in the Institute and University Libraries is about eighty-five thousand. Reading-rooms are connected with both libraries, and are supplied with the important dailies, weeklies, monthlies, and quarterlies, in general and theological literature.

Memorial Hall—Memorial Hall contains a large chapel, a library and reading-room, six lecture-rooms, with private rooms for professors, and a fire-proof addition for library and museum purposes.

Heck Hall—In Heck Hall, the dormitory, the rooms are in suites, consisting of study, bed-room, and wardrobe, and are furnished with tables, book-cases, bureaus, stands, chairs, bedsteads, and mattresses. Students supply the other furnishings.

FELLOWSHIPS AND SCHOLARSHIPS

Fellowships—The Faculty has recommended to the Trustees the founding of a Fellowship for post-graduate study abroad or at home. The Fellowship is to be awarded to those graduates of future classes who excel sufficiently in ability and attainments to warrant the devotion of their lives to special studies in Theology. The amount of the Fellowship will be $500.

The Wetherell Scholarship, the gift of Mr. S. N. Wetherell, of Crown Point, Indiana, yielding an income of about $50.00 a year, is awarded annually to a student recommended by the Faculty.

The Luke Hitchcock Scholarship was provided by Mrs. E. Crane Wilson, Mrs. Charles H. Fowler, and Mrs. Archer Brown, as a memorial to their father, the Rev. Luke Hitchcock, for many years a trustee of Garrett Biblical Institute. The annual income of $100.00 may be awarded by the President of the Institute to a student who is working in one of the City Missions in Chicago.

EXPENSES

Young men who have learned to earn and save money often work their way unaided through college and the theological school. The means of self-help in and around Evanston are excellent, and many earnest and persevering students, with tact and helpfulness, find, and even create, opportunities. Some sixty or seventy appointments for preaching have been made available to competent preachers among the students. Circumstances require that promises of aid shall be made with caution, and to the extent only of the ability to meet them. The institution covets consecrated young men who never quail in the presence of difficulties and its aim is to aid them in every useful way. The Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church renders efficient help by loans. The Sarah Stewart Fund, yielding four hundred dollars a year, is for the benefit of approved candidates for missionary fields.

Tuition and rooms are free to regular theological students. Each student occupying a room in Heck Hall is charged an incidental fee of twenty dollars a year, payable half-yearly in advance, for curator's service, fuel for public rooms, and general repairs. Other students pay, half-yearly in advance, a fee of five dollars a year.

For further information regarding Garrett Biblical Institute, address the Registrar, Memorial Hall, Evanston, Illinois.

Norwegian-Danish Theological School

Nels Edward Simonsen, A.M., D.D.
President

John Oscar Hall, A.M.
Professor

Tobias Foss, A.M.
Professor

The Norwegian-Danish Theological School, established to prepare men for the ministry among the Norwegian-Danish people, offers an opportunity to pursue theological studies in the English and Norwegian-Danish languages. Students are received on the recommendation of their conferences. A commodious and substantial building, containing dormitories and a dining-hall, has been erected by the Norwegian and Danish people for the use of students of the School.

The course of study extends through three years. Oral and written examinations are held at the close of each year, and those who complete the entire course in the Norwegian-Danish language are granted a certificate.

A close relation exists between Garrett Biblical Institute and the Norwegian-Danish Theological School. By an arrangement formally entered into, the students of the latter school may take the entire course of study of the Institute, substituting instruction in one or more branches in their own tongue. Upon the satisfactory completion of the course thus pursued, they are graduated from Garrett Biblical Institute.

For further information address the President, Norwegian-Danish Theological School, Evanston, Illinois.

The Swedish Theological Seminary began its work in 1870 at Galesburg, Illinois. In 1881 it was moved to its present permanent home in Evanston. It is now established in a substantial and commodious building on its own campus fronting on Orrington Avenue. Its students are admitted to all the advantages of the departments of the University. It is under the supervision of the five Swedish Conferences in the United States of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and is the only school of its kind in that Church.

The aim of the School is to do practical work in helping young men toward success in the ministry. It was called into existence to meet the urgent and increasing demand for educated pastors and missionaries among the Swedish people in the United States.

The Seminary is supported by the income from an educational fund, collected mainly among the Swedish Methodist churches in the country.

The regular course of study in the Seminary is broad and practical and requires four years. Progress in studies is determined by examination, written and oral. On the satisfactory completion of the full course of study, students receive the Seminary diploma. There is no charge for tuition.

The continued demand for preachers among the Swedish people in this country makes it an imperative duty for the Church to maintain a special institution of learning, where suitable men can be educated for the Swedish ministry, both for the regular pastorate and as missionaries to the multitude of Swedes scattered all over the country.

Students are received on the recommendation of their Quarterly Conferences.

For further information address the President, Swedish Theological Seminary, Evanston, Illinois.
